

Widow 540

Chapter 540

"If I had known that I would have given birth to a scourge like you, I would rather not have gotten pregnant!" Monique hissed. "You are a debt-collecting ghost!"

Christy laughed even more wildly. "Hahahaha... If you had known earlier, Mom, how could you have known earlier? You were the one who let me down first. Did you forget?"

Monique grabbed the armrest of the lounge chair with her fingers and said, "Isn't it enough for me to pay you back all these years?"

"Enough?" Christy's expression was twisted. "I just made you become a street rat that everyone despises, but you..." She stared at Monique's wrinkled face. "What you want is my life."

Monique took two rapid breaths and said, "I have already explained it to you. I just lost my mind for a moment."

Christy snorted.

She raised her hand and patted Monique gently on the chest. She said casually, "Mom, don't be agitated. If you die, who will mend the wedding dress?"
