

Widow 280

Chapter 280

“Sc*m.” The girl frowned and smashed the cup in her hand on the ground. The porcelain cup broke and the fragrance of tea filled the air.

“Please... please don’t be angry.” The servant said cautiously, “Mark is incompetent. Haven’t we already expected this?”

The girl pursed her lips and said, “I thought since he was from the White family, he should be useful. I even wanted to rely on him to disgust Harold... It seemed that I overestimated him!”

The servant hurriedly said, “But Mark doesn’t know your identity. You can rest assured that Harold can’t find anything.”

“Mother’s birthday is coming soon.” The girl sat down on the chair and was a little unhappy. “I originally wanted to give her a special birthday gift, but Mark spoiled it. How can I not be angry?” “Madam will be very happy to know that you have such an intention.” The servant coaxed her. “Miss, don’t be angry at irrelevant people. It’s not good for your health to be angry. I have good news for you.”

The girl raised her eyebrows. “What good news?”
