

Widow 516

Chapter 516

Crystal's ankle was very beautiful. Her skin was fair, and there was a little powder on her joints. It was so thin that Harold could easily wrap his finger around her.

Crystal felt that her fate had been seized. She turned her head and looked at him in horror "What are you doing?!"

The sense of oppression that Harold gave off was already very strong, not to mention the fact that his knuckles were now clearly defined and he had an absolute sense of power. Even if he didn't use too much strength, just wrapping his hands around her ankle made her feel a little scared.

"I want to apologize to you." Harold slowly rubbed her prominent ankle and apologized, but in fact, he didn't mean to apologize at all. His fingers even moved upward and pinched her soft calf, making Crystal's whole body numb. She said with a trembling voice, "1. I forgive you. Let me go."

"Forgive me?" Harold suddenly leaned over and looked into Crystal's eyes. "But I can see that you're still angry."

Harold's slightly callous fingers slowly moved downwards and grabbed half of her foot. She was very afraid of the itch, but the itch she felt when she was held by Harold was different from the itch. she felt when she was tickled. It was an itch, but it was more like a kind of shiver and numbness. It flowed all the way from her feet to her heart through blood, which made her heart beat faster and her toes couldn't help curling up.

"I'm not angry." Crystal's voice was a little tearful. She said pitifully, "Can you let me go?"

pressed under the claws of a wolf. She was frightened and did not went with the

put on her shoes and was about to run. Unfortunately, before she could run out two meters away,

"You were the one who was in the wrong first. How dare you bully steady steps and said with a smile, "When did

Crystal asked suspiciously, "Apologize?"

hand, revealing his bare collarbone and a little muscle. He propped himself up on the bed with one hand and held Crystal's hand with the other. He placed her hand on his about to bleed. "It's obvious that I'm at looked down at Crystal's chest. "I touched your foot.

smiled. "But I'm

Crystal was speechless.

to be easygoing. He held Crystal's hand and continued, "If you still feel like you're

