

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1927

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1927-The masked man immediately gave orders to the remaining three jets. "Fire together! They can't dodge all of the missiles!"

The helicopters were almost out of missiles, so Nicole will not have much to use.

If the jets fired together, the chances of hitting them would definitely increase!

The jets obviously knew that things were turning ugly now.

They listened to his orders and fired about seven missiles in one shot.

Janus was stunned when he saw the number of missiles charging toward them. "Mr. and Mrs. Johnston! There are too many missiles!"

Nicole was murderous at this point. "If that's the case, let's feast our eyes!"

She quickly pressed the button, commanding all helicopters to fire.

Suddenly, every black helicopter was firing all of its missiles.

The remaining five or six A-grade missiles were targeting the last three jets.

As for the B and C-grade missiles, they targeted themselves!

Soon, the sky was filled with fire and smoke.

All of the black planes and jets did not know who the target was.

CRASH! BOOM!

The black helicopters were hit one after another.

Smoke filled the sky in an instant.

The masked man heard the co-pilot yelling, "Boss, leave!"

Then, the co-pilot's plane charged in his direction, taking the blows from the missiles that were originally directed toward the masked man.

BANG! The masked man watched as the co-pilot's plane crashed before his eyes.

His eyes turned bloodshot.

"Jared! Nicole! I'm going to kill the two of you!"

His little brother was locked up in an Interpol prison. His men were mostly dead.

Even if he died, he was determined to take Nicole and Jared with him!

Jared and Nicole looked out the window calmly.

Most of the black helicopters were destroyed. One after another, they blew up in red flames and fell from the sky.

The remaining three jets were also flying around as they were targeted by the missiles.

Janus was excited. "Sir... We won!"

Jared squinted. He did not want Nicole to see such a gory scene anymore. Since they had won, there was no need for them to stay there.

"Janus, speed up and leave this place."

"Sure." Janus nodded and continued, "Look up front! Our troops are probably here! I can see Interpol's logo!"

Nicole let out a sigh of relief. "Zane's here. He can get these people later."

She felt guilty for resigning yesterday, but now that she had helped Zane with two major issues, she felt that she had done her part.

"Yeah."

While they were talking, two of the jets were hit in the sky.

The last jet was flying around as he was still being targeted by the missiles. It was bound to lose.

Jared and Nicole thought they were finally at peace.

But the man in the face mask had gone berserk. "Everyone that survived, let's avenge our brothers! Let's die with that plane!!!"

The subordinates did not expect their boss to make such an order.

But the remaining pilot in the jet knew that he was going to die, regardless of what he did.

So, he yelled through gritted teeth, "I'm going in!"

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1928

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1928-The masked man gritted his teeth and switched to manual mode, chasing after Jared's plane. He wanted to die with them!

However, his speed was no match for theirs.

Janus could sense the danger. "Mr. Johnston! That jet is flying toward us!"

Nicole and Jared frowned. "Dodge it!"

"We can't do it!" The size of their plane was too big. It was impossible for them to dodge it.

At the same time, Nicole realized that they had no ammunition left.

Jared immediately knew that the danger was not over yet.

"Mr. Johnston! We're going to crash into the jet!"

Without thinking, Jared immediately wrapped his arms around Nicole when he heard Janus's cry.

In a split second, a crash was heard!

The jet directly crashed into their plane.

Janus tried to quickly dodge the blow but their engine was hit.

"The plane is out of control!" Janus reported as he tried to fly the plane.

Jared was just desperately trying to protect Nicole.

After a violent spin, their plane was hit again with a loud crash.

BANG! Both Nicole and Jared blacked out as they were devoured by the sea...

But Jared still tried to hold onto Nicole's hand.

Until he had completely fallen into the darkness, unconscious...

His dream was abnormally lengthy.

In his dream, he was searching for Nicole.

He felt a lot of regrets. He should not have taken Nicole out of the country.

But suddenly, he was brought back to the day they signed their marriage certificate...

Jared was holding Nicole's hand, and Nicole was caressing her tummy lovingly.

He blinked again, and he saw a child.

The child ran toward him and called him father.

Jared smiled gently.

Until he heard someone calling for him...

"Jared... Jared..."

It was his grandfather's voice. Jared was shocked. 'Why is grandpa here?'

'Aren't I supposed to be in Rmania with Nicole?'

"Are you awake, Jared?" Mr. Johnston Sr. saw Jared waking up. He immediately got teary and said to Max, "Get the doctor! Jared's awake!"

"Yes, sir!" Max was shocked as well. He then quickly called the doctor over.

Jared gradually regained consciousness.

Soon, the doctor rushed over and inspected Jared. "You're really awake, Mr. Johnston! This means you're not in a critical condition anymore. You're stable now, but you still have to take care of yourself. I'll check on you in a few days," the doctor said excitedly.

"Sure, thank you, doc," Max said.

The doctor left the room after instructing the nurse to do the IV.

Jared could not hold it in anymore. He immediately asked, "Grandpa... Where's Nicole?"

His voice was extremely hoarse. It had been days since he last spoke.

His grandfather was taken aback when he heard Jared asking about Nicole. But he still smiled and responded, "Nicole's fine. She's taking a rest next door... You have to rest for now."

Jared felt heavy and utterly unwell. It was like he was run over by a car, and he was feeling incredibly dizzy as well.

But he still insisted, "I want to see Nicole..."

However, he felt light-headed right after he managed to say that.

Mr. Johnston Sr. could tell that he was exhausted. "Won't Nicole worry if she sees you like this? Just take care of yourself. You can see her after you're feeling better, okay?"

Jared was silent.

He did not want Nicole to worry, but he missed her deeply.

He could only feel at peace if he saw her.

But he could only give in when he saw his grandfather's expression. Once again, he felt heavy and started to drift to sleep.

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1929

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1929-For the next two days, Jared was in a constant state of going in and out of consciousness.

When he regained clarity on the third day, he finally realized something was off.

If Nicole was fine... She would have visited him!

He immediately wanted to get down from his bed.

At the same time, Max entered the room. "Mr. Johnston, what are you doing?!"

Jared frowned at him. "I want to see Nicole."

Max was stunned, but he did not know how to start.

Jared knew something was not right. "What happened?!"

Max knew that he could never hide it from him forever, but Mr. Johnston Sr. ordered him to hide it from Jared as long as possible.

So, he said, "Mr. Johnston. I think it's best if Mr. Johnston Sr. told you..."

He really did not know how to tell Jared.

Jared froze. "What happened? Tell me! Now!"

Jared got dizzy as soon as he was agitated, so he quickly laid down on the bed.

Max knew that he could not hide it anymore.

At the same time, Mr. Johnston Sr walked in.

Following behind him were Nicole's parents.

Jared immediately felt that something was wrong when he saw Gloria and Daniel.

Gloria's eyes watered when she saw Jared.

"Jared... You're alright?"

Jared tried his best to stay awake when he saw how emotional Gloria was. "Mrs. Riddle, what brings you here...?" he asked.

Gloria looked at Mr. Johnston Sr.

When he nodded, she gradually started explaining, "I'm just here to ask... What happened when you and Nicole fell from the airplane?"

Jared frowned. "Why are you asking this? What happened?!"

Daniel looked at Jared, pained. He did not hide it from him and said, "Nicole is... missing."

Jared's mind went blank.

His instincts told him that his grandfather was hiding something from him.

But he did not expect it to be Nicole being missing!

At that moment, his heart shattered into pieces.

"No, it can't be. Nicole would never..." He and Nicole... They won.

Even if their plane crashed, he survived! How could Nicole go missing?

Daniel could not bear to see Jared being in so much shock." I find it hard to believe too... But it has been two weeks.

Zane had already sent people out to the sea to search for her but to no avail."

Daniel would never lie.

But what shocked Jared was...

The fact that he was unconscious for two weeks.

The amount of time he was unconscious was the amount of time Nicole was missing!

“Impossible!” Jared could not hold himself back anymore. He was going to get down from his bed. “It’s impossible! I’m going to find Nicole!”

Mr. Johnston Sr. quickly got Max to hold Jared down when he saw that Jared had lost control.

“Mr. Johnston! The Marines are on the search! They couldn’t find her!”

With this line, Jared completely froze.

‘Even the Marines couldn’t find Nicole?’

‘How is this possible?’

“I have to see her body to believe she’s dead!” Jared roared through gritted teeth.

Mr. Johnston Sr. felt the same.

“I agree, that’s why Mr. Riddle and I have never stopped searching for her. But we couldn’t find anything... Mrs. Gloria has been waiting for you to regain consciousness so she can get something out of you when you’re in a more stable state.”

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1930

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1930-At this moment, Jared had no other choice but to believe what they said. Suddenly, he lost all his strength and laid on the bed helplessly as his pupils lost focus.

“No. No way...” Jared murmured weakly.

The last moment he had with Nicole kept playing over and over again in his head, yet he could not recall what happened after he fell into the water.

His chest throbbed in pain as he forced himself to be calm. Then, he asked Max, “What about Janus? Have you talked to him?”

Max suddenly kept quiet.

At that moment, Jared realized something.

Mr. Johnston Sr. saw what happened and spoke slowly, “Janus had sacrificed himself...”

Nicole went missing and Janus sacrificed himself. Jared was so shocked that he could hardly catch his breath.

Suddenly, he felt his head spinning and the expression on his face turned extremely unpleasant.

“Mr. Johnston! Do you need a doctor?” Max went to check on Jared worriedly.

Mr. Johnston Sr., Daniel, and Gloria stepped forward too.

Gloria’s heart broke when she looked at Jared. “Jared, calm down. Nicole already went missing... I can’t lose you as well...”

Jared was already like a son to them, and they would be devastated if anything bad happened to him too.

Jared looked at Gloria’s eyes which were red from crying. Then, he tried to comfort her while suppressing his own emotions.

“Mrs. Riddle, I promise I’ll find Nicole. Don’t worry...”

Gloria knew that Jared was just trying to comfort her, but it worked anyway.

“What exactly happened to you guys? Zane personally sent his men to escort you back here and he also got a lot of people to keep you protected.”

There were many reasons that led Mr. Johnston Sr. into thinking that something very serious happened to Jared and Nicole when they were aboard.

Jared looked at Daniel and Gloria, and he knew that he had to give them an explanation.

So, he told them every single thing that had happened.

He told them about how the Raven’s planes attacked them, and they tried their best to escape...

But they crashed anyway.

Gloria cried as soon as she heard that. “Nicole... my child...”

Tears welled up in Daniel’s eyes too. He would never expect that fate would trick Nicole like this after she decided to retire and return to her family.

And now she was missing...

Jared looked at their depressed eyes. His heart felt like it was getting stabbed, painful and torturous.

He looked at Max. "Book a flight for this evening. I'll go to Rmania to look for her myself!"

Max had updated him about the latest situation.

Zane began searching for them as soon as he arrived at the scene. Although the plane had crashed, there was a certain amount of air inside that slowed it down from sinking into the water after the crash. That was also the reason why Zane's men could still get Jared out of there.

However, strangely enough, Nicole was not next to Jared.

Between Jared and the other bodyguards, only the people who stayed at the back section of the plane managed to survive. As for Janus... Janus and the bodyguards who were stationed at the other section were all crushed to death under the impact.

The battle was tragic.

However, Jared was able to accept all of it.

But he just could not understand why God had to take Nicole away from him at this time.

She was already pregnant with his baby, and they were going to get married soon!

His heart hurt so much that he struggled to breathe.

The only thing that he wanted to do was to go back to the scene and look for Nicole.

Max looked at Jared and said downheartedly, "Mr. Spears has not been resting for several days, trying to locate Miss Riddle. He even personally led a diving team to search for her. They went looking for her in the nearby waters, and she's still nowhere to be found..."