

Widow 74

Chapter 74

Although Corey was a famous madman, his face was really good-looking. When the two girls saw him, they immediately blushed and pretended to choose a cake while peeping at him. "Hello..." One of the girls came up and whispered to Crystal, "Can I ask which cake he bought?" Crystal was stunned, and then she regretted choosing the cheapest cake for Corey. Otherwise, she would definitely be able to make use of Corey's beauty to sell the most expensive cake in this shop! "This one." Crystal pointed to the cake in the glass cabinet. "This one tastes good. If you two are interested, I'll wrap it up for you."

The two girls each bought one. After walking out of the shop, they were still peeking at Corey. "Hey," Corey said darkly, "Don't you know what I'm capable of?"

Crystal said helplessly, "Didn't I treat you to cake?"

She took a glass of water from the water dispenser and placed it in front of Corey. She said in a low voice, "I didn't even buy it for myself, but I bought it for you. I think it's already very sincere."

Corey raised his eyebrows. "You can't even afford to buy it?"

"I'm very poor," Crystal said.

how Harold

Harold wasn't a good person, he shouldn't be so took out the card that Harold gave her and to Crystal, but she still claimed that she didn't have any money. If she was poor, then the billionaires on the black card was shining with silver light in the sun. It was very beautiful. "Master White gave me this couldn't use this card to isn't a good man. Why are you still following him very good." She paused and looked at Corey.

you.

did I ever hit you?! The wound on your head was hit by you yourself. How dare you ask me to pay you of gold or jade?

her mouth. "Three hundred the money she had received from Jacqueline. It turned out that he had taken a photo of her injury and sent to Corey to ask for