

Widow 189

Chapter 189

Christy had specially dressed up today and was dressed in a high-cut cheongsam. Her makeup was exquisite. Aletta, her student, came in and said with a smile, "Miss Bolton, she's just a brat. You don't have to be so solemn, do you?"

Christy, on the other hand, said, "I saw her cheongsam. It is indeed the Bolton Clan's embroidery technique. This girl is not simple."

Aletta had been with Christy for three or four years. Aletta claimed that she was Christy's disciple, but Christy refused to teach her the Bolton Clan embroidery technique, so she still didn't understand the mystery behind it. Hearing Christy's words, she tentatively asked, "Are you willing to... accept her as a disciple?"

Christy sneered.

Accept her as a disciple?

She could now conclude that Crystal had something to do with that person. As long as it threatened her status, she would never keep Crystal alive.

"Have all the bodyguards been arranged?" Christy asked.

Aletta said, "It has been arranged."

"Let's go," Christy said.
