MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1721-“You’ve never thought of targeting them, but you didn’t think letting them have allowed them to get stronger? Now even we are being affected by that!” Dillon growled. “What do you plan to do about this? My project got taken away by the Fisher family and I’ve lost close to a million! Damien lost even more.”

When Dillon said that, he did not forget to use Damien as ammunition as well.

Seeing that the two were clearly here to cause trouble, Sean hissed somewhat angrily, “There’s always ups and downs in business. My father hadn’t anticipated this and you’re now pushing the blame on him, Uncle Dillon?”

When Dillon heard that, he blew his top. “What do you mean by that? You’re saying I’m pushing my responsibility to him?”

Karen, who had followed Dillon here, initially did not want to speak, but seeing that her husband was on the back foot, she could not help but interject. “Who’s actually pushing their responsibility aside is still up in the air! If you two weren’t butting heads with the Fisher family, we wouldn’t have been affected by your conflict! In the end, it’s all your fault!”

When she saw Karen pointing her finger at her father and brother, berating them, Nicole walked up and hissed, “Your mouth sure is something, Aunt Karen. Turning facts upside down with just a few words, shifting your own incompetence as other’s faults.”

The moment Nicole spoke, everyone immediately turned to look at her.

When Mr. Riddle Sr. saw Nicole, his eyes widened. “Nicole, you’re back.”

“Yes.” Nicole nodded before saying to Mr. Riddle Sr., “Grandpa, who brought you here today? For someone to disturb your rest over something so trivial repeatedly, I wonder what that person’s thinking.”

In a sentence, Nicole had managed to paint Karen’s excuse as being totally unreasonable.

Mr. Riddle Sr. too was annoyed as he rumbled, “It’s your Uncle Dillon and Aunt Karen who brought me here themselves.”

Upon hearing what Mr. Riddle Sr. had to say, Dillon quickly chimed in. “Dad, this isn’t some trivial matter. Of course I needed to bring you here.”

“Yes, this girl has no idea how to do business. How can losing a million-dollar business be something trivial?” Karen panicked too.

Nicole immediately looked up and glared at Karen.

And seeing that glare, Karen immediately shut up.

Nicole looked at her icily before turning to her father and eldest brother. “Dad, Sean, what’s the projected profit during this business quarter?”

Sean was taken aback by the question. Nicole had never asked about the number, so why was she asking this now?

Although he was confused, he still trusted Nicole and answered honestly. “The projected profit for our current projects is about a billion, five times more than the Riddle Corporation’s previous financial year profit.”

Nicole immediately raised her eyebrow. “You heard that, Grandpa? The corporation is already earning about a billion in profit. There are always wins and losses in the field of business. We’ve already won a billion, so why care about that lost million?”

The moment she said that, Mr. Riddle Sr. felt very relieved inside. “You’re right. The Riddle Corporation’s fortune is unlike ever before, and I’m very satisfied with it.”

As he said that, Mr. Riddle Sr. turned to Damien and Dillon.” Damien, Dillon, let it go. Don’t dwell too much on the losses.”

Seeing that Mr. Riddle Sr. was about to dismiss this matter as trivial, Karen was the first to panic.

“Don’t dwell on it? Why? Why can their projects profit while ours take a beating? Dad! Dillon has given so much to the company. You need to speak up for him!”

Noticing that Karen was unwilling to let go, Mr. Riddle Sr. was a little displeased.

Nicole sneered and decided to do away with any pleasantries. “I’m curious as well about your question, Aunt Karen. Why are the projects managed by my father and brothers making a profit while both Uncle Dillon and Uncle Damien’s projects are making a loss? You said they’ve put in so much work, but where are the results?”

As soon as the words came out, everyone was stunned into silence.

No one had expected Nicole to latch onto the loophole in Karen’s words and turned it against her!

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1722

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1722-Immediately, everyone realized that Nicole had a point!

'Yeah, they suffered losses because of their own incompetence, and now they're blaming it on us?'

Damien noticed his name being dragged into the mud and could not stay silent. He said coldly, ' Nicole, you don't understand what's going on in the company. The Fisher family had recently contacted our partners leading to their turn. And all in all, the one in conflict with the Fisher family is your family, and both your Uncle Dillon and I suffered collateral damage. This you can't deny.'

When Damien put it that way, Dillon poured more fuel into the fire. "Damien's right. If you didn't make enemies out of the Fisher family, our projects would've been intact! Why are your family's issues affecting us?"

As soon as those words came out, Nicole's eyes turned dark as her entire aura caused the air in the room to turn icy.

Sensing that Nicole was displeased, Mr. Riddle Sr. could only sigh. "Enough. What are you arguing for? You're all brothers. What, you lot want to split the family up now?"

Those words reminded Nicole of something as she broke into a smile. "Uncle Damien and Uncle Dillon have been going on and on about 'your family'. They've already drawn such a clear line that the family should split."

When Damien and Dillon heard that, they sensed something was not right, but before they could even react, Nicole let out a contemptuous sneer. "It so happens that I too think it's unfair. My father and brothers are putting in the most time and effort into all of these projects we have now, yet Uncle Damien and Uncle Dillon are still collecting their share dividends as usual, and we even have to share in their losses. So, we might as well split the family up!"

Her voice thundered across the room.

And both Damien and Dillon felt like they had been struck by lightning.

None of them expected this. They had only wanted to use this as a pretext to get something out of Daniel, but they ended up pissing off Nicole and she now wanted to split the family up!

Although they too had been in the Riddle Corporation over these years, the dividends were only a few million each. This year's profit was five to six times that of the previous year, and it may even rise to ten times by year's end. And this girl was now talking about splitting the family up?! Wouldn't they lose out on a lot?

"We... We didn't mean that..." Dillon felt a tinge of guilt and wanted to back out on his words.

Yet, Nicole continued, "You didn't mean that? Then why are you two trying to find fault here? So what now? Hounding us when there's a problem, and you want a share of my father and brother's hard-earned profit at year's end too?"

Being seen through like that, Karen lost all standing so she could only try to shout Nicole down. "What nonsense are you babbling about? Is this how you speak to your elders? Remember that when Daniel didn't work at the company, it was your Uncle Damien and Uncle Dillon who kept him fed!"

When that was said, Steve could no longer hold back. "If I remember correctly, when Uncle Damien and Uncle Dillon had many projects at hand, not all of the profits went into the company's coffers right? The dividend my father had gotten was no more than two million, and did we make a sound back then? Now that our profit's in the billions, I don't think you don't know how much you'd get."

"Uncle Damien, Uncle Dillon, this is way overboard!" Sean stared at them, the flames of anger burning in his eyes.

Seeing that Daniel's entire family was angry, Damien could not help but soften his tone.

"This is the company's system. I also admit that it's Daniel's family who's working hard for the company right now, but I don't agree in splitting the family up. We're a family after all." Damien tried to readjust his position and appear righteous.

Nicole, however, snorted coldly. "So we're a family now? Too late for that, Uncle Damien."

When she said the last four words, a sudden chill descended upon everyone.

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1723

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1723-It was especially true for Damien and Dillon. Dexter, who had been listening by the side and not speaking, had no intention to participate in this skirmish. But when he heard about splitting the family up, it was a huge matter and he could not help but stand up. "Nicole, you're still young, you must be calm when dealing with trouble..."

Nicole looked at Dexter. The latter's family was always fair toward her family and had never bullied her parents, but there were some things that even they could not help.

Nicole lowered her tone as she looked at Dexter. "I won't force you if you don't want to split up, Uncle Dexter, but today, I'll represent my parents in asking to split away from Uncle Damien and Uncle Dillon. Each family shall only deal and profit from their projects, and no longer have anything to do with one another henceforth."

Mr. Riddle Sr. was slightly taken aback. He never thought that this little girl could be so stubborn and decide upon such an important matter just like that!

He had lived for so many years now and this was the first time he felt that his position as head of the Riddle family was just for show!

Yet, Nicole was now the wielder of the Fire Crest, and all of the family's businesses increased because of her, so, no matter how she wanted to allocate things, he was powerless to stop her.

Seeing Mr. Riddle Sr. keeping quiet, Karen got anxious. "Dad! You're the head of the house! Nicole is literally stepping all over you! You can't just listen to her like that!"

But Mr. Riddle Sr. only felt worn out when he looked at Karen. "I've already given Nicole my shares. Moreover, the company's being managed by Daniel and Sean right now. So, I'll leave the call to them."

His heart knew very well that when Damien and Dillon were managing the company, Daniel never once took more than what he was entitled. Even when he had shares, Daniel never took the full amount of dividends due to his guilty conscience.

Now that the tables had turned, Damien and Dillon wanted to take advantage of him. He could not turn a blind eye to this.

"Dad!" Karen was completely flabbergasted. She totally did not expect the old man to leave them to their own devices just like that!

"Dad, you can't do this..." Damien did not expect this either. He had thought that he had the upper hand and to end up like this, even the image of calmness that he had cultivated for so many years quickly came apart.

Nicole saw that Mr. Riddle Sr. was conflicted and yet, he still handed her the right to make the decision. She took a deep breath.

She was still very grateful for his love for her, but if she were to soften her stance now, it would only serve to give Damien and Dillon more opportunities to cause trouble in the future.

So, she decided to get rid of the root of the problem. "Don't worry, Uncle Damien, Uncle Dillon. Since you said that today's issue was because of us, then we'll take over all of the loss-making projects and hereinafter, any losses will be borne by us. We'll pay you your fair share according to the original agreements signed with the partners. But similarly, after this, all of the projects managed by my father and brothers no longer have anything to do with the two of you. Both of you shall no longer enjoy any profits or dividends from any of their projects.”

Nicole’s voice was calm, the logic of her words crisp and precise.

Sean did not expect that Nicole, who was just a college student, seemed to have a thorough understanding about company contracts.

“No!” Karen panicked. “Who do you think you are? Who are you to dictate terms in this family?!”

As she said that, Karen attempted to shove Nicole.

But Nicole deftly dodged to the side and Karen, losing her balance, staggered and fell onto the ground!

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1724

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1724-Karen crashed straight onto the coffee table, toppling it over!

In an instant, all of the cups on the tabletop fell to the ground and shattered!

And Karen, by a stroke of fate, knelt straight onto the shattered fragments!

“AHHHH!!!” Karen screeched in pain as the blood from her cut knees was smeared all over the floor!

“Karen!” Dillon immediately rushed to help Karen up and sat her on the sofa before glaring angrily at Nicole. “What have you done?!”

Nicole rolled her eyes at him. “Are you blind, Uncle Dillon? Aunt Karen was the one who wanted to hit me just now.

Serves her right!” Since they were already being so absolutely shameless, there was no need for her to hold back any longer!

“You! Looks like you’re in need of a slap!” Dillon was so pissed off, he raised his hand and slapped Nicole!

Who knew that Nicole was already planning not to let them go easily today?

Nicole immediately grabbed Dillon’s hand, and a loud crack rang out. Dillon screamed in pain. “ARGH!!! What are you doing?!”

Before he could even finish screaming, Nicole kicked him straight in the calf bone!

With a crack, Dillon too fell on the fragmented shards on the floor!

“ARGH!” As Dillon screamed, his knees bled as well!

The scene stunned everyone who witnessed it.

Damien and Dexter were also shocked by the scene, starting to have cold sweats.

Daniel, on the other hand, had already covered Gloria’s eyes and stopped her from looking at the scene.

But he, Sean and the rest were all staring at Nicole one after another...

None of them had expected that Nicole would strike against Dillon and his wife.

But since the two struck first, it really served them right!

“Did you see that, Dad?! Nicole’s a total feral mutt!” Dillon hugged his knees as he laid on the ground, Karen now the last thing on his mind!

Nicole turned to Mr. Riddle Sr. at this moment and said, “Grandpa, you saw them strike first, and every single time there’s a problem, Uncle Dillon would always ask you to preside over things, and then use you to throw all sorts of tantrums. He even dared hit me this time! If you side with him again, he’ll only get worse!”

Even Mr. Riddle Sr. was shocked.

He totally did not expect Nicole to know martial arts...

Back then he just condoned whatever that Dillon did, but the latter had been taking advantage of that time and time again!

And now Dillon dared try to strike Nicole in front of him!

‘This husband-and-wife pair is beyond saving!’

“Hmph, serves you right! You’re an elder and you dare strike the young so nilly-willy. Have you forgotten Nicole’s status now? Everything we Riddles have today is because of Nicole, so what in damnation are you lot quarreling for?”

Mr. Riddle Sr. stared at both Damien and Dillon angrily.

At this moment, Damien had already turned pale, knowing that he will not be able to achieve what he came for today.

Even worse, the entire thing had backfired on him!

Sure enough, Nicole seized the opportunity and said, "We'll be splitting this family up for sure. Our feelings for you will never change, Grandpa, so please don't worry. Sean, please send Grandpa home."

She did not want to agitate the old man too much. He had only recently recovered and could not afford to get angry, so Nicole asked Sean to send him home.

Strangely enough, Sean, the CEO of the company, actually listened to his little sister. "Got it. Grandpa, I'll send you home?"

Mr. Riddle Sr. nodded. He already had a headache from the ruckus and only wanted to leave this place as soon as possible.

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1725

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1725-"Dad! You can't just leave!" Dillon was still screaming for Mr. Riddle Sr.

Yet, the old man only glanced at him before walking away, feeling dour.

'He's always so ungrateful. It's high time to teach him a lesson,' he thought.

Seeing that Mr. Riddle Sr. had left just like that, Dillon despaired. He then turned to Damien and yelled, "Damien, say something, damn you!"

However, at this moment, Damien saw that things had already passed the point of no return as he said with a pale face. "Dillon, Dad has already agreed to that... and I'm powerless. I'll call an ambulance for you."

The only thing he could do now was help Dillon call an ambulance to take him away from this place.

"WHAT?!" Dillon was totally stunned. Even Damien no longer planned to help him!

The sight caused Dexter to feel ill. As someone with hemophobia, he felt a little sick. "Daniel, I'm feeling sick from the sight of blood, I'll be heading off first. I'll leave the final decision of this matter to you all."

He was similar to Daniel, and only collected dividends from the company. He, however, would take a little bit more every year and did not feel as guilty as Daniel did. He had no opinion against anyone in the family and treated everyone equally as he did not want to participate in any disputes at all.

“Alright, take care.” Daniel gave Dexter a grateful look. Every time when Damien and Dillon mistreated him, Dexter would often speak up for him, and he still remembered this clearly.

“Yeah.” Dexter nodded as he waved and bade Daniel’s family goodbye.

Damien on the other hand did not return after he went out to make a call.

Daniel, out of the kindness of his heart, called the family doctor and housekeeper to give Dillon and his wife emergency treatment.

The two, however, ungratefully refused them.

“Get lost! Don’t touch me. Who knows what you lot are plotting!”

“Daniel, remember this! I won’t let you off so easily for treating us like this!”

The husband and wife continued to make a ruckus.

Nicole, already at her limits, hissed at them. “Shut up! The two of you want me to shove those shards into your mouth to shut you up?”

The two immediately fell silent.

Nicole was more than willing to see them bleed... Shoving shards into their mouths was not impossible for her...

Karen could not help but lower her voice, but she still begrudgingly hissed, “Don’t think you’ve won today, Nicole... we won’t let this lie!”

“Up to you, but you better watch out. If you piss me off again, just be aware that Uncle Dillon’s shares in the company... Let’s just say don’t blame me when he receives nothing during the dividend payout.”

“You dare threaten me?!” Karen’s face was flushed in anger. “Those shares were given to us by your grandfather. You think you can just take that away?”

Nicole only let out a sneer in response. “That’s none of your business. But I can totally reduce those shares of yours into ash and cinder.”

Nicole’s gaze was like a chill wind, biting deep into Karen’s bones, causing fear to well up within her.

For some reason, she felt that this eighteen-year-old girl here would see to whatever she said done...

After all, she was now the inheritor of the Fire Crest. She won't destroy her own family's business right?

As she thought that, the ambulance Damien called arrived.

The ambulance crew immediately helped them up onto the stretchers.

Before Dillon was helped, he even tried to be menacing. "Daniel, you dare do this to me... You'll regret this!"

If it were before, Daniel would not have known how to respond to them and would even feel pity out of brotherhood.

But when Dillon tried to strike Daniel's daughter just now, Daniel had totally given up on the former.

He said impassively to Dillon, "I won't."

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1726

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1726-At this instant, Dillon found himself speechless as he was carried away.

Calm finally returned to the house after everyone had left.

Gloria's face was pale and seeing that she was not doing so well, Daniel helped her upstairs to rest.

Steve, on the other hand, heaved a sigh of relief. "Awesome work there, Nicole. Thank goodness you came back in time."

Otherwise, their parents would have just been toyed about by Uncle Damien and Uncle Dillon.

"Yeah, I totally didn't expect you to use this opportunity to seek a split of the family."

Stanley also had a look of admiration on his face.

He had recently felt things were very unfair. He, his father and elder brothers were breaking their backs at work and yet when it came to the yearly dividends, they still needed to give Damien and Dillon a big piece of the pie.

Their greed knew no bounds and today, they got their comeuppance!

"If we didn't split up the family, are we supposed to continue letting them leech from us?" Nicole had lost all patience.

Back then, she would give them face out of concern for her grandfather.

But now that he knew what she was doing, there was no longer any need to hide.

She would only do what was good for the family and will never endanger the Riddle family.

So that was why Mr. Riddle Sr. allowed her to do as she pleased.

Thinking of this, she felt warm inside. The feeling of being trusted by Grandpa felt really good..

Samuel and Spencer on the other hand sat down feeling pleased with the outcome. "Nicole's right. We can't keep such people in the family!"

"But, Uncle Dillon's a vengeful person. He'll definitely find a way to seek revenge."

Nicole snorted coldly. "Don't worry.. He's nothing to be afraid of. The one that we need to keep an eye out for is another person..."

Sean and Steve looked at each other and could already guess who Nicole was talking about.

At this moment, Damien had already arrived home and as soon as he walked through the door, he was smashing things left and right!

Miley and Chloe were shocked by the loud noise and quickly came downstairs.

"Dad, what happened?"

"Dear, what has gotten into you? Don't smash that! It's expensive!" Miley immediately walked forward to stop him, fearing that he would smash the most valuable antique vase in the house!

But it worked and Damien actually stopped his rampage.

He panted hard as he loosened his tie and flopped weakly onto the sofa.

It was only then did Miley come to his side. "What's the matter, dear? Didn't you and Dillon go to Daniel's place to pick a fight? What happened?"

Damien roared, "Dillon, that imbecile! Not only did we not manage to get any compensatory projects from Daniel's family, but he also allowed that brat Nicole to even bring up the idea of splitting the family up!"

“What, splitting the family up?” Miley’s eyes widened. They had always gotten a decent chunk of dividends from the Riddle Corporation every year, but this year’s dividend should be the most as Daniel and his family had gotten so many projects in their hands. Those were profits worth billions!

And now Nicole proposed the splitting up of the family at this juncture?

“Wait, why was it Nicole who gave that idea? Who does she think she is?” Miley spat angrily. “Does she think she’s a big deal now, with that Fire Crest of hers?”

Damien snorted coldly. “Yeah, she’s a big deal now! Dad’s literally allowing her to do as she pleases and has already agreed to split the family up!”

“Huh?” Miley was stunned. “Then... does that mean we won’t be getting our millions in dividends at year’s end?”

When she heard that such a large amount of money had slipped out of their hands, even Chloe was stunned as she said agitatedly, “How could she make that decision? She’s not the decision maker of this family! The company’s affairs aren’t hers to command!”

Damien glared at Chloe. “All of the glory this family has now is because of Nicole! She’s already the largest shareholder in the company! Your grandfather had planned all this!”

‘Come to think of it, that old man had played all of us for fools!’

‘The old man had already expected such a day would come!’

‘So that’s why he had given Nicole most of the shares a long time ago, and even handed her the authority at such a critical juncture!’

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1727

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1727-‘I have no place in this company at all!’ “No... No... Dad won’t do this to us...” Miley was still trembling, her face in disbelief.

Damien, however, let out a frenzied laugh. “What sort of father is he? He got me to manage the company when it wasn’t doing well, and now that business is booming, he handed it to Daniel instead! That old coot!”

Damien had always respected Mr. Riddle Sr. and had never been so angry before!

“My love, you have an idea on how to deal with this, right?” Miley grabbed onto Damien’s hand. “We can’t split the family up... It’ll be over for us if that happens...”

All of their projects were affected now and they will most likely not be able to secure any good projects from now on, with all of the best projects going to Daniel and his family.

He did not want to just be parasites that only get a few million a year at the mercy of others!

Damien's eyes turned gloomy as he looked outside the window. "It's not like I don't have an idea... Worse comes to worst, we'll be fighting all out."

He snorted coldly as an idea formed in his mind.

Chloe had never seen her father looking so terrifying before, but how she wished her father had taken a harsher stance earlier and struck against Nicole!

'That bitch should just die already!'

Everett heard all of this from upstairs but did not head down.

'It looks like the plan needs to be expedited...'

The next day, Nicole went to school as usual but her father and brothers had gone to the company to start the process of distinguishing the company's various departments and performances.

It was imperative that they split the family up, and they needed to be quick and decisive.

With trouble brewing at home, Nicole did not think that it would be brewing at school as well.

Just as she got to the classroom block, a large bucket of water was poured down from upstairs.

Thankfully, Nicole deftly dodged it.

Yet, when she looked up, there was no one at all.

On the way to the library, someone tried to snipe her with a slingshot too!

These sort of tricks were nothing to Nicole as she tilted her head sideways and dodged the shot!

Before she left, she hissed coldly, "Amateurs, childish!"

The few people hiding in the dark suddenly panicked.

When it was the afternoon self-study session, when both

Nicole and Gary were on their way to the training class, there was water on the ground and when Nicole saw it, she deftly leaped over it.

Gary was not as lucky and did not see it at all. He had already stepped into the water by the time he saw Nicole jumping over it.

Before he could even react, Gary felt like he was being electrocuted the next moment!

And he immediately fell, kneeling on the ground!

“Ugh!”

It was only when Gary grunted in pain that Nicole realized something was not right!

When she turned back, she saw him kneeling stiffly on the ground. And he was about to collapse!

“Damn you! You got electrocuted!” Nicole did not have time to dither as she quickly looked for the nearby switch. Sure enough, she saw the water dispenser nearby had a leakage and quickly unplugged it.

It was only then that Gary was saved and his body immediately relaxed.

His hair on the other hand, all stood up because of the electricity.

“Gary! Are you alright?” Nicole helped Gary up as she said with a helpless look on her face. “How are you so stupid? Didn’t you see water on the floor?”

Gary shook his head, trembling. “I didn’t...”

Nicole did not have time to think as she immediately lifted Gary by the shoulder and said, “Hang in there. I’ll take you to the infirmary right away!”

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1728

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1728-Gary felt Nicole’s support and close proximity to him, and suddenly felt very warm inside...

But the paralyzing pain surging across his body made it very hard for him to enjoy this moment of tenderness as he staggered to the infirmary, helped by Nicole.

Thankfully, Gary was fine. Nicole gave him a checkup and a few needle technique pricks later, Gary’s complexion improved somewhat.

The school doctor already knew Nicole’s medical skills and only stood aside.

After pulling out the needles, Gary turned to Nicole. "Did you know the water was electrified so you leaped over it?"

Nicole shook her head. "There were a lot of pranks today, so I was on guard, but I did not expect these were not pranks..."

'This is horrible. Don't they know that electric shocks could kill?'

Gary looked miserable. "If only I was a little more alert.

Fortunately for me, you were around. Otherwise there'll be no one there just now and I'll be dead..."

Nicole's face turned gloomy. If she was passing by herself, no one would have saved her.

Thinking of this made her angry.

So she said to Gary, "You should have the key to the school surveillance, right? Let's check who the culprit behind this is.

IV

Gary nodded and after a while, got out of bed and went to the surveillance room with Nicole's help.

But this time, the perpetrators were well prepared and did not leave any trace behind at all!

"Those few spots happen to be the blind spots..." Gary gave Nicole a grim look. "It looks like these people did this on purpose."

Nicole's expression was similarly dark. She suddenly thought of something as she smirked. "No matter. I have a way to draw these people out... As long as you cooperate."

"Cooperate how?" Gary gave Nicole a perplexed look.

And a scheming smile soon spread across Nicole's face.

Ten minutes later, the ambulance came.

All of the students in school were in an uproar as they could no longer focus on their class and quickly gathered along the corridor.

They then saw Gary being carried up into the ambulance before being driven away.

Everyone stretched their necks out, wanting to find out what had happened.

At this moment, Ryder managed to push his way out of the crowd and saw Nicole standing in the center of the crowd.

He immediately went to her and asked. "What happened to Gary?"

Nicole looked at Ryder with an aggrieved look as she said, "Gary... He was electrocuted..."

Ryder could not help but be taken aback. The first shock was Gary being electrocuted, and the second shock...

Why did the usually stoic Nicole suddenly pretend to be pitiful?

His instincts told him something was not right, but he still asked, "How did that happen?"

Nicole replied with a pained tone, "He tried to save me just now. We were going to the computer room just now and the water dispenser had a leakage. Gary noticed it and pushed me away, and got electrocuted himself..."

When Ryder heard that, he fumed. "How can the water dispenser have a leakage? The Royal Creek Institute's facilities would never have such a problem!"

Nicole acted even more pitifully when she was questioned. "I don't know... but it seemed like someone had deliberately cut the water dispenser's wire and splashed water on the ground. Gary's in a serious condition right now..."

When Ryder heard that his brother was in a serious condition, he immediately lost it as he roared at the crowd. 'Who did that?! Show yourself, NOW!'

That roar instantly frightened many present.

All of them started to whisper to one another.

"Pissing off the Finleys is like stubbing your own foot against a steel plate..."

"Yeah, the Finley family is San Joto's largest internet conglomerate..."

"Sh*t, sh*t..."

Ryder yelled in fury. "If you show yourself now, I'll be calling the police!"

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1729

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1729-While speaking, Ryder had already whipped out his phone and made a call.

At that moment, a voice came from upstairs.

“No. Please, no...”

Everyone lifted their heads and noticed a little girl crying out of fear at the university section.

“Who’s that?”

“I don’t know her...”

There were a lot of eyes on her.

However, Nicole had already recognized who that girl was.

‘It’s the girl who follows Snow around every day!’

True enough, once that girl spoke, Snow rushed over.” Alverlyn! Stop spitting nonsense!”

However, that girl panicked so much that she began to tear up-

“Snow...you’re not afraid of the Finley family, but my family has a partnership with them. If my parents found out that I framed one of the Finley family members, they’d kill me!” The girl cried loudly as she spoke those words.

Ryder was furious. He immediately rushed up the stairs.

Nicole did not expect the culprit to be exposed this soon. Initially, she thought that someone would only call Ryder later. However, Ryder wanted to call the cops immediately. That was amazing!

At that thought, Nicole leisurely followed upstairs.

Soon, Ryder stood in front of Snow and that girl. “The both of you, explain clearly! What’s going on?”

When Snow saw that Ryder had come up, she got furious and immediately pushed the other girl. “What nonsense were you saying just now? It’s none of my business whether your family is partnering with the Finley family.”

That girl could tell that Snow was trying to pass the buck. Just as she was about to refute, Snow glared at her.”

Alverlyn Wyatt! You should settle your own matters. Don't speak nonsense and drag me into your issues!"

At that moment, Alverlyn's face turned paler. She did not know what to do as she looked at Ryder. All she could do was to quickly apologize. "I'm sorry. I'm sorry... It was all my fault. I destroyed the water dispenser and spilled water all over. All this is my fault! Ryder, please don't call the cops!"

As Ryder watched Alverlyn kneeling on the floor and clasping her hands together to beg him, he felt annoyed and disgusted.

Anyone could tell that Alverlyn was simple-minded.

Based on what was said, Snow seemed suspicious.

However, she just stood there and watched the whole commotion.

Ryder could not help but reply angrily, "How could I forgive you when you've put my brother on a hospital bed? But if you could tell me who instructed you to do it, I won't call the cops. I could also settle this matter as a case within the school itself. It won't affect our parent's partnership."

Alverlyn hesitated for a moment. She was flustered for an instance, and discreetly glanced at Snow.

Snow's gaze immediately turned so fierce that Alverlyn did not dare look at Snow again.

"I-I really did it on my own. Please do not call the cops on me!"

Nicole was standing behind Ryder and she witnessed everything clearly.

Deep down, it was clear to her that Alverlyn did not dare offend Snow.

As Nicole thought about the incident that day and the series of events which were all done by Snow, her face turned extremely cold.

'It seemed like she's here to avenge her sister and parents.

'In that case, I won't be giving way!'

Taking a step forward, Nicole stepped right beside Ryder and spoke to Alverlyn. "You can speak out bravely. As long as you tell us the truth on who was the one that instructed you, I promise you, that person will disappear from San Joto and leave Royal Creek Institute! That person won't be able to threaten you anymore!"

As he felt Nicole's aura, Ryder immediately moved aside.

'Nicole Riddle. She's not an ordinary person. How does she dare make such a huge request?

'Also, she and Snow are cousins, right?

'Why does she seem to loathe Snow a lot?'

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1730-At that moment. Snow was also terrified by Nicole's gaze. She could no longer bear it and began saying, "Nicole! What do you mean? Are you trying to lead Alverlyn to blame someone else for what she did?"

"Whether I'm leading her or not, you have the answer in your heart," replied Nicole coldly. Then, she turned toward Alverlyn. "If I'm not wrong, the reason you deliberately caused an electricity leakage was not to get rid of Gary, right?"

Alverlyn immediately nodded. "Yes! I really didn't target Gary! Ryder, you have to believe me!"

Ryder was stunned. "Then, who were you targeting?"

Alverlyn subconsciously turned to Nicole, "I-it was Nicole."

Nicole smiled. "But we don't have any feud or disagreements between. There's no reason for you to hurt me. Isn't that so?"

Hearing Nicole's persuasive tone when speaking to Alverlyn, Snow became anxious. "What are you trying to say? Are you implying that I have beef against you?"

Nicole broke into laughter. "I never said that. You said it yourself."

"You-" Snow's face immediately reddened. However, she still tried to regain her senses. "All this is just empty talk!

You have to bring evidence to the table if you want to accuse something!"

"Isn't our eyewitness standing right over here? Why are you panicking? Alverlyn, tell us. If someone really did order you to do things, Mr. Ellison will definitely take care of that person the way he did with Raine."

Those words immediately reminded Alverlyn of something.

'That's right! Raine was Snow's sister, but Raine got expelled because she instructed people to hurt Nicole!'

There was no reason for Alverlyn to be scared of Snow anymore!

At that thought, Alverlyn immediately nodded her head. " Yes! It was Snow who ordered me to do this..."

"Alverlyn Wyatt! You wench!" Snow did not expect her follower to turn against her so quickly. Snow lifted her leg and landed it on Alverlyn's shoulder. Then, she kicked Alverlyn down to the floor!

"Ahh! Help!" Alverlyn screamed and soon rolled on the floor.

Nicole saw that Snow was about to kick again. So, Nicole immediately grabbed onto Snow's neck forcefully.

Snow was pushed two steps back because of Nicole's powerful strength.

She reached the railing of the corridor, and Nicole's strength almost pushed Snow over the railing.

"W-what are you trying to do?" Snow could feel the wind from below, and her eyes widened in terror!

Snow grabbed onto Nicole's arm tightly and she did not dare let go. Snow was worried that if she let go, she would fall over the railing.

"What am I trying to do? Snow Riddle, you almost got me in danger by faking an electricity leakage. I'm trying to get my revenge now!" As she spoke, Nicole put on more force. And Snow bent backward even more that her waist was cracking!

At that, Snow panicked. "No! Don't! I-if you kill me, you'll turn into a murderer!"

Nicole chuckled. "With this height, you won't die if you drop. But you'll definitely become disabled. If I get a good lawyer, the worst I'll get is just community service... As for you? You will be disabled for life! I think this is a fair exchange, no?"

Snow was so terrified by Nicole's words that she was trembling. "No! No! I don't want to be disabled!"

Nicole snorted. "Then did you think this through when you tried to hurt me? If it was bad, I would be electrocuted to death. If not, I'll be disabled. You weren't scared of turning into a murderer when you tried to hurt me. Why should I be scared now?"

While speaking, Nicole put on more force and caused Snow's legs to hang in the air!

“No!” Snow held onto Nicole’s arms tightly. “I was wrong! I was wrong! Please forgive me! I won’t do it again! I promise I won’t get in your way anymore. E-Even if you want me to quit this school, I’ll do it! Please!”

Nicole sneered. “Did you really think you could still stay at the Royal Creek Institute after doing such a thing? It’s not just the school, you won’t even be able to stay at San Joto anymore!”

As soon as she finished speaking, Nicole put on more force, grabbed Snow back in, and threw her to the ground!

After a loud thud, Snow immediately knelt on the floor. She was rattled!

She found it hard to regain her senses after receiving such a huge shock.

On the other hand, Nicole turned behind her and spoke to Ryder. “The truth has been revealed.”
