

Widow 199

Chapter 199

Aletta was stunned. "What?"

The Fifth Young Lady of the Evans family?!

She had always been proud of her family background, but she also knew that the Sutton family was nothing in Fairby where there were many noble families. A family like the White family, the Evans family, and the Coombs family were the real giants. Was Crystal the Fifth Young Lady of the Evans family?!

Aletta's mother was well-informed, so Aletta naturally knew a lot of gossips. She knew that Crystal, the Fifth Young Lady, was not favored. Otherwise, she would not have married a dead man. But no matter whether Crystal was favored or not, this identity had given her enough protection.

"That's right." Christy said, "I only found out when I was chatting with Ava yesterday. Miss Evans is really too modest."

The Ava she was referring to was Larry's grandmother.

"That's right." Aletta's expression was a little ugly. She was used to showing off her superiority to the people around her. Crystal's identity instantly surpassed hers, making her very uncomfortable. However, she could barely force a smile and said, "Miss Evans is too modest. Mia stopped Miss Evans from coming up just now."
