

Widow 349

Chapter 349

"Of course I want to apologize," Corey said. "I'm treating you to a seafood feast. How about that?"

Crystal's eyes lit up. "Okay, okay..." She paused and said, "Forget it."

"What's wrong?"

Crystal sighed. "Harold told me to stay away from you."

Corey smiled. "He has such low tolerance? What? Is he afraid that I'll take you away?"

Crystal said seriously, "It's possible,"

Corey bent down slightly, looked into Crystal's eyes, and said with a smile, "Let's go there quietly. Can't you just keep it a secret?"

like we're oysters and lobsters that arrived two

"We're just discussing how to raise cats. Let's go,

He thought to himself, "She can be easily tricked away with food. No wonder Harold has to keep an eye on her so closely. He turned around and opened the car door. Just as Crystal was shocked.

the confused Crystal with one hand and smiled at Corey. "Where you want to join us?" "There's no need," Antony replied. "I happen to have something to discuss with Crystal. There's something important to discuss. We're in a hurry so we won't fake smile. "I've never heard of a major event happening in the Evans family." Antony said, "How Crystal on the ground and held her hand.

out a dizzy "oh". After taking two steps, she seemed to have thought of Corey was speechless.

her a hand gesture indicating that he and slipped away. "Why are you here? Everyone is looking you start to have