

Widow 45

Chapter 45

The crowd was stunned. Had the young master of the Joyce family been bewitched?

Madam White was so angry, stomping her cane on the ground. "Ridiculous! Corey Joyce, this is our White family's territory. It's not your place to behave atrociously!"

Corey didn't take her words seriously at all. The staff of the White family couldn't resist the bodyguards of the Joyce family, so they didn't dare to act rashly. Although Mr. Joyce had brought the girl to the gate and was about to get her in the car, no one was willing to take action. Everyone knew it was unreasonable, but they also knew that they didn't need to offend the Joyce family for a widow. Besides, Harold was dead, and it was useless to have a wife. The other could just take her away at will.

Freda had always been wary of the Joyce family and had the same thought in her head. It was not worth it to offend the Joyce family for Crystal's sake. But due to the fact that she was the White family's daughter-in-law, she had no choice but to put on an act. As they were about to disappear, she ordered the servants to come forward. "Why don't you get her back? Do I pay you to do nothing?!"

The servants hurried forward, looking as if they were trying not to do anything too offensive. "He's completely lawless!" Madam White was so furious. The cane in her hand was about to pierce through the floor. "This b*stard... We won't let him off!"

"That's right. With the strength of our family, we will deal with him sooner or on Freda. "Think about how glorious the White family was when Harold was still alive. How would for what happened today? To put it bluntly, Harold used to be too

Harold. As for you, only useless kids crawled out of your belly! The latter is
