

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 3271

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 3271-“Don’t worry about the stock price,” Lawrence said quietly, his voice full of hidden meaning. “Keep going with the plan like we talked about.” “But if we do that, our company might go bankrupt,” Ian said. He was feeling really confused and asked himself, ‘Is this all really worth it? Even if we pull it off, without the company, we can’t keep our foothold here in San Joto. Does that mean we have to leave?’ “Just do it,” Lawrence told Ian, shooting him a cold glance.

Ian replied, “Yes, sir.” He felt a chill and didn’t dare to say more.

After Ian left, Lawrence had a sharp look in his eyes. He thought to himself, ‘If things really go south, I’m ready to leave everything in San Joto behind..

As the day turned into evening after a busy day, Nicole, Patricia, and Lulu were leaving work, chatting as they walked.

Suddenly, someone called out, Patricia,” making them all turn around.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you.Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

Seeing Ellar, Patricia asked in surprise, ‘ What brings you here?’

Nicole knew about Patricia and Ellar, but Patricia hadn’t told anyone else. She didn’t want to make a fuss and was more focused on protecting Nicole’s safety.

“I came to pick you up,” Ellar said like it was the most normal thing.

“You didn’t have to; I can get home myself,” Patricia said, trying to keep her distance.

Eliar didn’t catch her hint and said, sounding a bit upset, “Since you said yes to marrying me, I haven’t seen you. I’ve started to wonder if it was all a dream.”

“What?!” Lulu was shocked. ‘Wow! When did this happen? Why didn’t I know?’ Patricia rolled her eyes at Ellar, but knew her secret was out. She told Lulu, “I was going to tell you once everything was sorted.”

Ellar ruffled his hair, looking sorry for himself. “But I miss you when we’re not together.”

When Lulu realized Patricia and Ellar were engaged and hadn’t told anyone, she laughed and said, “You two should go out. Jared’s here for Nicole; she’ll be fine.

Work’s over for today.” She nudged Patricia toward Ellar.

Seeing Nicole wasn’t surprised, Lulu figured Nicole knew about the engagement. She let Ellar take Patricia away so she could ask Nicole for the details.

“Hey,” Patricia said, blushing, as she gave Lulu a look.

“Just go, don’t be shy,” Lulu said, waving them off, urging Ellar to take Patricia.

“Okay, we’re going,” Ellar said with a smile, taking Patricia’s hand.

Lulu had been caught off guard as she had no idea the two had made such a huge leap.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 3272-Nicole walked over to where Jared had parked his car. Jared smiled affectionately and opened the door for her, saying, “Hop in.”

Once inside, Nicole sank into the seat with a deep sigh. “Finally, a moment to relax.” “You look worn out,” Jared noted, concerned.

“I’m okay,” she said, leaning against Jared. It wasn’t the work that was tiring, but rather the stress from dealing with Lawrence that had been weighing on her.

Now, in the quiet of the car, she felt a sense of relief.

Jared smiled gently, “Soon, you’ll get to relax for real.”

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you. Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

He knew exactly what she was going through. They just had to handle the situation with Lawrence, and then all this stress would be behind them.

Nicole nodded as she smiled back, feeling a bit more at ease.

Ellar took Patricia to a cozy restaurant. The calm music and charming decor made them feel comfortable right away.

“Let’s sit over here,” Ellar suggested, guiding Patricia to a window table.

Once they ordered, Ellar turned to Patricia, “You’ve been working so much lately. I thought a night out would help you unwind. Don’t stress so much.”

Patricia let out a small sigh. “A call would have been enough, you know. Why come to the office?” “I wanted to see you,” Ellar said, looking a bit upset, “Plus, now that work’s over and Jared’s with Nicole, she’ll be alright.” “I’m not worried about Nicole. It’s just that I think we should keep things between US a bit more private for now,” Patricia tried to explain.

Ellar firmly disagreed, “No, we’re together and shouldn’t hide it. Are you having doubts?” His stance was clear; he saw no reason to hide their relationship, feeling insecure about Patricia’s hesitance.

Patricia couldn’t help but smile, a mix of amusement and exasperation in her gaze. “What are you even saying?”

Ellar gave a nervous laugh, scratching his head. “Just making sure you’re okay with US. I get worried when I don’t see you.” “Let’s just eat,” Patricia said with a mock stern look, making Ellar seem almost pitiful.

“Alright, let’s enjoy the meal,” Ellar agreed, cheerfully offering Patricia some of her favorites.

They spent the meal talking and laughing, Ellar appearing utterly satisfied.

Patricia watched him, her heart filling with a gentle happiness, her smile hidden but genuine.

She looked serious. Even though they were ready, she knew they had to be careful.

She was surprised Lawrence was still calm, ignoring his own company to focus on her side.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 3273-A moment later, Nicole said firmly, "Patricia, Lawrence must have another trick up his sleeve. Keep an eye on him."

Patricia knew what Nicole meant. If Lawrence was putting all his effort into attacking Riddle Corporation, he might have another plan. Following Lawrence's moves could be risky for Nicole, but it could also be a chance to outmaneuver him.

Patricia paused, unsure, thinking, 'Is it worth the risk to Nicole for this chance?' Nicole saw Patricia's worry and tried to ease it, "We know what he's planning; it'll be okay. If we pass this up, we might not get another chance." "But..."

Patricia was still hesitant.

Nicole gave her a reassuring smile. "No 'buts.' You'll be right there with me, won't you?"

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you.Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

With Patricia by her side, they had the upper hand since they knew Lawrence's plans and he didn't know theirs. This made their position stronger.

Patricia nodded, feeling a bit more convinced. "Got it." "Then be careful," Lulu added, unable to hide her concern despite Nicole's confidence.

"Don't worry," Nicole said with a comforting smile.

After deciding on their course, Nicole told Lulu, "Keep up the work you've been doing. We should see the outcome soon." "Okay," Lulu replied, "I'm on it."

“Great,” Nicole said, trusting Lulu to handle things.

Then she looked at Patricia. “Just watch Lawrence closely.” “Don’t worry, Ms. Riddle,” Patricia said, her determination clear.

Ready to face the risk, they knew they had to make it count, and Patricia was committed to ensuring Nicole’s safety.

With their plan set, Lulu and Patricia left Nicole’s office.

Alone, Nicole’s focus sharpened, ready for what was to come.

In Jared’s office, Max reported with concern, “Mr. Johnston, things are moving forward as expected. Lawrence’s company is on the brink of bankruptcy today.

Yet, he hasn’t made a move; it’s uncertain what he’s planning.”

This unusual calm from Lawrence made them wary and suspicious.

“Make sure he doesn’t get a chance to turn things around,” Jared replied, his voice cool and determined.

“Understood.” Max nodded, then shared more news, “Charlie and Doretta have updates too. Lawrence hasn’t made moves in San Joto recently, but there are signs he’s up to something in Mecrounia.”

“Focus on San Joto with Doretta, and send Charlie with a team to Mecrounia,” Jared instructed firmly.

“Got it.” Max left to execute the orders.

Jared’s strategy was to preempt Lawrence’s retreat with measures already in place in Mecrounia.

Later, under the bright afternoon sun, Nicole was in her office, lost in thought on her couch.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 3274-“Yes, Ms. Riddle.” the secretary handed the mail to Nicole and then left the room.

Nicole looked at the familiar envelope and shook her head slightly, thinking, ‘He has now learned to play mysterious, sending me express mails everytime.’ Upon opening it and seeing the contents, Nicole frowned slightly.

Unable to help herself, Nicole sent a message asking, [Where did you get this information?] [The information is accurate. Be prepared,] the person replied with a cautionary note but did not answer Nicole’s question directly.

Sighing, Nicole responded, [Thanks.] [Take care,] the person cautioned Nicole.

With a slight smile, Nicole put away her phone and, after a moment of contemplation, made a call to Doretta.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you.Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

“Nicole,” Doretta sounded puzzled, “Is something wrong?” “Lawrence might make a move in the next few days. I hope you and Charlie can support me in capturing him this time,” Nicole stated directly.

“I can help you, but...” Doretta hesitated before continuing, “Charlie went to Mecrounia. Mr. Johnston has given him a task.”

Before leaving, Charlie had indeed instructed her to keep an eye on Lawrence and to protect Nicole as well.

“Charlie went to Mecrounia,” Nicole muttered under her breath. She figured Jared must have sent Charlie to Lawrence’s turf, likely having received some information and made arrangements accordingly.

“Nicole, do you know something?” Doretta probed, curious about Nicole’s seemingly unsurprised reaction to Charlie’s sudden departure.

Nicole responded, “Yes, I’ve received some information, which is why I was hoping you and Charlie could help.” She was also worried because, although Patricia could protect her, focusing solely on her safety meant neglecting other tasks.

“I can handle it, leave it to me,” Doretta assured cautiously, thinking that since she was the only one left in San Joto, she had to take on this responsibility.

“Alright, come see me after work, and we’ll discuss the details,” Nicole told Doretta.

“Okay,” Doretta agreed.

After hanging up, Nicole bit her lip slightly, thinking, ‘Charlie went to Mecrounia...’ As dusk approached and Nicole was just about to leave work, she suddenly received a call.

“Are you off work?” came Cindy’s voice.

“I was just about to leave. What’s up?” Nicole asked.

“Oh, Martin and I wanted to invite you guys for dinner. If you’re free, could you come? Is that okay?” Cindy asked.

Nicole hesitated. She had arranged to meet with Doretta and probably couldn’t meet Cindy and Martin.

“Okay. Call US when you’re free,” Cindy agreed.

“Mm, will do,” Nicole said.

After hanging up, Nicole noticed that the company’s staff had already left.

She bit her lip slightly, thinking, ‘Doretta should be here by now.’ Sure enough, someone knocked on the door a moment later.

“Come in,” Nicole called out.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 3275-“Sit down, let’s talk,” Nicole gestured to Doretta.

Once seated on the couch, Nicole began, “It seems Lawrence doesn’t care about his company anymore. Instead, he has set his sights on Riddle Corporation, and we’ve also discovered that he had tampered with Riddle Corporation before...”

After explaining the situation in detail, Nicole looked at Doretta and said, "I think he will try to strike at Riddle Corporation. If Patricia is protecting me, she won't be able to cover everything, so I need your covert support."

"Understood. What do you need me to do?" "Lawrence probably doesn't know you're in San Joto, so he won't be on his guard against you. You'll have more freedom to move..."

"Got it."

After their discussion, Doretta left Riddle Corporation.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you. Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

Nicole waited a while before leaving, intending to have her chauffeur take her home. She had Jared to pick up Nolan and Lana first because she needed to meet Doretta.

While she was waiting for her car, another vehicle pulled up nearby, and two men got out.

Nicole instinctively moved back, keeping a cautious eye on the approaching men.

They stopped a short distance from her and addressed her with a name from her past, the time when she had lost her memories.

"Niki, let's not make this hard for either of US. Just come with US, okay?"

Recognizing them as Lawrence's people, who had probably come from Mecrounia, Nicole realized they didn't know about the recent developments here. That's why they used the name "Niki." "You're mistaken. I'm Nicole, not Niki," Nicole said calmly, yet firmly, to the two men.

Inside, she was quickly thinking through her options. People sent by Lawrence were no amateurs; they'd know too much about her to let her simply walk away.

"Please, just get in the car," they said again, their tone firmer this time.

Nicole clenched her teeth secretly. She knew escaping now would be incredibly difficult, if not impossible.

One of them hinted, "At a time like this, you should understand," pausing briefly, "There's no use waiting. No one's coming for you."

Realizing the depth of her situation, Nicole saw how well Lawrence had played his cards. They had thought they were watching him, yet he was just as informed about their actions.

Nicole's calm deepened, as she recognized this move as classic Lawrence – always thinking ahead, undeterred by what others did against him.

As the car blended into the traffic, a lone figure in the shadows noted its departure.

Soon, Nicole found herself at Lawrence's villa, pondering what he had planned amid this silent chess game between them.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 3276-Nicole, with a knowing smile, remarked, "In business, there are always winners and losers." Lawrence, with a casual shrug, responded, "If that's the case, then yes, I've lost this round." "But you didn't have me brought here just to say you're giving up, right?" Nicole questioned, noticing Lawrence's tendency to beat around the bush.

"Absolutely not," he replied, shaking his head.

"Since I've lost, I need to make some moves to even things out." Nicole nodded, understanding.

"Alright, then.

What is it you're after?" It was clear Lawrence had a specific reason for bringing her here.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you.Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

"You know what I want," he said, looking directly at Nicole.

“If it’s the Fire Crest and Water Crest you’re after, that’s going to be tough.

I’m not exactly planning on dying anytime soon.” Nicole knew that without her death, the Crests wouldn’t transfer ownership.

Lawrence simply looked at her, his silence making his intentions unclear.

Nicole maintained her composure, facing Lawrence with a calm anticipation, ready for whatever he might propose next.

The tension between them was like a silent storm, both maintaining a facade of tranquility while assessing each other’s moves.

Lawrence, breaking the silence with a smile, offered, “Don’t rush; you can have time to think it over.” Nicole, surprised, considered what Lawrence’s intentions could be.

The moment she failed to return, Jared would certainly notice her absence.

Lawrence’s willingness to give her time raised questions about whether he felt confident in his security here or if he had other strategies in mind.

Before she could delve deeper into her thoughts, Ian’s entrance provided a clue.

“Mr.

Royce, we’re set to go,” Ian whispered, subtly informing them of their readiness to depart.

With this information, Nicole’s thoughts raced.

It seemed they were planning to leave San Joto, possibly taking her with them.

This raised the stakes; being taken away could mean Lawrence intended to use her as leverage against Jared.

The idea of attempting an escape crossed her mind, yet the complexities and risks involved made the decision far from straightforward.

After glancing outside instinctively, she knew her chances of escaping were slim.

“If I dared to have you brought here, I wouldn’t give you a chance to leave,” Lawrence said with a deep gaze toward Nicole.

“I’ll take you away from San Joto now.

I’ll find a way to bring Nolan and Lana later.

The four of us can return to our previous lives, as if we had never come to San Joto.” 1 “You’re mad!” Nicole’s eyes widened in shock.

It was beyond her imagination that Lawrence would resort to such a plan.

Now, he no longer cared about the consequences.

Even if he had to use force, he was determined to take Nicole and her two children away.

As for Jared, Lawrence decided he would settle things with him once everything was in place.

Ian approached, his voice low but firm as he said, “Ms.

Riddle, let’s go.” Nicole clenched her teeth silently and stood up to follow them.

But she thought, even if Lawrence was taking her away now, it would likely be to Mecrounia, where Charlie was.

Once there, she planned to find a way to contact Charlie.

Nicole gave Lawrence a meaningful look.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 3277-In the backyard of the villa, a helicopter waited on the lawn, ready for immediate departure from San Joto.

“Get in,” Lawrence said to Nicole, noticing her momentary pause.

“Alright,” Nicole responded, stepping into the helicopter first.

She figured it was best to go along for now, seeing no viable way to escape.

Resistance seemed futile.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you. Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

With everyone on board, the helicopter lifted off, quickly gaining altitude and leaving the area behind.

As the helicopter shrank to a mere speck in the sky, Doretta made her appearance, her expression one of deep concern.

Without wasting a moment, she hurried away from the scene.

Her destination was clear: the Riddle residence.

In the study, Jared frowned at Doretta.

“Why are you here?” “Nicole has been taken by Lawrence,” Doretta said through clenched teeth.

“After discussing the plan with Nicole, I left first.

“But then, I remembered something and turned back, only to see someone taking Nicole away.

“I followed them and discovered she was captured by Lawrence’s people.”

Jared’s expression darkened when he realized Lawrence might have been waiting for a moment when Nicole was alone to capture her.

If Doretta hadn’t had a reason to return, they might not have found out about this so quickly.

“I’ll have Max work with you.

We’ll rescue her immediately,” Jared instructed Doretta without hesitation.

“No,” Doretta said, shaking her head.

“I wanted to rescue her at the time, but she signaled me not to reveal myself and to bring the message to you instead.” She was shocked at Nicole’s gesture, but she refrained from attempting a rescue and chose to follow Nicole's wishes.

"So she has a plan?" Jared's expression turned more serious as he thought, 'It must be so, otherwise why wouldn't she let Doretta rescue her?! "It seems like it," Doretta replied.

"And they've left on a helicopter.

"It's too late to stop them from leaving San Joto." "Did she say anything else?"

Jared's eyes narrowed slightly, indicating that since Nicole willingly left with Lawrence, she must have had a plan.

Doretta answered, "Nicole mentioned going to Mecrounia." Jared fell silent for a moment, his gaze intense.

After a while, he finally said, "Get ready.

"We're leaving right away." "Okay." Doretta agreed and quickly left the Riddle residence.

A short while later, Jared emerged from the study, looking composed once more.

In the living room, Daniel and Gloria were watching TV with Nolan and Lana.

"We might not be back for a few days," Jared sat down and gathered Nolan and Lana into his arms.

Nolan seemed hesitant.

"Is it really about work?" he asked.

"Of course, it's work," Jared said with a slight smile.

If it was just a minor issue, they could have talked in the living room, right?!

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 3278-Knowing how perceptive Nolan was, Jared felt somewhat resigned but knew he couldn't tell the truth at this moment. He could only say, "Doretta came because of something else. I have to go to the airport now and leave with Mommy. Well be back soon.” “Oh, okay,” Nolan agreed, but it didn’t seem like Jared had convinced him.

It looked more like he didn’t want to waste time, saying, “Then go find Mommy.”

“Mm.” Gently touching Nolan’s head, Jared said meaningfully, “Take good care of your sister, and don’t leave the sight of adults.”

Looking at Jared, Nolan bit his lip and finally nodded. “I know.”

Although the specifics of the situation were unclear to him, Nolan could tell that Jared’s explanation was an oversimplification. He also grasped that Jared’s reference to “adults” wasn’t limited to Gloria and Daniel, but included the security personnel stationed near their kindergarten, tasked with their protection.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you.Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

Nolan was deeply concerned, suspecting something significant had occurred.

However, he didn’t want his worry to distract Jared, so he offered his support, “Lana and I will be good, Daddy. You should go.”

He restrained himself from asking further questions, aware that doing so might reveal his suspicions to Jared. Thus, he chose to maintain the facade of unawareness.

Jared exchanged a significant glance with Nolan, appreciating his son’s maturity before leaving with a heart a bit lighter.

Jared suspected Nolan might have picked up on more than he let on.

However, seeing Nolan’s composed behavior, Jared felt reassured that Nolan would patiently wait for his and Nicole’s return, alleviating any immediate concerns Jared might have had.

Watching Jared leave, Gloria turned to Daniel with a worried expression.”
What should we do?”

Even though Jared hadn't explained anything, merely leaving Nolan and Lana in their care, she could sense something was amiss. She thought, 'Nicole said she would stay late at the office to finish some work, then she didn't come home at all, and Doretta showed up instead. After a while, Doretta left, and Jared said he had to leave the country...' Daniel's expression darkened as he said, "We'll take good care of Nolan and Lana. Let's leave the rest to them." He knew they couldn't help much at this moment; ensuring the children had nothing to worry about was their way of assisting.

Gloria looked at Nolan and Lana, then hugged the little ones close, thinking, 'Right, we'll take care of Nolan and Lana, so Jared and Nicole can focus on what they need to do.' Soon, a helicopter ascended, leaving San Joto. By the time it landed in Mecrounia, daylight was breaking.

Charlie, having received the message, had been waiting for some time.

"Mr. Johnston." As Jared and Doretta disembarked, Charlie approached.

"How is it?" Jared's voice was icy.

"We've sent people to investigate, but there's no news about Mrs. Johnston yet,"

Charlie responded.

Upon receiving Jared's message, he had ordered his people to monitor Lawrence's base for any activity. However, they hadn't yet located Nicole.

Charlie raised a point of concern, touching on something they all worried about, "Mr. Johnston, regarding Nolan and Lana..."

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 3279-"Maybe we should check into a hotel first. Nicole might try to reach US," Doretta said through clenched teeth.

She was sure Nicole had a plan; otherwise, Nicole wouldn't have willingly gone with Lawrence. Not only did Nicole stop her from revealing herself, but she also told her to send a message directing them to come here- there had to be a reason behind Nicole's actions.

After thinking for a moment, Jared agreed, "Let's go to the hotel for now." For now, all they could do was wait. Plus, Jared had some things to take care of.

Soon, they reached the hotel and got settled. They needed to wait for more news, but they couldn't just sit around; they needed a plan of action.

Meanwhile, Lawrence had made sure Nicole was comfortable, but he didn't take her to his main base. Instead, he chose a small fishing village nearby.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you. Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

The village reminded Nicole of Crescent Island, where they had once lived, but here, it wasn't an isolated island. It was still hard to communicate with the outside world, though.

Lawrence's people were keeping a close eye on Nicole's every move.

Looking outside at the people, Nicole frowned, deciding it was best not to do anything rash for now. Resting might be the smartest choice-building up strength and maybe tricking those outside into lowering their guard.

Nicole lay down to sleep and actually drifted off.

When she woke up, it was already getting dark.

"I can't believe I slept for so long. Taking the helicopter all night yesterday really tired me out," Nicole muttered to herself.

Nicole checked outside and saw the people keeping watch were still there.

Someone noticed her movement and knocked on the door. "Miss, your dinner is ready." "Have it brought in," Nicole said, knowing she needed to eat well to keep her strength up.

Looking at the decent meal brought to her, Nicole shrugged and started eating.

While eating, she kept an eye on the outside, thinking about how to find an opportunity to contact Jared and the others. 'Doretta received my covert signal and didn't show herself, so she must have gone to find Jared by now.

'They should already be in Mecrounia, likely searching for me.

'I didn't expect Lawrence to be so cautious, not taking me to the base but keeping me here.' As she thought, footsteps approached. Nicole's pupils slightly contracted it was Lawrence.

Putting down her utensils, Nicole looked up at the person who had just entered.

"Is the meal to your liking?" Lawrence asked.

"If there's nothing else, I'm tired," she said coldly, effectively dismissing Lawrence.

Nicole remained silent, cursing internally, 'Return to how things were before? In your dreams!

'We will never be possible, not in the past, not now, and certainly not in the future.'

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 3280-Lawrence knew Nicole would be upset, so he didn't insist she stay. "Alright then, you rest," he said, getting up to leave.

He understood she needed time, especially since he could easily control her. He was confident she would give in once Nolan and Lana arrived.

As Lawrence walked away, Nicole's expression turned cold. 'Lawrence, you shouldn't have brought Nolan and Lana into this.' Pretending to sleep until the noises outside stopped, Nicole peeked out and saw the guards. They were still there, but they had nodded off, giving her an opportunity.

After securing the door, Nicole retrieved her hidden watch and sent a message.

Meanwhile, Doretta knocked on Jared's door. "Nicole sent a message." "Come in," Jared's voice came from inside the room, prompting Doretta to enter, followed by Charlie.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you. Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

Jared stood by the window, gazing outside into the night.

Turning at the sound of their entrance, Jared asked Doretta, “Where is she?”

“Nicole sent her location but said not to rescue her yet,” Doretta replied, looking conflicted after sharing the location.

She asked, “Should we follow Nicole’s lead?” She believed Nicole had another plan, hence her instruction not to attempt a rescue just yet.

Jared narrowed his eyes slightly, trying to stay calm. “Well follow her lead.”

He was eager to rescue Nicole but understood her instructions must have a reason. Acting impulsively could jeopardize her plan.

“I’ll arrange for someone to keep watch near Mrs. Johnston’s location right now.

If Mrs. Johnston is in danger, they’ll immediately proceed with a rescue,” Charlie said firmly.

He believed that since they had decided to align with Nicole’s plan, ensuring her safety from the shadows was the best course of action. This way, they could intervene if absolutely necessary.

Jared glanced at Charlie and cautioned, “Be careful not to expose yourself, so we don’t alert the enemy too soon.” “Yes, Mr. Johnston,” Charlie agreed before leaving to make arrangements.

Doretta’s expression grew more serious as she turned to Jared. “Mr.

Johnston, Nicole also emphasized the importance of protecting Nolan and Lana.

Lawrence might target them.” “They won’t be harmed,” Jared stated firmly, his voice unwavering.

He reassured himself that everything had been arranged in San Joto to keep Nolan and Lana safe from Lawrence’s men.

“Alright, I’ll relay that to Nicole,” Doretta responded. She hesitated before cautiously asking, “Do you want to contact her?”

“No need,” Jared shook his head.

Even if Lawrence was aware of Doretta’s existence, he might not anticipate her being in Mecrounia, making her actions more discreet.

“Okay, then I’ll leave you to it,” Doretta said before exiting the room.

Jared was left alone, radiating a chilling resolve.