

My Wife is a Hacker by Summer

Chapter 847

□ □ □

Chapter 847

"Mr. Ellison, what did you just call her?"

The CEO of Aegis Corporation looked at Nicole in amazement.

"She is Nicole, an outstanding student at our school."

Mr. Ellison smiled proudly when he talked about Nicole.

"Nicole ..."

The CEO of Aegis Corporation looked at her thoughtfully.

"Are you looking for me, Mr. Ellison?" Nicole stepped closer to say hello.

"How is the training of your class going on?" Mr. Ellison asked out of concern.

"Not bad. They have made significant improvements in every aspect."

"Great job. Keep up the good work."

"Thank you. It's my job."

Mr. Ellison nodded and turned sideways to look at Mr. Harmon.

"Nicole, this is Mr. Scott Harmon, CEO of Aegis Corporation."

Upon hearing the company name, Nicole's heart skipped a beat, and she said politely, "Hello, Mr. Harmon."

"I didn't know that you were Nicole. I have been looking for you." Mr. Harmon was friendly. But his response shocked Mr. Ellison, as he had never heard Mr. Harmon say he was looking for Nicole.

Nicole frowned and exchanged a glance with Mr. Ellison.

"You are looking for me, Mr. Harmon?"

"That's right. I was impressed when I heard earlier that you stood your ground to save the life of an elderly in your own way in the emergency room, despite the opposition of everyone."

Mr. Harmon looked at Nicole with admiration.

"I didn't expect Mr. Harmon to even know such a trivial thing. It was an absolute emergency, and I couldn't bring myself to see the patient die."

Nicole was surprised by how concerned this CEO of a multinational company was about the everyday news of a hospital.

"To be honest with you, Miss Riddle, the elderly patient whom you saved is my father. I'm grateful that you stood your ground that day, or else my father would not have lived to this day. Words cannot express my gratitude ; if you are free, I would like to treat you to a meal, and I can formally convey my heartfelt appreciation for what you've done."

Mr. Harmon looked at Nicole with a sincere expression.

"Thank you for your cordial invitation, Mr. Harmon. But I'm afraid I can't find the time yet, as the school's sports day is just around the corner, and everyone is making full use of the last remaining time to practice. So I can't be absent just like that. I hope you understand."

Nicole did hope to talk to Mr. Harmon of Aegis Corporation more, but she had just told her classmates that she would train them to improve their physical fitness-she could not leave halfway. So Nicole could only politely tell him about her predicament.

"It is okay. You shouldn't leave them behind. We can make an appointment for another day. I'm seeing you as a friend now, Miss Riddle. So if you need any help in the future , just let me know, and I will never say no. This is my business card."

After expressing his gratitude and seeing that Nicole was busy, Mr. Harmon could only bow slightly as a sign of respect, say his goodbye and leave.

"Mr. Ellison , I'll see you again next time."

Mr. Harmon shook Mr. Ellison's hand before he spun around and walked toward his car. After Mr. Harmon left in his car, Mr. Ellison turned to look at Nicole.

"Why didn't I know you saved someone in the hospital and that someone was Mr. Harmon's father?"

"It's not a big deal. I have almost forgotten about it," Nicole said.

"If there is nothing else, I will go to training."

"Okay."

When Nicole returned, she took her classmates to perform some special physical training, which was of medium difficulty in the intensive training program she had previously used on the newcomers in the organization.

Another day had passed, and Zeke finally got news for Nicole.

[See you at the café.] Nicole rushed to the café as soon as she got the message.

□ □ □