

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1991

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1991-Nicole and Leo soon arrived at a Western restaurant. Leo chose an inconspicuous but well-positioned table according to Nicole's preferences, and sat down with her.

Nicole was not surprised that Leo knew what she preferred. She sat down and ordered their meal. While waiting for their meal, Nicole asked again, "So, what is it?" "If I said I'm here to seek a collaboration with Riddle Corporation's chairman, would you be interested?" Leo said with a hint of a smile.

"Collaboration?!" Nicole was stunned. She never expected Leo to find her for this matter. Although she had not officially taken over the company, she knew the chairman Leo meant was her. Leo was hoping to collaborate with Riddle Corporation.

Seeing that Nicole was too stunned to speak, Leo smirked. He handed her a document, saying, "This is the letter of intent of collaboration. Take it back and have a look. I'll wait for your reply." "Alright." Nicole took the document. When it came to business, she knew Riddle Corporation needed better project collaborations. Leo was reliable, so she would not worry about the project. Her job now was to check the suitability of the project for Riddle Corporation. If suitable, they could definitely collaborate.

Leo secretly breathed a sigh of relief upon Nicole's agreement. He was worried Nicole would reject him.

"Your food is served." The waiter came over and put their dinner on the table.

"Let's eat." Leo gestured to the food.

Nicole complied and chatted with Leo. "Well, aren't you quick to take action? I just arrived here, and now I have to start a project."

That was in line with Leo's usual speed demon self. It was also evident that he had made adequate preparations before showing up.

"You're not slow either," Leo replied with a hint of depression. If he was slow to action, Jared might have stolen a march on him.

It had just been a few days since Nicole returned to the country. But, Leo could clearly sense that she had already embraced everything here, even without her memories. This change made him feel perturbed. He wanted to get closer to her, and not as a friend.

Nicole misunderstood Leo's meaning, thinking he was just talking about the time she took to take over Riddle Corporation. Nicole replied helplessly, "It's my responsibility after all. I just feel a great deal of pressure."

Not only did Nicole not have any knowledge of the past, but she was also completely clueless about business. She did not know whether it was a blessing or a curse to take over Riddle Corporation, but she knew she had no way back.

“Don’t worry. I’ll help you.” Sensing her stress, Leo comforted her.

“No need to trouble yourself, Mr. Royce. I’ll naturally assist my wife,” a displeased voice interrupted, causing Nicole to feel a chilling aura surround her.

“Jared?! What are you doing here?” Nicole exclaimed in surprise at Jared’s sudden appearance.

“I wanted to stay at home, waiting for you,” Jared said, but it seemed like it was impossible.

Jared had gotten off work and returned to the Riddle family manor.

However, he came home to find infuriating news from Daniel that Nicole went out to have a meal with Lawrence. Jared almost burst into fury as he remembered how Nicole had asked him not to pick her up from work but now, she had gone out to dinner with Lawrence.

After hearing his poignant remark, Nicole unintentionally felt guilty and said, “I was discussing some matters with Leo.”

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1992

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1992-Looking at Jared’s resentful expression, Nicole felt as though she had truly done something to wrong him. She wanted to explain things clearly and hoped he would not be angry about this misunderstanding.

However, Lawrence said indifferently, “Mr. Johnston, even though she’s your wife, she should have the freedom to make friends. Besides that, she doesn’t even remember you.”

This was a reminder to Jared not to unilaterally call Nicole his wife.

Nobody knew how things would turn out as Nicole had not acknowledged their relationship.

It was a blatant provocation. A darkness flashed in Jared’s eyes as he coldly replied, “But she’s Nicole.”

Jared did not mind that Nicole had no memories of their relationship because he would make her remember. Even if she failed to regain her memories, he believed they were fated to be together. He would pursue her again and make her fall in love with him.

Lawrence's pupils were pitch black. He could tell Jared was staking his claim on Nicole. However, Lawrence did not mind. It was unknown who would emerge the victor. He was determined to fight until the very end.

"Leo, I'll head back first," Nicole said as she watched the tense confrontation between the two. She felt it would be better for them to separate.

Leo smiled gently. "Alright, but I hope you'll consider my proposal seriously." With that, Leo pushed the document toward Nicole.

Nicole took the document, thinking, 'If it's suitable for Riddle Corporation, I'll consider it properly.'

Nicole stood up and left the restaurant with the document in hand. Jared's gaze darkened when he glanced at Lawrence, and soon caught up with Nicole.

Looking at Nicole's figure, a determined look flashed in Lawrence's eyes.

Soon, Jared and Nicole got in the car. After glancing at the document in Nicole's hand, Jared asked about it.

"Leo's letter of intent for collaboration," Nicole revealed bluntly.

"Are you going to cooperate?" Jared's pupils constricted, and a cold light flickered in his eyes.

"I haven't read it yet. If it's suitable after I review it, why not?" Nicole replied naturally. She had no reason to decline if it would benefit both parties.

Jared looked at the documents meaningfully and thought, 'Lawrence's intentions are rather obvious. Now that Nicole's back in business, he sends a letter of intent for collaboration.'

Jared raised his hand and closed the document when he saw Nicole already engrossed in reading it. He frowned. "Don't read in the car. You could have motion sickness."

"Hey!" Nicole narrowed her eyebrows at Jared, displeased that someone suddenly took her document away.

Jared suppressed the urge to throw the document out the window and said gravely, "Read it when you get back."

Nicole rolled her eyes at Jared, feeling irritated, and looked out the window. She knew Jared would not return the document to her. It was fortunate enough that he did not throw it out the window.

Jared felt a sense of satisfaction at Nicole's compliance. No matter how angry he was before, the resentment in his heart was gone since she was heading home with him now. Bitterly shaking his head, Jared felt helpless at their unique way of interacting. It was like God was punishing him.

Nicole was looking out the car window the entire journey and paid no attention to Jared's expression. Seeing that they returned to Riddle family manor, she waited for the car to stop and got out.

Jared followed suit and handed Nicole the document. To Nicole's surprise, there were two documents, instead of one.

She thought, 'What's the extra one for?'

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1993

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1993-"Some external development information about Riddle Corporation's headquarters." Jared knew she went to the office and probably learned about the company's situation. Since he promised to help her, it was only natural for him to consider everything for her.

The Riddle Corporation had not been doing well while she was gone. Jared had given a lot of support to Riddle Corporation, which was why he had some understanding of their situation. He believed Sean would provide him with internal information, so he gathered and recorded a compilation of information that was beneficial for the future development of the Riddle Corporation in a file.

Nicole knew what the file was, and she fell into a daze as she stared at it. She had already seen some information about Riddle Corporation today, and while she was about to find further information, Jared had already provided her with that. This shocked her, but it also warmed her heart.

"Mommy!" a voice rang out, and two small figures excitedly rushed over.

Nicole wrapped her arms around Nolan and Lana before looking down at them. "What brings you here?" "Mommy, didn't Godpa come?" Nolan looked up at her and asked. "I've already called Godpa and told him that Mommy went to work. Besides, didn't Godpa go on a date with Mommy last night? Why didn't he take Mommy back home? Instead, Mommy came back with this annoying guy!" "Are you stupid? Our real father went to pick Mommy up, so why would Mommy need Godpa to take her home?" Lana raised her chin and said disdainfully.

Nolan used to tease her for being dumb all the time, but she finally got the chance to turn the tables now.

"You're the stupid one." Nolan scoffed as he thought, 'Godpa treats us and Mommy way better than this big old meanie!' "You're stupid." Lana stood her ground and stuck out her tongue at Nolan. She then opened her arms to Jared and said, "Up, Daddy!"

"Of course." Jared held her lovingly as he thought, 'Daughters are the best. Unlike that selfish little rascal.'

When Nolan saw Lana being held by Jared, who was looking at him disdainfully, Nolan said defiantly, "Mommy, up!" "Hmph! So what? I still have Mommy to hold me.'

Unexpectedly, Jared held Nicole's hand and walked away before saying, "Your mommy is tired after working the whole day. You can walk yourself."

Nolan frowned angrily as he watched the trio walking away. 'What an annoying guy! He's taking Mommy away from me and godpa! I'll never agree to this. Just you wait and see!'

Though he was upset, he remembered that Nicole had been working a lot, so he just ran up to them and did not pester Nicole to hold him anymore.

Jared arched his eyebrow ever so slightly when he noticed this. 'Even though this rascal always throws a fit, he's still very thoughtful to his mother.'

When they entered Nicole's family's home, Daniel and Gloria were in the living room. They were relieved to see them back as they said with a smile, "You're back."

When they were having dinner earlier, Jared had left abruptly when he realized that Nicole would not be coming home because she was out with Lawrence. Daniel and Gloria were fairly worried that they might fight.

For that reason, they were relieved to see them coming home together, not looking like they had been in an argument.

"Mom, Dad, why aren't you sleeping yet? Did something happen?" Nicole asked as she did not know what happened.

"Nah, we were just about to go to bed. Have you both eaten at all?" Gloria looked at Jared in concern. Though it seemed like she was asking casually, she was actually questioning Jared.

After all, Nicole was supposedly going to have dinner with Lawrence. And Jared left before he could eat anything.

Nicole realized something and looked at Jared, asking, "Haven't you eaten your dinner?"

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1994

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1994-Nicole figured that Gloria asked that because she knew that Jared had not eaten his dinner. And they went home after Jared went to see her, so he obviously had not eaten anything.

Gloria realized that Jared had not eaten dinner as well, so she reminded her daughter, "Nicole, we've all had dinner already. You should have dinner with Jared." "But I've had dinner too." Nicole hesitated, but she did not stand her ground.

Though she did not intend to do it, the reason Jared had not eaten anything for dinner was because of her.

"Hurry up, then. It's Nolan and Lana's bedtime too. Just leave them to me." Gloria arched her eyebrows at Nicole. It was obvious. She was creating some alone time for Jared and Nicole.

After being separated for five years, they were reunited but with different identities. Gloria was really worried about them and hoped that they could make up with each other as soon as possible, so they could finally live happily ever after.

"I'm not tired. I want to stay with Mommy." Nolan did not want to leave.

In contrast, Lana was delighted. She held Nolan's hand and said, "You don't want to sleep. You're a naughty kid!"

This was good timing. They obviously should not disturb their parents.

Nicole was speechless when she knew what each of the cheeky duo was doing. 'They're acting up already.' "Nolan, it's getting late. Let's go to bed. Grandma will stay with you," Gloria said gently.

Lana held Nolan's hand and said, "Well, I'm tired. Let's go to bed." "Here. Let grandpa hold you," Daniel said as he carried Nolan in his arms.

Helplessly, Nolan could only allow Daniel to take him away. After all, he lacked the strength. He really missed his godfather. 'If Godpa were here, he'd definitely be on my side.'

Soon, only Jared and Nicole were left in the living room. Jared looked at Nicole deeply before walking out of the living room, delighted.

Nicole glared at him, but all she could do was follow him to the dining room.

She knew what Gloria was doing, but she was wistful. Though she did not resist Jared as much now, she still could not envision him as her romantic partner.

Besides, she had not retrieved her memories yet. That was why she did not want to consider her personal romantic relationship first. She wanted to focus on the Riddle Corporation.

The wheels in her head kept turning, and she did not notice that Jared had been staring at her while he was eating his dinner.

“Are you thinking about the Riddle Corporation?” Jared seemed to have seen through her. Though he was asking her, it sounded like he already knew the answer.

“Yeah,” Nicole responded as she was still in a daze. When she snapped back into reality, she looked at Jared. “How did you know?” “Was I thinking out loud just now?” “I mean, what else would you be thinking about?” Jared answered her with another question.

Though Nicole had lost her memories, some things were just embedded in her bones. For example, her character and the way she treated people.

Since she had already agreed to take over the Riddle Corporation, she had already decided to take up the responsibility. So, there was just one thing on her mind for now, and that was to give her utmost effort to do her best in the matter at hand.

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1995

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1995-Nicole’s expression appeared to be a little uneasy as she looked at Jared’s teasing gaze. Although he managed to guess her thoughts, she understood the hidden meaning behind his words too, implying that she could miss him.

Her heart beat faster, and she subconsciously looked away, avoiding direct eye contact with Jared. ‘It could get really difficult to deal with this guy sometimes,’ she thought to herself.

Seeing how nervous Nicole got, Jared subtly curved his lips. Although he was eating dinner alone, the food tasted unusually good.

After finishing his meal, Jared followed Nicole back to the room.

Nicole frowned with resentment. “Actually, you don’t have to stay here with me.”

The estate was so near and so much bigger, yet Jared would still cramp into a room with her. Nicole just did not feel comfortable with it.

However, Jared did not want to let any opportunity to be alone with her slip away. So he said confidently, “It’s livelier here.”

Of course, Jared would be wherever Nicole was, and he did not want to leave her, not even for a single moment.

Nicole rolled her eyes at Jared and grabbed a blanket before throwing it at him. "This is yours. Remember, do not cross the line."

Upon saying that, Nicole pulled her own blanket over and wrapped herself up, lying with her back facing Jared. She genuinely did not want Jared to get close to her.

Jared looked a little helpless after he had been brushed aside. However, he was glad that he was not chased out of the room. He had no other choice but to accept his fate and lay down.

Although the person he had been thinking about for nights and days was right before his eyes, all he could do was sleep while hugging the blanket. It was simply frustrating for him as he wondered to himself, 'When will days like this ever come to an end?'

Very soon, he heard gentle breathing fill the room. So, he sighed and slowly shut his eyes.

On the next day, the rising sun awakened a new day.

Nicole woke up and saw the huge face in front of her. She found herself clinging onto Jared like an octopus and her face immediately turned red and hot. She immediately pulled her hand back as if she was electrified, but it was already too late.

Jared grabbed her hand and put it back on his waist as he looked at her playfully. "You're the one who broke the rules now. Don't you have anything to say to me?"

"I'm going to the office. I have a lot of work to do." Nicole panicked and looked away as she tried to shift the topic. She was asleep, and she had no idea how that happened. She just wanted to get out of this awkward situation now.

Nicole was about to get out of bed after saying that, attempting to flee the scene.

However, she failed to do so. After grabbing her arm, Jared flipped them over and pinned her down on the bed as he forced several kisses on her.

"Hey, get off..." Nicole struggled in panic, yet her words were all engulfed by Jared.

Although Jared was extremely reluctant to do so, his rationality overcame his impulse anyway. Then, after getting a taste of Nicole, he let her go.

Nicole was stunned for a while and her mind was blank after suddenly regaining the freedom to breathe.

Jared dotingly rubbed her soft hair and said, "Get freshened up. I'll drive you to the office after having breakfast."

"Okay," Nicole replied like a robot. Then, she got out of bed and walked toward the bathroom. However, she came to an abrupt stop halfway before turning around and glowering at Jared. She gritted her teeth and shouted, "Jared Johnston!"

'I almost fell into this cunning man's trap! How could he do that to me?!

Jared smirked and slowly walked toward Nicole. Then, he lowered his gaze and looked at her. "How can I help you?"

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1996

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1996-Nicole was on the verge of losing herself in the face of Jared's captivating smile. Her final sliver of sanity was reminding her that she should be reacting with anger, but when she looked at Jared, she just could not shake the idea of letting her guard down.

Feeling shameful and frustrated within, she gritted her teeth and yelled, "You're moving back to the estate from today onwards!"

She could not allow him to linger here anymore because he was simply too dangerous for her. Before she could regain her memories, she had to keep a distance from him.

"Freshen up." Jared dragged her to the bathroom, having changed the subject smoothly.

This left Nicole confused. 'What does this mean? Did he agree to it or not?'

She got freshened up and changed her clothes in a daze before leaving the room with Jared.

"Daddy." Lana's adorable voice echoed across the hallway as her tiny legs carried on a sprint toward Jared.

"Hey, Lana." Jared held Lana up with a doting look on his face, loving this thoughtful angel to the bone.

The edge of Nicole's mouth twitched. 'When did this little one like Jared more than she likes me? She greeted him and did not even bother to acknowledge my existence.'

Nolan too felt very frustrated after he saw how Lana had switched sides completely. 'What's so good about Jared? How did Lana accept him so quickly?'

“Let’s go eat,” Nicole suggested, not about to get mad at Lana.

Then, she grabbed Nolan’s hand and went downstairs.

The two siblings never had a father, and they had always wished to have one. That was why Nolan called Lawrence his godfather. Still, Lana had never displayed any sort of affection toward Lawrence. Jared was the only person Lana would do all these things to thus far.

“Mommy, I didn’t get to ask you this yesterday. How did your date with Godpa? Did you have a good time?” Nolan intentionally raised his voice, making it louder when he uttered the word, “date”.

It had taken him much effort to give out the information to Lawrence, and Lawrence had cooperated with him and taken action too. He really hoped that Nicole and Lawrence could be together as he wished.

“Don’t spout nonsense. We just had some work-related matters to discuss.” Nicole said. ‘What date is he talking about? Nolan is getting more and more outrageous.’

“Yeah. Mommy will only go on a date with Daddy.” Lana unhappily said.

She could not understand why her brother had to act like this when it was clear that it was better for them to have their biological father. Indeed, she had been longing to reunite with Jared.

“What do you know?” Nolan became a little frustrated as he thought to himself. ‘Godfather is the best.’

“Hmph. I know everything.” Lana scoffed haughtily and shifted her gaze to Jared. “Daddy, would you go on a date with Mommy too?”

Lana thought that it would only be right for Jared and Nicole to date. That was something that she wanted to see too.

“Sure.” Jared agreed and he was delighted to have a thoughtful daughter like Lana.

In response, Nicole glowered at Jared. ‘Sure? How could he agree with her without even giving it any thought? Is he not going to ask for my opinion at least?’

Having seen through her thoughts, Jared deliberately said, “I’m sorry, Lana. I don’t think your Mommy wants to do that.”

“Mommy, please go on a date with Daddy.” Lana pleaded, feeling so disappointed that she looked as if she was about to cry.

Seeing this, Nicole became so furious that she gritted her teeth. 'Jared is such a despicable man for pulling this trick on me.'

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1997

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1997-"Mommy!" Lana's eyes turned red, indicating that she would cry at any second if Nicole said no.

The entire family would be heartbroken as soon as Lana cried, and knowing this, Nolan suddenly felt a headache.

Then, he immediately convinced Lana that, "Sis, Mommy is very busy with work. She doesn't have time for a date."

"That's why she needs a date to relax," Lana confidently said as if there was nothing wrong with what was stated. "Right, Mommy?"

A subtle smile appeared on Jared's face as his affection for Lana grew even deeper. He was not expecting that to happen at all.

'Lana must be an angel gifted to me,' he thought to himself.

Nicole did not know what to do. As far as her current relationship status with Jared was concerned, they were miles from reaching the stage in which they would consider dating each other. They were merely closer than strangers; they were not even friends with each other. However, her heart ached when she saw the disappointed and sullen look on Lana's face.

"Come on, Mommy. Just say yes." Lana grabbed Nicole's sleeve and said in a coquettish tone of voice.

"Yeah, Mommy. Please make Lana's wish come true," Nolan butted in.

This left Nicole in a state of surprise. 'Why did Nolan's attitude take such a big turn so suddenly?'

Jared shifted his gaze to Nolan too, cognizant that something was not right. 'This little brat was never on my side. I wonder why he is supporting me now.'

In reply, Jared put on a knowing look and said, "Don't worry. We'll go on a date once Mommy is done with her work."

"Yeah!" Lana became elated, her smile shining brighter than the sun.

On the other hand, Nolan was not cheering at all, signaling that he was secretly plotting something. Jared noticed it and knew that the little brat would not be on his side if he did not have an ulterior motive.

“Come on, let’s go eat.” Jared looked away and walked toward the restaurant while carrying Lana.

“Good morning, Grandpa, Grandma, and uncles,” she greeted.

Lana’s baby voice echoed across the restaurant while Nolan stood there in place, pondering to himself, TH tell Godpa about this, so that he can go there too. I’m sure that Mommy will know that he is her best option if he has a chance to prove himself.’

After finishing breakfast, Nicole left Nolan and Lana at home so that Gloria could take care of them. Then, the other members of the family followed suit, leaving the Riddle residence one after another.

Jared drove Nicole to the Riddle Corporation without mentioning anything about the date again on their way there.

Instead, he handed Nicole a folder and said, “This is the info detailing a few kindergartens in San Joto. Have a look.”

He had not made any decision on the spot; instead, he had selected a few of the best options as he figured that he should seek Nicole’s opinion first. After all, she was the one who had spent the past five years with the kids, and thus, would understand them better than him.

Nicole’s mind wandered as she looked at the folder. She could not believe that Jared had already begun planning for their children’s future. What surprised her even more was that he had prepared everything, just to leave the final decision to her.

Nicole found what he did very heartwarming. Although Jared might appear to be domineering at times, he still showed her a lot of respect. Multiple times in the past, she would only need to tell him about something in brief detail, and before she knew it, he would get it done.

“Thank you,” Nicole slowly said, thanking him not for just the information he had prepared, but also the respect he had shown her, which made her feel somewhat at ease.

Jared was sharp enough to pick that up. He knew exactly what she meant. However, to him, that was the way their relationship should be.

After that, he shifted the topic. “That doctor has disappeared.”

“Doctor?” Nicole paused for a moment before she could realize who he was talking about.

Then, her face darkened as she asked, “Grandpa’s doctor? How did it happen?”

He acted so quickly. Has he found out that we’re investigating him?’ she thought.

“He’s probably just afraid of getting exposed, so he ran away before anything happened. Max has sent a lot of people out in the past few days, but they haven’t found any traces of him,” Jared said as a malicious glint flashed in his eyes.

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1998

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1998-Max had already acted very promptly, and yet, the people he had sent ended up coming back empty-handed anyway. The doctor was nowhere to be found, and he had probably fled during midnight. In addition, he had not left any clues at his home, and no one knew how he had left or where he had gone.

After knowing what had happened, Nicole’s pupils contracted slightly. “If that’s the case, could he already be murdered?”

“It’s possible,” he replied, as they were all thinking that too.

Nicole bit her lip lightly, as though she was lost in thought. Upon noticing Nicole’s silence, Jared left her be, as he knew that she needed time to calm down.

After some time, the car slowly came to a halt as they had already arrived at the headquarters of the Riddle Corporation.

Nicole got out of the car, and was about to say something when Jared beat her to it. “TH come to pick you up after work.”

She paused for a moment before agreeing, “Sure.”

A satisfied look flashed across Jared’s face. He watched as Nicole entered the building and left.

Nicole went to the top level of the building where the highest -ranking officers worked and that was when she spotted Sean and Steve.

They could not help but feel sorry for Nicole upon noticing the amount of documents she was holding. “You just started working. There’s no need to push yourself so hard. Take it easy.”

“I...” Nicole looked at the documents in her hands. “Not all of them are related to work.”

To be specific, only one of them was about work, and it was the letter of intent on cooperation that Lawrence had given her. The other two were given to her by Jared; one was the information about the partners of the Riddle Corporation and the other featured the details about Nolan and Lana's future kindergarten.

"Hey guys, I have something to tell you," Nicole said with a stern expression without divulging more about the documents in her hands.

The look on Sean and Steve's faces became solemn too after hearing that.

"Let's go to your office then," Sean said.

"Sure."

Soon after, the three of them stepped foot into Nicole's office.

"About what happened to Grandpa, something went wrong with the investigation. The doctor has gone missing," Nicole briefly informed.

"What? What happened?" Sean and Steve asked, feeling a little shocked.

Nobody else was supposed to know that they were investigating their grandfather's medication, so they were not expecting anyone to be alerted by their actions.

"I don't know." Nicole shook her head.

Although she had thought of several possibilities, she did not have any evidence to back them up.

"Now that the doctor is gone, there's no way we can find out who's behind everything that has transpired," Steve said in frustration.

The doctor had no reason to harm their grandfather unless he had been bribed. After all, he was just a pawn, and discovering who the mastermind behind it all was the biggest priority.

"You're right," Sean said, agreeing that it would be very difficult for them to trace the person behind everything, as the doctor had disappeared into the night.

"Since there's nothing we can do now, let's just report the doctor to the police. As for the mastermind..." A hint of profound coldness flashed in Nicole's eyes before she continued. "The person who can benefit most from this is the most suspicious. We just have to be prepared."

Sean and Steve exchanged glances upon hearing that, knowing what to do at once.

Indeed, if something horrible had really happened to their grandfather, the person who could benefit the most would have the highest degree of suspicion. Of course, it did not mean that they were going to exclude any other individuals who could gain something from it too.

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1999

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 1999-There were more important things waiting for them to do, so they did not wish to waste any more effort on this matter, especially after considering the things that had happened to Nicole. Even as of now, they were yet to unravel the mystery and neutralize the threats around Nicole. As such, they had to be very cautious.

“Sure,” Steve said before proceeding to remind his sister. “Nicole, the reunion banquet will be held soon. After that, you’ll officially be back in the company. Don’t shoulder everything on your own. You can always come to me and Sean when you have any problems.”

“Okay.” Nicole nodded lightly as her heart was filled with warmth. ‘It feels so good to be back with my family.’

“Alright, carry on with your work. We’ll leave now.”

“Let’s have lunch together.”

“Sure.”

Upon hearing that Nicole would be joining them for lunch, Sean and Steve turned around and left.

Now alone in the office, Nicole sighed quietly. ‘San Joto is indeed full of dangers everywhere. Fortunately, I have my family, who has given me the courage and strength to face everything.’

Her gaze fell on the documents on her desk as a hint of soft light flickered in her eyes. Then, she thought of Jared.

Her legal husband had appeared out of nowhere, shocking her and leaving her utterly perplexed, and yet, she realized that she had stopped resisting him after she had gotten to know him better. She had even started to accept him.

She slowly opened the documents Jared had handed her. Indeed, it was something she needed very much at that time. She had to know more about the background and other information about the various enterprises and families in San Joto, especially those who had formed partnerships with the Riddle Corporation. She had to understand them better because they would still be working together in the future.

On the other side, Steve had followed Sean to his office after leaving.

“Bro, did you see what documents Nicole was holding?” Steve’s gaze darkened.

“Yeah.” Sean nodded, as the documents were too glaring for him to not notice.

“Lawrence is really efficient. The company has just been established, and he has already delivered the letter to Nicole,” Steve said eloquently.

Steve’s eyes became even darker. “How’s the investigation on Lawrence going? Any new progress?”

“Nope. Like what we’ve discovered before, we still can’t find anything wrong with him.”

Although they did not have anything substantial enough to prove their assumptions, they still could not fully trust Lawrence.

“It’s just strange that he possesses such a perfect record. Also, all of us had been trying to find Nicole as soon as she went missing. There’s just no way we couldn’t find a single trace of her if there wasn’t anyone standing in our way.”

They figured that if Lawrence was able to erase all of Nicole’s information and give her a new identity so seamlessly, it would not be easy for them to glean anything particularly suspicious about him.

“I guess he has genuine feelings for Nicole, but his methods...” Steve scoffed.

Even though Lawrence had painted a beautiful picture, Steve was not entirely convinced. Instead, he felt that what Lawrence had done was done in order to mislead and deceive others.

“Regardless, he was the one who had rescued Nicole and taken care of her for five years. We must keep an eye on him. As long as he doesn’t do anything to harm Nicole, we can leave the rest to her.”

They figured that it would be inappropriate for them to get in the way of their personal relationship, and as Nicole’s brothers, they should support every decision she made.

“Understood. I’ll do that.”

Although they were going to cease their investigation of him, it did not mean that they would let their guard down. After all, Lawrence was simply too mysterious.

As the sun set, Nicole left the office to see that Jared had already been waiting for her outside. It seemed that he had been there for a while.

The setting sun cast a golden glow on Jared, providing a warm contrast to his frosty and haughty presence.

Jared put on a gentle smile when he saw her coming out. Seeing that, Nicole was stunned, finding herself lost in his smile.

'How could this guy be so enchanting? A single smile of his is enough to make me feel so vulnerable.'

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2000

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2000-Nicole's heart was beating uncontrollably; she could even feel it thumping. Her cheeks were faintly flushed too.

"Come here," Jared said with a subtle smile when he saw her standing in place.

It was only then that Nicole came to realize that she had been staring at him the entire time without even noticing that she had stopped walking. She could not help but feel a little uneasy.

"Let's go." Jared grabbed her delicate hands and led her into the car after she had finally come to him.

The car started moving, and when Nicole noticed that they were not heading toward their home, she asked curiously, "Where are we going?"

"To a date," Jared said.

Hearing that, Nicole was shocked. "I didn't agree to go on a date with you!"

'I haven't remembered anything about us yet. It'd be so weird for us to go out on a date!' she thought to herself.

"But you promised Lana yesterday," Jared smugly said.

"Don't get me wrong. I was just trying to comfort Lana at that time. There's no need for us to actually go on a date," Nicole sulked as she rolled her eyes at Jared.

She refused to believe that Jared did not understand what she had truly meant.

"I disagree. I believe there is definitely a need." Jared became unusually serious.

In truth, he really needed a date with Nicole.

If Nicole could not regain her memories for now, they would need to start over and fall in love again. He did not mind giving her time, and he respected the situation she was in as well. However, he had to stay by her side and make sure that she would not leave him anymore. He had to keep her safe no matter what.

Nicole seemed to notice the sadness in his eyes, and she somehow felt a twinge of pain in her heart. Then, she swallowed her words and stopped with her blatant rejection of him.

'If what he said is true, he has been living in tremendous pain over the past five years. Even though I don't have any memories of us, I can imagine how heartbroken he must have felt,' she thought.

The car slowly came to a halt as they arrived at the restaurant.

It was a very new restaurant that was decorated in Nicole's favorite style, serving the cuisines she loved the most.

Upon entering the restaurant, Nicole noticed that there were not many people inside, and among those who were present, all of them looked like waiters.

Seeing that, she could not help but ask in confusion, "Isn't it dinnertime now?"

'Why is there no one here during this time?' she wondered.

"We'll be their only customers for tonight."

After all, this was their first time going on a real date following their reunion. Jared did not wish for anybody else to disturb them. He just wanted to look at her, spend some time with her, and savor this moment that he had been yearning for.

However, Nicole did not know how to feel about Jared reserving the entire place for her. 'This is a little too formal, isn't it?'

They sat down at the only table with utensils arranged, and the waiter began serving the dishes. Soon after, the table was filled with various delicacies.

Nicole felt a surge of warmth in her heart when she saw that everything which had been served was her favorite food. She knew that Jared truly loved and cared for her.

As the music played in the background of the meticulously decorated dining environment, Nicole strangely felt blessed, even though it was merely a dinner.

"Mr. Johnston." Nicole uttered, deciding to address Jared that way after thinking about it for the entire day.

"Call me Jared," he said, feeling a little upset.

He just could not get used to Nicole calling him from such a distance.

Nicole then scrambled to find another way to address him after noticing how persistent he was. "Jared Johnston."