

Widow 332

Chapter 332

Crystal only knew that she had been seduced after a while.

It was only in the evening when she brushed her teeth in front of the mirror that she suddenly realized what was going on. Then, her face grew redder and redder, and she rushed out with a mouthful of toothpaste foam in her mouth. She looked at Harold, who was picking out clothes for her for the next day, and said, "You..."

"What's wrong?"

Crystal's voice was a little vague. "Why did you say that spring was in the eyes of the children?"

Harold's hand paused, and then he took out a white dress from the wardrobe and said, "Did you just remember to ask about this?"

Crystal said, "Don't change the topic! Answer me quickly!"

"Because your eyes are very beautiful." Harold hung her dress in the cloakroom and walked up to Crystal. He looked at her and said, "Spring is the most beautiful among all other seasons in a year." Crystal's face turned even redder. "Thank you, your eyes are also very beautiful."

"If I have to describe them..." She thought for a moment and said, "They're like the sky."

"Why?"

"Because you can see it as soon as you look up." Crystal narrowed her eyes and smiled. "It seems that you can touch it if you reach out."

Harold held her hand and said, "You can touch them as long as you stretch your hands."

Crystal's hand trembled.

Harold rubbed her hair with a smile. "Since you're brushing your teeth, I won't kiss you anymore."

Crystal looked at him for two seconds. Suddenly, she stood on tiptoe and kissed him on the chin. "Then let me kiss you."

After kissing him, she ran away guiltily.

Harold bent his index finger and gently rubbed his chin. There were some white toothpaste bubbles on his knuckles. He raised his eyebrows and smiled. "...The more I dote on her, the naughtier she became."

When it was sleeping time, Crystal checked Harold's wound. It was no longer as scary as it looked before. It was scarred, but it would leave a mark.

However, Crystal's heart ached for him. While touching him, she sobbed. "If asked, "Why do you have to put yourself in said, "Only by doing that can I know how painful it is... No, I haven't felt it before. I wouldn't know how painful it is even go and said, "How about the fruit knife? I'll Crystal was speechless.

to hide from the rain, and I won't pick up the things on the said, "I think I'm had stabbed his own shoulder. She quickly coughed gave her and said, "What you just said makes

Crystal, "?"

your heart become

don't think I can energy to work tomorrow. I'll make mistakes in the negotiations. If I make mistakes in the negotiations, I'll lose you want me to kiss you, just say it. Don't beat around chuckled in a low voice. "Then, Teacher Evans, can you give me a good night

Chapter 332

only knew that she had been of the mirror that she suddenly realized what was going on. Then, her face grew redder and redder, and she rushed out with

"What's wrong?"

voice was a little vague. "Why did you say that spring was in the eyes of the

from the wardrobe and said, "Did you said, "Don't change the topic! Answer me beautiful." Harold hung her dress in the cloakroom and walked up to Crystal. He looked at her and said, "Spring is to describe them..." She thought for a moment and said, "They're like the can see it as soon as you look up." Crystal narrowed her eyes and smiled.

"Why?"

and said, "You can touch them as long as you

Crystal's hand trembled.

hair with a smile. "Since you're brushing your teeth, I won't Suddenly, she stood on tiptoe and kissed him on the chin. "Then let him, she ran away