

Widow 314

Chapter 314

Crystal got out of the car and felt that Paul was so awkward that she wanted to escape from him.

She sighed and thought that it was not a good thing for the middle-aged man to be so knowledgeable.

As usual, the Pina Garden was very quiet. At first glance, one could tell that the house price was high. Maybe Corey had informed the guards in advance. Crystal was let in after showing up in the security guard's pavilion, and someone had specially led the way for her.

The man took Crystal to the front of the villa and left. Crystal stepped forward and knocked on the door. Soon, a servant opened the door. She whispered, "Hello, Miss Evans."

Crystal was surprised. "You know me?"

"I met you last time." The servant's voice was still very soft. "Young Master rarely brought people back."

Crystal asked, "Is Corey here?"

may have to wait a little

Crystal nodded.

layout of this place clearly. Today, after looking around, she found that the whole villa should have been designed could be heard in style was completely different from poured Crystal some water. Crystal asked, "Where's and then said, "It's jealous. Even a little kitten had its own room in the Pina Garden, but she had nothing. The little cat's room was very big. As soon as she entered, she saw a cat scratcher that was as tall as the ceiling and a lot of cat toys. Crystal saw Peggie was indeed very good-looking, just as good-looking as other car breeds. However, this little guy didn't look very very fierce. He even bit Young Master. Miss Evans, be careful." Crystal nodded and squatted down beside the that Corey had raised it very well. Its fur was smooth and its body was well-proportioned. It was hard to tell that up at Crystal with his amber eyes and meowed at the top of its voice. Crystal stretched out her hand tentatively. It took the initiative to lean over and rubbed Crystal's hand with its furry servants were a little

