

Chapter 8 The Wife Behaves Strangely Around Us

Norah was visibly unhappy, her teeth nearly digging into her lip. She had to put on a phony, sweet smile. She trailed after the two. When they returned home, the three of them discovered a fancy automobile that they had never seen parked before. Up in front of the door. Gloria entered the house with her two girls and noticed a well-dressed man seated. I came upon Daniel. Even if the man was not looking directly at them, his amazing appeal made it hard for anyone to remove their gaze from him. Norah had never seen such an attractive man before. She went up to Gloria and shouted, "Mom, who? Is that the person? Gloria shook her head and headed inside.

"Hey, Daniel." When Daniel spotted Gloria and his girls, he immediately stood up and introduced them. "Jared, this is mine. wife, and this is my youngest daughter. Daniel's expression of adoration was clear when he presented Nicole to Jared Johnston. Norah waited for Daniel to introduce her, but he didn't even look at her. Jared's frigid gaze traveled over the three of them before he got up and nodded at Nicole. "Hello, "I am Jared." Jared's statements stunned Gloria and Norah. The bond between the Johnston and Riddle families lasted for several generations. Mr. Johnston Sr. and Mr. Riddle Sr. had arranged a marriage plan for their grandkids in the early years. Jared was the fiancé Norah had heard about but never met.

Jared has been I've previously studied overseas. She had no idea that, when Jared returned to the nation, she would no longer be his daughter. The Riddle family. When Norah noticed Jared glancing at Nicole, jealousy blossomed into thorns in her heart. She felt pain even when breathing. Nicole was solely responsible for failing to return on time. Otherwise, she would be the only one. Jared has noticed now. "Nicole." Nicole just answered with her name and said, Nothing else. Gloria felt embarrassed but assumed Nicole had just returned, not knowing who Jared was. So, "Nicole's is simple and straightforward," the speaker swiftly said. I hope you don't mind. Jared couldn't help but take another look at Nicole. "It is okay. I admire such a straightforward personality.

"What he said thrilled Daniel and Gloria. Jared was the Johnston family's most exceptional grandchild. It would be ideal if Nicole could do it. Nicole peered into Jared's dark eyes and sensed there was more to him than meets the eye. I'm skilled at reading people, but this man had an inexplicable expression in his eyes. The three of them sat together. Gloria purposefully allowed Nicole and Jared to sit near one another; Norah could only sit by herself. Nicole felt awkward, wondering why she was sitting next to a stranger. Just then, Jared raised the coffee cup and proceeded. "My granddad has not felt good. Recently, and wishes to meet my fiancée. I know it's unusual, but I'm here today." Nicole was utterly stunned.

"Fiancée?" What the hell was happening? When Daniel coughed awkwardly, Gloria took the message and quickly replied, "Nicole, you just came back. We didn't tell you that your grandpa and Mr. Johnston Sr. had established a marriage arrangement for "You are engaged to Jared." "What?" "What the heck? She had only been back with the Riddle family for two days and had yet to meet all of them. But here she met her fiancé. She could not remain quiet any longer, no matter how cool she was." Arranged marriage? Really, Mom?

Don't you? Do you think this is too outrageous? Who would still get married through arranged weddings today? "I know it is hard for you to accept, but that was the practice during your grandfather's time," he said. Said hopelessly. He and Gloria had previously been concerned about this, but when they saw Jared was such a good man, they wished Nicole would meet a decent spouse like him. Nicole's cheeks grew pale, but Norah believed she took things for granted. "Nicole, I was supposed to marry Jared, but now that you've returned, I should restore what is properly yours. You should not let "Down, Grandpa." Norah had finally had everyone's attention, and Jared was now staring at her. When Norah noticed Jared gazing at her, her heart raced and her face flushed. She smiled like this. a lovely woman. "So she is the adopted daughter of the Riddle family?" Jared inquired.

Jared stressed the term "adopted" as he spoke. It made Norah feel like a basin of ice water. Pouring over her head. This was the biggest thorn in her heart. Norah did not expect Jared to be that forthright. For the moment, her smile froze. She didn't want to confess it, but she couldn't avoid it either. All she could do She bit her lip with a painful sensation, her eyes reddening as if she deserved sympathy. Norah knew since she was a toddler that she was not as exceptional as her parents and brothers in In terms of appearance, however, being the family's only daughter gave her an edge.

Usually, she only needed Use the victim card, and everyone will soften and stop hurting her. There was a technique that had always been working. But Jared didn't appear to buy it. He stated indifferently, "I respect what our grandparents have done. However, times have changed. If you do not consent to this marriage, you can also take it. Opportunity to terminate the deal with my grandfather." To Jared, it seemed like a routine conversation about the weather. But that totally astonished Daniel. and Gloria. "Cancel the marriage arrangement?"