

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1581

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1581—Order one of these for Nicole too.”

The twins were fighting to order something for Nicole.

Nicole’s face darkened at once. “Enough. These are enough for me. The both of you should order something that you guys like.”

“Sure.” Samuel smiled and finally gave in.

As Bradley witnessed the whole situation, he admired Nicole, “Your brothers treat you very well.”

“Yeah.” Nicole smiled, but deep down, she was feeling a little worried.

She had never been used to people being so caring and nice to her, with the exception of one person...

The instant she thought about Jared, Nicole began to blush.

Over the past few days, the Johnston family had received a lot of collaborations because of the Riddle family. Naturally, Jared had been busy every single day, but no matter how busy he was, he would always give Nicole a call at night.

The only time Nicole did not feel uncomfortable when showered with care and love was when Jared was the person doing it. It was really strange to her.

Soon, the dishes were served. While they were eating, Lulu suddenly thought about something to gossip about.

“Nicole, did you know that Lloyd Holder’s agency had found a female lead? The news was released today but it was quite secretive. They did not announce the name of the female lead.”

“It’s been an entire holiday season and the guy had just found his female lead? I bet that this director really does have high requirements.” Bradley frowned.

On the other hand, June was unhappy about it. “Initially, his team was coming to my school to watch a play. Isn’t there a rumor saying that they might select potential candidates in our school to become the female lead?”

“Rumors are just rumors. How could we believe any of them? ” Bradley asked, unable to resist the act of discouraging them.

Lulu looked at Nicole and sighed. "What a pity. At that time, Nicole acted really well and Mr. Holder even hugged her..."

In response, Samuel coughed.

The moment they began discussing about the topic, he became a little put off.

"It's just some drama within the entertainment industry.

What's so great about it? He better stay far away from my sister."

Samuel's words made Spencer nod his head too. "Yeah, I don't think he is a good dude, to be honest."

Lulu and June rolled their eyes at once. 'This is how straight guys act. What else would they understand?'

As they were thinking, someone suddenly approached their table: a beautiful lady dressed in business wear.

The lady's eyes were fixed on Nicole, prompting her to wonder, 'Do I know any pretty business ladies?'

"Hello, you must be Miss Nicole Riddle, right?" the woman asked.

The lady then walked to the front, whereupon she took her sunglasses off to make sure that she was not asking the wrong person.

When everyone saw that this lady knew Nicole, they were shocked.

"Nicole, do you know her?" Samuel asked, straightening himself upon seeing a lady with both beauty and brains.

When June, who was sitting directly across from Samuel, noticed that Samuel preferred this sort of women, her face immediately stiffened.

"I don't know." Nicole shook her head and replied candidly.

Anna smiled. "It's understandable that you don't know me, but I know you. Lloyd Holder showed me a picture of you."

At the mention of Lloyd Holder, everyone there was stunned.

'What does this lady have to do with Lloyd Holder?'

"You know Lloyd Holder?" Nicole raised her eyebrows slightly.

At that moment, Anna took a name card out from her purse and left it on the table. “I’m Lloyd’s manager. You may call me Anna.”

Upon hearing those words, Lulu and the rest were flabbergasted. “Lloyd Holder’s manager?”

“It seems that she’s here to look for Nicole...” Bradley mumbled in a low voice.

Anna flashed them a friendly smile. “I am indeed here to look for Nicole. I heard that you’ve agreed to be the female lead of ‘Lukewarm’. I’ve also drafted the contract. Initially, I was thinking of signing the agreement with you elsewhere but I did not expect to bump into you here.”

“Lukewarm?”

“Female lead?”

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1582

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1582—Everyone was stunned, with Lulu looking at Nicole and asking, “Could it be the Lukewarm drama that we were talking about?”

Nicole looked at Anna in defeat.

‘Just my luck. I can’t believe I bumped into Lloyd’s manager,’ Nicole thought.

Nicole had not told her family about it yet, but she figured that there was no way of hiding it anymore, and so, she just accepted Anna’s business card. “What a coincidence.”

Anna smiled at Nicole. She found Nicole pretty when she saw her picture, but now that she had seen her in the flesh, she realized that Nicole was incredibly charming. ‘17 to 18 is the best age to have a debut in the entertainment industry.’

She finally understood why Lloyd had insisted that Nicole played the role the moment she saw Nicole’s charm and spirit. She also knew why Nachelle had immediately agreed to the pick when she heard that it was Nicole.

Anna then produced a contract from her bag. “I know this is weird, but I’m going to hand you the contract now. You can have a look at it when you’re free and hit me up if you have any questions. And one more thing. Lloyd asked me to tell you that he has checked it for you already.”

Nicole gave Anna a glance before looking down at the contract.

She was unclear of the messy details regarding the industry, but she figured that Lloyd was indirectly telling her that he had helped out by writing off the things that she did not want to do.

Then, she took a pen out from her shirt and signed it on the spot. "That's alright. You can bring it back to Lloyd."

"Wow. Are you sure?" Anna was surprised as she thought, 'This gal sure is bold!'

She proceeded to look at Nicole, who did not seem as though she was a high school student. Indeed, Anna found that there was something very mature about her and her gaze.

And after Nicole had signed the papers, she took a seat.

Anna quickly snapped out of her thoughts and kept the contract in her bag. "Just add my number when you're free. Give me your email too, so that I can send you the script. Well start the shoot in 15 days or so."

"Sure." Nicole nodded, giving Anna a clear display of boldness and confidence.

Everyone else finally registered everything that was happening after Anna had left.

They looked at Nicole, their gazes bright with admiration." Oh my god, Nicole. That's Lloyd's manager! Why aren't you nervous at all?"

"Why would I be?" she asked.

After all, Lloyd was the one who had begged her to star in the drama. She was not the one who requested the role.

After a few seconds, Spencer pulled himself back to the present and asked, "What's going on, Nicole? Why are you the female lead in Lukewarm?"

So many things were happening at home, and no one knew that she would join the entertainment industry.

Nicole looked at them, and in a casual tone of voice, she replied, "I'm just doing it for fun because I'm interested in the script."

Lulu and June grew sour upon hearing Nicole's remark. It was said that no one in the industry had caught the director's eye when she was looking for a female lead in Lukewarm, and yet, Nicole was graced with that opportunity.

However, she was so nonchalant about it and actually said that she only did it for the fun of it.

'Nicole is the only one who'd think this way. If this goes out to the public, every female star in the industry would be jealous of Nicole!'

"Seems like Lloyd really went to our school to find himself a female lead!"

"That makes sense!" Lulu and Bradley stated, finally arriving at a realization.

Nicole was speechless. 'They do know how to connect the dots. But I didn't think of starring in a movie at all, let alone joining the entertainment industry. I'm just going to consider this as my token of gratitude for Lloyd. Studying is pretty boring too, so finding something else to do won't hurt.'

"Here, let's have a toast to congratulate Nicole for starring in Lukewarm!" June raised her glass proudly as she was really happy for Nicole.

Though Spencer and Samuel were shocked, they did not say anything. They raised their glasses to congratulate Nicole for the time being, but they exchanged looks as they had decided to tell their brothers when they got home.

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1583

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1583—It was rare for Nicole to be able to relax, so she smiled and raised her glass before chugging her beverage down with them.

Then, June and Lulu began chatting up to Nicole, and though Nicole listened more than she spoke, she still responded to their comments.

Spencer and Samuel had hardly seen Nicole behaving like this. In their family, most of them were males, and that was probably why Nicole would only show her girly side when she was with her female classmates.

After their lunch, Nicole bade them farewell and took Spencer and Samuel away to try on some clothes.

Then, they went back home in the evening.

Gloria asked Spencer and Samuel to help her out as she looked at Nicole with adoration. "You must be tired. Get some rest. I have your brothers helping me."

"Huh? I'm tired too, mom." Samuel complained.

In response, Gloria pinched his ears. "You wish. Come help me out!"

Spencer looked at Nicole helplessly. "You're the only one who gets to enjoy this privilege, Nicole."

Then, he went to the kitchen and joined his brother.

Nicole smiled. She really liked her life the way it was; peaceful and calm.

After lingering for a moment, she headed upstairs.

The phone that she used to contact Zane was damaged when it got into the water. Fortunately, she had found someone to fix it for her and was finally able to get it back today.

Though she knew that there would be a lot of spam calls, she still switched her phone on.

As expected, her phone started to vibrate ceaselessly as countless messages and notifications flooded in.

She could tell that Zane was losing his mind.

Nicole was considering whether she should give Zane her personal number as she thought, 'If this continues, Zane will probably go nuts soon.'

After she had read through all of the messages, she gave Zane a call, which was immediately answered. "Nicole!

What happened to you?! Is your phone just a decoration? How could you switch it off for so long? You must leave your phone on every night, as per the organization's rules. Don't you remember?"

Nicole pulled the phone away from her ears before putting it back after she could no longer hear Zane's voice. "I fell off a bridge and my phone got into the water."

Zane then remembered something important. "I was calling you about this too. How did you fall off a bridge? I didn't get any news about other organizations coming here, so they are probably not the ones who attacked you."

"Yeah, there's probably someone else. I don't think it was that same group of people from last time."

Even if it was, they would not have done it in such simple fashion.

"Who?" Zane asked.

“Someone who hates me, I guess.” Nicole’s gaze sharpened. “But don’t worry. Jared is already investigating it for me.

Let’s just continue searching for the Braves.”

They had to know who was pulling the strings, and that was why she did not tell the organization. She did not want them to help her with the investigation.

“The Holders are looking into the case too,” Zane said.

Nicole understood what he was trying to say. “I got Lloyd to help me out.”

Zane, who had already figured it out, nodded. “They probably have a much greater advantage over us. Those people might be avoiding us.”

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1584

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1584—“Yeah, we’re getting an update soon. Anyway, how’s Carl?” she asked.

In a deep voice, he said, “We looked into the bullets that were fired. I believe they’ve already found the manufacturer of the weapon and the bullets, but they still have yet to find out who distributed it.”

“That’s good to hear.” Nicole issued a sigh of relief.

But it was then that Zane sighed as well. “But we’re a little too late. You’ve already exposed your identity, so you’ve got to really take care of your family.”

“I will. Don’t worry. I’ll use the crest if I need to,” she replied.

“Good.”

Zane was relieved to hear that. He then told Nicole a few more things before ending the call.

Once the call was over, Nicole put the phone away and laid down.

Not only had she exposed her identity, she had also joined the entertainment industry. ‘Zane is probably going to lose it if he knows that I did this as a trade with the Holder family.’

She let out a sigh again. She did not have any choice but to hide it from Zane for now.

Then, she added Anna’s number and sent Anna her email address. Receiving the script almost immediately, she clicked on it to read it. Not long after, she began to get bored, and that was when Jared gave her a call.

“What ‘cha doing?” Though Jared sounded tired, his voice still hinted that he missed Nicole.

“I’m looking at the script.” Nicole said, not hiding it from him.

“Script? Are you going to act in a movie?” Jared frowned.

‘I didn’t know about this,’ he thought.

“Yeah, I needed the Holder family to find the answers that I am looking for, so I agreed to star in a movie for him,” she replied.

Jared immediately tightened his brows. “With Lloyd?”

‘Now, Lloyd is a complicated man.’ Jared thought, having noticed how persistent Lloyd was in pursuing Nicole.

“I think so. Judging from the script, he’s probably the male lead,” she stated.

Jared became upset in an instant. “Over my dead body.”

Jared got depressed as soon as he thought about Nicole playing a role with Lloyd.

“It won’t be long, so don’t worry.” Nicole scanned through the script, which added up with what Lloyd had told her.

During Nicole’s brief stint as an undercover agent, she played a similar role as well. However, she was doing it with Carl, so playing it with another guy would not be a difficult task for Nicole.

She looked at the remarks written at the back and found out that the filming period was going to be three months. She smiled indifferently as she knew that she could land a role like this done in just under a month.

“No way. I can already tell what that man is up to.” As a man himself, Jared could see through the intentions that every man had for Nicole.

Nicole frowned. “We’re going to get married anyway. What are you worried about?”

She did not think that Lloyd still had this inappropriate ambition to pursue her, as she was going to marry Jared. She thought that there would be a limit to all of that confidence within.

Jared paused and kept quiet for a second before he said, "Are you saying that you agree to get married sooner?"

Nicole choked. She was not thinking properly when she said that while she was reading the script. 'Gosh, why would I say something like that?'

"T-That's not what I meant."

However, Jared did not let it slip. "I heard what you said, and I'll remember it. That's it, I'll get it done as soon as possible."

Lloyd was a celebrity, and he would not get in the way of somebody else's relationship to spare himself from trouble. That is, if Jared made it official with Nicole.

Nicole sighed upon noticing that Jared was starting to behave in a shameless manner again. "Whatever."

She knew that arguing with him was not going to help their situation.

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1585

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1585—However, it was going to happen sooner or later anyway. She could do her own things in peace after it had been taken care of.

Then, as if he had felt something, Jared softly said, "Okay, well stick to this plan then. I'll tell Zane to let you go after we've gotten married."

He had already made this decision for her when he went to save her at the airport. He just could not allow Nicole to do anything too perilous anymore.

Nicole's heart melted, but the mixed feeling flooded in thereafter.

"Jared... do you want me to quit?" she asked.

It was possible for her to do so in the Interpol, but she was not old enough to do that. Therefore, she did not know if Jared wanted her to retire after getting married.

"I just don't want you to put yourself in danger anymore.

And... I don't want to see you covered in blood ever again," he asserted.

Nicole became silent after she had heard Jared's heartfelt confession.

Suddenly, her heart started pounding as she became overjoyed. She could even hear Jared's voice trembling when he said that.

Nicole had never been afraid of death. She kept growing in strength and resilience after she had met Zane when she was younger, and that was also when taking care of her grandmother became her responsibility. She had never done anything to disobey Zane or the organization because she wanted to repay Zane for having given her an opportunity, as well as guidance throughout the years.

However, she began to feel a sense of fear after she had met Jared. She was afraid that she might never be able to see him again. Still, quitting the organization was something that had never crossed her mind.

Nicole took a deep breath and said, "I'll think about it."

She had only been able to live this long because of Zane and the organization. There was just no way she could leave the organization with just a simple letter of resignation.

"Sure, but I won't change my mind." Jared asserted, sounding very bossy. "You're mine now, and I want the best for you."

His affectionate voice emanated through the phone, making Nicole feel that she was genuinely loved as her heart started racing.

"Okay, stop being so cheesy. I need to read the script now." Nicole hung up as her face grew hot.

Jared heard the beeping sound in his phone, but he was not mad at all as he already knew that Nicole was just being shy.

Indeed, Nicole would only behave like a meek woman in front of him.

Jared was in a good mood when he placed his phone down. However, the look on his face darkened as soon as he thought about Lloyd.

'How bold of that idiot to ask Nicole to accompany him. I guess I'll have to teach him a lesson,' he said to himself.

He pressed the call button on his phone, and that was when Max came inside.

"Mr. Johnston, how may I assist you?"

Jared smiled faintly. "Find out which show Nicole is working on now, and... invest in their production team."

Jared figured that he should not be a gentleman anymore, as Lloyd had resorted to using dirty tricks.

“Yes, sir.” Max obliged, playing it cool in spite of the fact that he too was surprised by the notion that Nicole was going to act in a drama series.

Suddenly, he was reminded of something. “Mr. Johnston, the driver who struck Miss Riddle in the car without the license plate has been found. He fled the country, but he’s getting escorted back now.”

“Oh?” Jared’s lifted his brows, his gaze sharp. “What about the mastermind?”

Max’s gaze turned dark. “I’m sure that we’ll know who that is after some interrogation.”

An eerie smile flashed across Jared’s face. “There’s no need to bring him back if that’s the case. Just make him suffer a little at the border.”

Max immediately understood what Jared was trying to say because the border was not governed by any law...

‘I guess that person is going to experience hell.’

“Yes, sir. I’ll find out who did that in under three days. And if I might add...” Max hesitated as if he had something else to say.

“What is it?”

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1586

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1586—Max took a deep breath before he took a few pieces of paper out. “The Fisher Group hasn’t been doing well recently. A lot of companies terminated their contracts with them because they did not want to cross the Riddle family. We’re also getting ready to terminate our contract with them as you ordered. I’m now looking for another company to take over for the green energy project.”

“Okay, just forget about them and let them rot,” Jared said.

“However, the Fishers are up to something... They’re trying to form an alliance with families and enterprises that don’t support the Riddle family...” Max’s expression became a lot more serious as he explained.

Jared’s eyes darkened as soon as he heard that. He was not expecting the Fisher family to do something like that.

However, it did not sound like something that Colton and the old man would do.

“What about Fiorella?” He squinted and asked.

Max's expression became even more solemn. "I heard that she was the one who was representing the Fisher family in their negotiations with those people."

"Hmm! Seems like Colton did not raise his child right," Jared fumed.

The Fisher family could only be where they were because Mr. Fisher Sr. was a scheming and despicable person.

Though Colton was slightly better than that, he would still resort to some dirty tricks to get what he wanted.

Such was why the Johnston family did not want to associate themselves with the Fishers for the longest time. Jared would never have had any interactions with the Fishers if Henry had not collaborated with them for the green energy project.

"Keep an eye out on Fiorella and her family. Take any actions when necessary," Jared ordered.

"Yes, sir." Max nodded dutifully.

Then, he grabbed his stuff and left.

Jared's eyes fell on the computer. He opened a name list that he had given to Nicole on his new phone. He had already listed down the people who supported her and the people who did not have any plans of working together with the Riddle family...

It seemed that he had something planned all along.

The weekend ended very soon, and the school finally reopened on Monday.

Naturally, Nicole, Spencer, and Samuel got into the car and went straight to their school early in the morning.

While in the car, Samuel complained, "Mr. Ellison is kind enough to let Stanley skip the first day of school."

"Yeah. His results are just too good. Mr. Ellison said he just has to sit for the few main exams." Spencer replied.

"That's wonderful. I guess having good results could really get you anything." Samuel sighed.

Spencer replied with a degree of sourness as well. "Yeah. I wonder when we can be as good as him and finally do something that we like."

Samuel was very good at basketball, and he just could not concentrate on his studies. Even though his academic results were pretty good, he had never gotten first place in his batch. Spencer, on the other hand, was a musical genius, and he would always participate in competitions. Although he was always in the top ten in his culture class, it was still difficult for him to leave school and pursue his passion.

“It’s okay. Both of you are good at different things. Just focus on those.” Nicole smiled as she consoled them.

Not expecting their little sister to comfort them, big smiles crossed their faces.

“You’re right!”

“Yeah!”

Nicole’s smile also became warmer after seeing how bright the smiles were on her brothers’ faces. And just like that, they arrived at the school in a good mood.

As soon as they arrived, however, there was somebody waiting for them at the entrance. Samuel saw Norah the second he stepped out of the car, while the latter stood there as if she was really just waiting for them.

They only went forward to greet her after they had looked at

Nicole and saw that she was not bothered by this. “Why are you here, Norah Riddle?”

Norah was choking with rage when she heard Samuel calling her by her full name.

She had been staying in the hotel for the past few days, and her family seemed to have already forgotten about her.

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1587

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1587—None of them cared about her or even asked her if she was okay.

‘Are they planning to leave me here?’ Norah thought to herself.

However, she did not dare to call Daniel and Sean. She also had no idea as to why Gloria had blocked her number, but she highly suspected that Nicole was the culprit. The only thing she could do was wait for her brother at the school to find out what was happening.

Norah took a deep breath and forced out a smile. “I figured that my brothers would be here on the first day of school, so I came to wait for you guys.”

Samuel's expression became even more awkward, for Norah had addressed him as her brother, even when there were many people around them.

Unable to feel comfortable with what she had done, he said. "Norah, Dad has already said that you shouldn't call me your brother anymore. Just call me Samuel."

Norah's smile froze after she heard what Samuel had just said. She would have slapped him if he was somebody else. Fortunately, she held herself back.

Instead, she stopped smiling and wore a pitiful grimace instead, "Okay, Samuel..."

It was only then that Spencer and Samuel felt more comfortable. Nicole, on the other hand, was amused by the way Norah acted.

Sean had been busy, and he had not told his family about the results of the investigation. However, Norah was the one who could not wait, and that was why she had come to look for Samuel and Spencer.

Nicole only ignored her because she had been living with the Riddles for so many years and she did not want to put Gloria on the spot.

However, the Riddle family had made their stance clear to her, so there was no reason for Nicole to keep enabling her.

Nicole took a step forward, and in an icy voice, she said, "Norah, please put that pitiful look away. Other people would think that our family is mistreating you if they see you like this."

Spencer and Samuel only began to realize that what Nicole said was very true after hearing that.

They would probably get wind from the outsiders, saying that the heartless Riddle brothers had turned against their older sister again.

Spencer's tone became stern as he asked, "Norah, just tell us why you came here."

"Yeah. You should avoid coming here to look for us in the future," Samuel added.

The brothers sounded really stern. They were neither too soft nor too loud, and the passersby could hear what they were saying.

Norah gave off the look which implied that she would not stop pestering Nicole, and her face was burning as if she had just been slapped.

"Isn't that Norah Riddle?" one of the people in the crowd asked.

“I heard that she was chased out of the house after the Riddle family found their real daughter...”

“What? She even boasted that she lived in the Riddle residence just last semester...”

The bystanders buzzed about.

Norah could not bear the humiliation anymore as she angrily yelled, “Do you think I want to be here? I’m homeless now, and yet all of you just left me at the hotel. Are you guys trying to mess with...?”

With a loud smack, Nicole slapped Norah before she could even finish her sentence.

At this point, Norah was just trying to tarnish the Riddle family’s reputation, the very same family which had raised her for so many years. Not only did she not appreciate what they had done for her, she had also defamed them publicly.

Norah was left in a daze after Nicole had slapped her. There was blood on the edge of her lips, the coppery tang of which she could even taste.

That slap was simply too powerful, and Norah had never been slapped like that before. To add salt to the wound, Nicole had done that in front of everyone.

Norah widened her eyes and looked at Nicole in shock. “Did you... just slap me?”

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1588

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1588—“Yeah, and I’ve been wanting to do this for a very long time.” Nicole stretched her wrist and took a step forward. “That slap was to remind you not to forget the fact that my family raised you. As for this one, it’s to teach you a lesson for asking my mom for money and lying to all of us!”

Norah helplessly looked on as Nicole raised her hand again. She wanted to flee, but much to her misfortune, Nicole was faster than her. And just like that, she took another smack to the face.

That slap was so hard, that her ears began to ring. She slumped to the floor and her ponytail tumbled out.

Samuel and Spencer did not expect that Nicole would hit Norah. However, they felt that Norah deserved it after hearing what Nicole had said.

The Riddle family were the ones who had raised her for so many years, yet she had never made any mentions about it. Daniel and Gloria even gave Norah’s biological parents some money when she left the Riddle family. However, she had secretly approached Gloria to ask for more money. They did not confront her about everything that had happened previously, but as she was still dead set on messing with their family after her biological parents had died, their tolerance for her actions dissipated.

“How dare you! I’m going to kill you!” she cried.

Both sides of Norah’s cheeks were swollen. However, she came prepared. She took a fruit knife out from the side of her bag and charged at Nicole.

“Watch out!” Samuel grabbed Nicole and wrested her away upon seeing what Norah was doing.

However, his own arm was gashed in the process.

Seeing that, Nicole’s eyes turned red, and her glare became murderous. “You’re dead!”

She broke free from Samuel’s protection. Then, she grabbed Norah’s hand which was holding the knife and twisted it.

With a crack, Norah’s wrist gave in.

“Ah!” Norah yelled out of pain! She did not anticipate that Nicole would be so ruthless that she would be willing to break her wrist.

As her joint popped out of its socket, Norah was in so much pain that she collapsed and rolled on the ground with her face all scrunched up. “It hurts! She’s a murderer... Call the cops! Call the cops now!”

Norah screamed for help from the bystanders, her hair wild and messy.

Nicole looked down at her and stomped on her other hand before yelling, “Cops? You tried to harm me, and I was just protecting myself. You’re the one that the cops will be arresting once they’re here.”

Nicole’s vicious gaze scared Norah so much that she even stopped yelling.

‘She’s terrifying... Her eyes really do make her look like a demon,’ she panicked.

‘Why do I feel like she could crush me anytime and kill me!?’

“I’m sorry... Please forgive me. I’m sorry!” Norah’s fear made her kneel and plead for forgiveness.

However, Nicole’s eyes were blank. “Tell that to the cops!”

She withdrew her foot and returned to Samuel, after which she examined his wound and yelled at Norah again, “You’re not going to get away with this!”

Then, she helped Samuel up. "I'll get you to the infirmary now."

She had to stitch the cut as soon as possible. Otherwise, Samuel would be left with a scar.

"Okay..." Samuel nodded and walked off with Nicole while enduring the searing pain.

Spencer turned around and look at Norah, who was lying on the ground. His eyes were filled with hatred and disappointment.

'Is she the same sister that we used to love? Why did she become like this? Or were we wrong about her true colors from the start?' he pondered.

Norah could only think straight after they had left.

It was then that someone called the cops, causing Norah to panic. 'Are the cops really going to arrest me?'

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1589

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1589—Norah did not even bother claiming her backpack anymore the second she thought about that. Then, she left while enduring the pain in her wrist.

Nicole did not waste anytime. The school doctor's widened at once when he saw Samuel's wound once Nicole had brought him in. "It's a deep cut. You've got to bring him to a hospital to stitch it up and get a tetanus shot..."

Nicole took her Beacon out after seeing how profuse Samuel's bleeding was.

Then, she wrapped it around his arm, "The bleeding will stop soon. It has the same ingredient as a tetanus shot. Don't worry."

The eyes of the school doctor lit up as soon as he saw the device. "Is that a Beacon? This is something that we can't even buy now. How did you get it?"

Nicole ignored him and swept her glance across the room, spotting the medical equipment needed to stitch Samuel up, whereupon she said to the school doctor, "I'm going to stitch him up. Would you mind waiting outside?"

"What?" The school doctor paused as he was taken aback.

He was a doctor, and that was where he worked. Thus the notion that a student had said those words to him did come off as absurd.

“Hey, listen to me... This is an infirmary, not a hospital. A wound like this needs to be treated in the hospital...”

Spencer became impatient as he told the school doctor, “My sister is a very good doctor. Just keep quiet and listen to her.”

The school doctor choked after hearing what Spencer had said. However, he knew who Spencer was. He shifted his gaze to Nicole’s face right away and recognized that she was the popular lady from the last semester.

He knew that Nicole was a genius, but he had no idea that she knew anything about medicine.

‘She’s just a high school student, isn’t she?’ he wondered.

However, Nicole had already administered a local anesthetic to Samuel before stitching him up. As expected, the school doctor was shocked to see what Nicole was doing. He figured that it was foolish of him to doubt her after looking at how polished Nicole’s procedures were.

She was just as good as the doctor working in a large hospital. Hell, she could even outclass his mentor at this point.

‘Is this kid really just a high school student?!’ he wondered again.

The doctor felt humiliated and useless in her presence. He even began thinking that he did not deserve to work as the school’s doctor when a high school student could actually do a better job than him.

Soon after, Nicole took care of Samuel’s wound.

She placed a bandage on it before glaring at Samuel. “Why did you rush over to protect me? Have you forgotten that I know martial arts?”

Unable to stomach the fact that Nicole knew martial arts as well, the doctor left. “I’ll get you guys a glass of water...”

Samuel scratched his head in embarrassment after the doctor had left. “I forgot about it because I was afraid that she might hurt you. I only did what I did out of instinct.”

Spencer then added. “Isn’t it perfectly justified for a brother to protect his little sister? I’m sure that he didn’t think much when he acted out of his instinct just now.”

Samuel nodded. “Yeah. All I wanted to do was to keep you safe.”

Nicole’s reproachful eyes turned gentle.

Even though it felt good to be protected by a brother of hers, she did not want anyone around her to get hurt.

However, she could not pin the blame on them as Norah was the reason why everything had happened.

“Spencer, you should head to class with Samuel right now. I have something else to take care of.” Nicole then left the infirmary with a grim look on her face.

Spencer somehow felt relieved after his sister had left.” Nicole looked really terrifying when she was mad...”

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1590

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1590—“Yeah. Sometimes, I feel like our little sister is more mature than us...”

Even Spencer needed Nicole to take care of him, and that made him feel guilty.

“However, she’s still our sister and we’ve got to protect and give her the very best the world has to offer,” Spencer passionately said.

“Of course.” Samuel nodded, not regretting what he had done for Nicole at all.

Nicole, who had already left the infirmary by now, proceeded to dial Sean’s number right away.

Concurrently, Sean was having a meeting with his subordinates when his phone suddenly rang.

Everyone there knew how meticulous Sean was in his work and that he would never pick his phone up during a meeting. In addition, he had gotten even more serious in his work as of recent.

He looked at his phone after a few rings. To their surprise, he gestured for everyone to keep quiet and answered the call by the window.

“Hello? Nicole?” His gentle voice made him look as though he was a completely different man to the one who would reprimand his employees.

Everyone was confused...

‘Who’s that person on the phone?’

‘Could it be Mr. Riddle’s girlfriend? I have no idea that he had one.’

However, nobody dared to speak a word as they perked their ears up to listen to their conversation.

Sean heard Nicole's solemn voice from the other side of the phone. "Sean, did you manage to dig up anything about Norah's parents?"

Sean paused. He had a meeting in the morning, and so, he had left early. That was why he did not tell Nicole about what he had found out.

"Yeah, but I haven't read the report yet. Do you want me to forward it to you first?" Sean asked in a caring tone of voice, which left everyone shocked.

"Sure. Thank you so much." Nicole nodded.

She knew that Sean was very busy, so she added a soft, "Sorry for disturbing you."

Sean smiled. "Don't talk to me like I'm some stranger."

Their stern-looking boss actually smiled. Everyone there looked at each other in utter disbelief.

'Who's the person on the phone? How did that person manage to make Mr. Riddle smile so gently?' one of the men thought.

"Okay, thanks Sean. I'll hang up now. Bye." Nicole thanked him and hung up.

As soon as he placed his phone away, he realized that everyone in the conference room was staring at him.

Just like that, his gentle gaze turned into a frown again." What are you looking at? Carry on!"

"Yes, sir!" One of the managers that were reporting to him stood up and continued as if everything that had happened moments before was nothing but a dream.

Mr. Riddle would never be so gentle.'

I'm sure that it was just an illusion!

Nicole received an email seconds after she had hung up.

Then, she started reading it.

Indeed, Sean had acted very quickly. 'He probably spent a lot of money and leveraged a number of his connections. He actually found the bodies of Norah's parents too.'

The detailed report showed that Norah and her parents had traveled to an island for vacation some time ago, but they were caught in a thunderstorm three days into their trip. As a result, their boat was stranded and unable to return to the shore. For some reason, Norah's parents had insisted on going to the island, and they had even bought an overpriced boat to sail out. That was how they got into that accident.

Nicole read the final result and that was when her eyes darkened. Her gut feeling was right. She was certain that there was more to the death of Norah's parents. Otherwise, there was little reason as to why they would suddenly buy a boat abroad just to go to that island with all that they could afford.

Nicole just could not figure out why they would risk their lives to do that under such terrible weather.

Then, an assumption came to mind.