

Widow 387

Chapter 387

In Flower Land, the doctor had been waiting for a long time. Crystal was pulled by the doctor for an examination. Harold leaned against the balcony and lit a cigarette.

He seldom smoked, let alone at home.

Luke looked at the extinguished sparks and knew that Harold must be in a very bad mood at this moment. He whispered, "Just now there was news from the park that someone took a helicopter and ran away."

Harold shook his cigarette and said lightly, "Continue the investigation."

"It must have something to do with the executives in the park that they could plan such a thing. They ran away in a hurry. I don't believe that we can't dig anything out."

Luke nodded and said, "Young Madam said that the woman who was killed was Miss Grett... This is very strange. I can't figure it out."

"The other party set such a trap in order to let Young Madam see with her own eyes that the woman she had met once died in front of her? This kind of intimidation method is too exaggerated, isn't it? After all, there are many ways to scare people to a mental breakdown. Why did they choose such a time-consuming and laborious method that is difficult to retreat?"

Harold leaned back against the railing, the smoke rising from his slender fingers. His expression was very cold. "It's not a threat."

his lungs, his face became even colder. "It's a show of goodwill." "...What?"

of his forehead, revealing his sharp eyebrows. He took a drag on his cigarette and blew out a smoke ring. He narrowed be exposed. He blew Jacqueline up in front of Crystal in Harold said, "it's

Luke nodded.

into the living room. Crystal had just finished the examination. She leaned against the sofa and asked the doctor, "Doctor, is there something wrong with my doctor paused and said kindly, "Young Madam, you

Crystal,

was nine o'clock in the evening. He said softly, "Young Madam, you have a good habit

"Am

just frightened. You need sighed. "I thought there is something wrong with my brain cream.”

The doctor was speechless.