

Widow 422

Chapter 422

"Where is she now?" Edna pursed her lips. "When the banquet is over, let's go find her!" "She..." Aletta was about to speak, but Christy quickly stopped her. "It's all right, Aletta, stop talking!" Aletta said, "Teacher, you're so kind. You kindly took her in and gave her a chance to learn. But what about her?! She's so ungrateful! You still want to cover for her but I can't stand it anymore!"

She said loudly, "This embroidery artist is in the banquet hall right now!"

"In the banquet hall?" Flora was stunned.

Christy was about to pull Aletta along to put on another show when she heard a soft voice say, "I'm the embroidery artist of this cheongsam."

The crowd quickly looked in the direction of the voice and saw a slender figure. Unfortunately, her bangs were so long that her face could not be seen clearly.

copying others' work and coming out with the same dress that makes me feel disgusted, you might. as well make a plain dress and I would still think that you are very hardworking. At such a young age, you out! How can such a to smooth things over. "The two madams, please calm down. Perhaps this child has some difficulties. She is gifted and I value her talents. Please give her a way out!" "Christy, no one will be willing to look for her after she copied her teacher's work. Christy, don't be

Christy looked lost and said,

Crystal and said, "Why are you so confused? If you can't accept Mrs. Mcadams's order, you could have just told me. Why did to the studio, her attitude was sincere. After you came to the studio, she provided you with the best conditions in all aspects and tried her best to recommend you to all the important clients... But how did you repay eyes and said,

who was watching said disgustedly, "Isn't it just that her talent is limited, so she could only copy others' work? Since she's so skillful, she must have done