

Winters 1251

Chapter 1251

Raina finally became annoyed by the situation. She stepped on George's foot with great force and pushed him away while he was in pain. Then, she speedily ran into the Winters family's car.

George just felt the back of his foot become numb, and he was in so much pain that he nearly gasped. Luckily, his in-born CEO demeanor and patience did not make him lose his cool.

He flashed a gentlemanly smile at the crowd before he also got into the extended Lincoln .

Behind him, there were fangirling voices and howling.

"Oh, God! How could such a handsome and rich gentleman have a girlfriend?"

"His partner is so pretty! Her temperament is great too! They look so close!"

"I'm envious of them!"

The car left as they gasped in surprise.

In the car, Raina's beautiful face was cold as she glared at him.

"Where's Ninian? I came back to visit her."

George stroked his nose and said, "Sadly, she just left. She left with Mel."

When they walked further in, there Brooklyn was, looking noble and handsome. He was in a white suit and holding a bouquet of roses in the same color.

He stared at Melody affectionately, and his eyes seemed to look slightly nervous.

“Mel, welcome back!”

“Brooklyn, you...” Melody was stunned. She did not expect to receive such a surprise. Was this not too high-key and grand?

Noticing her confusion, Brooklyn shyly explained, “I was angry at you, so I didn’t send you off. I regretted it for a long time. So, I thought that I had to come and pick you up. I wanted to give you a surprise, and I was hoping that you could forgive me.”

This was too... surprising, okay?

Chapter 1252

When Melody saw the crowd watching the show at the side taking photos and videos, her delicate face turned completely red. Her usually indifferent eyes also became watery. She did not know if she should feel awkward or happy.

Brooklyn walked over and handed the flower bouquet to her. His eyes were expectant.

"Bro, do you know me?" Harold said lazily. His almond eyes were threatening.

Brooklyn stood up straight. He looked refined and gentle as he nodded. "Hi, Harold."

"Since you recognize me, let's go there and communicate in a friendly way, shall we?"

Harold asked him but proceeded to unreasonably drag him toward the private resting lounge next door.

"Brooklyn!" Melody spoke worriedly.

Brooklyn stopped walking. After he turned back and smiled to comfort her, he continued to leave with Harold.

“There’s going to be a big show!” Lana looked very nosy, and her eyes lit up. “Who do you think will come out standing, and who will come out lying down later?”

[I guess Hal will win. After all, Hal used to practice martial arts in the past.] Ninian excitedly typed on her phone. [Brooklyn looks so skinny, and he’s a musician. I’m afraid he’ll be terribly beaten up.]

“What’s wrong, Baby Mel?”

“Is there something that we didn’t take good care of?”

Brooklyn’s mother tenderly asked her, and his grandmother, as well as his father, also looked friendly and worried. It was as if they were afraid of causing them trouble.

“No, everything is good here! You’re very nice!” Melody tried to explain, “But my sister is still young, and they’re very playful. I’m afraid that they will disturb you.

“What kind of silly things are you talking about? We’re very happy that our house is lively!” Brooklyn’s grandmother said in a coquettish way.

Brooklyn’s father seemed to ponder for a while before he said, “It’s fine. It’s okay if you want to stay outside. You should feel happy and comfortable. That’s most important.”

Brooklyn’s mother tenderly added, “If you want, just tell us the hotel address. We can get the chef to deliver whatever you want to eat.”

When Ninian heard their response, her initial discomfort was instantly alleviated.

Brooklyn’s family was overly enthusiastic, but they still cared about their thoughts and Mel’s in general. They also expressed their concern and care in a very tender way, and they would not make people feel unnecessarily burdened.

When Ninian saw Melody look over with an inquiring gaze, she nodded and grinned to say yes.

When would she be willing to help him get together with Melody? Things were getting hectic.

After Ninian happily had a meal in Brooklyn's house, she went back to the hotel where Harold was.

When she entered her room, she immediately took out her phone and had a remote video call with Everett.

When Ninian looked at the young man who had clearly slimmed down and become very haggard on the screen, her eyes were filled with pain.

[Baby, what's wrong with you? Are you feeling unwell?] Ninian had purposely prepared a writing board.
After she wrote some words down, she raised it up and showed Everett.

When Everett saw her actions, his expression clearly froze, and pain crossed his black eyes.

He tried his best to curl his lips. He smiled and comforted her. "No, my body is recovering very well.
Don't worry."

As he said this, he paused before he tenderly said, "I want to finish dealing with things here as soon as

A night had passed, and Melody's musical concert was still in preparation.

When Ninian saw the tickets that were sold out in a second, her eyes were full of compliments and envy.

When could she be liked by so many people like Melody?

"Are you jealous?" Lana saw through her thoughts. She grinned and said, "If you stay longer in the entertainment industry, you'll experience bigger fame."

When Ninian heard it, her eyes crinkled, and she wrote on the board. [Will it be bigger than Everett's concert?]

Never forget that she was Everett's die-hard fan in the past.

Although Everett was a capable actor now, he had debuted on a talent show. He was good at singing and dancing. When he held a concert, the stadium would be nearly full.

He was once called the legend of the entertainment industry.

When Lana heard that, she instantly appeared stunned. "What the heck? I forgot 'the Everett's' glorious achievement. It looks like I can't lure you with this."

'Look at other people. They are all couples. Are you jealous?'

When Melody saw the way Ninian looked, she frowned even more.

Was Grapie blinded by love?

Their elder brothers did not refuse to let Ninian go back after staying here for the time being because they considered her disease and emotion, but this little brat was not satisfied.

Then, before Melody was able to say anything, she was dragged into a cinema hall by Ninian, and she took a seat.

Holding a huge bucket of popcorn, she could only surrender to fate and watch the movie together.

The movie was about how a pair of childhood sweethearts knew and guarded each other before they eventually became lovers and got married.

The storyline was close to life, and the emotion was also very delicate.

Melody was really moved. When she looked at Ninian, she pondered again. Grapie and Everett did not seem to be childhood sweethearts, right?

Brooklyn, who had rushed over, instantly helped Melody. He looked slightly anxious.

"Can you stand firmly?" He asked.

Melody tried, but the pain from her ankle made her subconsciously frown.

Brooklyn frowned tightly, and his expression was also slightly cold and profound. He immediately lifted Melody while walking toward the exit.

Melody held his shoulders by reflex.

From such a close distance, she could clearly see his smooth jawline and sexy Adam's apple.

Her junior already grew up from a childish teenager to a strong man.

She subconsciously blushed. When she listened to his strong heartbeat, she felt that her heart also pounded faster.

A strange emotion spread from her heart.

It was only after they moved for a while that Melody suddenly remembered that she still had a younger sister.

She began to appear anxious, and she said, "Brooklyn, Grapie..."

[I got it.] Ninian replied and asked, [What about Rowan Craig now?]

[Don't worry, he can't hide any longer.]

[Okay.]

After Ninian replied, she also did not ask again. She chatted with Everett for a while before she went back to the hotel very quickly.

After she hung up the call, she washed up and directly slept.

On the other side, Everett could not sleep.

It was already 5:00 am.

But the Craig family's mansion was brightly lit.

Nearly all the elderlies of the Craig family were gathering here.

In the center, Duncan put on a black trench coat, and he emitted a cold aura.

"I invite all of you here because I have only one question.

After they looked over, they finally realized that he was dragging a person.

It was a dying person to be precise.

“Eve... Everett! What are you doing? Who is this?”

Everett sneered before he threw the person forward to the people. The person could not resist at all. After he rolled on the ground, his face was revealed.

Levi was a young-generation member of the Craig family’s collateral line. He was also outstanding and excellent.

The population of the direct lineage was small. Duncan, the head of the family, was nearly thirty years old, but he still did not have a kid yet.
