MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1921-Nicole felt bad about making Jared's plane the target.

But she had no other choice.

"So, what you're saying is, the more they shoot, the better results you get." Jared already understood what Nicole was trying to do.

Though it was dangerous, he was still willing to cooperate.

"Something like that, yeah." Nicole grinned brightly and looked at him with an innocent expression.

"Sure. Whatever you say goes." Jared wrapped Nicole in his arms lovingly.

Nicole looked at him, embarrassed. But she did not stop him.

"Janus, charge. Let's get them to fire at us."

"Huh?" Janus was shocked as he did not get what Jared was trying to do.

'But Jared always has a reason for his actions,' Janus thought. He then charged toward the enemies!

The black helicopter grew anxious when they saw that the three shots that had been fired had little to no effect on them!

All they could do now was fire again! But Jared's plane was rock solid, and the bazooka only left a dent! The plane swayed a little, but it was still flying straight!

"Boss! Their plane has been modified beforehand!" the subordinates reported.

The man in the face mask was livid when he saw that." Increase the firepower! If C-grade doesn't work, switch to B- grade ammunition!"

"Yes, sir!"

However, Jared's plane had already broken through the encirclement and flown through their midst.

"Get them!" The black aircraft fell behind once more and could only try to keep itself within a firing range!

“Fire the B-grade ammunition!” the masked man ordered.

In a blink of an eye, the helicopter fired two shots with B- grade ammunition rapidly.

“Mr. Johnston, it’s B-grade ammo!” Janus yelled and tried to dodge it as swiftly as he could.

Their plane plummeted a little, and Nicole had to grab on to her laptop before it fell to the ground.

But the plane was just too big! Even if they managed to dodge the shot so it did not hit their engine, their plane shook momentarily.

“Seems like they came prepared.” Jared smirked.

Fortunately, Jared spent a lot of money on the aircraft modifications. Otherwise, they would have been shot down by now.

“Yeah.” Nicole looked at her computer screen calmly. “We’ve got to hold on a little longer... We failed this time, but I tweaked it a little. It’ll probably work the next time!”

Jared smiled wryly. “What if the next shot uses A-grade ammunition?”

‘Does my wife think my plane is indestructible?’

Nicole said sheepishly, “I can guarantee that it’ll most probably work this time.”

“You’re guaranteeing something that is just ‘most probably’ successful?” Jared smiled bitterly.

“Whatever. I’m going to trust you.” Other than getting Janus to speed up, there was nothing else that they could do. They might be able to dodge a few blows, but not for long.

If Nicole could come up with the results after one more hit, they would be able to use their ammunition! Magnificent!

Jared was excited when he thought that.

At that moment, Janus asked, “Mr. Johnston, should we speed up to lose them?!”

Jared replied, “Keep maneuvering for a bit.”

“Okay...” Janus knew that it was extremely dangerous, but he had to trust Jared.

But unbeknownst to him, Jared trusted Nicole fully.

The enemies saw that the B-grade ammunition did nothing to them and that Jared's plane was even flying out of their firing range. The masked man yelled, "Fucking Jared! I didn't expect him to modify his aircraft to such an extent!"

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1922-'Jared must've spent tens of millions of dollars to fully reinforce the aircraft armor. I can't believe he actually put in so much effort!'

'Clearly, he cares a lot about Nicole!'

But for that exact reason, he wanted to split them up more!

"All of you, listen to me! Just fire everything we have!"

Jared's plane would escape if it was too far from the firing range! This was not the time for them to save their ammunition!

"Yes, sir!" Though they found it slightly wasteful, none of them wanted to go against their commander. Suddenly, all the planes with rocket launchers were aiming at Jared's plane!

"Fire!" the masked man yelled.

At that moment, thirty missiles were fired!

"My God!" Janus gasped in shock. "Not good, Mr. Johnston! There are over twenty missiles fired at us! There are also 4 A-grade ones!"

Jared's expression darkened for a second.

'Seems like they've been pushed to the brink!'

Even if those were B-grade ammunition, they could not dodge twenty missiles anyway. As soon as their engine got hit, they would start plummeting!

But he did not hurry Nicole at all!

As for Nicole, she lifted her hand and pushed the enter key." Fire!"

Suddenly, all of the heads of the missiles turned red. At the very next second, they changed course in mid-air and headed toward the black helicopter!

Everyone in the Raven was stunned!

No one would have thought that their missiles would make a U-turn.

The missiles had turned into tracking missiles.

On top of that, those missiles were targeting them!

“Retreat!” the Ravens yelled.

But it was already too late for them to make an abrupt turn.

One after another, five helicopters were hit by the missiles. They exploded in the air and plummeted to the sea.

The man in the face mask was stupefied.

“What happened?! Why did our missiles attack us?!”

“I-I have no idea myself!” The subordinate who was questioned was stunned.

The man in the face mask felt incredulous!

But before he could calm down, the tracking missiles made a turn. The airplanes that managed to dodge the missiles were immediately shot down.

Suddenly, they had lost over half of their team!

The rest of the airplanes did not attack anymore, so they only followed.

Janus was dumbfounded as well. “Mr. Johnston, the fired missiles turned back! They even hit a lot of their aircraft!”

Jared was also looking outside the window. He saw that Nicole had really done it. She really got rid of half of the enemy’s aircraft in a situation where they had no weapons to themselves!

This was something that could only be done by Nicole.

“You did it, Nicole!” Jared pecked her on her forehead happily.

Nicole looked embarrassed, but she was relieved. “Thank God, I made it in time, so we didn’t get riddled with bullets.”

Jared smiled. "Yeah, and it's all thanks to you."

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1923-If Nicole had not been there, he would really be in danger.

Nicole calmed down as well. "Well, guess we have weapons now. They're just not here with us."

Jared smirked. "Yeah."

Using the enemies' ammunition to attack them was just like hitting two birds with one stone. This was amazing!

As she looked at Jared's delighted expression, Nicole said, "I just don't know if they'll use missiles again."

Jared responded, "They will, unless they want us to escape."

As expected, the enemy was already close to giving up.

"Janus, slow down. We don't have to escape anymore." With this move, they might even be able to take down their enemies!

Nicole agreed. She could not help but smirk when Jared made his decision. "Are you thinking what I'm thinking?"

Jared arched his eyebrows. "Since he's getting revenge for the terrorists who stole the Braves, it only means that the both of them wanted to threaten the world together. How could I marry you without taking down people like them?"

He had always been worried about the Raven doing something bad to Nicole while they were here.

Now that he had the chance to get rid of the Raven, he can finally be at peace in the future.

"Got it, Mr. Johnston." Janus was filled with confidence as well. He still kept a safe distance from the enemies though, allowing them to follow him from a distance.

But all Raven's planes stayed alert.

'They were just dodging our attacks a few minutes ago, but they seem so steady now... They probably came up with an attack plan already...'

“Will they be able to control our missiles if we fire again?!”

At that moment, none of the black airplanes acted rashly anymore.

The man in the face mask modified his missiles just to destroy Nicole and Jared on their return. But he did not expect his plan to backfire so badly.

If he continued to fire, there was a chance that the missiles would attack them instead! But if he did not fire, they could only follow behind them. If they entered Rmania, Nicole and Jared’s support troops will help them! Either way, the Ravens will fail!

The man in the mask panicked. “Can someone explain what happened with the missiles?!”

At that moment, the co-pilot received a call. “Sir! Our missiles were originally designed as ballistic missiles, but they probably have a system that can modify the mechanism of the missiles.”

“F*ck! Why did this happen?!” The masked man grew even more anxious. “Come on, think of a plan! They’ll reach Rmania in 10 minutes! Their support troop will be there in no time!”

“I’ve tried to crack it! But I’ll hide our radar signals first! That way, even if the other side can control the missiles, they won’t be able to locate us.”

The masked man lit up. “Really?”

“Never try, never know!” the co-pilot replied.

The masked man immediately ordered, “Everyone, hide your radar signal!”

Even if their own men could not track them, it would not matter! Most of them were within their line of sight anyway!

“Got it!”

On the other hand, all of the marks on Nicole’s radar disappeared.

Nicole was intrigued.

“Do these losers think it’s helpful to turn off their radar signal?”

The radar signal was very important as it could affect her control over the missiles.

“Seems like it, yeah,” Jared smirked. He knew that Nicole had a plan just by looking at her expression.

Nicole smiled playfully. "This is good too..."

They can bait them out again!

As expected, the Raven quickly ordered, "Fire the A-grade ammunition! Knock them down!"

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1924-At the very next moment, all of the helicopters with A-grade ammunition fired at Jared's plane!

Nicole looked murderous.

How quaint! Let me teach you a lesson!"

Then, she immediately hacked into the Raven's system and activated their radar! She managed to switch the missile's target back to them!

"This is bad, boss! Our radar was switched on!" The co-pilot was shocked. He did not expect them to hack into the helicopter's system!

They could even reactivate the programs that they had shut down!

"No!!!" The cries from the crew rang in their ears!

BOOM! CRASH!

Eight other airplanes crashed in the sky.

Some of them were even flipping mid-air, bringing their companions' planes down with them.

The masked man was through the roof.

"Jared Johnston!!!"

'Who the hell is on the plane?! How could that person have such expert skills?! How did they even manage to control the missiles?!'

He had gone insane as he lost more than half of his man." Get them, all of you! Even if it means using our guns, shoot down their plane!"

"Yes, sir!" The remaining men looked murderous as well. Losing so many of their men had made them all furious!

The remaining airplanes opened their doors. They set up their heavy machine guns and chased after Jared's plane!

Nicole saw that they were speeding up and immediately knew that they were going to attack from close range.

Jared also saw the black airplanes flying toward them." They don't know their place. We're not even afraid of their missiles. Do they think we'll be scared of their machine guns?"

They had really underestimated Jared.

Nicole looked stern. "We still have to stay away from them. If our engine and landing gear get hit, we'll be in big trouble."

It was tough to battle in the sky.

"Don't worry. Janus knows." Jared looked at her affirmatively.

Nicole looked at her phone. Zane had already replied to her, stating that his men will be with them in ten minutes' time.

"Zane's troops will be here soon. It'll be nice to take them down, but I don't want you to take the risk."

"Okay." Jared was touched. The old Nicole would risk it all just to get the culprit. But now, with him by her side, she had weaknesses and concerns.

For Nicole, Jared was desperate to get rid of the Raven. But he did not want Nicole to worry.

Nicole was relieved when Jared complied.

At that moment, Jared sped up. Without their missiles, the black planes were nothing!

"Boss, I think our plan is going to fail." The co-pilot was upset, but they did not seem to have a better solution to this.

The masked man touched his ear as he thought about his younger brother.

If he missed this opportunity, he might not have the chance to avenge his brother, ever!

Hence, he responded, "Just do it! Nicole has to die today, no matter what! Even if... it costs us our lives! Call in the jets! Take them down!"

He still wanted to call in the jets.

“Boss... We only have five jets...” They were already flying along the coastline in case anything bad happened. ‘Isn’t this too much for a single plane?!’

“What else can we do?! Can you get her?! We can’t retreat anymore. We’ve lost too many of our men!”

The co-pilot thought it made sense. They had suffered too many casualties. If they failed this time, Jared and Nicole will definitely be on guard. Besides, they could not call in more troops now. In other words, other than this round of attack, they do not seem to have any other choice anymore!

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1925

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1925-This time, no one objected. The jets that were placed on the coastline got the orders and ascended at top speed. They were nothing less than fighter jets!

Soon, Janus realized that there were aircraft coming at them at full speed through his radar!

“Dang it! Mr. Johnston, there are aircraft coming at us at top speed! It’s most probably... deadly!”

Nicole’s gaze darkened in an instant. “I didn’t expect them to come prepared.”

Jared looked serious as well. “How long will Zane’s men take?”

Nicole frowned. “7 minutes.”

At that moment, her radar picked up the jet’s signal. “But the enemies seem to be faster.”

It seemed like the jets were placed by the coastline, so the jets will reach them before they could reach Rmania!

Jared said, “We have to go for it. I’ll just get Janus to speed up.”

Nicole nodded. “Not now. Give me sometime. Let methink of something...”

She already cracked the Raven’s helicopter’s system. If they still have the missiles, Nicole might be able to put them to good use when the jets attack!

Jared seemed to understand Nicole’s intention, so he did not give the order to Janus.

Nicole quickly tried to hack into the system again, trying to take control of the weapons!

Subconsciously, Janus still flew the plane faster. He knew that the enemies were fast, so even if he sped up, the jets might still be able to catch up to them.

They were just waiting for Nicole to create a miracle.

Nicole might even be able to control the jets.

At the same time, Nicole was trying to crack the helicopter's system.

The Ravens were glad to see their men joining them. "This time, they're not going to escape!"

After a minute, they can finally see the jets.

As expected, their money was put to good use. Five of these jets would definitely take Nicole down.

Even if they did not have the Braves, obtaining the fire crest was good enough. He could still take over the economy!

The masked man was over the moon when he thought about that. He just wanted to kill Nicole!

But he did not realize that Nicole had already hacked into their system.

Just when the jets passed right by them, Nicole pressed a button.

Suddenly, two black planes fired two B-grade missiles! They immediately hit the first jet that was flying toward them.

The jet was completely unprepared when it got knocked down by its comrade.

The first jet immediately lost control and turned to dust in the blink of an eye.

The four jets behind it were shocked and quickly maintained a safe distance from the first jet.

But no one knew what was going on.

The masked man was stupefied.

"What happened?! Those are our men! Have you lost your mind?! How could you fire at our own men?!"

The subordinates from the two planes explained, "We didn't do that, sir! Our plane seems to be under someone's control!"

At that moment, the man in the face mask was shocked.

Their missiles had already been taken over. But in just a few minutes, even their helicopter's system was taken over too!

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1926

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1926-It was clear that there was a top hacker on the plane!

Otherwise, they would never have been able to hack into their system.

What was the use of their planes now?

They were nothing but Jared's weapons!

"Stay away from the jets!" The masked man wanted to protect his jets, so he quickly ordered them to retreat. He wanted to keep a distance from Jared's plane so they would not be able to control their weapons.

At that moment, the remaining four jets had already caught up to Jared's plane.

BANG!

One of the jets fired a missile at Jared's plane.

Due to the high speed, Nicole was still unable to crack the jet's positioning system.

But she still pressed the button!

The black helicopter that could not retreat in time suddenly fired four missiles. It immediately intercepted the missiles fired by the fighter jets.

BANG! The sky was filled with sparks.

The missiles got intercepted!

"Fuck! Retreat!" the masked man ordered hurriedly.

But Nicole did not want to give them the chance to do so.

"Retreating? You'll have to go through me first!" Nicole scoffed.

Their system was already under Nicole's control. So, the helicopters basically belonged to her. She was the one in charge!

At the same time, the masked man noticed that his plane was under someone's control as well.

Nothing was under his or his subordinates' control!

He panicked. "Turn off the systems! Switch to manual!"

This was the only plan that he could think of.

The jets were clueless now, they immediately asked through the radio, "Sir, what on earth is happening? Why did you intercept us?!"

This was friendly fire! All their previous missions had gone to waste!

"Someone hacked into our system! Don't care about us! Shoot down the Johnston Group's airplane at all costs!"

"Yes, sir!" After getting their boss's assurance, the four jets maneuvered mid-air for a bit before charging toward Jared's plane.

Nicole watched. It was the most important moment.

She clenched her jaw and waited for them to inch closer. As long as they were close enough, she would be able to take them down.

Two of the jets were charging toward them.

Nicole immediately pressed the button.

A few black helicopters fired their missiles.

Two of the missiles intercepted the jet's missiles. And the other missiles were directed at the other two jets at the back.

One of the jets could not dodge it in time. It was directly hit!

The other jet was shocked and quickly turned away. The jet barely dodged the blow.

But Nicole taunted, "You think you dodged it? You wish! That's a tracking missile!"

As expected, though that jet managed to dodge the first blow, the tracking missile made a turn and charged toward it once more.

The jet was terrified as it quickly flew low to shake off the missiles.

But the missiles continued to trail the jet.

There were two other jets remaining. Nicole smiled when she saw how effective it was.

Jared was enjoying it as well.

It was a losing battle, but they managed to turn the tables because of Nicole.

‘Thank God, I brought my wife with me this time.’

Otherwise, it would definitely be an ugly battle.

Two of the jets were gone just like that. One of the jets was still being targeted by a missile. The masked man was losing his mind!
