

Winner Takes All

Chapter 3

Walk into the bank.

Chen Dong took his number and queued up.

When it was his turn, he sat down at the counter with his Bauhinia bank card, took one look at the teller and the corner of his eyes jumped.

Lin Xue'er!

What a coincidence.

Chen Dong's eyes narrowed, this Lin Xue'er was none other than Wang Hao's girlfriend.

Although they had never met before, he knew something about Lin Xue'er through Wang Nan Nan and had seen the photos.

He was not angry with Lin Xue'er, he was just angry at best.

Lin Xue'er was white, beautiful and had a good career, so it was a miracle that she could fall for Wang Hao's deadbeat old man.

As for the amount of bride price people want, it's also her business, a willingness to fight and a willingness to take, what he is angry about is the Wang family's face, taking his mother's life-saving money and making him the wrongdoer as a helper.

"Hello sir, what business is it for?" Lin Xue'er showed a professional smile.

Chen Dong took a deep breath, suppressing the depression in his heart, and smiled as he handed his Bauhinia card into the counter, "Hello, I would like to withdraw money."

Lin Xue'er was about to ask Chen Dong how much money he wanted to withdraw, when she saw the Bauhinia card, she frowned slightly: "Sir, are you sure this is a bank card?"

Saying that, she also looked at the Bauhinia bank card repeatedly.

With her professionalism, she had really never seen this kind of bank card before.

Chen Dong froze for a moment, Long Lao wouldn't have taken a fake card, right?

On second thought, if Elder Long could wave his hand to help his mother pay the 20W medical bill, how could he have given him a fake card?

“Sure.” Chen Dong nodded his head, his eyes looking Lin Xue'er up and down.

Because she was sitting, he couldn't tell Lin Xue'er's height, but a professional outfit did outline her curves in a graceful manner, with fair skin and delicate features, giving her a feeling of being pitiful and petite.

The company's main business is to provide a wide range of products and services to the public.

Lin Xue'er's eyebrows knitted deeper, but she still carried on with the card reading operation.

Her patience was finally exhausted when the system “dinged” and the computer showed that it could not be read.

Snap!

Lin Xue'er threw her Bauhinia bank card into the counter recess and said indifferently, “Sorry, sir, your bank card cannot be read by the Bank's system.”

Crap!

Elder Long really fooled me?

First he spends 20W and then gives me a fake card to fool me, this is not the right operation, right?

“That, please try again, this is really a bank card.” Chen Dong said half-beggingly.

Now that he and Wang Nan Nan were divorced, he was not going to rent the previous rental house anymore and wanted to change the house with his mother again.

The last $200,000 had also been taken by Wang Nan Nan, he was now penniless, if he didn't have the money, not to mention his mother's follow-up treatment, even his life would be impossible.

“Sir, you've come here on purpose to cause trouble, haven't you?”

Lin Xue'er raised her eyebrows and her face was as cold as frost: “From just now I feel that you are not looking at me right, at least take a real bank card to tease a girl, please leave and don't delay the customers who are doing business behind you, otherwise I will call the security guards.”

Chen Dong was dumbfounded, what the hell is this?

Before he could explain, Lin Xue'er clasped her hands to her chest: “Security guards!”

At once, two security guards came over.

It was morning and there were many people handling business, so they all looked towards Chen Dong.

Chen Dong was anxious and pointed at the card, "This is the bank card, I'm here to do business, why are you pushing me out?"

Lin Xue'er had a cold face and did not respond.

The security guard said in a deep voice: "Sir, please go out, it's working hours, if you harass our bank employees like this, we'll have to call the police."

"I" Chen Dong's breath was almost in his throat, not only did he not get his money, but he was also branded a rogue?

At this time, a middle-aged man dressed in a suit with a large belly came over.

"What's wrong?"

Lin Xue'er, who had a cold face, instantly squirmed in her posture, with a pitiful look, and pouted, "Manager, this man took a fake card to withdraw money, and kept spying on me."

This scene confused Chen Dong who was furious.

The first foot was still as cold as ice, but the second foot was a million times more charming?

As far as he could remember, Wang Nan Nan had told him at the time that Lin Xue'er was a good, conservative and traditional girl, and that after she and Wang Hao had established their relationship, she had always been reserved and at most just held hands.

He is not stupid and not blind.

This Lin Xue'er is really conservative? The traditional? reserved?

The middle-aged man's face immediately sank, and he looked at Chen Dong with a strong hostile look.

"Sir, this is a bank please behave yourself, I ask you to go out as the bank manager, otherwise don't blame me for having the security guards throw you out."

The two security guards next to him were full of gloating smiles, who didn't know that Lin Xue'er was the manager of the whole bank?

This guy is picking up girls, how dare he do it?

When Lin Xue'er heard the manager's words, she squirmed even more and pouted, "Manager, this kind of person, why do you still talk nonsense with him?"

Chen Dong was furious at hearing this, and looked furious, but did not get up.

The Bauhinia bank card was given to him by Long Lao, he had come to withdraw money, how could he still suffer this kind of nasty anger?

Previously, he was only angry with Lin Xue'er, but now Lin Xue'er's gesture made him completely furious!

"Throw him out!"

When the manager saw that Chen Dong was not moving, his eyebrows twisted and he shouted with a steely fierceness.

If he hadn't considered his status as the bank manager, he would have told the security guards to throw him out just for the fact that Chen Dong coveted Lin Xue'er.

The two security guards were about to step forward, and more and more people were gathered around.

Chen Dong was not a soft persimmon, let alone a ninja turtle.

Having been bullied like this, he completely blew up.

Snap!

He picked up his Bauhinia bank card and slapped it heavily on the counter, roaring, "I came here to withdraw money openly and honestly, not to be falsely accused of being a hooligan by you, trying to force me to make trouble?"

The security guard stopped dead in his tracks.

The bank manager's eyes were on the verge of eating people, but still instinctively swept the corner of his eyes towards the Ziyou Bank card.

The next second.

Boom!

The bank manager was struck by lightning, his mind went blank violently for a split second and his eyes went straight: "This"

A bead of sweat quickly seeped out from his head.

“Manager, it’s a fake la.” Lin Xue’er snorted with disinterest, but when she raised her eyes, she found the manager’s head full of beads of sweat, and she was instantly frozen.

In an instant, the bank manager raised his hand to wipe a bead of sweat from his forehead, and his gloomy face turned into a flattering smile.

The back that was held high also hunched down as he smiled at Chen Dong, “Sir, I’m sorry, I really didn’t know that you were a valued customer with a Bauhinia Bank card, so I beg your pardon, please come to my office quickly and I will personally help you with your business.”

Boom!

The dazed Lin Xue’er’s delicate body trembled as she exclaimed in disbelief, “This, this is really a bank card?”

“What the hell do you know!”

The bank manager, with his head covered in sweat, glared at Lin Xue’er fiercely before turning to Chen Dong with a smiling face and saying, “This way please, sir.”

Finally, someone who knew what they were doing?

Chen Dong raised his eyebrows, glanced disdainfully at the dumbfounded Lin Xue’er, and got up to follow the bank manager towards the office.

The most urgent task was to withdraw the money, and now that the bank manager had conceded, there was no need for him to bite the bullet. He had learned a lot about Lin Xue’er today.

At the same time, he was looking forward to it. The Bauhinia bank card given by Long Lao was only known to the bank manager, so it must be very rare, how much money was there in the card?

When the two men entered the office.

The bank hall, which was silent, suddenly became noisy.

The faces of all those who were watching the fun all showed expressions of surprise and horror.

No one had expected that things would suddenly turn out like this.

Lin Xue'er stood frozen in place, her watery eyes filled with tears and her delicate body trembled a little.

It was because she had realised a very serious problem.

She was in trouble!

A big trouble that even the manager wouldn't dare to back her up!