

My Wife is a Hacker by Summer

Chapter 783

□ □ □

Chapter 783

Castor was resentful but did not talk back. Instead, he stood in front of the shareholders who supported his father and said to Mr

Johnston Sr., “Grandpa, I know you prefer Jared, but my father has been the one who manages the company all this while in contrast, Jared has only been back not long ago How can you hand over the company to him? What gives him the right to take over the helm of the company?”

Mr Johnston Sr’s expression was frigid to the extreme, and he laughed. “Because he’s the CEO of JJ

Johnston Group”

“JJ Johnston Group?”

Everyone was astonished upon hearing the name

Henry was familiar with the name JJ Johnston Group and Johnston Group entered a joint venture last year JJ Johnston Group, based in Mecrounia, had strong financial backing and enjoyed a high standing internationally Even Johnston

Group appeared to be a weaker partner in the venture with JJ Johnston

Group

And Jared was the one who ran such a massive corporation Because the owner of JJ Johnston Group had been remaining very mysterious, no one in the country knew who the owner was, and Jared had always been the only person who could contact the owner And also, because of the venture with JJ Johnston Group, no one dared to challenge his position as the acting CEO of Johnston Group

It was not until today that Henry realized that Jared was JJ Johnston Group's owner, which he had been trying to woo all this while No wonder JJ Johnston Group had only wanted to work with Jared

It turned out that JJ Johnston Group was Jared's shadow company Today, most of Johnston Group's funds were tied up in the joint venture with JJ Johnston Group, which also meant that most of the funds were in Jared's pocket Henry was utterly dumbfounded at this moment, regretting that he had underestimated his rival and did not properly conduct a background check on Jared

Not far away, Edwin, who was watching it all, muttered to Preston, "Few people in the country really know Jared owns JJ Johnston Group. I only learned about it when I took on a hacking job from JJ Johnston Group”

Preston raised an eyebrow, “You already knew that?”

Edwin nodded ‘In fact, Jared didn’t really hide his identity carefully When he first came back from abroad, he used this identity to go to school and meet Mr. Ellison. People at the school only knew that he was the CEO of JJ Johnston Group and did not know that he was also from Johnston Group”

So people only heard about Jared but were unaware he owned JJ Johnston Group Those who had seen the CEO of JJ Johnston

Group did not know that Jared was the owner That was why the owner of JJ Johnston Group had been deemed so mysterious

“You deserve to be a master informer Preston raised an eyebrow, impressed by Edwin’s Intelligence gathering wits

“I’ll take that as a compliment “Edwin smiled triumphantly, unruffled by that sarcastic remark.

People gradually come to their senses and watched Jared walk up the steps. They no longer saw him as just a Johnston family’s outcast but a real strong man

As the CEO of JJ Johnston Group and the successor of Johnston Group. Jared would control the biggest corporations in Macrounia and San Joto, becoming the man that everyone looked up to Now, even those shareholders who supported Henry had turned against him. This was expected. There was no point in staying on Henry's side when Jared was clearly the winner. Henry knew he had failed utterly. He had lost every bargaining chip if Jared was the CEO of JJ Johnston Group

Meanwhile, Castor and Murphy did not know the seriousness of the matter. "Dad, what are you doing standing here? Jared has gone up there."

But Henry's face had turned pale, and he was utterly speechless.

□ □ □