

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1551

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1551—Mr. Guzman Sr. was taken aback by Zeke's reaction. "How dare you talk back to me? Even if she is an outstanding practitioner in the field of medicine, and a capable hacker who could procure the Fire Crest, think about the Riddle family. They're just a third-grade family! Even your men wouldn't look up to her! Can the Riddle family deal with that?"

Strangely, Nicole began to feel warm, knowing that Mr. Guzman Sr. was also concerned about her.

Although Mr. Guzman Sr. appeared to be arrogant, he was not a bad person at all.

At that moment, Karlo, who had been silent thus far, chimed in, in a deep tone of voice, "Don't worry about it, dad. Nicole is Mr. Johnston Sr.'s rightful granddaughter-in-law. She and Jared are already engaged."

Mr. Guzman Sr. narrowed his eyes.

He had been out of touch with the outside world for a few years. Thus, he did not know that Nicole was Jared's fiancée.

However, Mr. Guzman Sr. still took a deep breath and said, "Even with the Johnston family's protection, the people out there will still look down upon you. For them to betray the Riddle family or the Johnston family will not be a difficult decision!"

In response, Zeke immediately argued, "That was why I gave the Fire Crest to Nicole. Now, all the families would gather around to protect her. Isn't that enough?"

Hearing that placed Mr. Guzman Sr. on the verge of fainting. "You ignorant brat! How dare you put forth such a senseless argument? Do you know that if the Fire Crest is in our possession, it would make our family even more powerful!? Now, it has fallen into the hands of another, and you still have the nerve to spew that kind of hogwash?"

As he was speaking, Mr. Guzman Sr. grabbed his stick and lurched forward, attempting to hit Zeke.

But before the stick landed on Zeke, Nicole grabbed and firmed her grip on it.

"You!" Mr. Guzman Sr. exerted some force to retrieve his stick, but to no avail.

Mr. Guzman Sr. was taken aback. When he was younger, he participated in martial arts too. If his stick landed as he intended, Zeke would not be able to defend against it. Yet, Nicole had managed to grab it.

'It seems that this girl has quite some skills,' he observed.

“Mr. Guzman Sr., how did you know that if it fell into my hands, we would all be worse off than the Guzman family?” Nicole laughed.

However, that laugh of hers had a hint of frenzy in it.

“What do you mean?” Mr. Guzman Sr. asked, somewhat uncertain of what she meant.

Nicole immediately released the stick, and in a flippant manner, she replied, “Mr. Guzman Sr., it’s because Karlo has woken up today that you feel as though the Fire Crest will be useful if it is in your hands instead of mine. But on the day Zeke passed the Fire Crest to me, no one knew when and if Karlo would wake up. Have you ever thought how much pressure it would be for Zeke if he became the owner of the Fire Crest? If Karlo doesn’t wake up, would you and Zeke be able to manage these families?”

As soon as those words were spoken, Mr. Guzman Sr. gulped.

She was right. After all, the agreement between the families were made about a thousand years back. At present, he could not be sure if those families would still listen to them. If Karlo did not wake up, Zeke and Mr.

Guzman Sr.’s power and positions alone might not be sufficient to get the other families to take them seriously.

“So, I had also taken Zeke’s situation into consideration before deciding to accept this Fire Crest. Other than that...”

Nicole looked at Mr. Guzman Sr. with deep set eyes. “You don’t have to worry about me. Not only do I have the Johnston family’s support. Do you remember which organization rescued Karlo about three years ago?”

As she was speaking, Nicole turned her electronic watch on, and the letter ‘F’ projected from it.

Upon seeing that letter, Zeke suddenly recalled that it was the time when his dad was about to be amputated. A plane with the logo ‘F’ then took Karlo away; the same that had brought him back here after the surgery.

As he stared at the unique letter, Mr. Guzman Sr.’s eyes widened.

“Y-you are part of the Zane Spears’ Organization?” Suddenly, he lost grip of his stick and with a thud, it dropped onto the floor.

Mr. Guzman Sr. staggered. Fortunately, there was a sandalwood chair behind him.

Nicole did not deny it.

To add to that, she said, “Code name, Niki.”

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1552

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1552—Karlo and Zeke immediately looked at each other, both appalled and speechless.

The Zane Spears Organization was a secret organization that the Interpol had once formed to investigate institutions and governments of different countries back then. Its person in charge, Zane Spears, was a leading figure in the Interpol. It was said that every person in the organization was trained in secret ever since they were young.

Lucifer, whose combat and medical skills were exceptional, was one of the two most outstanding personnel that worked for him. However, the old man had only heard of the name, and had never met Lucifer in person.

‘Is it possible that... Nicole and Lucifer are the same person?’ he wondered.

Mr. Guzman Sr. drew a few deep breaths before he could recollect himself.

Then, his gaze darkened, “Kid, you better not be messing with me. I’ve never heard that Lucifer is the heiress of the Riddle family!”

He figured that the Riddles would never keep quiet about it if that was true. They would spread the news anywhere they could if they knew about it.

Then, with an honest and confident look on his face, Nicole explained, ‘ That’s because I’ve yet to tell my grandpa about this. Feel free to ask Mr. Spears yourself if you don’t believe me.’

Nicole took her other phone out as she spoke before switching it on. Then, she dialed a number on it. Mr. Guzman Sr. became nervous at once, because that very same phone had an F logo emblazoned on it.

He had only met Zane by coincidence once about more than ten years in spite of his rank, and in that same encounter, they had not even spoken to one another. However, he could not help but wonder if he would finally get to talk to Zane through Nicole, who was still a kid to him.

The call connected when he was still in shock. Then, Nicole turned the loudspeaker on.

Zane’s voice could be heard blaring out of the speakers. “What’s wrong, Nicole? Didn’t you say that you were going to keep the Fire Crest a secret first? Why did you publicize the fact? The organization is in a mess now and even Interpol has called us up for validation! Do you think I have a lot of free time to clean your mess up?”

In spite of Zane's tone, Nicole remained calm. "I'm sorry, Mr. Spears. Something happened, and I couldn't hide it anymore."

"What happened?" Zane asked, becoming anxious. "You could've at least told me beforehand if you couldn't keep it a secret anymore, so I could be prepared. The entire Zane Spears Organization has turned into a mess today because of you! We're literally turning into a call center! Everybody wants to know if you're Lucifer. Are you planning to let everybody know about this as well?"

Zane continued to chew Nicole out, and everything he said shocked Mr. Guzman Sr., Karlo, and Zeke to the very core.

Zeke had been Nicole's partner for a very long time, and yet, he had no idea that she was a part of the Zane Spears Organization.

'She kept a low profile even though she's such a big shot!' Zeke connected the dots as he thought to himself. 'Now I know why she's so good at medicine! She's Lucifer!'

Nicole dug her ears helplessly as Zane ceaselessly launched accusation after accusation at her.

Then, she said, "Mr. Spears, Mr. Guzman Sr. needs to verify something with you.'

Zane paused. "You're with somebody else?!"

'Gosh, why didn't she tell me earlier? I just exposed her real identity! Darn, I'm pissed!' he fumed.

'Yeah,' Nicole said calmly.

Mr. Guzman Sr.'s face became as pale as sheet, and he was left speechless.

'What should I do now? That person on the phone really does sound like Zane Spears!' he panicked.

He did not even have the right to talk to Zane, and yet, here he was, about to question him about the identity of one of his best helpers.

'Wouldn't it be utterly disrespectful of me?' he pondered.

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1553

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1553—Nicole placed her phone down and began typing on the keyboard. When she saw the notification on the computer screen, her eyes darkened.

'Seems like someone is planning to get firearms,' she thought.

"Zeke, activate the firewall I've created for now. If anything happens, contact me." Nicole sent the procedure over and continued her investigation on this issue.

Meanwhile, Jared had gone to visit his grandfather.

"Jared, do you have any updates regarding your Uncle Henry?" Mr. Johnston Sr. asked.

"Not yet. Searching for someone who's holed up in another country takes time, so my people are still working on it. We'll probably hear from them soon enough if Uncle Henry hasn't flown to a third country," Jared responded.

"No one else knows about this, right?" Mr. Johnston Sr. asked as he looked at Jared.

"No."

"Good. Do not ruin the name of our family. Let's just settle this matter privately."

"Sure."

"You should head back to work."

"Take care, grandpa. Bye for now." Jared stood up and left the ward.

The instant Jared had entered the corridor, he asked, "Max, do you have updates regarding Henry?"

"Nope, it's as if he has vanished into thin air," Max replied. "There have been no traces of him since he fled."

Jared sighed, frustrated. "Hire a professional detective from that country to aid us. It will be great if we can find him as soon as possible."

"Alright, I'm on it," Max replied.

When he went back to his mansion, the silent emptiness in the house made him think of Nicole. So, he picked his phone up and called her. "Hello, are you busy right now?"

"It's alright. What's up?" Nicole turned the loudspeaker on as her eyes scanned through the details on her computer.

"Nothing much, just wanted to ask how you're doing over there," Jared replied, as he just wanted to hear her voice.

"I'm fine," she said. "If that's all you wanted to ask, I'll be going off now."

“Okay, bye.” Jared finished, feeling calmer now that he had heard Nicole’s voice.

Nicole did not even have the time to think about the reason as to why Jared called her in the first place. As soon as she had ended the call, she centered all of her attention to the information on the computer.

“Nicole, I’ve already activated your firewall. What should I do now?” Zeke asked her.

“Now, you’ll have to watch out for any attacks that might give the person’s location away,” Nicole ordered.

“Okay,” Zeke replied, after which he dozed off.

After some time, Zeke woke up from his sleep to find that Nicole’s firewall had not been breached at all. Looking at the screen, he thought, ‘Is that all for today...?’

But just when he was about to fall asleep again, his computer notified him with an alert. “Danger! Danger!”

Zeke jumped at once, with his eyes glued to the screen. His fingers darted across his keyboard as he wanted to locate where the cyberattack was coming from. By doing so, he would be able report back to Nicole so that she could plan a more precise assault.

Much to his dismay, however, it was just a test. That other party had ceased before Zeke could trace them.

“Argh! I was so close.” Zeke struck the table, angry and frustrated.

It was then that Nicole sent him a text message. “They are testing the waters, but you have to try your best to locate them. We don’t know when, or how long they’re going to keep testing us.”

“Okay.”

Then, Nicole proceeded to stand guard by the computer. Though she had already perfected her system, she was still wary of the unexpected.

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1554

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1554—Though they were situated in two different parts of the world, they were protecting the very same thing.

The next day, Harvey knocked on Nicole’s door. “Nicole, do you want to have breakfast together?”

When the first rap was not answered, he knocked on her door a few more times.
“Nicole?”

Then, her door creaked open, revealing a Nicole with tousled hair as she stood before him. “Order a takeaway for me when you go out for your meal later.”

Harvey was shocked to see Nicole looking so unkempt. “What happened, Nicole?”

“What do you mean ‘what happened’? I’m fine,” she replied.

Nicole had stayed up all night, so her eyes were bloodshot and her lids were drooping.

“Are you sure that you’re fine?” Harvey asked as he studied her from top to toe.

“What’s wrong?” Nicole looked at him with her brow raised before turning to the mirror.

“Gosh! Why do I look like this?!” Nicole immediately ran off to the washroom to freshen up.

Then, she walked out after she was done grooming herself. “Why are you still here?”

“I’m worried about you,” he replied. “What happened? Why do you even look like this?”

Harvey was baffled as he wondered, ‘She was perfectly fine yesterday, and we even strolled around the area. Why does she look so tired this morning?’

“Like I said, I’m fine. I just stayed up to take care of some work- related stuff. You should have your breakfast now, and please, remember to get me some food after you’re done.” Nicole pushed Harvey aside and walked out.

“Alright, I’ll get you some food right now. You should catch some rest.” Harvey looked at Nicole before heading downstairs, worried and downcast.

Nicole closed the door and walked back to her room where she fell asleep before she even knew it.

Suddenly, she was jolted awake by a notification on her phone.

She then grabbed it and saw that Zeke had sent her a message. “The firewall yesterday was a success. It hasn’t been hacked at all. Unfortunately, I wasn’t able to trace their exact location.”

“The assault was a rather aggressive one, and yet you still weren’t able to trace them? What’s going on?” Nicole responded, beginning to doubt Zeke’s expertise.

"I'm bummed out too. With my skills, I didn't think I'd fail. Do you think that they might be professionals?" Zeke texted back with a shocked emoji at the end of the sentence.

"Well, that's not impossible. You should focus on guarding the system today. I'll find another way to trace them," Nicole replied, and went off to give herself a rinse.

While she was in the midst of it, she heard a knock on her door again, and so, she hurried out of the bathroom to answer it. "You're done eating already? Well, that's quick."

"No, not yet. I've brought it all up to eat with you because I don't want you to starve yourself," Harvey replied, concerned as he walked over to the couch and took a seat.

"Thanks, you go ahead. I'll join you when I'm done washing up." Nicole then returned to the washroom to continue grooming herself.

She walked out of the washroom and joined him on the couch thereafter, but the instant she saw that the food on the coffee table had remained untouched, she asked, "Why haven't you started?"

"I told you that I'm going to eat with you." Harvey felt a lot better the moment he saw Nicole's current state. 'At least her hair is tidier now.'

"Tuck in." Nicole took a sandwich and gave it to Harvey.

"Nicole, are you still going to the manufacturing base of the manned flying cars today?" Harvey asked as he looked at Nicole.

"Nope," she replied. "You and Kelly can do whatever you want today."

"Whatever we want? So where are we heading off to today?" Harvey looked at Nicole with his head tilted.

"You can discuss with Kelly about this," she said. "I'm not joining you today."

"You're not joining us? What are you going to do then?" Harvey asked Nicole with a brow raised and his forehead creased.

"I have to stay here and take care of something important," she answered. "I can't disclose the details to you, though. Anyway, thanks for the breakfast. I'm done, so I'll get back to business now."

"Oh, and remember to close the door on your way out." Nicole finished and made a beeline for her computer.

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1555

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1555—Harvey wanted to join Nicole by her computer, but as she had explicitly said that there was classified information involved, he could only do as he was told, and leave.

The instant he had left Nicole's room, he saw Kelly had just exited the elevator.

Upon noticing him, she walked over to Harvey and greeted him politely, "Good morning, Harvey."

"Good morning. Did you bring these for Nicole?" Harvey looked at the box of sandwiches in her hands.

"Yeah, is Miss Riddle awake?"

"Yeah, but I just bought her breakfast."

Harvey was implying that Nicole had already eaten, which was why Kelly would not have to bother her anymore.

"I see. Well, have you had your breakfast, Harvey?" Kelly looked at Harvey and thought, 'If he hasn't had his breakfast yet, perhaps we can have it together.'

"Yeah, I have," he said.

"Oh, guess I'll head back to my room, then." Kelly bade him farewell and returned to her room.

Harvey was feeling bored after he had gone back to his room too, so he switched his TV on.

Meanwhile, Nicole had successfully located her target, and had sent a virus over to their system. After a slight delay, she received a call from Zeke.

"Nicole, the assault has stopped. I don't think they're testing us this time. It was too sudden," Zeke reported.

"I did it. I guess their computer has been destroyed now, so you can go ahead and claim your bonus." Nicole said, feeling lighthearted now.

"You're awesome, Nicole. There's nothing you can't do!"

"Eh, I guess I'm alright."

“With their computer fried, do you think that they will get it repaired and launch another attack soon?” Zeke asked, worried.

“I’ll try to upload the virus into the firewall, so when someone tries to hack it, their computer will be infected once they’ve breached the first layer. That way, it will be secure. In the meantime, you should keep an eye on it for a bit and contact me when something comes up,” Nicole ordered.

“Okay, I’ll share my bonus with you, for sure,” Zeke said happily.

“Alright, goodbye now,” she said.

Nicole continued working on the computer after she had ended the call, as she wanted to install the virus into the firewall, just as she had told Zeke.

Time flew, and before she knew it, she realized that two hours had passed since she ended the phone call. She then switched her computer off and stretched her muscles. “It’s finally done.”

After loosening up her joints, she threw herself on the bed. Knowing that she could finally be at ease now, she closed her eyes and dozed off, but after a while, she was awakened by a series of knocks on the door again.

“Who is it? Why do they always have to disturb my dream?!” Nicole mumbled and went back to sleep.

After a few minutes, the person rapped on her door again, prompting Nicole to make her way towards it with a frown. “Who is it?”

“It’s me, Miss Riddle,” Kelly’s voice streamed in from the other side of the door.

Nicole looked at Kelly after she opened it. “What’s up?”

“Miss Riddle, it’s noon now. I’m just here to ask what you’d like to eat.”

“It’s already noon now?” Nicole looked at Kelly in a daze.

“Yeah, did you just wake up?” Kelly eyed her, scanning her from top to toe.

“Yeah, what did you and Harvey do in the morning?” Nicole took a seat on the couch.

“Harvey and I? I was in my room the whole time, so I wasn’t with Harvey.” Kelly furrowed her brows and looked at her.

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1556

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1556—“Oh, just ask Harvey about lunch,” Nicole said. “I just woke up, so I don’t really have an appetite just yet.”

“Are you okay, Miss Riddle?” Kelly asked Nicole with a look of concern as she thought Nicole was feeling unwell.

“I’m fine. I’m just a little tired.”

“In that case, we’ll bring some food up so that we can eat together. 11

“No, don’t worry about me,” Nicole said. “I’ll grab something when I’m hungry.”

“Have a good rest. I’ll go talk to Harvey now.” Kelly then walked out of Nicole’s room.

Nicole no longer felt sleepy after she had been awakened by Kelly, so she showered and put on a fresh set of clothes before walking out of her room.

“Miss Riddle, weren’t you going to get some rest? Why are you out and about?” Kelly asked when she and Harvey bumped into her as they left their rooms.

“I couldn’t sleep after you left, so I wanted to take a stroll outside. I didn’t expect to bump into the both of you.” Nicole looked at them, surprised.

“Well, we’ll join you then.” Harvey walked over to Nicole.

“Yeah, we’ll keep you company and have a meal with you right after.” Kelly smiled as she linked arms with Nicole.

“Won’t you be starving yourselves then?”

“Nah, we’re not that hungry yet.” Harvey looked carefree as he stared at Nicole. ‘As long as I’m with Nicole, hunger is the last thing on my mind.’

“Let’s go then.” Nicole took the lead and made her way to the elevator.

“Nicole, let’s catch a movie in the afternoon since we’re all free. What do you think?” Harvey suggested.

To Harvey, travelling abroad was equivalent to going on a vacation. This time, he had Nicole with him, and with Jared out of the picture, he wanted to do what he would have done if he was out on a date with Nicole.

“Sure,” Nicole responded without hesitation.

After taking a stroll in the garden, Nicole began to feel hungry, so she looked at them and asked, "Should we have our lunch now?"

"Sounds good," Kelly said.

"Harvey, do you have any good recommendations?" Nicole asked playfully as she looked at Harvey.

"Let's see." Harvey began to ponder.

"There's a barbeque restaurant across the street, right? Should we give it a try?" Kelly pointed at the barbeque restaurant and suggested.

"Sure," Harvey agreed.

"Why are so quick to agree to it? Do you have nothing in mind?" Nicole teased him.

"You wish. I just think that barbeque is an excellent choice," Harvey replied in a serious tone of voice.

Nicole smiled as she looked at him. "Let's go then."

"What's the deal with that look on your face?" Harvey asked as she turned her back on him.

Nicole ignored him and sauntered off to the barbeque restaurant with Kelly.

After they had entered the premises, Nicole found a quiet spot by the window and sat down. "Just order whatever you want, Kelly."

"Okay," Kelly uttered.

The trio then chatted with one another at the table, making the atmosphere ever more joyous.

"Nicole, judging by speed of the progress in terms of research, how long do you think we're going to be here?" Harvey asked as he looked at her.

"I think we can go home in a few days," Nicole responded.

"Wow, that soon?" Harvey blurted out, slightly shocked as he looked at her with his eyes widened.

"Why? Don't you want to go home?" Nicole asked.

“No, it’s just that we’d always let go of a project only after monitoring it for a few days,” he fumbled. “Don’t you think you’re letting go of it a bit too soon?”

Harvey was just making up excuses at this point. He just did not wish to go home, as that would mean that he would no longer be together with Nicole every day anymore.

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1557

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1557—Actually, Nicole had already agreed to let him off the hook. However, those other companies did not wish to risk crossing Nicole and her family. They were afraid that they would be dragged into the dirt with the Fishers, so they quickly revoked their partnership with them.

“Because of you, our company is in a crisis. Many projects are now on hold, so we won’t be having any income anymore!” Fiorella’s father grabbed a tuft of his hair and wrenched it, as he did not know what to do.

Fiorella finally pulled herself together, as she began to grow anxious. “So, that was why my dad was being extra nice to Nicole. However, I was foolish enough to go and stand up against Nicole in front of everybody...’

‘But even if he does sever ties with me, there’s no way we could rebuild our company,’ she thought.

“It’s all Nicole’s fault! She’s definitely picking on us! I’m going to kill her!” Fiorella hung up as she went on to declare war on Nicole.

“Hello?! Fiorella!” her father yelled, but he realized too late that Fiorella had already ended the call.

He then tried calling her back, but to no avail. ‘Sh*t! Fiorella doesn’t know that Nicole has already agreed to let our family go. That is why she’s so set on the idea that Nicole is picking on us! God damn it!’

As soon as he thought about the things that Fiorella was going to do to Nicole, his knees went weak.

Nicole could forgive their family once, but what about the next time?

‘If Fiorella tries to do anything funny again, it’s going to be our family’s undoing!’ he panicked.

With no time to think, he rushed out of the house to stop Fiorella...

However, Fiorella had already ordered her aide to trace Nicole’s whereabouts.

The butler, who had heard her call, advised her, “Miss Fiorella, I think it’s best if you stop crossing her. We can’t afford to piss her off now.”

Fiorella rolled her eyes. “Please, do you think she will let my family go even if I was in good terms with her? Our family is going bankrupt! She treated us like s*it, and I will not let it slide!”

‘She had already taken Jared away, and now she wants to send my family into bankruptcy! How can I turn a blind eye to this?!’ she fumed.

After an hour, Nicole and Zeke were finally done with their meal. Then, Nicole followed Zeke, who was too full to even walk, out of the restaurant and looked at him.

“Nicole, how could you eat so little? The food is great here!” Zeke asked as he patted his stomach happily.

Nicole replied, “You can’t eat too much good food. Look at you, you can’t eat dinner anymore, right?”

Zeke chuckled. “My dad doesn’t let me eat out, so it’s only natural for me to eat as much as I can when I’m out here with you.”

Nicole shook her head in defeat. ‘Why would a rich kid from the military be so pitiful?’

“Alright, I’m leaving now. You should go home,” she said.

Zeke nodded before standing up abruptly. “Right, didn’t you drag me out here because you needed my help?”

Nicole remembered the excuse she had used back there, so she waved it off and said, “It’s just an excuse to take you out. If you had stayed there after I left, your father and your grandpa would definitely have taught you a lesson...”

After all, she had just embarrassed Mr. Guzman Sr. himself. If she had left Zeke behind, he might be using crutches to walk the next time she saw him.

Zeke’s eyes became teary in an instant. “Nicole... You’re too good to be true! You’re a saint!”

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1558

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1558—While Nicole had thought about it, Zeke had not thought about this at all. She only took him out just to save him from a world of pain.

“Okay, cut the sweet talk.” Nicole scoffed when she saw Zeke’s pathetic expression. ‘This kid should grow up a little.’

“Roger that!” Zeke nodded as he watched her get into her car. “Honestly though, just hit me up if you need me.”

“Sure.” Nicole got into her Lamborghini and drove off.

He was still extremely touched as he watched Nicole leave. Nicole is just too kind.’

Even if he went home now, his father and grandfather would not make things hard for him. They must be thinking that he had gone out to do Nicole a huge favor. They couldn’t even help him aid Nicole, so they had reason to reprimand him any longer.

Zeke was over the moon when he thought about the better treatment that he was going to receive back at home. Indeed, Nicole had been his lucky star.

Meanwhile, Nicole had reached the highway in an instant.

At that moment, her phone rang. Noticing that Jared had called, she began to think about the incident that had happened in the morning as her cheeks grew hot.

‘Why is this guy calling me right now?’

After she hesitated for a moment, she answered his call. “Yes?”

Jared’s voice was heard. “Were you eating lunch with Zeke?”

Nicole frowned as she thought, ‘How does this guy even know that I ate lunch with Zeke?’

“You sent someone to spy on me,” Nicole asked, upset.

“Not to spy on you, but to protect you. This is a critical time, so everyone in the Riddle family must be protected, and that includes you,” Jared replied, not thinking that he was invading Nicole’s privacy at all.

“What a nice excuse.” Nicole rolled her eyes.

Jared acted like he had been wronged. “Seems like no one is going to have lunch with me today. My girlfriend went out to have a meal with another guy.”

Feeling resigned, she replied, “You’re on your own, and do yourself a favor. Stop seeing green.”

Indeed, Jared had been becoming more jealous these days.

“A kid like him doesn’t bother me,” Jared lied.

Nicole proceeded to tease him, “Is that so? Then why did you call me?”

Annoyed, Jared replied, “I just wanted to tell you not to have lunch with anybody but me. You do know that a lot of men have their eyes on you, ever since your identity has been made public, right?”

That was Jared’s truth. He used to be full of confidence. Lately however, he had begun to feel insecure, and even threatened.

“Tsk... do you feel threatened now, Mr. Johnston?” Nicole teased, surmising that such was why Jared was really clingy last night.

“No, there are plenty of women who are after me,” he retorted. “You should be the one who feeling threatened.”

Nicole played along and said, “Yes, you do have way more admirers than me, Mr. Johnston.”

Suddenly, Nicole began to perceive a very strange feeling in her gut as she heard a piercing ring in her ears.

A car had sped against the traffic and driven up the highway. There were two cars in front of her, which had managed to evade the incoming vehicle. Now, all Nicole could see was a black sedan speeding toward her with no license plates attached.

“Damn it!” Nicole yelled and turned her steering wheel abruptly.

She barely managed to dodge the black car, but it was then that she slammed into the divider with such force that the barrier the particular section of the barrier was destroyed, with the front of her car jutting out, hanging off the highway.

The airbag popped out and buffered the impact, which was the only reason Nicole was spared from having her head dashed against the wheel.

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1559

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1559–Nicole rubbed the back of her neck and looked up to have a good look of her surroundings.

When she saw that the first half of her car was hanging off the bridge, she immediately held her breath and stopped moving.

Jared could already hear that something was wrong, so he yelled through Nicole’s earphones. “Nicole! What’s wrong?!”

Nicole moved her neck around and said, "I got into an accident on the highway across the river."

"What?!" Jared left his office at once the moment he heard that Nicole had gotten into an accident. "Wait for me!"

"Sure." Nicole nodded, but it was at that moment that she suddenly heard a loud screech from the tires of a car.

She whirled around and saw the black sedan that she had avoided. The car had actually turned around and charged toward her again.

With a deafening bang, it struck the door next to the seat that she was. If she took her time, the car door would completely cave in.

Though she had avoided the crash, her car was now on the edge of a cliff, and following a creak, her vehicle plummeted.

"F*CK!" Nicole yelled, quickly trying to open her car door.

"Nicole!" Jared was lost when he heard the loud crash.

Immediately, he asked her what was going on, but Nicole was not able to respond to him anymore.

With a splash, Nicole's car plunged into the water. Unfortunately, she had not opened the car door in time.

"Son of a b*tch!" Nicole cursed as she tried her best to escape.

However, a part of her car was already trapped in the water, and as a result, it was almost impossible for her to open the door no matter how strong she was. Despair began to set in the moment she saw that the water levels were rising.

Though she could wait until her car was fully submerged in the water to open her door, she was afraid that her car would already be deep in the river by then. She had no idea whether she could escape this in one piece.

"Nicole! What's wrong?! Say something!" Jared's voice rang in her ears.

For a second there, she felt a sense of assurance.

The water level had already risen above her knees, so she drew a deep breath. "Jared, my car fell into the river."

“What?!” Jared sprinted to the car park, going crazy as soon as he had heard the news. “Don’t worry, my men have been around you. They’ll definitely save you!”

Nicole tightened her grip as she looked at the highway that was drifting further and further away from her. “Even if they do jump down from the bridge, they won’t be able to open the car door. The car will be completely submerged in under a minute, and I don’t even know if I can swim up to the surface...”

Though Nicole was skilled, she still could not hold her breath for that long...

“Don’t give up, you can do it! You have to stay alive!” he pleaded.

Jared could not bear to lose her. After all, their good life together had just begun.

“I will... But if anything happens to me...”

“Nothing’s going to happen to you!” Jared shouted. “I won’t allow you to leave me, Nicole!”

“I know... I just want you to remember... No matter what happens... I love you.”

It was the first time Nicole had confessed her love to Jared when she was in danger.

Jared’s heart sank. “I love you too...”

“Yeah, and that’s all I need. I’ll try my best to fight for my life, just for you.” Nicole stared at the water, which had already risen to her chest.

“Keep your word. I’ll be right there!” Jared hurried out of the car park as he yelled.

He sped through multiple red lights and raced his way toward the highway across the river.

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1560

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1560—The water was already at Nicole’s neck by then. She attempted to kick the door open, but she just could not do it. Seeing that, she had no other choice but to stick her face close to the roof of the car and draw a few deep breaths as she waited for her last chance.

And when she noticed that her earpiece would soon be submerged in water, Nicole murmured, “Jared, I’ll see you later.”

“Definitely!” Jared nodded as he heard the sound of water rushing in.

Jared could only imagine what Nicole was going through. However, the only thing he could do now was to floor the pedal. Yet, that would not be able to get him next to her in time.

With the entire car being filled with water by now, Nicole took a deep breath and dived into the water, and at the very last second, she managed to throw the door open.

Then, she immediately began to swim to the surface of the water with all her might.

The car sunk to the bottom shortly after, but Nicole tried her best to escape the water with just the one breath that she had drawn in the car anyway.

However, the speed at which she was swimming upward was way slower than the speed in which the car had fallen.

One stroke became two, two became thirty, and thirty became forty. Her lungs were running out of oxygen, but all she could do was keep swimming.

However, no matter how much she swam, she just could not get out of the water, even though she could see the light shining through the surface.

Then, as she felt herself being asphyxiated, she let out a cough. As soon as she did so, she choked, though she continued to hold her breath. At this rate, she might really die of drowning. Her range of motion began to decrease, and so did the speed at which she was rising.

After a few second, she realized that she could hold it in anymore. She opened her mouth, and that was when she choked again.

This time, however, she gave in, and just like that, water rushed into her lungs, causing her to feel as if they were burning as she began to sink.

With that, her vision began to become blurry.

All she could see was a ray of light beaming down onto her.

'This is it...'

And sadly, this could really be it for her, but what about Jared? She swore that she would keep herself safe. They had also promised each other that they would never live alone if either of them died.

Nicole struggled for one last time as her consciousness began to fade, but the surface was simply too far away.

Her vision slowly became dark.

'Jared. JTn afraid that I'd have to break my promise...'

Suddenly, Nicole heard someone jumping into the water with a splash. She forced herself to lift her head up and that was when she saw a figure swimming toward her. However, she could not see that person's face at all.

She felt a familiar large hand reaching out and grabbing her arm right before she was about to succumb to the water. Then, her world around her turned dark, and she lost consciousness.

As expected, the bridge and the shore were crowded with people.

"A car just fell into the water!"

"I saw a man jumping into the water too!"

"Hey! The man is right there! He has someone in his arms too!"

The crowd was chattering and yelling about.

"Mr. Johnston, the doctor's here!" One of his bodyguards rushed forward.

They had called an ambulance right after Nicole had fallen into the water and had already arranged for a team to take a speedboat over to Nicole. However, Jared had arrived at the highway much earlier and had dived into the water first.

It was a long jump, and so, the impact must have been great. Yet, Jared still took it in stride and saved Nicole.

Jared was drenched in water, but he would still not let go of her. He took her to the shore and placed her on a soft mat.

"CPR!" The doctor quickly went to Nicole's aid.

Jared could only watch from a side. Nicole's face had turned completely white, and she had already stopped breathing.

Jared had never seen Nicole in such a state before.

"Save her now! If not, you're all going to die with her!" Jared screeched.

Everyone there knew who Jared was. If they could not save this lady, they would all have to shut their hospitals down.