

MY WIFE IS A HACKER

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 3291-"Can't believe he thought of that. Such a cunning person, yet he has his foolish moments," Doretta said through gritted teeth. "But Nicole would never agree to it." "Or maybe he has a way to make Nicole agree," Patricia said with a grave expression.

She was sure that if Lawrence had such plans, he must have prepared well.

Fortunately, his plan to abduct Nolan and Lana failed, so he must be more cautious now.

"Mr. Johnston, could Ms. Riddle be in danger?" Patricia asked worriedly.

Jared's gaze darkened as he replied, "Not for the time being," though how long this would hold was uncertain.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you.Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

He knew Lawrence's focus was likely on monitoring his movements, planning how to deal with him, and might not pay attention to Nicole for the moment. As long as Nicole acts quickly and successfully finds the secret passage, they could act at anytime.

"So, we need to buy time now," Patricia said, biting her lip slightly. "When are we planning to act?" "We're waiting for a message from Nicole," Doretta reassured Patricia." You should rest for now. I think we'll have a result in the next few days." "Okay,' Patricia agreed.

"I'll continue to arrange for people to scout around the base," Charlie said with a solemn expression.

Disturbing Lawrence's focus was still necessary.

i'll check with Zane to see if there's any reply from Carl and how things are being arranged," Doretta added.

After speaking, the three of them turned their eyes toward Jared, as if waiting for his orders.

Jared nodded slightly in approval, and the trio turned and left.

Jared's eyes narrowed slightly as he shifted his gaze toward the window, wondering, 'How is Nicole doing now?' ****

At this moment, in the base, Lawrence was indeed preoccupied with guarding against a potential attack from Jared, thanks to the diversion created by Charlie and Doretta's people. This lapse in surveillance allowed Nicole more freedom to move.

Noticing the absence of guards outside, Nicole quietly left her room.

She was aware of the commotion Charlie and Doretta were causing outside and understood they were drawing Lawrence's attention to assist her.

Now was her opportunity to act while unnoticed.

She thought that if she could successfully find the exit, they could close the net on Lawrence.

"What are those two doing?" Nicole murmured to herself, quietly following them.

A crack appeared in the wall, which then slowly slid open.

'Could this be the secret passage?' Nicole guessed, holding her breath so as not to alert the two men.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 3292-Nicole's curiosity piqued. 'If it's not an exit, then what are they doing?' The more she thought about it, the stranger it seemed. In a moment of decision right before the two men were about to close the door, she suddenly appeared and knocked them unconscious.

She had a hunch that even if this wasn't the secret passage, it must be hiding some secret, so she had to find out.

Glancing at the two men lying on the ground, Nicole quickly entered through the stone wall door.

"What's all this?" Nicole asked, amazed at what she saw.

Before her, about a dozen round, heavy objects had been carried out by two men. These objects were made of steel, with no fancy details, leaving Nicole puzzled about what they could be for.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you. Recommend: Clean Your Browser Cache now to access missing chapters.

She went up to one, touching it, hoping to find a switch or button that might show what it did.

But after trying everything she could think of and nothing happening, Nicole looked puzzled and said, "What are these? They can't just be big chunks of metal."

As she looked more closely, Nicole noticed a small symbol. This symbol was hard to see unless you were looking right at it.

The design of the symbol caught her eye because it looked both new and familiar.

"This symbol looks like it's from the 'Brave' robots, but not quite the same,"

Nicole observed, running her fingers over the symbol.

Suddenly, the object beeped and turned on.

A screen popped up where the symbol was, showing different commands.

Nicole was shocked.

These were combat robots. The symbol, similar to that of the Brave robots, suggested they were newer versions based on the Brave design, which was why the symbol was changed.

Nicole had no idea Lawrence could have something like this.

She wondered, 'How did Lawrence get these robots? And how could he make them?' "You shouldn't be here," Lawrence suddenly said, startling Nicole.

As Nicole turned to face him, she looked calm but her mind was full of thoughts.

She hadn't found the secret passage and knew Lawrence wouldn't let her look for it now. She also realized she needed to tell Jared and the others about these robots right away.

"I know you've been secretly talking to Doretta. Give it to me," Lawrence's voice got colder.

As he finished speaking, someone came over to take her way to communicate.

Nicole quickly made a plan.

She hit the emergency button on her device and then tossed it to Lawrence.

She knew fighting back was useless but she had to do something quick.

Even though Jared and the team didn't know about the robots yet, if she could distract Lawrence for a bit, there might still be a chance to tell them.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 3293-Nicole just shrugged and said, it was just by chance."

That was all she could say casually, because admitting she was looking for a secret passage wasn't an option.

"Let's go back," Lawrence said; his expression darkened slightly.

He had been glad that Nicole had been easy to deal with up to this point, making things easier for him. But now, he suddenly felt uneasy.

Nicole walked in front with a calm face, leaving Lawrence to follow, deep in thought.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you.Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

"Wake them up," he then ordered his men before he caught up to Nicole.

He wanted to make sure she got back to her room himself, as if that would help him relax a bit.

The men who had been knocked out were helped up by their teammates, looking confused. "What happened?" one of them asked.

"Just get back to work," was the reply before the helper hurried off.

The two, still a bit shaken, knew they had to get back to their tasks. They picked up one of the round robots and went to set it up for battle.

The whole place had been tense lately, like they were all waiting for something big to happen. Everyone was extra careful with what they did.

After Nicole was back in her room, Lawrence told his men, "Keep a close eye on her." "Yes," they responded, feeling the pressure of Lawrence's intense mood.

They tried to be as quiet as possible, not even daring to look up.

They only relaxed a bit after Lawrence was gone, but their faces were still serious, knowing they couldn't slip up.

Nicole had a clear view of the outside and sneered inwardly, 'Starting to take precautions now, isn't it too late?' She was confident Doretta must have received her message by now and was probably discussing their next move.

With a slight narrowing of her eyes, Nicole sat down to calm herself, pondering over the robot situation.

Those round objects she was sure were weapon-grade robots. Despite their seemingly innocuous appearance, their lethality couldn't be underestimated.

She even doubted whether 'Brave' could match up to these adversaries.

'Lawrence has really kept a card up his sleeve, a true sly fox through and through. No, I need to think this through, there might be a way to counter them...' ****

Meanwhile, after receiving the message, Doretta immediately reported to Jared.

Coincidentally, Zane had also returned. Now in the living room, Jared, Zane, Charlie, Doretta, and Patricia were gathered.

"She found the secret passage so quickly?" Zane frowned slightly.

She was somewhat worried that something might have happened to Nicole.

“How could it lose connection? Was it discovered?” Patricia’s face paled slightly.

“It’s uncertain, but I think we should act according to Nicole’s wishes,” Doretta said with determination.

“Right, let’s take action,” Charlie agreed with Doretta.

As the conversation ended, everyone turned their gaze toward Jared, waiting for him to give the order.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 3294-Jared’s brows furrowed slightly. They couldn’t wait any longer. “Let’s move, ” he said, his voice full of determination.

“Yes,” everyone agreed, showing they were ready to do whatever it took to get Nicole back safely today.

The team quickly split up and met again not far from the main entrance of the base.

Jared watched the gate with a sharp look.

“Mr. Johnston, we’re all set,” Charlie said quietly.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you.Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

“Hmm,” was Jared’s reply.

Charlie gave a sign to four team members, who started moving toward the base quietly.

They knew there were hidden guards around the base, but the quietness made them suspicious.

As they got closer to the gate, they suddenly heard something slicing through the air.

“Move!” shouted someone.

Without needing to see what it was, they knew it was dangerous.

They quickly spread out, dodging to the ground, just in time to avoid several explosions.

That was a narrow escape. If they hadn't reacted so fast, they might have been seriously hurt. Their ears were ringing, but thankfully, they were all right.

“They were indeed prepared,” the team watching from a distance gritted their teeth.

“Charlie, I'll take some people and go over,” Patricia said with a grim look in her eyes.

“Stay here,” Charlie said after a glance at Patricia, then rushed forward with his team.

He understood that a swift assault was necessary, otherwise, they'd deplete their forces at the gate.

“Hey...” Doretta called out instinctively as she watched Charlie charge ahead, but there was nothing she could do but watch him go.

Gritting her teeth, Doretta also led her team to provide support. It seemed there was no alternative but to breach the base as quickly as possible.

Taking a deep breath, Patricia looked up at Jared and said, “Mr. Johnston, I'm going to help.” She was here to assist, and she couldn't just stand back and watch.

Jared gave Patricia a nod before she joined the action. Then, he turned to Zane and said firmly, “Take down everyone.”

Jared then ran into the crowd by himself, a fierce figure pushing through.

Anyone who crossed his path fell and couldn't stand again.

Zane knew Jared was focused on one thing: saving Nicole.

With a determined look, Zane gave the order, “Move forward.”

Once inside, they split into three groups, each with their own targets.

But Jared was only thinking about Nicole. His main aim was to get her out safely.

This path took him through a bamboo grove and led him to a hidden house.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 3295-Jared discovered the place had yet to be touched by the crossfire but was heavily guarded. He then noticed Lawrence's figure standing at the entrance of the house.

Without a second thought, he was certain Nicole was inside.

Just as he was about to proceed, Patricia's voice came from behind. "Mr. Johnston."

Jared glanced at Patricia, his eyes narrowing slightly as he said, "Draw their attention."

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you.Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

Believing the chance of a successful distraction was higher with assistance, he wanted to exploit it.

"Understood," Patricia responded, signaling to her squad members. She then led a group to charge from the left, while another group attacked from the right.

The scene quickly descended into chaos. Patricia took advantage of the turmoil to launch herself at Lawrence with a flying kick.

She understood Jared's strategy: only by pinning down Lawrence and his men could Jared have the opportunity to enter the house and rescue Nicole.

Jared watched everything unfold calmly, waiting for the perfect moment.

Moments later, his pupils contracted sharply as he dodged an ambush, then kicked the attacker to the ground.

Ignoring the groaning figure, Jared sprinted past the crowd and seized the moment to reach the front of the house. Together with Patricia, they pressed Lawrence from both sides, forcing him into a retreat.

Grabbing the chance, Jared kicked the door open with a loud crash.

The noise of breaking porcelain came from inside, making Jared suddenly worried.

Inside, he saw Nicole had taken care of a guard and was safe.

Feeling a wave of relief, Jared quickly went over to Nicole and said, "We need to leave now." "Okay," Nicole replied, and they hurried out together.

Outside, the battle was still raging, but it was clear Lawrence's side was losing strength.

"We're struggling to keep up. What should we do?" Ian, looking worried, came to ask Lawrence.

Watching Jared and Nicole escape, Lawrence clenched his jaw and commanded, "Pull back." "Got it." Ian then yelled, "Everyone, retreat!"

With that order, Ian and Lawrence were the first to leave, with the rest of their team following closely.

"Lawrence has been secretly working on weapons, like advanced combat robots similar to 'Brave,'" Nicole shared. This was a twist they hadn't planned for.

"But how did he get 'Brave's' data?" Patricia was shocked.

"Looks like we have a tough challenge ahead," Patricia realized, going pale.

Facing robots was a whole different challenge.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 3296-Moreover, those robots were upgraded from the Brave robots Nicole herself had developed, likely making them even more formidable.

“Let’s get out of here first,” Jared said with a grim expression, grabbing Nicole’s hand and leading her outside.

“Warning, warning. Please drop your weapons, or we will initiate an indiscriminate attack.” The air was suddenly filled with a mechanical voice, and soon after, several bulky, round objects began to circle Jared, Zane, and the team.

They quickly huddled together, eyeing the combat robots with suspicion.

“What are these things?” Doretta asked, looking worried.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you.Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

“Watch out, they’re combat robots,” Nicole quickly warned.

“Spread out! Don’t let them box US in,” Zane yelled.

The team tried to scatter, but the robots, now apparently in attack mode, started shooting at them.

A few who couldn’t move fast enough got hit, and their screams echoed around.

“What should we do now?” asked Charlie. His expression darkened as he realized indiscriminate attack was akin to mass destruction.

“Mr. Johnston, get Nicole to safety first,” Doretta called out. She lunged at the nearest robot.

Even though the robot was just a machine, Doretta hoped it wouldn’t be fast enough to catch her. She made her move to attack.

But just as the robot turned to face her, ready to fight back, “Watch out!” Charlie quickly pulled Doretta to safety, then managed to knock the robot aside with a kick.

Bullets ricocheted off the stone wall where they were taking cover.

Doretta, just catching her balance, looked at Charlie’s serious face and bit her lip, realizing she had narrowly escaped being hit by the gunfire thanks to him.

“Stay alert,” Zane cautioned, his gaze fixed on the robots with a stern look.

Nicole and Jared, standing together, looked through the crowd for Lawrence but couldn't spot him.

“This isn't good, Lawrence is trying to run away,” Nicole said urgently. “I need to stop him.”

If Lawrence got away now, it would mean all their hard work was for nothing.

Nicole was sure that if he escaped, he would use these robots against them, giving them no chance to get away.

As Nicole started to move, Jared didn't hesitate to follow her.

“Handle those robots,” Zane ordered, supporting Nicole and Jared's mission.

Stopping the robots and preventing Lawrence from escaping were their top priorities.

When they went to the stone wall, they found Lawrence and Ian there.

“Trying to make a run for it?” Nicole asked sharply.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 3297-Seeing Nicole and Jared approaching, Lawrence smiled slightly and said, “As expected of you.”

He was finally clear-headed, realizing that Nicole's compliance was likely because she had been plotting all along.

“Disappointed?” Nicole's gaze turned frosty as she looked at Lawrence. “I'm more disappointed in you.” “I just couldn't accept it. All of this was supposed to be mine, and yet I've ended up with nothing. I was merely trying to fight for one last chance,” Lawrence said, seemingly pained as he looked at Nicole. “My intentions toward you were genuine, I was willing to give it my all.”

He had once thought that living a simple life with her on Crescent Island would be beautiful.

“Ha,” Nicole scoffed. “Unfortunately, your ‘genuine’ intentions are something I can’t afford to entertain.” The sincerity of someone who used her and set her up could only be in his own interest.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you. Recommend: Clean Your Browser Cache now to access missing chapters.

“Lawrence, you have no way out. Turning yourself in is the only option left,”

Jared said coldly.

“Ha ha ha... Turn myself in?” Lawrence laughed wildly.

Seeing Lawrence’s confident demeanor, Nicole frowned and said, “Do you think you’ve already won?”

Lawrence shrugged. ‘Even if I lose, I’ll take you down with me. I won’t be at a loss.’ “You’re certainly confident, but unfortunately, I won’t give you that chance,” Jared said, his voice dropping as he threw a punch directly at Lawrence. They couldn’t let Lawrence escape under any circumstances.

Nicole didn’t hesitate. Seeing Jared take action, she followed suit.

Her skills might not be as sharp as before, but assisting Jared was still within her capabilities, especially with Ian by Lawrence’s side. She was concerned Jared might be at a disadvantage alone.

Moreover, she understood that defeating Lawrence wasn’t necessary; preventing his escape was sufficient. She trusted that Zane would overcome the robots, and once they gained control over them, they could come to support her and Jared.

Jared seemed to grasp Nicole’s intent, ensuring her safety without giving Lawrence a chance to flee.

“Freeze, hands up!” Following that command, more people arrived quickly, taking control of Lawrence’s associates.

Jared and Nicole exchanged glances. Nicole kicked Ian toward Charlie, then turned to coordinate with Jared, quickly subduing Lawrence.

“Stop struggling; you stand no chance,” Nicole coldly advised Lawrence as he desperately tried to free himself.

After his attempts proved futile, Lawrence eventually calmed down.

Then, Lawrence bit down hard on his teeth.

Everyone watched him, waiting for something to happen.

But nothing did. The only sound was the wind.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 3298-“Your robots don’t work anymore,” a voice said, sounding very pleased.

Then, a person came out from behind the crowd, looking pretty proud of himself.

“Carl!” Nicole was shocked to see him. ‘It’s Carl!’ “It’s been a while.” Carl smiled and waved at Nicole.

Carl had come as soon as Zane told him about the problem. He couldn’t just do nothing when Nicole needed help.

He didn’t expect them to act so soon, which is why he was a little late. But he was still in time to help. Carl was surprised by Lawrence’s robots at first, but luckily, the weapons he brought, which he had been working on for years, stopped the robots. This was a big help to everyone.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you.Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

“We really need to thank Carl; we would have been in big trouble without him,”

Zane said, feeling relieved.

Zane had asked Carl for help, hoping it would make them more likely to win, but Carl ended up being very important.

“Thank you,” Nicole said with a warm smile. It was nice to see an old friend again.

“No need to thank me. I’m just glad I could help,” Carl replied. He would have been upset if he couldn’t help.

“Now let’s take him back,” Doretta said, looking sternly at Lawrence.

Lawrence looked down, knowing he had lost.

“Nicole, I saved you once. Is this how you thank me?” he asked quietly.

“Ms. Riddle has already returned your favor,” Patricia said sharply, looking at Lawrence. “We all remember what happened at San Joto airport. It’s all because of you.”

Lawrence looked up at Nicole, surprised.

He thought, ‘So that’s why Nicole has been so determined. But how did she find out? And how could she wait so long to act?’ Lawrence laughed softly. “That’s so like you, Nicole.”

If he had known Nicole knew the truth, he wouldn’t have been so careless, leading to his capture.

“Lawrence, you arranged for me to be rescued by Crescent Island’s people, right?” Nicole asked coldly.

She had thought a lot during her captivity.

After learning Lawrence was behind the airport incident, she began to doubt everything.

“Yes, it was me,” Lawrence admitted.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 3299-Nicole was quiet, thinking about everything. If I hadn’t remembered everything, maybe Lawrence and I could have stayed friends. But after finding out about the airport, it’s impossible...’ Not only had she regained her memory, but she had also learned about the airport incident. Lawrence had gone to great lengths to prevent her from returning to San Joto.

“Thanks for saving me before, but you also hurt me. We’re even now,” Nicole said calmly, looking at Lawrence like he was someone she didn’t know anymore.

Jared squeezed Nicole’s hand gently. “Let’s go.”

They decided to leave the rest to Zane and head back.

“Wait.” Lawrence’s voice stopped Nicole. He sounded almost like he was begging. “Please, don’t tell Nolan about this.”

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you.Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

Nicole paused, then said, “I won’t tell him. Not for you, but because I don’t want Nolan to see how bad people can be.” With that, Nicole walked away with Jared.

Lawrence sat down, watching her leave, with mixed feelings.

“Let’s go too,” Patricia said to Charlie, ready to leave.

“Alright.” Charlie agreed, giving Doretta a quick look, then followed Patricia.

Carl mentioned he’d say goodbye to Nicole, thinking she might be going back to San Joto.

“We’ll handle things here,” Zane said to them.

Doretta wanted to say something to Charlie but stopped herself.

“If you really miss him, go after him,” Zane told Doretta, noticing her hesitation.

Doretta looked at Zane, a bit annoyed, then said, “Let’s just get this done.”

Zane just laughed softly, not saying anything more.

The group returned to the hotel.

“Are you preparing to leave already?” Carl expressed his regret. “It’s a pity we’re so rushed. I was hoping you could stay a bit longer to catch up.” “You’ve known I was back in San Joto for a while. If you wanted to catch up, why didn't you come to San Joto to find me?" Nicole chided Carl with a playful glance.

Despite the long time apart, Nicole didn't feel estranged from Carl.

"Too many trivial matters kept me busy," Carl said, scratching his head. After all, he was now a leader.

Nicole smiled and said, "I can't stay. It was a hurried trip, and my family would worry if I don't return. But..."

She paused before inviting Carl. "Come to San Joto for my wedding. Then, we can truly catch up."

Carl looked surprised, glancing between Nicole and Jared, before saying,

Congratulations to you both first. Don't worry, I'll definitely be there." "A promise is a promise." "I'll head back now, to prepare your wedding gift. I'll make sure to arrive on time."

After watching Carl leave, Nicole smiled softly.

"It's time for US to go back," Patricia said, looking at Jared and Nicole. "Mr.

"Alright," Nicole agreed with a nod.

I'll go book the flights," Patricia said, leaving the room.

Charlie hesitated for a moment before he, too, quietly exited.

Nicole bit her lip softly and whispered, "Stay with me."

With a smile and a look of indulgence in his eyes, Jared responded, "Okay, I'll stay with you."

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 3300-Lying in bed with Nicole cradled in his arms, Jared whispered gently, "Sleep for a bit." "Mhm." Finally feeling at peace, Nicole smiled slightly, and she quickly fell asleep.

As Jared listened to her soft breathing, his eyes softened with affection, and he too closed his eyes and drifted off to sleep.

The next morning, as the group got ready to head back to San Joto, Zane and Doretta came to say goodbye.

“I still have things to finish here, but I promise to be at your wedding,” Zane said with a big smile.

“And I’ll be there to wish you well, Nicole,” Doretta added.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you. Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

Saying goodbye is always hard, but everyone knew they had their own journeys to continue.

“Great, well see you in San Joto,” Nicole said with a bright smile.

“It’s time to go,” Zane said, knowing they couldn’t wait any longer without risking missing their plane.

“I’ve got the paperwork,” Patricia said, ready to help with the travel documents for Jared and Nicole. Then, looking at Charlie, she asked, “Need help with yours?”

Charlie paused, clearly wrestling with a decision. Then, with a sigh, he said, “Mr.

Johnston, Mrs. Johnston, I’ve decided to stay.” “Stay?” Patricia sounded surprised, trying to understand what he meant.

But Nicole seemed to get it. “Stay where?” she asked with a smile, hinting that she knew Charlie wanted to stay not just in Mecrounia, but with Zane and his team.

“I...” Charlie clenched his teeth.

He looked at Doretta, his decision clear. He wanted to stay because he had found his purpose and the person he wanted to be with, staying with Zane’s team and Doretta was his choice for his future.

“Jared, Nicole, you’re okay with this, right?” Zane asked, smiling. He knew Nicole had been important to their team and allowed her to leave. Now, he hoped they’d understand Charlie’s decision.

“Absolutely,” Nicole said. “It’s his decision, and we support him.”

She had noticed Charlie seemed preoccupied, likely thinking about his future.

Now, his decision was made, and they would support him.

“Charlie, you’re choosing the life you wanted,” Patricia said, her feelings mixed but leaning toward happiness.

Charlie’s choice meant they might not see each other often, but she was glad for him.

Zane laughed, “Well, he’s with US now,” and started to leave.

She gave Charlie a knowing look, which made Doretta blush.

“Take care, Mr. and Mrs. Johnston,” Charlie said, showing his respect.

Patricia nodded, trying not to cry, “I will.”