Madam Winters's Fight For Her Children Chapter 1077

At that moment, the shooting was paused.

The assistant director said, "Ninian, come down. We're switching you with a stuntman."

In order to make the shooting effect more realistic, a professional stuntwoman would fill in for Ninian to avoid her getting injured.

But before Ninian walked away, Agnes showed a sinister and envious smile.

She pushed her from an angle where no one could see, causing her to fall down the stairs for real.

"Ahh!"

"Ninian, watch out!"

Lana shrieked, startling everyone on set.

Even though the stairs were not high, Ninian was caught off guard and fell down unexpectedly.

She was just a petite lady, there was no way she would fall down the stairs unharmed.

Some staff wanted to help, but another figure acted faster. The man rushed up the stairs as fast as lightly and supported Ninian in his arms.

Ninian had prepared for the pain. But instead, she fell into a warm embrace.

She opened her eyes in surprise. Her eyes met the indifferent and deep gaze. The man's eyes were slightly bloodshot.

"E- Everett?" Ninian was stunned.

'How did Everett catch me?

'Why did he emerge out of nowhere?

'Eh, something's not right.

'Doesn't he hate touching strangers the most? Why is he

Everett was grabbing onto Ninian's waist so hard that she could feel the pain. He did not seem to want to let her go as he looked her in the eye and pursed his lips.

He emitted a vicious aura. It was so overwhelming that it terrified the people around him.

Everyone on set was so stunned, and no one dared to utter a word.

After all, the last woman who dared to be so close to him outside the set was thrown out by his bodyguard. No one spotted her in that town ever since.

L1

However, this time around, it was a different situation. It was obvious that Everett had approached Ninian of his own will.

His bodyguard who was standing among the crowd was at a loss at the moment.

On the contrary, Agnes quickly calmed down and walked up the stairs. She looked at Everett nervously and said calmly, "Everett, Ninian is all right now. Why don't you let go of her first?"

LLU

Ninian noticed that Everett had zoned out.

"Everett?" She called out to him softly.

IL

He came back to his senses and refocused, meeting Ninian's gaze.

"Everett?" Agnes hurriedly called out to him again.

Everett took a glance at her, looking calm. He stayed silent and did not intend to let Ninian go.

Unexpectedly, he picked her up in his arms and carried her as he walked down the stairs before putting her down.

Despite his stern expression, he was gentle and cautious.

Ninian's heart had been beating rapidly the moment Everett put his hand around her waist. She blushed even harder as his gaze only embarrassed her further.

"Th— Thanks..."

This was his second time saving her.

Everett stayed silent. He took a step back, keeping a safe distance from her.

Ninian was slightly startled and raised his head.

She saw him lower his gaze and looked at the hand that he used to carry her. It was the same familiar gaze... he looked annoyed.

A moment later, he looked up. His 1.88 meter height was intimidating

He looked at the people on set with a cold gaze and said, " Who changed the script?"

The chief director, Elon Yoder, rushed in and kept quiet as he looked at the crowd. The assistant director and Agnes' expressions changed, and they both looked pale.

"S— Sir, there has been a misunderstanding..." The assistant director did not know exactly how angry Everett was, but knowing his temperament, he knew he would not be able to dodge this bullet. So, he bit the bullet and said, "A— Agnes is the one who suggested changing the script..."

Everyone shifted their gazes to Agnes, including Everett.

His menacing gaze was as cold as ice. He was looking at her as if she was a dead woman.

Agnes was still standing on the stairs. At that moment, everyone's attention was on her, but she felt as tiny as an ant.

When she met Everett's gaze, she felt terrified and her body was drenched in a cold sweat. Her pride and influence as an actress for many years faded as she — became flustered.

"I— I'm sorry. I didn't do it on purpose..." She bit her lower lip as her eyes teared up. "It's just an accident."

"Hmph..."

Everett sneered. What he said next was horrifying.

"Well, I'm sure you enjoy accidents like this."

After he said this, he turned and left.

Everyone at the scene was stunned, and some felt overwhelmed by the tension.

Agnes felt the chill in Everett's words. She was so frightened that she slumped on the floor with a pale face.

'No... This is not happening...

"This society is ruled by the law. What's more, I'm a famous actress..."

Agnes comforted herself, but her mind kept flashing back to the way Everett's cold gaze stared at her.

On the other hand, Ninian vaguely felt something was off about Everett.

When he left, it felt as if he was running away.

'What is it that makes an indifferent, aloof young man show his ruthless side? He looks like he's trying to restrain himself and is having a tug-of-war with the beast within him.'

Before she could ponder about it, she found herself chasing after him worriedly. Everett did not return to his lounge area. He left the set and got in a car.

He closed the door of his lowered black Bentley and was about to leave.

"Wait!" Ninian ran to the front of the car and stopped him. Her face was red as she panted heavily. She looked at the back seat nervously. The tinted window was shiny, and she could not see anything on the inside.

Naturally, she did not notice that the imposing young man had curled up into a ball in the back of the remodeled car. He had a grim and painful expression as he put his hands on his chest.

Zayn, who was in the passenger seat, was anxious about Everett. Despite that, he asked him, "Sir, Ms. Winters is standing in front of the car. Should we head back straight away or..." Everett's body stiffened. He raised his head and looked out of the car. His eyes lit up slightly for a moment, holding back the pain.

Fleeting, that light in his eyes faded and his gaze deepened. He then said in a hoarse voice, "Drive."

Zayn nodded, without saying anything else.

The driver started the car and drove off. Everett did not give Ninian any form of response from the start.

"Everett..."

She could not help but run after the car for a while. She had a tight knot in her heart. She could only watch until it was out of sight.

"Everett..."

She murmured as she stood on the bustling street, feeling lost.

Everyone had a strange look on their faces when she returned to the set. They had a hint of curiosity and fear in their expressions.

Catalina, an actress who was quite close with Ninian, came up to her during her breaks and gossiped, "Ninian, have you and The Everett ever met?"

Madam Winters's Fight For Her Children Chapter 1079

"The Everett?" Ninian was stunned. She only came back to her senses after a while. 'She must be talking about Everett.'

'He's idolized by young actors and actresses alike. As a fan, I'm so proud of him!'

Even so, Ninian could not cheer herself up.

When she thought back to how he left without even looking back, she somehow felt a tight knot in her heart.

"Yes, Everett!" Catalina said excitedly as her eyes lit up, "He has always been a rose among the thorns. He isolates himself and is indifferent. I've never once seen or heard of him rescuing anyone like that. He even carried you and got angry on your behalf. It's just like a male lead treating the female lead!"

Ninian felt embarrassed when she saw how Catalina was shipping her and Everett.

This thing seems normal. But somehow, it did not seem like it when it was said out loud.

As for the question of whether she and Everett met each other before, she wanted to tell her the truth, but after considering it for a moment, she felt like she was the only one who remembered their encounter.

Everett didn't seem to like me, not even the slightest bit.

"That must be why he is always ignoring me. He even deliberately avoids me."

She smiled reluctantly and said, "No, we've not met before. I guess he only helped me because he was used to being courageous and helpful. Well, I tried to thank him earlier, but he didn't even stop his car. He looked like he was annoyed at me."

LLL

She was telling the truth. She did not hide anything at all.

Everyone, including Everett's diehard fans, thought that Everett was an aloof person. From the start, Ninian had always felt that on the inside, he must be the kindest person with the softest heart.

Otherwise, he would not have rescued her three years ago.

Her heart softened as she recalled that.

However, she did not realize that the moment she said it, the surrounding gossipers became interested.

Catalina looked at her sympathetically. She patted her shoulder and tried to cheer her up, "It's okay, no worries! There are plenty more fish in the sea. Don't fixate on just one fish!"

"...What?" Ninian was at a loss.

'What is she talking about?'

Catalina was already hugging her like she was her close friend. "The entertainment industry doesn't have much, but we do have a lot of attractive guys. A beautiful and gentle girl like you will surely attract a lot of guys. Why don't I introduce you to some?"

"Huh?!" Ninian waved her hand as if she was begging her, "No need. It's okay, Caty!"

Catalina looked disappointed, but that did not stop her as she said, "Come and look for me when you want one! I think Paul is pretty decent. I'll introduce you to him."

Ninian did not know if she should laugh or cry.

I've been doted on since I was a child. I thought I'm already used to all kinds of "friendliness" other people showed me.

She did not expect that she would get caught by surprise by it.

I've even been urged to go on a blind date.

'Holy! I'm only eighteen.'

When the assistant director called her, she ran away as fast as lightning

Paul, who was standing among the crowd, watched her run off. He was amused as he showed a gentle smile.

Ninian had no idea he was watching her.

It was a special evening. The male and female lead took the day off. This meant that the actors and actresses who played minor roles would have more tasks to do.

By the time they were done, it was already ten o'clock.

The set was crowded with people walking in and out constantly.

Lana supported Ninian as they exited the set.

A silver Rolls-Royce honked and stopped in front of the two of them.

The window rolled down, revealing an extravagantly handsome man.

He smiled charmingly and looked at Ninian as he said, "Hey, lady! It's been a while. Want to grab a meal with me?"

The silver Rolls-Royce stopped in front of Ninian and Lana, blocking their way.

Before Ninian could react, Lana was covering her mouth in shock.

“Oh my goodness! He’s so handsome!”

“In Full Bloom” was filmed in a huge, famous city. There were many attractive celebrities everywhere in town.

But it was rare to encounter such an unruly, extravagant, charming man with a bad–boy smirk.

He must be one of the most handsome men in the entertainment industry. He was so handsome that perhaps the only person that he could compare to was Everett.

Lana was spellbound by him. Everyone around them looked over and was also in awe.

“Are you one of the actors, too?” Lana was so excited that her face turned red. She immediately said, “Have you signed a contract? Do you want to consider coming to our company?”

“I’m sorry, my lady.” The man winked at her and had a hint of regret in his beautiful eyes. “I’m not interested in the entertainment industry. I’m only interested in the lass beside you.”

Lana slumped her shoulders in disappointment when she was rejected. “Oh, I see. What a... Wait a minute! Are you hitting on Ninian?!” She instantly turned from a crazy fangirl to a protective bodyguard. She stood in front of Ninian and looked at him warily. There was a hint of vigilance and contempt in her gaze.

11

“She’s only eighteen. You’re at least twenty, aren’t you? Are you trying to rob the cradle, you savage!?!”

‘Rob the cradle?’

‘Is she referring to me?’

Harold, who was smiling charmingly, suddenly stiffened. He looks as if a huge gust of wind had just ruined his hair. He was perplexed.

Ninian burst out laughing after she was stunned for a moment.

'Harold is going to be mad.'

Sure enough, Harold's expression changed. His initial unrestrained, radiant smile faded as he showed a sinister smile. He gritted his teeth and said, "I dare you to say that again. It was noisy earlier, I didn't hear you."

'How dare this lass call me old?!

'Is it because I'm not attractive enough?

'If Alden were to know this, my dignity as the second brother would be ruined!'

Lana took a step back and shrank her neck, noticing Harold emitting a cold aura.

She did not confront him anymore, instead, she whispered, "You look pretty old, at least a few years older than Ninian. And you don't even look embarrassed trying to court her..."

"You – You brat!" Harold was furious. His noble-looking reputation was long gone as he rolled up his sleeves and glared at Lana. "Who told you I'm courting Ninian? You love creating drama, aren't you?!"

"Well, aren't you trying to do that earlier? You were ..."

Lana had a sense of righteousness and was indignant.

At that moment, Ninian grabbed her arm. She looked back and saw Ninian, who could not hold back her laughter.

"Lana, I'm sorry about that. Please calm down. Give me a moment. Hahahaha!" Ninian said as she held her stomach and laughed again.

'Well, I just can't help it. Poor Harold. He has always looked flashy and enticing. George and Alden were so worried about him that their hair turned gray.

'Mommy and Daddy enjoy seeing him like that. Naturally,

they never pressure him.'

'So, they soon became his lifeboat. As long as he's out of George and Alden's sight, no one would stop whatever he wants to do.

'It's my first time seeing him getting slandered by an outsider.

'This is just too funny.'

The gorgeous girl laughed happily under the afterglow of the setting sun. Her pale cheeks were bright pink, and her eyes shone with tears welling up at the corner of her eyes. It was truly heart-throbbing.

ILUL

Lana was in awe when she saw her. She was stunned as she stood straight.

She was not the only one. Even the passerby stopped walking and looked at Ninian. A few of them took out their phone and photos of this awe-struck moment.

Ninian did not realize any of that at all.

When she saw how furious Harold was, she finally stopped laughing and explained to Lana, "Alright, alright. Don't get angry already. He's my brother. My second biological brother. Lana nodded, stunned.
