

My Wife is a Hacker by Summer

Chapter 842

□ □ □

Chapter 842

The old man looked at Nicole impatiently.

"You have been asking me this and that for so long; are you going to buy it or not?"

Nicole felt the time had come and decisively picked up the stone she was into and asked the old man again.

"How much is this?"

The old man had long lost his patience and did not bother to look at it.

"If you buy it this time, I will let it go at two thousand."

Nicole was secretly overjoyed, but her expression remained calm. She looked at the boss in a predicament.

"Two thousand is still expensive. How about one thousand?"

"No need to study again. One thousand dollars and take it. Don't waste my time. I need to take a leak."

The old man had finished a can of beer, and his bladder was full to the brim. He just wanted to send Nicole away so that he could relieve his bladder.

"Deal."

Nicole took out a stack of cash and handed it to the old man. Samuel and Spencer were anxious but could only sigh since the money had changed hands.

"Take a look. What do you think, Samuel, Spencer?"

Nicole held the stone in her hand with a smile on her face.

"Nicole, you are smarter than this. Why did you fall into the trap this time?"

Samuel still could not understand why Nicole had bought the stone. A thousand dollars was nothing to him, but he would not spend a thousand dollars on a stone. Nicole let out a smile.

"Come with me. I will let you see something mind-blowing."

Nicole took them to a lapidarist.

"Sir, I would like to have this stone turned into a pendant and a bracelet." Nicole handed the stone to the lapidarist.

"Sure. You may wait in the lounge and have a cup of coffee there. I will bring it to you once it is finished."

The three of them went into the lounge. Spencer and Samuel were still talking about the stones, They did not believe that the stone contained emeralds.

"I will go to take a look."

After sitting for a while, Samuel became restless. He got up and wanted to have a look in the processing room.

But before he could get out of the lounge door, a service staff walked in with the finished product.

"Miss Riddle, this is a pendant and bracelet made according to your requirements."

"Holy moly. It's so beautiful."

Samuel was amazed. Spencer was also fascinated.

"It's superb."

Nicole took them and looked at them in her hands.

"How did you know the stone was a gem?" Samuel asked curiously.

"I could tell."

"You're brilliant .If that old man knew this stone was a gemstone, he would cry. "Samuel thought of that picture and laughed involuntarily.

"Wrap it up nicely for me." Nicole looked at the service staff.

"Thank you for your business." The service staff respectfully saw them out.

Together with Spencer and Samuel, Nicole returned home with the pendant and bracelet, The next day, the entire mansion came to life. In the early morning, Gloria sat on the couch and happily received her birthday gifts. Samuel came up and handed a designer bag to Gloria.

"Happy birthday, Mom."

"You shouldn't have. I have many handbags."

Gloria knew Samuel must have spent much of his pocket money on the handbag.

"Those handbags of yours are outdated. This one is a new arrival this season. Try it out."

Samuel could not wait to see Gloria carry the handbag he had bought.

"It looks beautiful."

Daniel looked on, his eyes full of affection, as Gloria carried the handbag on her shoulder. Sean walked over with two vacation tickets.

"You and dad haven't traveled alone for a long time. You two can go on a holiday with these two vacation tickets after your birthday."

Before Gloria could say anything, Daniel chimed in.

"I have been thinking of taking your mom for a holiday. And now, here we go."

"Hahaha."

"Dad, that's a bargain for you." Samuel quipped.

"Thanks to your mom."

As everyone else had come over to give Gloria gifts, Nicole took out the gifts she had just bought.

□ □ □