

My Wife is a Hacker by Summer

Chapter 798

□ □ □

Chapter 798

Snow walked over and pulled Raine aside, then smiled at Nicole.

"As a class monitor for the first time, you definitely have a lot of things that you don't understand about the sports day. We are all members of the student union; if you don't understand anything, don't be shy to ask us. Raine and I will not make fun of you."

It was clear that Snow's emotional intelligence was a cut above Raine's. She had given Nicole a run for her money in just a few words.

"Well, I will, and I'm sure I will have a lot of things to trouble you about next time."

Nicole let out an evil smile.

Snow was startled for a moment as she suddenly felt she had dug her own grave.

"We're done eating. I will first excuse myself."

Nicole got up and walked straight past between the two of them.

"A yokel marries into a prominent family; sooner or later..."

Snow immediately nudged Raine.

"Mind your words. This is a cafeteria."

Bad things came in three; the moment Nicole walked into the classroom, she collided with Vivian.

"Nicole, can you handle the sports day preparation? Tell me if you don't understand anything. As a former class monitor, I'm happy to teach."

Vivian was still resenting Nicole for stealing her class monitor's role.

"What day is it? A day of kindness?"

Lulu teased her.

"Hey, what do you mean?"

Vivian looked at her, feeling not too happy.

"What do I mean? Exactly what you think"

"I'm not talking to you."

As some classmates were talking about the sports day, Vivian looked at them.

"I told you all last year that you must intensify the training. Now look at your physique; do you all think you can take part in this year's sports day?"

"Why can't we take part? Not only will I take part, but I have also signed up for two games."

"Vivian, you always used your class monitor's position as an excuse for not taking part in games previously.

This year, you are a lot freer. Have you thought of any excuses yet?"

"Stop the crap. You have just registered for two games yet want to show off. Don't embarrass yourself. I will not only take part in the sports day this year but have also signed up for four games."

With that, she looked at Nicole.

"Nicole, as a new class monitor, you don't have to take part."

The implication was that Nicole was no better than she was.

The classmates looked at Nicole with strange eyes, wondering if she would really make excuses, as Vivian said.

"Are you taking part, Nicole?"

Nicole was thinking of coming back to the classroom and having some quiet time, not expecting to bump into another nuisance. So she was forced to react.

"I think I can only take part."

"What do you mean?"

"These are the games that our class has signed up for. You may take a look, and if you have questions, ask me, and I will change it."

Nicole handed them the registration form.

"This is what I signed up for. Look, Vivian has really signed up."

"She has really signed up for four games?"

Their classmates did not believe it at first.

Vivian looked at them triumphantly.

"You all believe it now, don't you— "

Before she could finish speaking, someone exclaimed,

"Holy moly, what the..."

"I know; don't be envious."

"Nicole signed up for all the games?"

Vivian almost stumbled when she heard that. She immediately snatched the registration form from her classmate.

"Did you see it wrongly?"

Looking closely from top to bottom, she saw Nicole's name with a tick on every game on the list.

□ □ □