

Widow 512

Chapter 512

“What’s more...” Larry suddenly lowered his voice and said, “Wasn’t the death of Valerie enough?” Harold paused.

“Before the death of Valerie, you told us not to continue the investigation. You promised him.” Larry said in a hoarse voice, “Harold, it’s not easy for you to live a peaceful life for a few years. Don’t make a mistake.”

Harold looked at him quietly for a while before saying, “It was my fault for the death of Valerie.” “So I don’t want to lose Crystal again.”

Larry wiped his face and smiled again. “That’s right... I know that you are a person who doesn’t believe in fate, but I will still tell you this. Valerie’s memorial is coming, and Bettina should be back soon. She called me before and said that she won’t leave this time.”

“You arrange everything for her,” Harold said. “I promised Valerie that I would take care of her, so I’ll give her the best.”

Larry made a hand gesture. After a moment of silence in the car, Harold suddenly said, “Thank you.” Larry was stunned. “What did you say?”

said, “You’ve heard

said, “It’s just a little unbelievable.

said, “Many of my old friends are gone, but you’ve pursed his lips and his eyes were a little watery, but soon he smiled and said, “What are you talking about? We’ve known each other since we were born. You don’t have to be so the scenery outside the window passed, Larry changed the think it’s family,

the lush vegetation inside. The sound of wooden fish being tapped could be heard from far away. Even mother, he wouldn’t buy it. Therefore, Bonnie simply turned a blind eye to him. Even if they lived under the same roof, they had nothing to do with each thought of having her son fight with Antonio. Not to mention how useless Mark was, just by looking him up and taught him