

Widow 374

Chapter 374

She was such a good girl. He could even give her his life, let alone allow her to sit on his legs. After saying that, Crystal immediately made a request. "Step on it. The swing isn't moving at all." Harold did as she asked. The swing swayed back and forth, and there was also a couple sitting next to them. The girl sat on the swing, looked at the two people next to her, and then looked at her boyfriend. "Look at them!"

Her boyfriend was a thin and gentle young man. He looked embarrassed and said, "Baby, if we do the same thing, my leg will be broken."

The girl was furious. "Didn't you say that you didn't mind me for weighing 90 kilograms?"

"Don't be angry. I don't mind, but we should know our limits. The boy smiled bitterly. "I'll buy you ice cream too. Let's not compare ourselves in such an unnecessary place."

The girl managed to suppress her anger. "Okay then."

The two of them held hands and went to buy ice cream together.

Crystal whispered, "They have a good relationship."

asked, "Is our relationship

"If I were 90 kilograms, you would definitely and said, "You eat two bowls of rice for every meal. I've raised you right?" Crystal said, "I think for you to

Crystal was speechless.

tower in front of her. She cried out and changed the subject.

was nearly 70 meters high. It would drop down in less than three seconds and one. could experience the stimulation

to play

suitable for me, a little girl who has just said, "I'll wait for you in the parents'

Crystal said, "Humph."

the ice cream, Crystal wanted to sit on the merry-go-round. However, she encountered a shooting game on the way. The rule was that if she popped ten balloons, she could get a large furry toy. There were 12 bullets in total, which quite far away. Harold made a conservative