

Widow 99

Chapter 99

Harold's fingertips paused and his lips curved into a smile. He accepted Niannian Le's friend request.

Seeing that Harold had accepted, Crystal did not send him a message. After all, he was in a meeting. How could he earn money if he did not work? How could he support his family if he did not make money?

Harold put the phone back on the table, and the senior executives quickly withdrew their curious eyes, pretending that they had been listening to the speaker's grand long-distance plan.

Crystal added Alissa as a friend and asked her how she was doing. Alissa said that everything was fine. Caleb was still being detained and there was no way he could find trouble with her.

At this moment, the doorbell rang. Dana came out of the kitchen and was about to open the door. Crystal put on her slippers and said, "I'll go."

When she opened the door, she saw a girl standing at the door.

and delicate dress. Her facial features were beautiful and her her hand and said enthusiastically, "I'm

Sister-in-law?

moment and asked, "Are

"I'm from

of

there anything I smile, "Assistant Britton called grandma and said that he took you must have the authority given by the head of the family. Since Stacie could come in, she should have a good relationship with Harold. Crystal wanted to get out of the way. "Come in and have a seat." "Thank you, sister-in-law." Stacie's mouth was very sweet. She said with a smile, "I just came back from not used to it. She pursed her lips and said, months older than you," Stacie said, "I'll be celebrating my 20th birthday month."

an "oh" and poured her a glass of grandma has a