Chapter 1221 Richard's expression turned dark as a storm cloud, extremely unpleasant. He could not accept this. However, the cash in his hands was no longer enough to continue bidding

Andrius did not provoke Richard when he saw the latter fall silent. Instead, he said to the beautiful host, "Since no one is bidding anymore, announce the results,"

The host glanced at the VIP room and confirmed that there was no sound coming from it, then loudly announced, "Table 83 wins the second blind box."

Andrius sighed in relief. He got two out of the three blind boxes. That was a good result.

Now, everything would be foolproof as long as he secured the last blind box..

In the VIP room, Richard's face was flushed with anger. He smashed the various items in the room, venting his dissatisfaction. "Damn it! That Florencian scum! Goddamn him—argh!"

His ferocious appearance had already frightened the ladies into paling,

After he vented for a while and eased off, a subordinate approached him and whispered a few words in his ear. "Sir, perhaps we can do it this way..."

Richard paused slightly, then his expression relaxed, and a hint of malice appeared in his eyes. "Hurry up and do it!" After the subordinate finished speaking, Richard once again took out his token and handed it to him.

A moment later, the subordinate returned with the token and reported proudly, "Everything is handled, sir. You just need to sit back and watch the show."

Richard smiled triumphantly.

The third round of the blind box was also the final round of the auction. It was delayed and had not started yet, causing quite a stir among the attendees.

Andrius and Noir glanced at each other, sensing something fishy going around.

“Hello, everyone...”

Amidst the attention, the auction house owner, Fierde, slowly walked onto the stage. Therefore, the audience could not help but be amazed when Andrius took out this card.

It was not only Fierde who was stunned in place. Even Richard, who saw it from a distance, had a dark expression on his face. He was shocked by Andrius* identity.

“Mr. Fierde...” Andrius showed the World Bank black card and quickly put it away, asking, “Do | have the qualification to participate in the next bidding now?”

Seeing that even Richard was shocked, Fierde naturally did not dare to stop Andrius anymore. “Please forgive my rudeness, sir. With your status and position, you may certainly continue to bid.”

Andrius nodded.

Then, he repeated what he just said. “2.2 billion.”

The auction venue was filled with red faces.

This guy was not pretending. He was truly impressive!

“2.5 billion!” Richard’s expression was unsightly, but he still gritted his teeth and continued bidding.

“3 billion!” Andrius was full of confidence as he called out calmly. However, his aura was like silent thunder, making people secretly shocked.

“3.1 billion!”

“4 billion!”

“5 billion...”

“9 billion!”

“10 billion!”*

Finally, the bidding price reached 10 billion!

This was unprecedented in the entire history of the Fierde Auction House as well as Richard’s cash limit. However, he was suppressed by Andrius!

Andrius remained calm as usual when he called out his bid.

Andrius and Noir glanced at each other, sensing something fishy going around. "Hello, everyone..." Amidst the attention, the auction house owner, Fierde, slowly walked onto the stage. Then, he stared at Andrius' direction and said calmly, "Friends from table 83, since you're not from Flandom but instead Florencian..."

"Even if you hold a World Bank black card, you must have enough funds as collateral to participate in the auction as well as to continue bidding."

Anyone with eyes could tell that this was blatant targeting!

"Damn it, that scumbag is playing dirty. That's shameless!" Noir was instantly furious.

Andrius remained calm.

Since Richard was the son of the most powerful figure in Flandom, he could resort to various methods and means to counter Andrius. The current situation was relatively mild.

"Mr. Fierde..." Andrius stood up and said in a loud voice, "Since you've made such a request, I also have a small request." Fierde frowned slightly and asked, "Go ahead."

"Delay the third round of the auction for a day. I can prepare enough cash," Andrius spoke calmly, full of confidence. "I believe that you wouldn't doubt the financial strength of a World Bank black cardholder, right?" Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

One day. That was more than enough time for Andrius. Fierde pondered briefly and glanced at Richard's private room. Richard nodded subtly.

Fierde agreed. "Of course, sir. AS a World Bank black cardholder, you have the complete right to do so. I'm willing to postpone the third round of the auction. However, if you fail to gather enough cash within the time limit, then don't blame me for being impolite!". Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel Fierde's words were decisive and left no room for confusion. He was cutting off Andrius' retreat.

Chapter 1222

Andrius smiled faintly and said, "Of course."

With the agreement reached between the two parties, the tense third round of the auction was postponed until tomorrow. People started leaving the venue one after another, discussing as they went.

Andrius, Noir, and Katalina also left the auction.

Due to the suspension of the auction, Margerina, as well as the two blind boxes, were temporarily kept in the auction house. "Andy, this auction house is really shameless." Noir complained indignantly and asked, "What do we do next?"

"Simple." Andrius had already thought of a plan and replied without hesitation, "Borrow money from the emperor in my name. Borrow as much as possible."

Andrius was not afraid of not being able to pay it back.

If not for the trillion-dollar bank card he gave to Belarus, he could easily fork out the money himself. The world-class hotels, luxury cruise ships, oil fields, and islands under his name brought in huge wealth every year.

"Got it, Andy. I'll take care of it right away!"

From the window of the VIP room on the second floor, Richard watched Andrius and the others leave, and his lips curled into a sinister smile. "Go. Use all available means and monitor the customs ports. You must keep that Florencian's cash from entering Flandom!"

That was Richard's plan.

As long as it was within Flandom's territory, his word was law!

Even if Andrius had money, it would be in vain if he could not bring it in.

"Yes, sir! I'll take care of it right away."

His subordinates immediately set off to arrange this matter.

At night, the moon in Flandom was not rounder than in Florence. Instead, it had a faintly desolate quality to it. Andrius checked the condition of his inner energy and prepared to go to sleep.

Thud, thud, thud!

Chapter 1222

Just then, there was an urgent knock on the door.

"Andy, bad news!"

It was Noir. His tone was extremely serious.

Andrius opened the door to let him in and asked urgently, "Calm down, Noir. What happened?"

"Andy..." Noir's face was grim as he said in a low voice, "The plane transporting the cash from Florence was hijacked!"

The plane was hijacked!

Andrius' expression instantly turned cold like ice and snow, sending chills down the spine. He knew without thinking that it was Richard scheming something behind the scenes. Perhaps he had already started planning during yesterday's Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel auction. "Richard is too despicable!"

Noir also had the same thought. When he saw Andrius remain silent, he asked anxiously, “Andy, I’ll lead some people over now and demand an explanation from them!”

Upon saying that, Noir turned and prepared to leave.

“No need.” Andrius shook his head and sighed helplessly. “Richard’s goal is simply to prevent us from getting the three blind boxes.

“The auction starts at 9 a.m. tomorrow, and the place where the plane was hijacked is definitely at the borders of Flandom. Even if you go now and smoothly resolve everything, you won’t make it in time for the morning auction.” Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

Noir fell silent.

Although Flandom was not large, it would take a long time to travel back and forth from the border where the plane was hijacked. It was indeed impossible to make it back in time for the morning auction. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

Chapter 1223

“Andy, are we just going to sit around like this, then?” Noir was very cagey.

Andrius also could not accept this. However, he could not think of a good solution for the time being, so he fell silent. “Wolf King, Noir!”

Just then, Katalina walked over. She bowed deeply to the two, then said sincerely, “I’m really sorry for causing you trouble. Richard must be suspicious of your connection with my sister, so he deliberately targeted you and ruined your plan, Wolf King. | apologize on behalf of my sister. I’m sorry!”

Noir hurriedly helped her up.

Andrius waved his hand and said, “Given the current situation, you’re not to blame. Richard intentionally targeted us. He’ll use any excuse to prevent me from getting the blind box.”

“Actually...” Katalina hesitated for a moment, took a deep breath, and then said as if she made a decision, “Wolf King, maybe | can help you.”

Andrius and Noir looked at each other, their thoughts immediately beginning to run.

Yes, Katalina was the daughter of the former king of Flandom, and the younger sister of Queen Margerina. She might have an effective way to deal with this. Thus, Andrius quickly asked, "What do you mean, Ms. Katalina?"

Katalina glanced at the door, confirmed that there were no eavesdroppers, then closed the door and said seriously, "Actually, when my father was alive, he anticipated the current situation. Alexander's family has a long history and deep heritage, but they've long shown their disloyalty.

"The current family head is ambitious, always forming alliances, eliminating dissidents, and lobbying with powerful ministers. He will attempt a rebellion sooner or later.

"Therefore, my father has already transferred the wealth of the royal family accumulated over a hundred years to a secret location deep in the Arbeis for safekeeping. It's a startup fund for the future when there's a chance for a comeback, or to allow me and my sister to live well even if we lose the throne."

Flandom was one of the largest nations in the world. The wealth accumulated by the royal family for over a hundred years could only be described as terrifying. It could be called infinite!

Chapter 1223

Andrius was amazed, This money would probably be enough to buy the entire capital of Flandom! It was more than enough to solve the current predicament.

"You saved me and my sister, so..." Katalina smiled and said, "I'm willing to tell you about the royal family's treasure as a small repayment."

Andrius' face brightened at her words. Noir had felt guilty about ruining Andrius' plan and was instantly eager to act now that he saw a solution in sight. "Ms. Katalina, let's set off quickly. I'll gather a group of Lycantroop elite soldiers to escort you to the secret location in the Arbeis!"

Before Katalina could answer, Andrius vetoed it. "We can't use the Lycantroops. If Richard made arrangements along the border and stopped the plane, then he must have been monitoring the Lycantroops as well. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel Andrius’ words shocked Noir. He almost brought disaster to Katalina.

Noir suddenly broke out in a cold sweat. After thinking for a moment, he asked, Andy, what should we do? We can’t just retrieve the treasure with the three of us.” Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

Chapter 1224 Retrieving the treasure was indeed better with fewer people. However, the three of them would probably be under tighter surveillance, making it more difficult to accomplish the task.

Andrius thought about it and said, “Noir, contact the Lycantroops HQ in Florence and see if there are any fugitives from Florence who have escaped to Flandom.”

“Fugitives?” Noir was confused for a moment but quickly understood.

Using fugitives for this kind of thing was indeed a good idea. Not only would it keep them from being closely monitored by Richard’s people, but also avoid criticism if the mission succeeded.

“Okay, I’ll ask right now.” Noir immediately made a call to the Lycantroops HQ.

A moment later, he hung up the phone and grinned at Andrius. “There is, Andy! “A few years ago, a famous mercenary group called the Arctic Fox Mercenary Corps appeared in Florence. They looted many treasures within Florence’s borders. Over the years, they’ve accumulated countless wealth and even alarmed the fake emperor at that time.

“He dispatched the Second War God to pursue them, but the attempt ended in failure. In the end, the matter was set aside. Now, the news says that Arctic Fox is currently staying in Flandom.

“According to the base address described on their official website, they’re on a secret location on Mount Kiro, less than fifty kilometers from the capital of Flandom.”

The Arctic Fox Mercenary Corps... Andrius knew about them.

Back then, the mercenary group was arrogant and made videos every time they committed a crime, provoking Florence authorities.

The Second War God worked together with the Central Warzone to capture them, but they ultimately failed and were mocked for a long time.

Unexpectedly, Andrius would have to deal with them in Flandom a few years later.

“Okay!” Andrius narrowed his eyes and said, “Let’s go with them.”

Chapter 1224

Noir immediately found the contact information left by the mercenary corps on their official website and quickly got in touch. “Andy, the leader of the corps, Arctic Fox, said that we have to go to their base on- Mount Kiro if we want to work together.” Mount Kiro!

Andrius nodded. “There’s no time to waste. Let’s go now.”

Half an hour later, Andrius and the others made some preparations and arrived at Mount Kiro.

“Halt!”

The guards at the entrance pointed the dark muzzles of their guns at them, blocking their way.

“This is the base of the Arctic Fox Mercenary Corps. Who are you people and what business do you have here?” the leader asked cautiously. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel the guards used a sophisticated device to scan Andrius from head to toe. There were no special findings apart from a silver needle.

In Flandom, a silver needle was not a powerful weapon, so the guard returned it to Andrius, indicating that he had passed the check.

Noir's body search also went smoothly.

Another guard was responsible for searching Katalina. Although he could not see her face under the mask, he could not help but have some crooked thoughts when he saw her graceful figure and alluring curves. The guard screamed in pain and collapsed to the ground.

Seeing this, the guards around immediately raised their guns.

However, before they could shoot...

Swoosh...

Andrius snorted coldly and acted without hesitation.

Silver needles glimmered faintly like stars streaking across the sky, bringing a chilling aura as they landed on the guards. The guards fell to the ground, and not a single one remained standing.

Bam...

Almost at the same time, the gate of the base opened, and fully armed mercenaries stormed out. They surrounded Andrius and his group in the blink of an eye, leaving no room to escape.

Each of these people was an elite mercenary seasoned in countless battles. They held cutting-edge weapons from various countries.

The leader towered two meters tall with a shining bald head and a vivid Arctic fox tattoo on his forehead. He was the leader of the mercenary corps, the current Arctic Fox!

Seeing this situation, Noir and Andrius remained unfazed.

“Are you Noir, the one who contacted me over the phone for cooperation?” The Arctic Fox's piercing gaze fell on Noir. After all, the black mask on his face made him stand out.

Noir nodded. “Yes.”

Arctic Fox nodded and pointed to the guard beside him, saying calmly, “You owe me an explanation.” “Explanation?” Andrius snorted and said coldly, “Your guard attempted to situation. “What did you want to work together over? What treasure do you want me to retrieve? Where is it located?”

Chapter 1226

Andrius said calmly, “The cooperation is simple. You will go to the treasure location, help us retrieve it, and we'll pay you a certain percentage of the treasure. As for the location...”

Andrius looked at Katalina, indicating for her to speak.

Katalina had already made her decision, so she did not hesitate and said, "The treasure is located deep in the Arbeis, on Argonte Peak.

Argonte Peak...

It was not far from Flandom's capital.

After she spoke, Andrius said, "Also, we must set off immediately. | need to return to the capital before sunrise.' >>

Unexpectedly, the Arctic Fox's next words surprised Andrius greatly.

"Got it. Go back and wait for the news.

The Arctic Fox's voice was calm and held an unmistakable hint of certainty.

Andrius frowned and narrowed his eyes, looking straight at the Arctic Fox. "What you mean?"

"What do | mean?" The Arctic Fox grinned, revealing his fangs, and said meaningfully, "What? Did | not make myself clear? | meant..."

He glanced at the three, his gaze audacious, arrogant, and unbridled, "You three can go back now. When | obtain the treasure, I'll leave some scraps for you. Hahaha..."

At that point, the Arctic Fox burst into laughter. His plan was to take the treasure alone and toss a bone to get rid of Andrius and the others.

Andrius' expression immediately darkened. He stared at the Arctic Fox coldly, a chill emanating from his eyes, making one feel like they were in an icy landscape. "I'll give you one more chance. You'd better choose your words carefully."

"Oh..." The Arctic Fox laughed insincerely for an instant, then his expression also turned cold like frost creeping in. "Kid, those are some big words for such a young man."

The Arctic Fox grinned, but he exuded an extremely sinister feeling. “I’ve already killed one of my men for this treasure. Shouldn’t I provide compensation for his death? Besides, I’m already being a saint by leaving you some scraps. Don’t push your luck.

Chapter 1226 “One minute. If you still dare to boast in front of me, then the three of you can forget about leaving here today!” The Arctic Fox was determined to act like a rogue.

Andrius was angered. “Arctic Fox! I advise you not to be stubborn. If you don’t give me a reasonable explanation, or don’t blame me for teaching you a lesson!”

Seconds ticked by.

The Arctic Fox occasionally glanced at Andrius and Noir, chuckling coldly. Andrius and Noir sipped their tea nonchalantly.

Soon, fifty seconds passed.

Clap, clap, clap!

The Arctic Fox suddenly clapped thrice.

Rumble...

Chapter 1227

Immediately, a group of fully armed mercenaries rushed in. They held brand-new weapons in their hands.

When they entered, without a word, they immediately released their safety and aimed their guns at Andrius' group. "Heh..." The Arctic Fox smiled coldly. He did not believe that these three people could cause trouble in his own stronghold.

To his surprise, Noir and Andrius remained unfazed as if they had not seen the elite guards at all, or perhaps they were ignoring them.

Only Katalina could not help but pale and subconsciously moved closer to Noir. Tick- As the final tick of the second hand sounded, a whole minute passed.

The Arctic Fox thought that he had control over the situation and said with a grin, "Sorry, lady and gentlemen, but your minute is up. If you want to leave now, then you'll have to pay extra! One billion for each of you. If a single penny is missing, then I'll shoot them into Swiss cheese!"

After speaking, he grabbed an AK from one of his subordinates and aimed it at the three, making mocking sounds like, "Bang, bang, bang..."

Andrius could not help but laugh at how smug he was.

"Sorry, but I have no intention of leaving," Andrius said calmly, then glanced at the time and said to Noir, "Settle the fight in thirty seconds."

Unexpectedly, Andrius' words caused the mercenaries to burst into laughter. "Damn, this is hilarious."

"Boy, are you a theater kid?"

"He's really good at pretending! He could be a movie star with his skills!"

"Damn, he's blowing so much hot air, I'm surprised he's not floating away!"

The mercenaries sneered, not taking Noir seriously at all. Indeed, they believed that with their firepower, they could easily send Andrius and the others to make their maker.

“Is it funny?” Noir waited until they finished laughing before revealing a smile. It was a smile that belonged to the Grim Reaper from hell.

The mercenaries were slightly stunned.

The Arctic Fox also frowned.

Noir did not explain himself.

Andrius glanced at the watch and nodded. “Not bad. Thirty seconds, on the dot.’

Chapter 1228 “Hehe...” Noir scratched his head sheepishly. It was completely unrecognizable from the previous menacing appearance he put on earlier.

Katalina, who had been worried at the beginning, was shocked and then relieved. Her eyes glimmered with an astonishing brilliance as she looked at Noir.

At that moment, that figure was elevated to an infinite height, like an emperor or a god. It was like gentle rain silently moistening everything, quietly occupying Katalina’s heart. “Arctic Fox...” Andrius spoke softly, looking at Arctic Fox in the main seat. “Ah...”

The Arctic Fox had long been frightened by Noir’s skills. Although Andrius only called him softly, he trembled and slid down the seat weakly, using the chair’s leg to barely support his body and prevent himself from making a bigger fool of himself.

“Y—you...” The Arctic Fox looked at the three with a bewildered expression, his face full of confusion and fear. He asked in a trembling voice, “W—who the hell are you?”

In his impression, Noir’s skills had already surpassed the limitations of the world. Experts like him were as rare as flying pigs in Flandom!

Noir grinned and removed his mask. “Arctic Fox, you’ve caused trouble in Florence before a few years ago, so you should’ve heard of me.”

As the Wolf King’s private guard, Noir was considered a figure of authority. He was what mercenaries like the Arctic Fox feared and had to understand the most.

At Noir’s words, the Arctic Fox was slightly stunned. Then, he stared intently and felt his soul tremble. “Y—you’re the Wolf King’s private guard, Noir!”

Noir grinned, confirming his identity. “T-then, he’s...”

When the Arctic Fox realized Noir’s identity, he immediately recalled the moment when Andrius gave Noir orders. He could not help but make a guess immediately and said in a hoarse voice, “I-is he...”

Andrius also took off his mask. Chapter 1228

Anything and everything!

In the face of one's life, money, power, and status meant nothing!

At that moment, the Arctic Fox was as humble as dirt just to stay alive.
Swoosh...

Andrius pulled over the chair that the Arctic Fox had previously sat on, sat down, and said calmly, "I'll ask you: when can we set off?"

Set off?

Where?

Wait... Set off!

The Wolf King was letting him set off, which meant that he was letting him off!

His pathetic life was saved!

The Arctic Fox immediately responded, "We can set off immediately, Wolf King!"

Then, he instantly summoned all the mercenaries to gather outside the hall and give them a brief speech.

"Listen up!" The Arctic Fox, who had just kneeled humbly in front of Arctic Fox, now displayed his absolute authority as the leader of the mercenary corps. "The person in front of you is the Wolf King of Florence, and beside him is the captain of the Shadow Wolves!

"The next mission will be fully commanded by the Wolf King. His orders are my orders. If anyone dares to disobey, they will be dealt with according to the organization's highest punishment. There will be no mercy!"

The Arctic Fox had quite a lot of prestige. At least, his word was law in the mercenary corps. "Yes, sir!" the mercenaries responded loudly.

Andrius looked at these Florencians and felt his heart waver. "You're all Florencians, and the blood of Florence flows in your veins. Are you happy wandering around in this foreign land?"

Then, the Arctic Fox briefly explained the content of the mission and shouted, leading the group to set off toward Argonte Peak in the Arbeis mountain range.

Chapter 1230

The majestic Arbeis, with its endless peaks and beautiful scenery, was like a painting, fascinating and charming. Among them, Argonte Peak was permanently capped with snow due to its high altitude.

It was an unexpected place for treasure to be hidden, but it also gave Andrius and the others great trouble in finding it. When the group arrived, it was almost dawn.

“This is Argonte Peak...” Under the mountain, Katalina looked up at the peak with a complex tone. Then, she walked to the front and said, “Follow me.”

After another half an hour, the group went through twists and turns on the mountain and finally found the location of the royal treasure—a uniquely shaped cave. The cave entrance was covered with snow. If not for Katalina’s certainty, they would not have recognized it at all. “Let’s go...”

There was no turning back since they climbed the mountain.

Katalina led Andrius and the others into the cave.

Under the bright flashlight, the scene before them was dumbfounding with piles of gold, dazzling jewels, crates of paintings and antiques, invaluable gemstones...

It was astonishing. Each one was captivating and could be called a priceless treasure.

Hiss...

“My God, this is...”

“As expected of the royal family. Just the gold is enough to make people’s jaws drop.”

“Tsk, tsk, tsk, any one of these paintings could cause an uproar among those wealthy people...” The Arctic Fox and the mercenaries he led were almost drooling.

However, in recent years, the mercenary corps had amassed astonishing wealth. They missed their hometown more, so they no longer had an interest in money. They were just amazed.

Andrius and Noir were also surprised.

However, that was all. As martial realm experts, they knew that their strength was far more important than wealth. “Unfortunately...” Katalina sighed and said, “No matter how much money is here, it can’t bring back my father’s life.”

That was true.

There was only one fact for certain in this world—everyone would die. It did not matter who they were when they were alive. Even heroes of old were just a heap of dust now! Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

Andrius looked at the time. They would not make it in time to transport these things and use them as collateral at the auction.

Andrius was helpless and had to make a decision. “Noir, you stay with Katalina and protect her. I’ll rush back to the auction as soon as possible and try to stall for time.” Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

‘Protection’ was just a cover. Andrius needed Noir to keep an eye on them.

Noir instantly understood and said, “I know, Andy. Leave it to me. Just call me if anything happens!” Andrius nodded.

Then, he rushed back to Fierde Auction House as fast as he could.

“You all...” Noir instructed the others to transport the treasure back.

In Moore Manor, Richard investigated where Andrius and Noir were staying and instructed his subordinate, “Go and find out what those two Florencians are up to.”

“Yes!” The subordinate immediately went to carry out his orders, After a while, he came back.

“Sir, the Florencians haven't made any moves. It's as if they have nothing to do with the plane we hijacked. I specifically asked the border guards. They said that the cash-filled plane is still under their control. There are no accidents.” Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

The subordinate was somewhat puzzled as he replied, This was unexpected news to Richard.
