

Widow 377

Chapter 377

"What's wrong?" Harold looked at her with great interest. "Are you jealous?" Crystal said, "What did you say to them? They ran so fast. Tell me quickly!"

Harold was speechless.

He shouldn't have asked this question. This little idiot's mind was full of gossip and food.

"I'll tell you," Harold said. "I brought my daughter here. She's sitting on a merry-go-round." Crystal was speechless.

Crystal burst out, "They believe that I'm your daughter?"

Harold smiled. "Why not?"

Crystal couldn't understand. "That's fine..."

Harold stood up and said, "Don't you want to play something else? Let's go"

Crystal replied with an "oh" and was attracted by the cotton candy again. She begged Harold to buy one for her. The two of them stood beside the cotton candy cart Crystal's eyes reflected the colorful cotton candy of various shapes. However, Harold lowered his eyes and only Crystal was reflected in them.

he saw a girl's red face. "Excuse me... Can I have your would have ignored her, but for some reason, he said, "My girls were stunned and then ran away

the pink cotton candy. Her happy eyes seemed to be

took a bite and stained

Harold was speechless.

and asked her, "How did you

I

Harold said, "I know."

not say anything good. As expected, he said, "You died of cotton candy for her with a wet tissue. She said with grievance, "I've never eaten this candy before.

Crystal was speechless.

been wiped clean, Harold said, "If you

you can ask me."

blinked her eyes. "Have you eaten

Harold said, "But I'm

Crystal was speechless.

jumped up angrily and hit his chest with her head. "My college