

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2081

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2081-Iris clenched her teeth, unsatisfied. She had overheard Jared and Max's conversation and it made her feel wronged. She had tried her very best to arrange an appointment with the CEO of Happiness Trading. And yet, Jared did not bother to even consider it.

It was the perfect opportunity for her to perform well in front of Jared. In the end, her plan failed.

No way! I can't give up this easily. After all, I might not have much time left. I've been waiting silently for five years, and I had never imagined the day I would lose Jared.'

After Jared left Johnston Group's office, he soon arrived at the Riddle Corporation.

At the same time, Nicole had just stepped out of the building. When she saw Jared's car, she hurried over and got into the car.

"Come on, let's pick Nolan and Lana up." Nicole leaned into the seat.

"I've asked your mom and dad to pick them up. We're going to Martin's place." Jared glanced at Nicole out the side of his eye.

Her situation with her memory the night before was very different. Perhaps, one could say it was ground-breaking.

Nicole bit her lip and a gush of warmth flashed through her heart. Nicole never bothered about it, but Jared was still patient enough to check on Nicole's situation. Even if there was a small incident, Jared would be concerned.

Soon, the two of them had reached Martin's villa.

It was obvious that Martin had been waiting for their arrival. When he saw them enter, he poured water for them.

After everyone sat down, Nicole described the situation from the night before to Martin. Then, she shared what she thought.

Martin frowned slightly, gave it some thought and shook his head. "On the contrary, I don't think this is a sign of you recalling your memory."

Nicole was disappointed for a moment. But then, she quickly returned to normal. Deep down, she was comforting herself. Since she had faced such a result multiple times, she should be used to it by now.

“However, we can’t definitely say that there was no effectiveness to it. At least it proved one thing to us, that you are less resistant toward familiar things. Hence, you’re not experiencing headaches,” Martin explained. The only issue was that this was still very far from recovering her memory.

“Alright.” Nicole nodded. She felt that this could be considered as good news as well.

“Is there anything else?” Jared asked in a slightly low voice.

“Not at the moment.” After Martin finished speaking, he whipped out a document and said, “This is the treatment plan I’ve come up with. Please have a look.”

Martin passed the document to Nicole. He waited for Nicole to read the materials and express her opinion.

After Nicole took the file, she flipped through it and seriously looked at the contents. Then, she frowned. “I’ve tried all these methods before. They’re useless.”

Martin could not help but shake his head. “Your situation is quite an emergency. We’re running out of time and there hasn’t been anything to trigger your memory from the past. The conventional treatment plan does have a low percentage of effectiveness. However, it would be even more stable, and the risk is low.”

That was the best treatment plan he could think of. If it did not turn out the way it should, everyone would go manic.

“Do you have other proposals?” Nicole’s eyes narrowed as she understood the implicit meaning behind Martin’s words.

He mentioned that the conventional treatment would be stable, and the risks are low. That also meant that Martin had other theories, but the risks were too high.

Martin hesitated.

I'm sure he does, but he seemed to be kind of worried.'

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2082

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2082—"You can explain them first. As for the decision, we'll think about it seriously." Nicole noticed Martin's hesitation.

However, she felt that she should at least understand the options. In the end, they were opportunities.

"The risks are definitely higher," Martin continued to remind her carefully.

"Just explain them to us. We'll think about the rest later." Jared understood what Nicole meant, and he felt that they should at least understand what type of treatments were possible.

Seeing that the both of them were persistent, Martin sighed and said, "Do you remember The Beacon?"

After Martin uttered those words, he realized his mistake. How could he have forgotten about Nicole's memory loss? Of course, she would not remember what he was talking about. So, Martin turned and looked at Jared.

"What is it about The Beacon?" Jared was curious. According to his memory, the device did not have the ability to treat memory loss.

"Actually, over the past five years, I've developed a copy of The Beacon's system." Martin subconsciously glanced at Nicole as he spoke.

"A copy?" Jared's eyes narrowed. 'Is it a skill enhancement, or is it a technical advancement? Can it help Nicole to recover her memory?'

While Nicole was listening to their conversation, she could not recall any memory of The Beacon. Therefore, she was quite curious about it.

"What are you guystalking about?" asked Nicole. She thought the name sounded like a great thing. It must be a device.

Martin looked at Nicole and handed her a tiny device. From the appearance, it seemed like a delicate pendant. It was the size of a coin, and there was a slightly protruding part on top of it.

“Is this the switch?” Nicole made a guess and lightly triggered it with her finger.

An AI projected display immediately appeared in the air, and it remained there. The functions were all laid out on the display.

Amazed at such advanced technology, Nicole reacted out of shock. “This was designed by you? The functions are quite comprehensive!”

“I made some improvements according to The Beacon,” Martin replied honestly. Then, he explained to Nicole and Jared, “Other than the original functions of The Beacon, I’ve also developed and added a brain damage recovery function. But...” Martin hesitated.

Hearing that it could recover brain damage, Nicole’s eyes shined. “But what?”

Perhaps this newly upgraded product could really help her regain her memory. If there was a possibility, she was willing to give it a try.

“But the initial intention of developing this function was targeted toward external injuries which caused brain damage. Your condition doesn’t belong to this category. Another thing is that this is only at the initial stage of production. We don’t have actual research results to prove its effectiveness.” Therefore, Martin dared not to let Nicole use it rashly. If there were any issues, he would regret it.

Nicole finally understood the reason Martin was hesitant. She turned to Jared. “How much do you know about The Beacon?”

She totally had no memory of it. But looking at the upgraded prototype, she could tell that it was a powerful medical device.

“The main function of The Beacon is to quickly treat any external injuries and detoxify the body. It was developed by Martin, and you assisted him a lot last time. Then, I established The Beacon Company,” Jared briefly explained to Nicole.

Nicole’s eyes widened. She used to be involved in the project!

Of course, Nicole was shocked by the information. She knew that Jared would never lie to her, so she continued to question, "If that's the case, I think I can give it a try. What do you think?"

If The Beacon was so powerful, Nicole believed that the upgraded version would not be bad.

"But this isn't the finished version. I'm worried..." Martin still felt uneasy about it. He could not help but clench his teeth and advise, "Why don't we wait a little longer? At least until more experiments are done and more data is gathered.

Then we can come to a decision."

Martin was genuinely worried that if he failed, Nicole's injury would worsen. Therefore, he felt that they should be patient and wait it out.

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2083

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2083-Jared's eyebrows narrowed slightly, and he hesitated. The Beacon was reliable, but it now had upgraded functions and it could treat Nicole's brain. Jared was afraid of the possibility of it failing to do its job and causing severe damage to Nicole's brain.

"Never mind. You should have a laboratory for this, right? I'll go analyze the data with you there. If the success rate is high and the risk is low, we could try it out." Nicole felt this was a chance that she did not want to miss.

Nicole had tried many ways, but everything had failed. She really hoped this would be able to help her.

Jared looked at Nicole with his forehead creased tightly. He hoped for Nicole to regain her memories, but he did not want her to suffer from any damage.

Martin had the same hesitation. He remained silent, not agreeing to Nicole's request.

Nicole, on the other hand, did not want to waste any more time. So, she decided and said, "Send me your laboratory's address. I'll get there when I have time."

With that, Nicole stood and took the newest system Martin had given her. She said, "I'll take this and check it out. I'll return it to you when I go to your laboratory."

Seeing that Nicole had her heart set on this, Martin reluctantly agreed. "Alright then."

Knowing he could not stop her, Jared got up too and prepared to leave with Nicole. After a simple agreement, Nicole left with Jared.

With a conflicted expression, Martin watched as the two left. Although Nicole had lost her memories, she was still the same old Nicole he once knew, always determined and not afraid to take charge.

Nicole and Jared got in the car after leaving the mansion. After they had settled into their seats, the car started.

"The Beacon sounds impressive. It must have a good market," Nicole was rather interested in the device. She never expected she had once participated in its making. On top of that, Jared was the sponsor, establishing a company for production and sales.

"Yes," Jared replied, eyes downcast. Nicole's interest in The Beacon was not only about the latest technological innovation. It was also for the sake of Zane and the others.

Zane had never stopped searching for Nicole these few days but to no avail. Now that Nicole had returned, Jared felt conflicted about whether to tell her about Zane and the organization.

He contacted Zane, but Zane expressed that since Nicole had lost her memories, it would be better for her to stay away. She had quit the organization, so she did not need to remember those things. It was better for her to live a peaceful life.

"What's wrong?" Nicole blinked in confusion, noticing that

Jared seemed desperate to tell her something.

"It's nothing." Gathering his thoughts, Jared regained his composure. He decided to respect Zane's wish and not tell Nicole about the organization for the time being.

Nicole did not dwell on Jared's answer and continued, "About the upgrade for The Beacon, how confident are you?"

Jared's expression darkened. "I obviously have faith in Martin's design. However, his expertise is more toward treating external injuries or trauma caused by external forces. Amnesia is a different case altogether."

After all, that was not their initial intention, and Nicole's case was rare. It was simply impossible to predict the outcome.

"Although the situation is different, perhaps we can still achieve the same goal if we just give it a try." Nicole felt that it was worth a try after hearing Jared's explanation.

Jared furrowed his eyebrows and pondered for a moment. He looked at Nicole seriously. "To be frank, whether you regain your memory or not, it doesn't really matter to me. It's fine the way it is now."

To Jared, it was alright since Nicole came back safe and sound. Although Nicole could not remember their time together, he was satisfied with the situation because she was safe now.

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2084

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2084-"But I always feel like I'm missing something." Nicole always believed that she should regain her memories.

"It's just a trial. It might not have the desired outcome you want. If something goes wrong during the treatment..."

Jared trailed off. This was not something Jared would want to experience. He believed no member of the Riddle family would be able to bear this pain.

"There's always a chance, but it's impossible if I don't try." Nicole tried to convince Jared, hoping to gain his full support.

She knew Jared would let her if she insisted on it. However, Nicole wanted him to have no doubts and be firmly supportive of her, or in other words, help her. She felt that getting Jared's support would help her have the courage to face everything.

Nicole did not notice that, unknowingly, she had already developed a sense of reliance on Jared.

Jared looked at her deeply and said, "All we want is for you to be safe and sound. That's enough."

Nicole understood that Jared was referring to the Riddle family, her blood relatives. However, that was the sole reason she wanted to regain her memories. She wanted to remember her past for them.

Especially for Jared, as they even got married and had Nolan and Lana. They must have loved each other and had a great past together. Nicole did not want to forget that.

Besides, not remembering those past memories made her feel uncomfortable deep inside, and she could not help but judge the idea of their marriage.

Biting her lip, Nicole said solemnly, "I understand, but I still think I should regain my memories since I've been given a chance. Don't you want me to remember our past?"

Jared was taken aback, and helplessly said, "Of course, I want that. I'm just worried your body will get hurt if this fails."

A trace of warmth entered Nicole's heart. She thought a bit before saying, "I'll do my best not to get hurt and recover my memory."

Once Nicole remembered everything, perhaps all problems would be solved. Nicole thought that since they loved each other, their past should not be forgotten.

Jared's pupils constricted slightly, and he agreed through gritted teeth. "Alright, but don't bite more than you can chew. If "Deal." Nicole smiled. Getting his approval really made her feel at ease.

Upon returning to the Riddle family manor, the family had just finished dinner. Everyone was in the living room watching TV with Nolan and Lana.

"Daddy! Mommy!" Lana was the first to run over once Nicole and Jared entered the house.

Jared affectionately picked Lana up and sat down on the sofa with her.

“Mommy, Uncle Jared,” said Nolan, deliberately raising his voice and emphasizing on the word ‘Uncle’. He looked at Lana with a slight annoyance. He thought, ‘Look at her acting all smug.’

Lana proudly stuck her tongue out toward her brother, and thought in her heart, ‘Nolan’s just being jealous.’

‘Hmph!’ Nolan looked away, not wanting to bother with his now-bribed sister.

Noticing the ‘battle’ between the two children, Nicole shook her head helplessly. “We haven’t had dinner yet. Let’s go eat, and you two can continue watching TV.”

“How have you two still not had dinner? Hurry over to eat then.” Gloria instantly instructed the maids to prepare dinner for them once she knew they had not eaten dinner yet. She then ushered Nicole and Jared to the dining table.

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2085

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2085-Soon, the maids had prepared dinner, and Nicole and Jared started to eat.

“What were they doing? Why did they skip their meal?” Gloria whispered to Daniel, her eyes filling with concern as she wondered if something had happened to the couple.

“Don’t worry. The kids know what they’re doing.” Daniel, on the other hand, felt that since Jared and Nicole had not mentioned anything, they should not pry. He trusted that they could handle it themselves.

Gloria glanced at them and still felt uneasy. At the same time, looking at them eating in harmony, she could not bear to disturb them. So she gave up on asking them.

“Don’t worry, Grandma. Mommy is super awesome! She’ll be fine,” Lana reassured Gloria. In Lana’s heart, she felt Jared looked impressive and powerful too.

“Even if she really has something going on, Godpa would help Mommy too,” Nolan chimed in, taking the opportunity to earn brownie points for Lawrence. Otherwise, Lawrence would not stand a chance against Jared.

Daniel and Gloria exchanged glances. They noticed earlier that Nolan called Jared ‘Uncle’, and it felt a little awkward. They thought they should take some time to teach the child, but this seemed like a different case.

‘It seems like Nolan doesn’t want to accept Jared,’ Gloria mouthed.

‘Maybe that’s normal? Since Jared wasn’t there when he grew up,’ Daniel mouthed back.

‘How’s this normal? Why don’t you look at Lana? She’s extremely close with Jared,’ Gloria responded.

In a few glances, Daniel and Gloria exchanged thoughts and reached a consensus. They both looked at Nolan.

Nolan seemed to be very resistant to Jared. Even though Jared was not there during his childhood, Nolan had been back for quite some time. He should be familiar with Jared already. Yet, it was odd that the boy still rejected Jared like this. They wondered if it was because of Lawrence.

Speaking of Lawrence, Daniel and Gloria had discussed his situation before. Lawrence had indeed saved Nicole, and they should be grateful. However, they had never heard any news about Nicole for five years, so they still held reservations about him.

“Nolan, is San Joto better than the island?” After thinking about it, Gloria decided to take a gradual approach, afraid that being too direct would upset the boy.

Little did she know that Nolan was very sharp. He pretended to be naive and tilted his head, saying, “San Joto is nice.

Grandma, Grandpa, and uncles are here. It’s even better now that Godpa is here.”

Looking at Nolan’s content expression, Gloria was speechless, not knowing how to continue. She did not expect Nolan to be so attached to Lawrence.

“I think San Joto is better, 'cause Daddy's here. That means our family reunited,” said Lana, raising her chin at Nolan to provoke him. In her heart, she thought, ‘Grandpa and Grandma might not know, but I know how scheming Nolan is!’

To Lana, she really liked Jared. Therefore, she was not going to let Nolan have his way. Moreover, she was convinced Nicole did not like Lawrence that way. At most, Lawrence was an important friend to her, not a lover.

Listening to the children bicker, Gloria's expression became conflicted. Looking at the two innocent and beautiful faces, she really could not connect their childish words to mature conversations. In the end, she concluded they were just being childish.

Nicole and Jared finished their dinner and headed to the living room. Hearing the words of the two little ones, the corner of Nicole's lips twitched. She thought, ‘Mom and Dad might not know how quirky these two are, but I'm well aware. I “Nolan, Lana, don't get involved in the adults' problems.

We'll solve it ourselves,” Nicole said, formally addressing this issue with the kids for the first time. Although she understood their thoughts, she considered them mere childish musings that would not affect anything.

However, during their weekend outing, Nolan had turned on the GPS on Nicole's phone and allowed Lawrence to follow them. Nicole was afraid that if she did not put a stop to it, things would get out of control.

“Mommy!” Nolan instantly understood Nicole's intentions and was unwilling to comply yet did not reject it outright either.

“Nolan, do you want me to confiscate your account?” Nicole threatened.

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2086

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2086-Nicole always knew Nolan was born a clever cookie, and much more mature and wiser than the other children of his age. Therefore, she had allowed him to pursue hacking, with her rarely denying his requests. However, she could not allow him free rein this time; Nicole knew very well that if she did not control Nolan, things might get out of hand. This situation was already something she did not want to see.

“Alright, I get it,” Nolan said, as he was forced to agree.

“Remember, no sneaky moves,” Nicole warned.

Looking at the stern expression on Nicole’s face, Nolan could only nod sullenly. However, deep down, he knew there was a loophole. Nicole had only warned him against sneaky moves, not his penchant for providing information to his godfather.

“And remember, Lana. No speaking out of turn either,” Nicole reminded, able to tell that Lana was singing a different tune on purpose.

“Alright, Mommy. I got it,” Lana softly answered.

As long as Nolan did not spout any sort of hogwash, she would be more than happy.

Gloria, on the other hand, had never seen Nicole being so stern to anyone else, so she advised with a hint of concern, “The kids are still young. You have to teach them slowly.” “That’s right. Well, look at the time. We should bring the kids to sleep,” Daniel chimed in.

Nicole looked at her parents and signaled Nolan and Lana off with a sharp gaze before agreeing, “Alright, I’ll take them to bed.”

“Good night, Grandpa and Grandma,” Nolan and Lana simultaneously said, and followed Nicole upstairs.

“Jared, the children are probably having a hard time adjusting. Don’t worry too much,” Gloria comforted.

Calmly, Jared replied, “Oh, it’s nothing. They are still young, after all.”

However, Jared had come upon the realization that Nolan was not an ordinary five-year-old child. In regard to the hacker account, his mind jumped right into the idea that Nolan was the one using Nicole’s account. This could only mean that Nolan was a hacker. Then, he suddenly realized that on the day he took the two of them back home, the company system had malfunctioned, necessitating someone to come over and fix it. At that time, Nicole had admitted that it was her. But now that Jared came to think of it, Nolan might be the one who had done all the damage.

A trace of amusement flickered in Jared's eyes for everything just seemed to fall into place all of a sudden. 'So that is why Nolan has always behaved differently from the other kids. I've mistaken his antics for mischievousness, but it seems to me that Nolan is more precocious than I've cared to give him credit for.'

Gloria and Daniel became relieved when they saw Jared's nonchalant reaction. After a moment, they went upstairs to get some shuteye too. At around the same time, Nicole walked out of the kid's room.

"Are they asleep?" Jared asked.

"Lana is, while Nolan said he will sleep after a moment," Nicole vaguely said, not knowing how to tell Jared about Nolan's hacking activities.

"Is he taking on tasks?" Jared candidly asked after observing Nicole's look of hesitancy.

Nicole looked up at Jared, her eyes brimming with surprise." When did you find out?"

"Just now. Downstairs," Jared replied.

Then, he grabbed Nicole's hand and took her back to their room.

Nicole soon realized that Jared had known because she said she was going to confiscate Nolan's account. And that tiny bit of information was what led Jared to think of it. With that said, Nicole had to admit that Jared was very astute in his observation. With just one keyword, he was able to deduce that Nolan was a hacker and was taking on tasks.

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2087

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2087-"Nolan has demonstrated much skill and talent in this field since childhood, and he's also shown great interest in it. When I noticed his interest, I allowed him to use my account to take on some minor tasks. We came to San Joto because he secretly wants to compete in a hacking competition. If not, I'd never know when we could come back," Nicole explained.

Perhaps she would after she regained her memories, or else she would have never voluntarily set foot in San Joto.

“Very well. I suppose I can help arrange a fake identity for him so that he can have his own account,” Jared offered.

This way, Nolan would not need to use Nicole’s account anymore. With a new identity, Nolan could practice with his own account.

“You’re okay with him being a hacker?” Nicole asked in surprise, never expecting Jared to agree.

“As long as he likes it,” Jared replied, knowing that this would give Nolan better things to do, thus drawing his attention away from them.

Nicole nodded in agreement. “Alright. Let’s create an identity for him then.”

Due to Nolan’s young age, he was always unsuccessful in his attempts of creating his own account. If he could have his own, there’s no doubt that he would be elated. It was one of his greatest wishes, and often, he complained about growing up too slowly.

“Alright. Let’s rest,” Jared suggested, not wanting to ask too many questions.

After laying down, Nicole found herself unable to fall asleep. Ever since she returned, she had gradually gotten used to Jared’s presence and his occasional devilish charms. It was somewhat shocking for her to learn of Jared’s attitude toward Nolan today too.

Nicole did not expect Jared to know that Nolan could hack. He might already have known that Nolan was the one who had caused Johnston Group to suffer losses. Yet, he had not mentioned a word about it and was willing to help Nolan by letting him have his own account, on top of that. She thought that Jared would at least have ordered Nolan to never hack again.

It was a usual occurrence for Jared to dote on Lana, but toward Nolan, he was rather cold. However, a father’s deep love for his children would inadvertently show itself in one way or another. With that in mind, an unconscious smile tugged at the corner of Nicole’s lips as she felt a sense of relief.

The next day dawned with bright sunshine on the horizon. Once they have had their breakfast, Nicole and Jared left the Riddle manor with Nolan and Lana.

And after sending them to kindergarten, Jared turned to Nicole and remarked, "Well, you seem to be in a good mood. If

"Yep," Nicole replied. "I have an appointment with Mr. Harmon from Harmon Trading. We are going to discuss the details of the collaboration."

"Is it about the development project in Westborough?" Jared raised an eyebrow slightly, expressing some admiration. "Impressive, you managed to negotiate it so quickly."

"We're still going over the terms of discussion. We have not signed the contract yet," Nicole said.

After all, there would be no certainty as to whether there would be a collaboration until it had truly been finalized.

"It will go fine," Jared's eyes gleamed with a hint of excitement.

He believed that the partnership between Harmon Trading and Riddle Corporation would benefit both parties. It would surely succeed if both sides worked together.

Nicole lifted the corner of her lips. "I'll take your word for it."

"Just remember to treat me to dinner," Jared teased.

In reply, Nicole rolled her eyes and muttered, "Why does everyone want me to treat them?"

Nicole had only just returned. Although she had taken Riddle Corporation over, she had been spending all her savings from the past few years. First, Lawrence had asked her to treat him to a meal, and now Jared wanted her to buy him dinner as well. In comparison, they were the ones with deep pockets.

"What did you say?" Jared narrowed his brows slightly.

Although he had not grasped Nicole's words clearly, he had heard Nicole saying something about needing to treat everyone.

"It was nothing." Nicole returned to her senses and shook her head.

Regardless of whether she had uttered those words because of the dissatisfaction resulting from the notion of buying Jared or Lawrence a meal,

Nicole cleverly chose to not tell Jared about it. It would only complicate matters if he found out.

Jared's pupils dilated, as he sensed that there were things left unsaid. He wanted to inquire further, but Nicole had turned her head to look out the car window by then.

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2088

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2088-Noticing the look of guilt in Nicole's eyes, Jared's eyes glinted with shrewdness. 'So, she was indeed complaining just now. Is there someone else who wants her to treat them to a meal?'

Before Jared had time to dwell on it, the car halted.

"I've arrived!" Nicole exclaimed, hurriedly getting out of the car as if Jared would interrogate her if she lingered for another second.

"Nicole!" A voice tinged with excitement cut through the air before she saw a figure fluttering toward her like a butterfly.

"Lulu?" Nicole asked, surprised to see her here.

Once he had noticed Lulu, Jared's eyes regained their usual coldness. "I'll be back to pick you up from work."

Then, he drove off.

"Woah, that's so sweet. You have someone to send and pick you up every day," Lulu teased, looking all gossipy.

Nicole issued a sigh of relief after Jared had left. Although Jared had not said a word, she could feel the overwhelming pressure when he was around. She felt better now that he was gone.

"Stop staring, he's gone. Don't worry! Mr. Johnston said he was going to pick you up from work later," Lulu teased mischievously.

Nicole rolled her eyes at Lulu and changed the subject. "Why are you here?"

"For induction!" Lulu shook the offer letter in her hand, smiling proudly.

Nicole was taken by surprise. “You applied for the job?”

‘I thought I told her to join the company, but why did she apply and interview for the position? So that was why I didn’t see her yesterday. I thought she hadn’t resigned from her old job,’ Nicole thought.

“I got home and gave it a lot of thought. I think it’s better to not use your name and join the company directly. So, I applied for the job,” Lulu honestly admitted.

She was grateful for Nicole’s help, but she did not want to cause any problems for her.

“It doesn’t matter. Why can’t I, the chairwoman, appoint a secretary by myself?” Nicole beamed and teased.

“Well, of course. You can, since you’re the chairman. But I’m after all...” Lulu paused, after which her eyes widened.

“Wait, what? What did you just say?” she continued.

Lulu felt it was like a dream to work at Riddle Corporation, and to top it all off, Nicole even wanted her to be her secretary.

In response, Nicole’s lips lifted. “Come on, let’s go.”

“Oh, alright,” Lulu followed Nicole upstairs to her office in a daze.

“Nicole, do you really want me to be your secretary?” Lulu asked again in disbelief, feeling that it was all too good to be true.

“Yes, of course. Have I ever deceived you?” Nicole asked back in bemusement.

In response, Lulu shook her head and thought, ‘Nicole would never lie to me. This is just unbelievable. I became the secretary for the chairman of Riddle Corporation. This feels like a soaring achievement.’

“Alright then, let’s get to work,” Nicole shook her head while smiling.

Nicole had no intention to start Lulu’s career at the bottom of the ladder at Riddle Corporation. She believed that this was a win-win situation. After all, Lulu had just changed her job, and she needed someone trustworthy by her side all the while, which was something Jared would not be able to do. The truth was, even if Jared was willing to do so, Nicole would never burden him.

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2089

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2089-Ever since Nicole had reunited with Lulu, things had gotten much easier for her, as she could now face things with much ease.

Lulu too knew that her role had been set in stone, and that was when her face assumed a solemn look, “Okay, but what exactly am I doing?”

Lulu had just started her job here, so she was unsure of what exactly her role was.

“You can go to the assistant’s office and ask him to hand you some stuff,” Nicole replied.

Nicole had decided that Lulu was to join her at the Riddle Corporation from the get-go, she had briefed Wayne on Lulu’s addition to the team. As such, he would know what to do.

“Okay!” Lulu agreed before turning around to leave.

Nicole was smiling with satisfaction, as Lulu was able to adapt very quickly. ‘I think us joining forces will be something for others to look out for in the future.’

After a while, Lulu came into the office with an uneasy look on her face and a document in her hand. “Are we heading over there now?”

Lulu had just joined the company, and right off the bat, she had become Nicole’s secretary and was about to be whisked away to a negotiation on a business deal. Because of this, she was all over the place, unprepared for what was to come.

“Don’t be nervous. I’ll be there with you. Come on.” Nicole got up and proceeded to walk off.

‘There was no requirement to prepare any materials as the meeting was set up just to finalize the deal,’ Nicole thought

Lulu gritted her teeth nervously as she followed Nicole from behind. It was not long until they reached the place where they were supposed to conduct that meeting with Mr.

Harmon. Unexpectedly Raine and James Harlow were present.

Feeling that this meeting was going to drag on, she composed herself and looked at Mr. Harmon. "Greetings Mr.

Harmon, I'm Nicole."

"It's nice to meet you, Miss Riddle." Mr. Harmon got up from his seat and happily shook hands with Nicole.

Sensing a hint of embarrassment from him, Nicole narrowed her eyes a little before sitting down, acting as if nothing was wrong.

"You're late. How are you so entitled? This is embarrassing for the family name," Raine remarked while giving Nicole a long face.

"Stop sputtering nonsense. We had an appointment at nine. There's still five minutes to go," Lulu argued, clearly pissed off at Raine who was deliberately picking a fight with them

"Don't you know that arriving early is basic courtesy?" Raine argued, unable to stomach Lulu's reply.

"Coming from a graduate from an unknown university, you sure have lots of free time on your hands. Nicole is a very busy person, and every second is precious. So, for her to arrive five minutes earlier has already demonstrated respect and sincerity toward Mr. Harmon," Lulu retorted.

"You!" Raine was rendered speechless, her face as pale as a sheet.

Nicole was also taken aback by Lulu's sharp comeback.' How did she learn to be so quick witted? I can't recall how she was like before, but this clearly wasn't stated in the information that was given to me?'

"Raine. We're here to discuss our business deal with Mr.

Harmon. We ought to be friendly and courteous toward one another. Everyone's time is precious," James butted in as he attempted to be the peacemaker, while low-key implying the fault was Nicole's.

Nicole raised her eyebrows, and spoke profoundly, “Being bogged down by unnecessary trivialities is not on my agenda. I’m here to discuss serious business matters...”

Read Novel MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2090

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2090-Nicole paused for a moment before turning to look at Mr. Harmon and nodding politely, “Everyone’s time is precious, so why don’t we start?”

Just like that, Nicole had made it clear that she was the target of all that harassment and nonsense instead of the one who had caused it.

“Alright, let’s begin.’ Mr. Harmon nodded in satisfaction. “It’s an honor to have you coming here in person.”

James’ face suddenly turned dark, and he could not help but grit his teeth. ‘This girl is not easy to deal with.’

Raine was also anxious when she heard Mr. Harmon speaking up. It was only recently that Raine had joined the Riddle Corporation. She had wanted to torpedo Mr. Harmon and Nicole’s plan, not thinking it would fail. Her face turned extremely pale as her plan to kill two birds with one stone backfired there and then.

“Mr. Harmon, I think we should carefully assess what we’ve discussed earlier. After all...” Raine said, feeling terribly anxious, and was on the verge of exposing herself for luring Mr. Harmon here to meet her and James before Nicole.

Mr. Harmon interrupted Raine, his face instantly scrunching up into a sour grimace, and in a cold voice, he said, “Please be careful of your words, Miss Riddle. It was your presence today that disrupted our meeting. I think you can go.”

‘This brainless woman had just promised me huge benefits without even thinking it through. It would greatly be beneficial for me, but no way would I consider having this business deal with anyone other than with Nicole. After all, the nature of deals like this are extremely complicated,’ he thought.

Raine had not expected that Mr. Harmon would turn her impressive business proposition down, and just like that, she was handicapped in front of Nicole.

“Mr. Harmon, no. Please listen to what I have to say... Just now, we...” Raine said, eagerly wanting to persuade Mr.

Harmon but James stopped her just in time before she could further embarrass herself.

James turned to look at Mr. Harmon politely. “Mr. Harmon, if you could please excuse us.”

Then, after he had spoken, he turned to look at Nicole. “We were the ones who had interrupted you, Nicole, so we’ll leave first.”

James forcefully dragged Raine away, with Nicole squinting her eyes as she watched the figures of James and Raine slowly recede from view.

‘For someone who’s so addle-brained, she certainly has found a very thoughtful husband,’ Nicole thought.

Nicole noted how well James was at apologizing after Raine had created a scene. ‘He must’ve bitten a bullet when he dragged her away with us.’

“Miss Riddle, let us continue.” Mr. Harmon’s voice pulled Nicole out from her thoughts.

Nicole then snapped back to reality, after which she proceeded to discuss the business deal with Mr. Harmon.

Outside, Raine was fuming and was lashing out at James.” Why did you drag me out here? It’s him who didn’t keep his word and went back on our agreement!”

‘If it wasn’t for Nicole’s stupid appearance, he would have not wavered! He would have agreed to work with us!’ she thought.

“I know it’s his fault for going back on his word, but we can’t expose him like that. We must still leave a good impression since he still owes us a favor. It might be beneficial for us the next time we see him. We can utilize him for other projects in the future, just not this one,” James earnestly persuaded.

“I can’t control my anger when I see that b*tch Nicole being so cocky.” Raine gritted her teeth.

“You can’t defeat an enemy easily overnight. You just joined the company so it’s understandable. Get yourself familiarized with the company first. We can’t afford to make more enemies. We must get them on our side first,” James continued in an attempt to talk some sense into his wife.