

Widow 273

Chapter 273

"I'm fine," Harold said. "I know what I'm doing. It's just a superficial wound."

"I saw it." Crystal didn't believe it. She wiped away her tears and said, "The dagger has been stabbed in half, and so much blood has flowed out. How could it be just a superficial wound..."

"That's enough," Harold said. "If you continue to cry, your eyes will swell up to the size of a walnut." hurt?"

He held Crystal's hand. "Are you

Crystal shook her head. "No, but you..."

"Crystal."

Harold touched her hair, looked down and said, "Can you go out with Luke first? I'll handle the things here."

Mark, who was lying on the ground, and Kimberly, who was scared out of her wits. She sniffed and said, "Can't you... can't you deal with the wound

so anxious. "You really lost comforted her.

whispered, "Mrs. White, I'll take you to hand and wiped away the tear stains on Crystal's face. He then held her face and kissed her between her eyebrows. His voice will

"Okay."

Marcus curled his lips and said, "Since you're dealing with your family affairs,

They went out of the warehouse together. Luke took a pack of wet tissue and gave it to Crystal so that outside to the doctor found that there were no serious wounds on Crystal's body. She was hung by a rope, and her wrists were scratched. They were bloody and swollen, which looked Crystal's hands and then said to Luke, "Mrs. White's injury is not serious, but she is in shock.

side. Luke said, "Mrs. White, please drink leaned against the window and what Harold was going to do, but she could tell that he was

