

Widow 86

Chapter 86

It was a burly man who came in. He was dressed in branded clothes, and his facial features were good-looking. But maybe it was because of his unfriendly eyes, people subconsciously felt that he was not a good person.

When Alissa saw him, she instinctively trembled. Then, she gritted her teeth and said, "Caleb... why are you here?"

Caleb sized up Alissa and said, "When we divorced, you said you didn't have money. Were you f*cking lying? How could you buy such a shop without hundreds of thousands of dollars?!" Alissa took a deep breath and said, "What are you doing here today? If you're here to make trouble, I'll call the police."

Caleb suddenly smiled again and approached Alissa, saying, "Why are you so heartless? We were husband and wife for five years before this, weren't we? I'm just a little short of money recently and I thought of borrowing some money from you. I'll leave right away after you give me the money. I promise I won't come to you again in the future."

Otherwise, you won't have the right to raise Bernard!" "You!" Alissa was so angry that her chest rose and fell rapidly. "You don't love Bernard at all!"
