

Widow 365

Chapter 365

"...Miss Evans." Kimberly choked with sobs. "You have no grudge against Cyril. How can you bear to see him die? If you want someone to pay for the lives, Mark can pay for it. Why do you want Cyril to die?"

Crystal finally put away her empty expression. She looked down at Kimberly and said, "Life can't be exchanged for equal value. The person who has committed the crime should bear the consequences. It's not up to you to put the blame on anyone."

She was a little confused. "Or... in the eyes of people like you, human life comes with a price? You are in pain now, but aren't the parents of those girls who were killed by Cyril in pain? They are also the favorite children of their parents."

Kimberly said, "But they are dead. Cyril is still alive!"

Crystal pursed her lips.

Lillian was raped by Cyril at the bar and then humiliated by his friends. In the end, she was thrown onto the street in rags. Her father, who was nearly sixty years old, rushed over from the construction site and carried her to the hospital. There wasn't a single piece of good in the end and was lying in the hospital until now. Her mother is old, but she still has to bear the sky-high medical fees. and tuition fees of her younger daughter. She has four different jobs to make up for her family expenses and she lives

what about the father, who witnessed his daughter's miserable situation and was beaten. to death, and the mother, who is constantly food and clothing now. How can you be was not sensible. We can apologize! We can pay for it! They are so poor. They need money more than sending my son to prison! Don't pretend to be a nice person, Crystal. You asked them to file a lawsuit. Even after they win, what's going to speak, Crystal said, "My brother has already found a foundation that will donate money to them. Second Madam, you don't have to worry about it." "As for whether my kindness is built