I Will Never Be Yours By Melan pamp Chapter 112

Selena pov

Getting out of the shower I take a towel and wrap it around my body when Kian walks up behind me and wraps his arms around my waist. He kisses my neck before we start to walk out of the bathroom with him behind me.

Opening the door to his bedroom I halt in my track when I find Emma sitting on the chair by the bed with her arms crossed over her chest and she has a serious expression on her face.

Really! In the shower as well! Haven't you two had enough yet?" she says and doesn't take her eyes away from mine. Shaking my head at her when I walk over to grab myself a shirt.

"if I get to hear another moan from you I will move the next day!" Emma whines from the chair. Hearing Kian chuckle beside me in the closet where I have found a shirt and a pair of pants.

"Well no one is forcing you to stay outside the door, I bet there are a lot of better things you could do!" I shout to her while putting on my clothes and wrapping the towel around my hair and starting to dry it before taking it off.

Turning around I look at Kian when he is getting dressed and for every clothes, he is taking on I want to rip them to pieces and always have him naked by my side so I can feel his skin against mine. I guess he feels what I'm thinking because he turns around with a smirk on his lips when he closes the distance between us and wraps me up in his arms.

"I'm more than willing to stay in here and fulfill every one of your thoughts!" he says close to my ear and kisses my cheek.

"And I said time out! You two are free to go at it again once every problem is solved and the rogues are out of the way! You can't hide in here forever or I will live in here too with Cannon!" Emma says behind us and I can hear she is serious about it this time.

Sighing I get up on my toes to reach Kian when he understands my intentions and leans down to capture my lips. I can't get enough of this man and wrap my arms around him to deepen the kiss when I feel him smile to my lips.

Chapter 112

"I guess it's best if we get out to her and see what's so urgent!" he says and turns me around in his arms before walking out with me to where Emma is standing with her hands on her hips and looks furious.

"Alright Emma, what's the urgent problem!" I say and lean back against Kian.

"First of all, you have no idea how happy and relieved I am that everything went well! She says and takes a deep breath.

"I know!" I say to her and wait for what's to come, when she looks like this I know. she is upset about something.

"With that out of the way, you Kian have to go and talk to Cannon! He feels like he has betrayed you when he couldn't tell you what was about to happen. Everything he did was what I told him to do! None of this would have happened if he didn't do what he was told" she says and I have already heard everything from Kian about what happened when I was in that house.

I know this wouldn't have been possible if Emma hadn't done what she could and if there has been another way I know she would have made sure that happened instead. I told Kian all this and at the beginning, he was angry but soon understood why and he dropped his hard feelings.

"I will talk to him and I'm grateful for everything you did for us!" he says and pulls me closer to him when he trails his nose down my cheek.

"you better be!" she says and I can't help but chuckle at her mood. Wouldn't want her to be in any other way!

"Now, Jessie and Declan have been over and help Jacob and Zoey with the pack. The place is overrun with rogues who are running around constantly and I believe they are looking for you!" she says when Kian tense behind me and a growl is heard from him.

"I will send more warriors over to help!" he says and Emma gives a nod and I get this feeling she knows something more. Looking at her when her eyes meet mine she is quick to avert them, she is like an open book and she just gave herself away.

"anything else?" I ask and keep my eyes on her

"some of our men have been hurt when they have been out scouting and I have forbidden Cannon to go there right now!" she says and I'm sure she has her reasons to keep him here and won't say anything about it.

"where is he?" Kian asks when she turns to look at him again.

"he is down with your father in your office, they have put down all their time to try. and go through the papers," she says when Kian starts to pull me with him and I know he wants me to come with him to his office.

"there was something more!" Emma says and we stop

"What?" I ask when she doesn't say anything at first.

"We need to make a visit to Michael!" she says and I have to take a long moment and try to remember who that is before my memory clears up.

"who's Michael?" Kian asks behind me

"That's a witch from Saris sister's village!" I say and wonder what we need to go there for.

"I can portal you over to him and you can just mind link me when you are done!" I tell her and it would be for the best. I should help Kian here and go over the papers that are left and go back home and check in with Jessie and the others. Going to her sister's village and meet Michael is at the bottom of my priority list at the moment, even if have some questions I would like to ask him.

"I need you to come with me!" she says and I look at her when she has that expression on her face when I know she has seen something important and when it comes to this I never argue against her.

"Alright, I'm coming with you!" I say and see her raise her eyes to look at me
