

My Wife is a Hacker by Summer

Chapter 914

□ □ □

Chapter 914

Nicole looked at her grandmother , feeling regretful , as Mrs. Wallace Sr. had been living a hard life all this while. She told herself she had to take care of Mrs. Wallace Sr. from now on. Nicole and Jared had lunch with Mrs. Wallace Sr., and took her to the beach to get up close and personal with the ocean.

There were still many old folks living inland who had never seen what the sea looked like in their lives. After Mrs. Wallace

Sr. settled in, Nicole told Jared to go home while she stayed with her for a few days.

On the rooftop, Mrs. Wallace Sr. rested in a rocking chair in the sun, while Nicole took out her laptop and worked on the other side.

She sent a message to Sean.

[How is your investigation of the material problem going? Did the material supplier continue to supply?]

Soon, Sean replied.

[A few days before the material supplier resumed supply, there were indeed several companies in the market hoarding goods at high prices, but then, they suddenly stopped hoarding, and the company resumed supply this time.]

[Glad to hear that.]

Nicole had one less thing to worry about with this problem settled. She had not heard from Zane since she last contacted him.

Nicole was concerned about him and sent a message to Zane, hoping to get a reply from him this time.

Suddenly her phone rang, and she picked it up, it was Gloria calling "Hi, Mom."

"You haven't been home for days. Spencer and Samuel are back today, so are you back too?" Gloria asked tentatively.

Nicole could hear that Gloria was missing her.

"Okay, I will be back later."

"Okay, we will wait for you to come back for dinner," Gloria said and hung up.

"Tia, I'm going to go out. You stay here with Grandma." After giving her instructions and speaking to Mrs.

Wallace Sr., Nicole left the sea view villa.

Back in the Riddle Mansion, Gloria and Norah were chatting on the couch.

When they saw Nicole back, Gloria happily came up to her.

"What would you like to eat tonight, Nicole? I will ask the kitchen to make it for you."

“Whatever.” Nicole had nothing to say.

“You were so beautiful on your betrothal day. I have wanted to come up and talk to you, but seeing as you were so busy, I didn’t go over,” Norah said, trying to express her goodwill.

“Where are Spencer and Samuel?” Nicole asked about them both instead of answering Norah.

“We’re here.” Samuel heard Nicole’s voice and shouted downstairs.

“What are you guys doing upstairs ?” Nicole got up and headed upstairs.

Norah glanced at them and hurriedly got up to follow.

“ Wait for me.” Samuel and Spencer were playing a game.

“Do you want to come over and try, Nicole?”

“I’m not playing child’s play.” Nicole glanced at it and was not interested.

Norah saw Nicole was not interested , and she asked, “I want to try. Can you teach me?”

“Come over then.”

The two of them made space for Norah.

Norah sat down happily between the two of them, picking up the joystick and ready to start at any moment.

She looked right and left, but Samuel and Spencer had no intention of playing with her.

So Norah inquired, “Aren't you guys playing?”

"We're tired of playing. You may play on your own."
Leaving Norah behind, the two walked toward Nicole.

"What are you doing?"

"Nothing .You guys should accompany Norah." Nicole grabbed her phone and headed for her bedroom.

She closed the door and checked the message from Kelly.

[I'm sorry, Miss Nicole. Chloe has been shooting recently, and I haven't spotted anything amiss about her.]

[That is okay. Keep watching.]

□ □ □