

Widow 404

Chapter 404

"Madam Kayla." Helena said, "Don't be unhappy. Old Master and Madam Chloe will be said if they see you looking like this."

Hearing this, Madam Kyla was stunned, as if she had thought of something. She turned around and held Marcus's hand. "Marcus, I dreamed of your mother last night."

"Really?" Marcus said, "What happened in your dream?"

Madam Kyla said, "I dreamed that she wore a wedding dress and was taken away by Daxton. The fire started... She didn't come out, and she was burned to death!"

Marcus was stunned, and then he held Madam Kyla in his arms and said, "It's just a dream. Don't be afraid. Didn't mother escape back then? Now that there's hope that the wedding can be fixed, you can relax."

"Yes..." Madam Kyla said with a bitter smile, "It's just a dream."

of people finally arrived at the flower hall. The servants had already prepared tea and pastries. Helena helped Madam Kyla to sit down. Just as she was about to sit next to her, Madam Kyla waved her hand and said

She knew that Madam Kayla was pushed

look, you like these pastries. You should eat more and stop being angry. You are thin... Your father nagged at you for your some memories of the past. "Furthermore, although the Evans family's kid is the most promising person in this generation, he's not the biological son of his mother. If you marry said carefully, overnight feud between father and daughter. When your father comes back in the evening, will you talk to him

nodded gently. "I of cake onto the plate in front of her and melted in her mouth. It was