Chapter 344

"Jared!!" Anaya widened her eyes.

Jared closed his eyes and exerted force in his hand. The moment the blade was about to pierce into his body, there was a "ding" sound. The fruit knife in Jared's hand was knocked off by a small spoon. The strength was so strong that Jared's fingers were numb.

Crystal looked at the ice cream cup in her hand and then looked at the ice cream spoon that flew out. She said angrily, "How can I eat my ice cream?"

Harold coaxed her. "I'll buy you another one later."

Crystal was coaxed. "But you can't do this next time. I asked you to stop him but you can't just steal my spoon."

Harold was in low spirits. "What's the point of stopping him? I don't think he wants to stab himself in the vital parts at all. He won't die."
