

Madam Winters's Fight For Her Children Chapter 1041

Chapter 1041

Duke slowly walked in, and by the time he got in, the whole sales office had been cleared. Even the service assistants had also disappeared.

Adeena's heart subconsciously pounded again.

She reasonably suspected that she had some kind of heart disease. Why else would her heart always beat out of control?

"This is the unit under Winters Corporation." She heard Duke's voice. "I can give you the whole building."

Adeena looked at him in surprise.

She really did not expect a calm and restrained man like him to say something so impulsive.

The market price of a floor in the building was about $ 60,000,000. There was a total of thirty floors, hence it would cost almost $2,000,000,000. Yet, this man just casually said that he would give her the building...

Duke raised his arm and snapped his fingers.

Then, the manager of the sales office lowered his head and cautiously walked over. "Mr. Winters."

"Have all the steps for change of ownership been completed?" Duke asked indifferently.

The manager immediately handed him a thick stack of documents. "Mr. Winters, everything has been completed. We just need Ms. Willis to sign."

As he spoke, he handed her a pen respectfully. Adeena was extremely shocked. "What's this?"

Duke chuckled while he passed her the document. "The deed of this office building."

Adeena lowered her head and looked at it. She saw her name listed as the owner.

The name "Adeena Willis" was clearly written on the first row.

Her heart pounded extremely fast like a beating drum.

“Mr. Winters, you...”

“Sign it,” Duke said in an unquestionable tone. “Come on, don’t turn me down.”

Adeena was dumbfounded.

She could see how he forcefully stuffed the pen into her hand. When he noticed that she was stunned and frozen, he held her hand and helped her sign at the bottom.

“Okay, this office building is now Ms. Willis’ private property.” The manager was extremely respectful. Should I directly contact Ms. Willis regarding the office building in the future?”

“(

“Just follow the previous procedure for the time being,” Duke said indifferently.

The manager nodded before he took the document and went off to keep it.

Adeena snapped out of her daze and said in disbelief, “Mr. Winters, do you realize what you’re doing?” “I’m fully aware of what I’m doing, Ms. Willis. What about you? Do you know what’s on your mind?” Duke slowly walked toward her. “Admit it. You have feelings for me.”

“No!”

Adeena denied it and quickly moved a few steps backward.

She moved a few steps backward, but Duke took a few steps forward. Soon, she was forced to lean against the cold marble walls of the sales office.

Duke raised his arm and pushed it against the wall behind her.

The distance between them was less than ten centimeters.

“M—Mr. Winters... You...”

“Call me Duke.” Duke looked at her affectionately. “Addy, marry me.”

Adeena instantly widened her eyes.

Yesterday, he had only asked her if she could be with him.

But he was proposing to her today.

What was this man actually thinking? She slowly gulped. "Mr. Winters, please let me sit down for a while. My legs are slightly painful from standing too long."

Actually, she just did not want to be trapped by the man in a small corner.

Whenever her heart pounded fast, she could not think wisely.

Unexpectedly, right after she spoke, the man carried her.

She was so scared that she immediately struggled. "Mr. Winters, what are you doing? Put me down."

Madam Winters's Fight For Her Children Chapter 1042

Chapter 1042

Duke carried her and put her down on the couch in the resting lounge.

He knelt down and squatted in front of her. He took off her high heels, and his gaze became intense. "Your heels are broken."

The high heels had just been bought recently, and this was her first time wearing them. Every time she wore new shoes, they would eat into her ankles slightly, but she was already used to it.

Just as she was about to say she was fine, she blurted out something else, "It hurts a little. Can you help me buy some Band-Aids?"

Duke's deep eyes were filled with excitement.

Addy, who had been resisting him, had actually asked him to buy her something. Did this mean that they were much closer now?

"Okay, wait for me here. I'll be back in a minute."

Duke got up and left the Sales Office.

Adeena sighed in relief.

She bent down and put on her shoes. Then, she grabbed her bag and ran away through the side door.

Yes, she ran away.

If she did not leave now, she doubted that she would be able to leave later.

This man was poisonous. He invaded her mind and turned her into a completely different person.

She could not accept being like that.

Once Adeena left the Sales Office, she got into a cab, and the car instantly disappeared from the entrance.

Right then, Duke had just arrived at a nearby drugstore. When he entered, the surroundings in the drugstore became dull. Whether it was the pharmacist or customers, everyone just looked at him. "Do you have Band-Aids?"

The shop assistant only snapped out of her daze when she heard Duke's cold and deep voice. "Yes... Yes!" The sales assistant immediately took out the Band-Aids. "This is for anti-inflammation, this is water proof, this is relatively cheaper..."

Duke pursed his indifferent lips. "Which is better for a girl's feet that have been worn from wearing high heels?"

As soon as he said that, he heard some voices of people who sounded heartbroken in the store.

"This handsome man actually has a girlfriend. How sad!"

"He's so handsome, yet he's out here buying Band-Aid for his girlfriend. Oh, God! Why isn't my boyfriend this considerate?"

"Hey, don't you find this man a little familiar?"

"I think he looks familiar too. I feel like I've seen him on TV before."

"Is he a celebrity?"

"I'd be a fan if there was such a handsome celebrity. I think he's not a celebrity."

"I don't care. Let's take a photo first in case he's an international celebrity."

A bunch of young girls chatted at the side, while Duke acted as if he did not hear them.

He carefully read the ingredients on the packaging. It was not until he confirmed that it was not harmful in any way that he paid and left.

He took the Band-Aids and walked toward the Sales Office while his smile grew brighter and brighter. He still had some arrangements for later. Aside from taking Addy for a movie, he had arranged a romantic proposal.

When Duke entered the office, he realized that it was empty.

His gaze instantly turned dark.

This was what it felt like on that night four years ago.

“Mr. Winters, Ms. Willis has left.” The manager walked over and carefully said, “I wanted to keep her here at first, but she walked so quickly that I couldn’t catch up.”

He felt the gaze on him getting colder and colder. Just as he thought that he would suffer today, Duke just turned around and left.

The manager sighed in relief as if he had just survived a disaster.

Meanwhile, Adeena was sitting in the cab and looking out the window blankly.

Madam Winters’s Fight For Her Children Chapter 1043

Chapter 1043

Her phone suddenly vibrated. She glanced at it and found that it was a call from Duke.

She initially did not want to answer it, but leaving without informing him was really rude.

She pressed the answer button and spoke first, “Mr. Winters, my cousin suddenly gave me a call. Something happened in my house, so I had to go back first.”

After she spoke, she added, “Don’t come and find me. I really don’t have time.”

She was going back to Cloud City tomorrow, and she still needed to pack her luggage today. Hence, she did not have the energy to deal with the man anymore.

“Okay, have a safe journey.”

Duke did not go after her again. He acted as a gentleman to let her hang up.

Adeena leaned on the glass window and silently sighed.

The cab stopped in front of the apartment very quickly, and she got out of the car after she paid. When she arrived home, she just locked herself in her room.

She thought that she would move on from this after getting drunk last night, but she realized that she seemed to be falling deeper and deeper.

If it was only that man, she would be fine. But when there were four children dragging her along, she did not have the will to resist them.

Why did this man treat her so well?

Why did the four children like her so much?

Over the past three years in Cloud City, she had never encountered such a blatant, yet inexplicable fondness.

Adeena suppressed her thoughts and started packing her stuff.

Just as she finished packing her clothes, Brady knocked on her room door.

Brady walked in with a serious expression. "Addy, where did you go this morning?" "I went to see the Sales Office building. What's wrong?" Adeena packed her stuff as she asked.

"The Sales Office under Winters Corporation?"

"How did you know?" Adeena was slightly surprised.

"It's on the news." Brady handed her his phone. "The headlines in Sea City are all about you and Duke Winters." Adeena was surprised, and she immediately took the phone.

Someone passersby had captured the scene where Duke carried her in the Sales Office, and it had been made into a gif.

[Duke Winters, the CEO of Winters Corporation, flirts with a mysterious woman in the Sales Office.]

The news had already become the number one trending headline of the day.

The number of comments was more than one hundred thousand.

[It turns out that the CEO of Winters Corporation has really gotten a divorce. Does he have a new girlfriend?]

[Who's so lucky to be pampered by Duke like that?]

[According to insider news from people who bought medication nearby that day, Duke even personally went to the drugstore and bought a Band-Aid specifically for this woman's worn ankles!]

[Wow! Duke's so affectionate! I'm really envious of this woman.]

[Don't you find the woman in Duke's arms slightly familiar?]

"Didn't the most beautiful woman in Sea City four years ago look like this too? Their eyes and features look exactly the same.]

[Based on my judgment as a professional hairdresser, the two faces are different. The muscles on each side of the bridge of the nose are slightly different...]

[What the f*ck? Wasn't the most beautiful woman in Sea City Mdm. Winters?]

(Has Duke found a woman who looks similar to his ex wife after four years?) (Oh, God! I'm confused. It feels like we're back to four years ago.) [Who still has Mdm. Winters' photos? I can't find any online.]

[Since New Year's four years ago, all news about Mdm. Winters have disappeared from the Internet. It's impossible to find any photos of her.]

(This is so mysterious...]

Adeena's hand shook slightly as she held the phone.

If the netizens were telling the truth, everything would make sense.

Madam Winters's Fight For Her Children Chapter 1044

Chapter 1044 Adeena turned on her laptop and speedily tapped across the keyboard with her slim and fair fingers.

Over the years, her hacking skills had improved a lot, so some small problems were not difficult for her at all.

As long as something used to exist online, she would be able to track it down.

In less than five minutes, she found a photo of the most beautiful woman in Sea City and Mdm. Winters of Winters Corporation.

“Gosh! This Mdm. Winters really looks exactly like you!” Brady said in disbelief.

He took a look at the picture before he glanced at Adeena, and his gaze was filled with shock.

Adeena observed the photo in silence.

The woman in the photo had an indifferent gaze and thin red lips. She emanated a ruthless air.

This woman did not just look like her, but they gave off the exact same aura.

She suddenly understood why the four children in the Winters family insisted that she became their mother. It was because she resembled their mother.

She even understood why Duke fell in love with her at first sight.

It turned out that she was being treated as a substitute like Ruth.

Adeena slowly closed her laptop before she looked up at Brady. “I want to go back to Cloud City tonight.”

She had wanted to leave tomorrow morning at first, but she suddenly did not want to stay any longer.

“I’m leaving too!”

Ruth grabbed her suitcase and walked out of the living room.

She had become haggard in just two days. Her eyes were as swollen as walnuts, and she did not have makeup on, which made her look more embarrassing.

Brady frowned. “What’s wrong with you?”

“Don’t ask. Don’t interfere with my business!” Ruth spoke in a muffled tone. She changed the subject and said, “Adeena, you’re trending. The netizens say you look like Mdm. Winters. Is that true?”

Right after she spoke, a car suddenly stopped downstairs. The sound of the emergency brakes was ear-piercing.

The three of them, who were standing by the balcony, turned around and looked over at the same time.

A man then stepped out from the driver's seat. He was wearing a black suit, and he looked dazzling under the afternoon sunlight. The light loved him so much that it was completely focused on him. As such, others could not take their eyes off him.

"He's come for you again!" Ruth said sarcastically. "Mr. Winters really likes you. He keeps going after you every day. How long have you known each other? Why is he so affectionate with you?" As she spoke, she paused abruptly and screamed, "I understand now!" Brady looked at her. "What do you understand?"

"Winters Corporation dealt with the Willis family because of Adeena!" Ruth looked at Adeena with a sharp gaze. "Since you look like Mdm. Winters, Duke fell in love with you at first sight. To get you, he dealt with Willis Corporation no matter the cost."

"Nonsense!" Brady said. "Ever since I came to Sea City, Winters Corporation has helped me a lot." "That's because he wants to court Adeena. It's all related to her!"

At this time, Ruth felt conflicted.

Thanks to Adeena, Willis Corporation had been suppressed by Winters Corporation. However, it was also because of Adeena that Willis Corporation was slowly growing more stable in Sea City. Duke was truly affectionate toward Adeena.

What about her?

Ruth chuckled in resignation.

She fell for that man, but he told her that he had mistaken her for the wrong person.

She was a real joke.

How hilarious.

Buzz!

Adeena's phone vibrated.

She cast a glance at the incoming call and simply ended it.

She looked at the man who was standing downstairs, and she happened to look into his intense, black eyes.

His eyes were filled with extremely strong affection, which she dared not ask for.

IL

Adeena sat on the couch in the living room and sent him a text indifferently. (I won't meet you. Go back.) [Addy, come downstairs. I'll give you an explanation.]

Chapter 1045

Adeena smiled faintly.

Addy?

She was Adee.

What a coincidence.

She switched off her phone and continued packing her luggage.

Suddenly, Ruth screamed, "Oh, God! Daniel's here too!" Another white car stopped downstairs, and Daniel got out of it in a gray suit.

He walked toward Duke, and his voice was dull and husky as he spoke. "Duke."

The simple greeting contained countless emotions.

Duke patted him on the shoulder and softly said, "Addy refuses to meet me. Do you have any solutions?"

Daniel took out his phone and called Ruth.

When Ruth saw the caller ID that was flashing on her phone, her lips curled up.

She knew that Dan would not ignore her.

She only picked up the call after her phone vibrated for a long time. "Hello, who is it?"

Her voice was indifferent, but a glint of happiness could be heard if one listened carefully.

"I'm Daniel Jones."

His voice was deep and gentle as usual.

Ruth had been haggard for two days, but she was instantly healed by his voice.

She curled her hair with her finger and smiled , but her voice was cold. "Didn't you mistake me for someone else? Why are you still calling me?"

"I want to see you," Daniel softly said.

Ruth's mind was instantly blown.

She could not hide her smile and promptly chuckled. When she felt Brady and Adeena looking at her suspiciously, she cleared her throat and said, "Okay, you can come upstairs. I only have three minutes."

Right after she spoke , she heard someone knocking on the door.

She subconsciously looked downstairs from the balcony. The two men, who had been standing below, were gone all of a sudden.

She held her phone and speedily ran over to open the door.

"Dan..."

Her voice instantly died in her throat. "M—Mr. Winters. why are you here?"

Duke did not answer her. He just walked inside aggressively.

He stood at the entrance of the living room while he looked at the woman who was seated on the couch far away.

Adeena held her phone tightly.

Now that she was face-to-face with him, she was unable to run away because this man would always find her.

She raised her head and looked into the man's eyes.

When their eyes met, the atmosphere suddenly became silent.

Brady could not bear to stay any longer, so he grabbed Ruth's arm. "Let's go downstairs." Ruth did not want to stay there and watch them being affectionate either. Just as she was about to drag Daniel downstairs, she was taken aback.

She noticed that Daniel's eyes were focused on Adeena.

His gaze was filled with extremely strong emotions.

She suddenly imagined that the person whom Daniel initially wanted to see was Adeena.

But he had come to her by accident.

Ruth felt a cold shiver run down her spine, and she could not move at all.

Adeena did not realize that something was wrong with Ruth.

"Mr. Winters, let's go to the room and talk."

Adeena got up and walked toward her room, while Duke marched after her.