

Chapter 11

Isabella pov

I have packed my bag and are ready to go to the airport. I am nervous, about leaving my boys and Anna behind. Sitting in the kitchen waiting for Danny to come and pick me up.

"Anna are you sure everything is going to be fine when I am away?" I ask her

"Yes of course Bella, we have mange before when you have been away on business trips" she looks at me and I know they will be fine.

"I know but there is so much to be done here and if anything goes wrong when I am over there, I don't know when I can come back," I tell her what my fears are.

"Don't think that way, we will make it and you don't know if anything goes wrong" trying to reassure me but the fear is still there

"I can't help it, I am just worried"

"I know you are. But everything will be fine. Danny will help us if anything happens. We will always find a way, don't worry"

"I better go and wake up the boys and say goodbye" I walk out of the kitchen and go to the boy's bedroom. My two little angels are sleeping. I hope I will be back in just a couple of days. After some tears and many hugs and kisses, I leave in the car with Danny and head to the airport.

"If anything happens Danny you know what to do," I say to him when we are alone.

Chapter 11

" You don't have to worry, I have it all covered. The boys and Anna will be just fine. Don't worry"

" Thank you, Danny. But I will worry until I am home with them again" that's the truth, I can't relax until I have them both in my arms.

"The security team and I have everything under control here, just answer your phone always if we find something suspected I will call."

"I will" The car ride takes twenty minutes and we arrive at the airport. We say goodbye and I walk in. I lean back in the airplane seat, I have many hours left before I land in my home country. This morning I left my kids and Anna behind. I can't bring them with me right now. I have to keep them hidden, safe from the Anderssons a little longer! Yesterday I signed the contract and transferred the money. The Winter .co now owns the last factory I need to secure my boys' safety.

In just six more months we will be safe.

It is so close now!

I can't risk being found just yet, I am planning to visit grandpa in the hospital tomorrow and then head back to my boys. Can't believe I am going to see grandpa again after all these years, I hope I am not coming too late.

I am wearing a red wig and big sunglasses. When I get off the plane I have a hat with me to hide my face from all the surveillance cameras. I travel as Bella Winter the CEO of Winter .co and because we are going to establish the company's head office here I hope no one questions it. Simply just a quick visit in and out of the country. I travel first class and booked two seats so I will be left alone. I don't feel like talking to anyone.

Chapter 11

The last time I was in the country I was pregnant. Who could have known it was two boys?

I can't help but think about Silas and the last night we were together. His warm body pressed tight to mine, his hungry kisses! Those kisses and his lips, I think I will forever miss them. I have been dating a couple of men during these years, but none could compare to his lips or his touch. And at some point, I stopped dating, what is the point if all I do is compare them to Silas? I hope one day I find someone who can sweep me off my feet and I can forget about him.

I doze off and before I know it we are about to land. The flight attendant wakes me up.

"Mrs we are about to land"

"Okay," I say to her and look around.

"you must have been really tired, you slept during the whole flight," she says when I sit up.

"Yes I was, didn't get much sleep last night" That was the truth, I don't think I manage to sleep many minutes last night. I just tossed and turned in my bed the whole night, worried about everything. I am starting to get nervous now. I have not been back home for so many years, it feels unreal. We land and I quickly get up and grab my cabin bag. I needed to hide in the crowd of people so I have to be fast and leave the airplane. 1

I turn on my phone and call Danny.

"Hi Danny, I have landed now. Is everything alright?"

"Hi Bella, as for now we haven't found anything alarming. No one is looking for you as we speak" I feel some relief from his words.

"well that is good to hear, I hope it stays that way so I can get home as planned" I take a large inhale and try to soothe my racing heart.

"Well a taxi is waiting for you at the entrance and it will take you to the inn, it is booked in your name"

"It's just perfect," I say and look around.

"All the plans over here in order, if you have the time take a look at the company building and the house"

" I am planning to do just that if everything goes as planned there will be time over"

" Well stay safe and lay low, I call you right away if we find anything"

"thank you, Danny, send me the address to the hospital"

"I'm sending it now" Hanging up the phone, I look around and find a cluster of people and walk right behind them into the airport, It is my best chance to blend in. Staying alone it would be easier to be seen. I don't see anything alarming at the airport, and no one I know.

I just keep walking.

So far everything is fine, If it keeps going this smooth I will soon be home with my boys again. And we can keep planing for our future without any interference. 1

Just like a walk in the park!
