

My Wife is a Hacker by Summer

Chapter 860

□ □ □

Chapter 860

"Jared???" The moment she saw Jared, her mood instantly improved.

"What brings you here?" Nicole looked at him.

"Of course, to keep you company." Jared took her hand in his.

"I heard the sports day was a success, and you're now a celebrity at school." Jared looked at her dotingly.

"The sports day was really quite successful , but I'm not as famous as you say." Nicole remained modest in front of Jared.

"You know, that's what I appreciate about you; a very humble mind, no matter how much you've done." Jared had not realized that he was still complimenting her.

"I learned that from you." Nicole quipped.

"By the way, there's something happy I want to tell you." Nicole looked at him with excitement.

"Oh? Tell me about it."

"We got the Aegis Corporation project." Jared nodded.

"A merry thing indeed, but I have something even happier to tell you." Nicole did not expect this.

"What other happy things ?"

"About our engagement, of course." Nicole looked at Jared and blushed.

"This is something that my mother has been hastening me about." Jared sighed, feeling a little frustrated.

"It seems that our engagement is not as important as a project in your mind.

"I'm really not prepared for it..." She surreptitiously observed Jared's expression.

Jared thought their engagement would add icing to the cake, but it turned out to be his wishful thinking.

"It seems I was the one who was jumping the gun. If you haven't thought about it yet, we can postpone it."

Jared's emotion fell from its height to its lowest.

"Just kidding." Nicole looked at him with sudden amusement.

"How dare you joke about this kind of thing? I will have to fix you now." After saying that, he picked up Nicole and shoved her into the car.

After finishing classes, Nicole, Spencer, and Samuel went home together.

Just a short distance out of school, someone rushed over to attack Nicole.

But Nicole was quick in her reaction. She grabbed the attacker's hand, spun around, and threw the attacker out. It turned out that it was Joyce who attacked her.

Joyce's bodyguards saw what happened and rushed to catch her, preventing her from falling.

"Beat the daylights out of her." Joyce barked an order. Immediately, a group of men in black came up and surrounded Nicole.

Ignoring if anyone was watching, Nicole swiftly beat them to the ground.

"A bunch of losers. You all couldn't even beat a girl?" Joyce scolded.

Maybe they had underestimated Nicole. The men in black got up from the ground and charged at Nicole again with their best moves.

But they still ended up losing, just like before, getting beaten to the ground within a few rounds.

This time, these men in black had a hard time even getting up. Many students saw the fight and exclaimed in awe....

□ □ □