I Will Never Be Yours By Melan pamp Bonus Chapter 2

Selena pov

Five years later.

Walking outside to the garden we are having a dinner out here with our friends at my pack, the grill is lit and our kids are running around and playing together.

Seeing Destiny running around with Jessie's daughter on the lawn, they are best friends and have been since day one they met. I'm happy they got each other and love to hang out, Emma and Cannon got a son and he is playing with our other daughter while Mateo is kicking a football with Kian.

"Dezz slows down a bit, I don't want you to fall and get hurt!" I shout to her when she halts in her track and looks at me.

"I'm not falling!" she says and picks up her pace when she starts running again, she has always been fast and quick to learn anything. Much faster than her brother and I only hoped we could have lifted the curse from her.

Through all these years I don't know how many witches we have met to try and solve this puzzle, Michael and Emma have done everything they possibly could have done but without finding a clue.

None of them see anything in her future they can only explain it's black when they try to look for anything, all this has been hard on us to not be able and help her.

I have tried to search for her gift from time to time since I can feel it is there but I can't reach it, she is cut off from it all and I'm afraid she will never get her wolf. What kind of life will she have without her wolf? Will she have a mate down the line?

"you know it won't do anything good if you worry the way you do!" I hear Emma's voice and I know she understands what's on my mind, turning my head I see her standing beside me before she takes a seat on the chair and looks at Dezz when she runs around on the lawn.

"I know but I can't help it!" I say in response when she hands me a glass of wine, sipping on it while looking at all the children.

"everyone else here has a future and hopefully a good one, what will she have? A half a life because of what he did!" I say before I turn to look at her.

"We don't know what lies ahead of her mabie down the line we will find a way for her or she finds her own way, you know how headstrong she already is and I have a feeling she picked up something more from the vampire besides she needs to have some blood from time to time!" Emma says and snaps my head back and looks at her, what has she picked up that I haven't had any feeling about?

"What have you picked up?" I say questioning to her while she sits in silence and looks at her turning my head in her direction to try to figure out what it is.

"if you place your worry to the side and just take her in you will feel it too!" Emma says when I sit there and try to do as she said, I know my judgment is clouded by my worry and it takes a long moment until I feel what she does.

Sitting up in my seat I keep my eyes on her where she is running around and laughing.

"Now you know the same as I!" Emma says and it doesn't change the curse but it has me smiling at least.

"How could I have missed it!" I say and take another sip of the wine.

"the rest we will figure out in time and we are all by her side. whatever happens! She is only six years old and there is a long time until she is eighteen and about to shift!" Emma says and she is right, I have to try and enjoy our time here, and now the future we have to face the problems when they come.

"I hope there is some food soon, I'm starving!" I hear Jessie's voice when she comes and takes a seat beside us on the chair, her stomach is big and they are expecting their second child in a few weeks.

"glad to hear you feeling better!" I say and look at her

"yes it's getting better for every day and now I can't get enough food!" she says when I see Zoey and my brother comes walking with their child. They got a boy and he is two years now, a copy of my brother and just adorable.

"food is ready in a bit!" Declan comes over and says when I see Kian and Mateo stop kicking the ball and walk back to where we are.

"not long until it's time!" Kian says to Jessie when he walks behind the chairs and leans down to give me a kiss on my cheek.

"can't wait for it to be over, miss shifting as much as the last time, and all this puking every day is not for me!" she says and sighs when Declan leans down and kiss her.

"Well I love to have you this way, at least I know where you are!" he says and I can't help but chuckle at him I know Jessie often crazy, by the look of it their daughter will be just the same as her and the combination with our daughter won't make it easier because she is worse than what Jessie's daughter is.

"We will have our hands full with those two!" I say and look their way when Declan takes a step to the side and looks the same way.

"yes, we will! And I can guarantee we will have to rescue them more than once because they have gotten themselves in a bad situation!" Jessie says and chuckle, all the times we have gotten into problem together we know they will probably end up the same way.

Emma starts to laugh by my side and I turn to look at her when she feels my gaze on her and turns my way.

"with you two as their mothers how can you expect anything else!" she says and give me a wink before standing up to go and help set the table, I get up from my seat and walk around to Kian when he wraps his arms around me before pulling me closer to him.

"My parents are coming over tonight and watch the kids this weekend!" he says next to my ear and I don't understand why.

"why?" I have to ask him

"you and me are going to have some alone time in a cabin!" he says in a husky voice beside my ear that sends a chill down my spine, he still affects me this way after all these years.

"I only have to pack a few things when we go back!" I say when he places his hand behind my head.

"for what I have in mind there's no need for clothes!" he says and presses his lips to my mark before he captures my lips with his.
