

My Wife is a Hacker by Summer

Chapter 905

□ □ □

Chapter 905

Snow then came to her senses, realizing that she had almost embarrassed the Riddle family. She turned her eyes to Norah and asked, "I heard you are back to the Riddle family. How are Mr. and Mrs. Riddle treating you?" Snow aimed at her soft spot.

Norah felt a pang of ache inside her. She did not show it on her face but just looked at Snow with a smile.

"They have been treating me well, just like before. Besides, Nicole moved out of the Riddle family of her own accord as soon as I got back."

"Nicole has moved out of the Riddle family?" The news surprised Snow.

She studied Norah, not expecting that she had gotten rid of Nicole only after a few days back.

"That is right. I saw the look on your face just now. You're still not giving up on Harvey, aren't you?"

Norah steered the conversation back to Snow.

"It is none of your business who I like." Snow shot her a glare, but then, her attention slowly shifted to Harvey, who was now Approaching Nicole.

"Humph! Isn't it at all hard for you to see your sweetheart's heart set on another woman?" Norah glanced at Harvey and incited jealousy in Snow.

Snow clenched her hands into fists, her knuckles turning white, but she did not say a word.

Glancing at Snow's expression, Norah knew she had hit Snow where it hurt, and she continued, "It is so pathetic having your sweetheart right in front of you, but you can only watch from afar as he and another woman make out. It is so sad."

As Norah kept fanning the flames, Snow was getting pissed.

"That is enough. Stop it." Norah felt it was time and turned to look squarely at Snow.

"If you want to take your sweetheart back from someone else's arms, I can help you." Snow slowly turned to look at her, then shot a glare at her.

"That won't be necessary." With that, she got up and left.

Norah looked at Snow, who walked away, and smirked. "You will come to me of your own accord."

"Congratulations, Nicole." Harvey did not want to say this, but he forced himself to.

“Thanks. How come I haven’t seen Mr. Ellison today?” Nicole did not want to talk to him about anything else, so she asked about Mr. Ellison.

“With the final exam just around the corner, there are a lot of things for Grandpa to take care of at school. So I’m here today to congratulate you on behalf of the Ellison family. Are you really going to marry Jared?” Harvey looked at her with a serious face, as if he would resolutely take her away if she said no.

“Today is my betrothal day. I hope you won’t make a scene, and also don’t want to hear such words again. If you still want to be friends with me, stop pestering me, or we can’t even be friends.” Nicole looked at him with a serious expression.

Harvey looked at Nicole , feeling as if a thousand knives were stabbing into his heart.

Jared noticed what was going on over here and came striding over.

“Nicole, what are you guys talking about?”

Hearing Jared’s voice, Nicole immediately put on a smile.

“Harvey and I were talking about the Aegis Corporation project. Now that we are done, let’s go entertain the guests.” Nicole got up and walked with Jared to the crowd without giving Harvey another look.

Harvey stood still, looking on with frosty eyes as Nicole went.

'I love you so much, but you turn a blind eye to me. Is your heart made of stone, Nicole?' Not wanting to stay and watch them together any longer, Harvey turned and left the betrothal party.

Snow, who was talking to her sisters, saw a familiar figure walking out.

When she looked back without seeing Harvey, she immediately chased after him.

"Where are you going, Snow?" Raine called out but did not manage to stop Snow.

□ □ □