Chapter 1261

Chapter 1261

The situation in Florence's ancient martial world and even the whole world...
What was that supposed to mean?

Rufus was puzzled and asked, "What did you say,

Master?"

Adeptus Cirrus snapped out of his senses and looked at him with a mysterious smile. "I said she won't die, so you don't need to worry."

Rufus could not help but scratch his head. That was clearly not what his master had said...

In the capital of Flandom, night fell, and the crescent moon rose.

Thud, thud, thud...

"Andy, bad news!"

Andrius was still in seclusion but was startled by Noir's urgent knocking on the door.

Bad news?

He jumped up and opened the door, asking, "Calm down and tell me what happened, Noir."

"Andy..." Noir gulped and said anxiously, "You told me to bring Her Majesty and Katalina over when they got back, right?"

"It's dark now, but they still haven't returned. I tried to call, but there was no response, so I mobilized all the Lycantroops to search all the nearby churches, but I couldn't find any trace of them."

Andrius also realized something was amiss.

“In that case...” He pondered for a moment and said, “I’ll inform the Arctic Fox and have him mobilize the mercenaries to search as well.”

The Arctic Fox had roamed in Flandom for many years, standing tall and even gaining some infamy. He knew more about Flandom than Andrius and the others. Then, Andrius called the Arctic Fox and explained the situation.

“Don’t worry, Wolf King. Leave this matter to me. I’ll get back to you with news within half an hour.”

He hung up the phone.

Noir was already very anxious and could barely stand still.

Andrius patted his shoulder and comforted him. “It’s okay, Noir. I told you that you’ll definitely be the prince consort!” Noir forced a smile, feeling slightly better.

Not long after, the Arctic Fox called back.

“Woir King, I just received news that Her Majesty and Ms. Katalina should have gone to the nearest church, Sauro Church. Today, a group of people from the church just left.”

Sauro Church... A group of people from the church...

Andrius only knew that the people of the continent of Obaro had a very complex faith. He did not know about the detailed relationships among them.

Thus, he asked curiously, “Tell me about this church, Arctic Fox.”

“Yes, Wolf King. The Sauro Church is prevalent in the Obaro continent and has a long history. There are over a hundred million believers, and they have great influence on the continent. Even governments sometimes have to be cautious when dealing with them.”

Over a hundred million believers...

Even governments had to be cautious... Andrius’ eyes narrowed. The Sauro Church was indeed something extraordinary.

Andrius suppressed these thoughts and continued to ask, “Arctic Fox, where is the nearby Sauro Church you mentioned?” Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

Sure enough, the Arctic Fox was already waiting outside.

Ten minutes later, the Arctic Fox took Andrius and Noir to a church.

Chapter 1261

In Andrius’ impression, a church should represent light and holiness, but the church in front of him was...

With dim yellow light and dead silence, as well as the shadows it was shrouded in, it exuded a very creepy feeling. “This is...”

Noir also noticed something wrong and frowned.

Chapter 1262 “Wolf King, Captain Black.”

The Arctic Fox seemed to notice the two's suspicions and explained, "The Sauro Church is usually only open during the day because that's when people usually come to pray. Once the sun sets, a curfew is imposed, prohibiting anyone from approaching."

The Arctic Fox pointed to a notice on the wall as he spoke. Andrius and Noir looked over. There were many languages on the notice explaining the curfew.

After reading it, Andrius could not help but sneer, "Aren't churches supposed to be dignified and brightly lit places that uphold justice and purify all evil? Why does this church give off an eerie feeling, as if it has something to hide?"

In the face of Andrius' disdain, the Arctic Fox laughed and explained, "Wolf King, you may not know, but there's a legend in Obaro.

"It's said that there is a group of people here who, due to being contaminated by the blood of the progenitor, gradually evolved into undead vampires."

Vampires? Andrius and Noir exchanged a glance, both somewhat surprised. "Vampires aren't that different from humans during the day, except that they dislike sunlight.

"However, at night, they become extremely active, and their strength increases significantly. They're able to move like the wind, swift and fierce.

"Every once in a while, they must feed on human blood, or they'll become weak and even die. Therefore, they generally act at night. Their favorite is the blood of virgin girls in the church.

"The Sauro Church took this into consideration, so they don't open at night." At those words, Andrius and Noir could not help but laugh. "A church is supposed to ward evil away, but they're afraid of vampires..." Andrius could not help but shake his head in disdain.

If he were in charge, he would just drive off any vampires that dared to invade. Why make things so complicated and let others look down on them? It was simply ridiculous.

They continued walking as they spoke and arrived at the church area.

"This..." The Arctic Fox pointed to the large door ahead. "Is the main entrance of the Sauro Church." Then, he walked up and knocked on the door.

Creak-

Soon, the heavy wooden door opened. The sharp sound was particularly piercing in the silent night.

The person who opened the door was a nun dressed in black and white, a member of the church. She looked at the three, her eyes flickering. "It's already night. The church isn't open to the public. Do you need something? If you don't, then please leave quickly."

It was as the Arctic Fox said.

Andrius said gently, "We're from Florence and can't find our way back because we're unfamiliar with this place. It's said that the church offers shelter to believers, and my friend here is the most devout believer. Can you let us stay here overnight?"

Andrius pointed to the Arctic Fox behind him as he spoke.

The Arctic Fox understood and immediately made the praying gesture of the Sauro Church. The nun assessed the three and agreed. "Please follow me."

Soon, Andrius and the others were brought inside the church and assigned accommodation.

The nun reminded them, "It's forbidden to run around in the church, especially at night. Otherwise, it is a great disrespect to God. Not only will it anger the Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

Father, but you'll also be nailed to the cross and burned to death. Do you understand?" Andrius and the others answered in unison, "Yes."

"Good."

The nun responded and then left.

After she walked away, Noir closed the door and asked, "Andy, did you notice? There was a sense of gloom and bizarreness everywhere on our way here. Is this how a church should be?" Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

Andrius already realized that something was off a long time ago. There was probably also something going on with the nun from earlier.

Night gradually fell.

There was pin—drop silence within the church's vicinity, making it eerie and silent.

Whoosh...

Suddenly, something seemed to fly across the sky, flapping its wings.

Under the tranquil moonlight, a group of bats appeared, decorating the entire church as a sinister and terrifying place.

Inside the room, Noir frowned and lowered his voice. “There's movement!”

Andrius looked at the two and said slowly, “You two pretend to be asleep here. Snore as loud as you can to lower their guard.” Noir hurriedly asked, “What about you, Andy?”

Andrius glanced outside and narrowed his eyes. “I'll infiltrate and see what's really going on in this church!”

Seeing Noir's hesitant look, Andrius added, “Don't worry, I won't alert them. If something crops up, then you can come to support.”

Noir and the Arctic Fox nodded. Then, the two lay on their beds and gradually entered dreamland.

Andrius observed outside the window for a moment, ensuring there was nothing going on, and leaped out, blending into the night.

ZZ (Bilbo

The vague sound of snoring echoed, gradually growing louder in the silent night. Andrius hid in the shadow of a bald tree and chose a direction according to his memory. The nun had avoided this place when showing them the way in.

The overall layout of the church was quite strange. Furthermore, bats occasionally hovered in the sky. Andrius moved carefully. He had a feeling that these bats were probably tools raised by the church. Swoosh... Swoosh...

Several bats flew over Andrius' head and soon disappeared into the opposite shadow.

Andrius went deeper. His strength had been restored to the Martial Emperor realm.

In addition to that, perhaps due to refining the Dragon Flame Lotus, his perception was sharper than when he first broke through to the Martial Emperor realm previously. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

“That way...” He glanced at the tallest building, his heart skipping a beat. It was the only building that was still lit up. It should be the core of the Sauro Church.

Andrius stealthily approached. Like a nimble monkey, he suddenly leaped through the window and arrived outside the brightly lit room.

Andrius peered through the crack and instantly frowned. A young maiden lay naked on the bed with her hands clasped together in a devout praying position.

At that moment, a trace of death was apparent on her crystal-clear skin. From her milky—white and tender neck, two rows of deep bite marks oozed crimson blood. The priest continuously sucked it into his mouth without wasting a drop. A sinister and bloody aura emanated from the priest. Throughout the process, she remained silent and solemn as if offering everything for her faith, willingly and contentedly. Andrius was stunned. The clergy of the Sauro Church had put a lot of effort into brainwashing.

Furthermore, the actions of the priest were precisely that of the vampires the Arctic Fox had mentioned earlier!

Chapter 1264

Chapter 1264

The church that had over a hundred million followers was actually colluding with vampires... How ironic was that! Tap...

Tap...

Just then, footsteps were heard in the distance.

Andrius immediately hid in the darkness.

It was the nun who had received them earlier.

The nun did not notice Andrius and headed straight to the door. After knocking and getting permission, she entered and closed the door.

“Father, the trio from earlier have settled down. I listened from outside for a while. They've all fallen asleep and are snoring heavily. How should we deal with them? Please guide us, Father!”

Sure enough, the woman had sinister intentions.

Andrius could not help but snort softly.

“It's good that they're asleep.” The priest wiped away the fresh blood on his lips, now radiant, and narrowed his eyes. “His Holiness needs the purest royal blood from the most noble families of Flandom for cultivation.

“There must be no mistakes at this critical moment. As long as His Holiness' technique is perfected, both of us will be great contributors.

“If anything goes wrong with his plan, you know the consequences without me. spelling it out to you.”

Andrius keenly sensed that the corner of the priest's eye twitched involuntarily when he spoke, as if thinking of the most terrifying punishment.

“Yes, I understand!” The nun also shivered involuntarily, clearly imagining the same thing. Andrius' eyes flashed. Sure enough, Margerina and Katalina were in the hands of the Sauro Church.

However, Andrius could sense that besides this priest, there were formidable guards in the church, and their numbers were vast. He might not have the upper hand if he were to take action.

212 Furthermore, he still did not know where Margerina and Katalina were imprisoned, so he could not act recklessly for now. “Father...”

Just as Andrius was thinking of a strategy, the nun pointed to the corpse of the girl on the bed and asked, “Should we follow the usual practice and let the bats feed on her?”

As soon as she spoke, the bats outside seemed to understand and became unusually active, circling outside the window. Screech! Unexpectedly, the active bats discovered Andrius.

Andrius tried to evade but found more bats approaching. He was exposed! At the same time, the priest also noticed something wrong and shouted angrily, “Who dares to act out in the church!” The next second, he rushed toward Andrius' hiding place.

Chapter 1265

Chapter 1265 Swoosh The priest's movements were astonishingly fast.

In just a flash, he was already in front of Andrius. His large hand swung down on Andrius' head, trying to strike him dead on the spot.

Boom! Andrius intended the test the priest's strength and also struck with his palm. The different forces collided.

Andrius' figure swayed and retreated two to three steps back, already figuring out the priest's strength. He was around a mid— stage Martial Emperor.

The priest also took several steps back and looked at Andrius in surprise. It was clear that he did not expect Andrius to have similar strength to his.

“Hmph...” The priest immediately snorted coldly and attacked again.
“Regardless of who you are, since you've decided to act out in the Sauro Church, you won't be able to leave today!”

As he spoke, his figure had already approached within a meter of Andrius. Andrius was slightly taken aback and gathered inner energy in both hands to slam the priest's chest.

However, the priest's attack was exceptionally strange. His body twisted in an incredible arc in midair, then swiftly closed the distance between him and Andrius.

Bam!

Smack!

Boom!

After exchanging several moves, the priest's speed increased.

Andrius punched at him, but the priest grabbed both his hands.

Then, under Andrius' astonished gaze, the priest bit down and sucked a mouthful of fresh blood.

When Andrius was about to slap him on the head, the priest had already smugly shaken off Andrius' arm and landed several meters away.

“Tsk, tsk, tsk...” The priest straightened up and extended his crimson tongue, licking his lips and saying with relish, “Florencian, your blood truly has a rare and delicious taste. Hehehe...” As he spoke, he could not help but laugh, sinister and terrifying.

Andrius’ face darkened as he prepared to counterattack.

“Gah!” just then, the priest suddenly spewed out a mouthful of blood. Then, he covered his neck and let out a pained scream. “Arghhh...” Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

The wails echoed throughout the church and startled the bats outside, making them fly away.

As he screamed, the priest spewed blood again, the liquid containing bits of his internal organs and a burnt smell. “Y—you...”

The priest pointed at Andrius in fright, his finger trembling incessantly. “What the hell are you? Your blood is... Pfft...”

Before he could finish speaking, he spat out blood for the third time. This time, his entire body weakened considerably. He seemed to have suffered extremely severe internal injuries. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

Andrius figured it out.

After absorbing the medicinal power of the Dragon Flame Lotus, his inner energy and blood gained the attributes of extreme righteousness and extreme heat. It was the natural enemy of vampires, who were extreme evil and extreme yin! “What am I?” Andrius could not help but laugh, staring at the priest in mockery. “Your self-awareness is quite impressive. You know what you are.” Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

The priest glared at him coldly, his eyes wary, but did not speak.

Andrius touched the wound and was relieved when he found that it had already begun to heal. “Since you like to bite people like a dog, then I’ll pluck out your teeth one by one!”

Then, Andrius’ figure swiftly flashed over.

Chapter 1266

Chapter 1266

Seeing this, the priest was alarmed and immediately tried to escape through the window.

However, Andrius did not give him the chance to.

Swoosh...

With a leap, he flipped twice in the air and landed firmly in front of the priest, blocking his only way out.

Although the priest was fast, the injuries from Andrius' blood had severely weakened him, and his speed could not be compared to before.

"Trying to run?" Andrius turned and smiled sarcastically. "Don't you know it's rude to dine and dash? In Florence, dogs that bite people need to be put down!"

With the last word, Andrius swung his fist toward the priest.

Bam!

The priest barely managed to block it and was forcefully pushed back by the punch.

However, before he could hit the wall behind him, Andrius grabbed his arm and slammed him to the ground. "I told you I'd pull out your teeth, so I'll pull every one of them out. Not even your God can save you today!" Then, he pried open the priest's mouth and grabbed a long, sharp fang.

At that moment, the priest had the opportunity to bite off Andrius' fingers, but he did not dare to. Every drop of Andrius' blood felt like concentrated sulfuric acid, firmly sticking to his mouth and throat, burning and melting it...

He would rather die than go through that sensation a second time.

Spurt...

Thus, Andrius forcibly pulled the priest's fang out.

"Arghhh..."

He instantly screamed in agony.

However, the fun had just begun.

Next, Andrius did as he promised and pulled out all of the priest's teeth, not leaving a single one behind. Despite still being in his youth, the poor priest could only enjoy the life of an elderly grandfather in his seventies, skipping past decades of life's twists and turns.

"Speak." Andrius looked at the teeth scattered on the ground and asked in satisfaction, "Where are Queen Margerina and Katalina being kept?"

The priest was exhausted both physically and mentally after being heavily injured and tortured. He was barely holding on to life. At Andrius' question, he instinctively resisted and turned his head away.

"Tsk, ts, tsk..." Andrius laughed. "I didn't expect you to be such a tough nut to crack. Well, I have my ways of dealing with tough nuts." Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

The mocking tone sent a shiver down the priest's spine.

However, when he thought of the fate of traitors, he did not dare to speak rashly.

The next moment, Andrius suddenly wiped the blood from the arm on his wound onto the priest's exposed skin. Something interesting happened.

Sizzle...

Hiss...

Taken away!

Andrius was instantly furious. "If anything happens to them, you won't live either!"

Then, he grabbed the priest's neck.

At that critical moment the priest's soul almost left his body. He struggled and begged for mercy. "No! Don't kill me! I still have something to say!"

Andrius eased his grip slightly, his face cold. "Remember, you only have one chance to speak. If what you say doesn't satisfy me, then you shall die!"

Achilling murderous intent accompanied the icy words. Even a mid—stage Martial Emperor like the priest could not help but lose control of his bladder, wetting his pants.

"The church members haven't gone far. I know their route!" The priest did not dare to hide anything. "As long as you follow the route and chase them overnight, you should be able to catch up!"

Hearing this, Andrius eased his grip a bit more. "There are three commonly used routes from the capital to the church's headquarters. They took the southernmost one, departing from the south gate of the capital and heading west.

"If I'm not mistaken, they should be staying overnight in Pineworth County, about 120 kilometers from the capital. They won't make it back to the headquarters overnight.

“There are many forests and large plains in Pineworth County, making it suitable for overnight stays. They’ll most likely be staying there tonight.”

The priest did not dare to withhold anything in order to save his life. He revealed, not just the route but also the details. “Hmph...” Andrius snorted coldly and prepared to check the map.

“Andy!”

Just then, Noir and the Arctic Fox jumped in through the window, saying seriously, “The commotion here was too loud. The nearby believers have started to gather.”

Upon hearing this, Andrius could only give up on killing the priest for now.

After all, while the three of them might be able to deal with the believers, it would end up delaying their time.

Saving Margerina and Katalina was more important. They could not waste time here.

Andrius glanced out of the window and saw a dense crowd converging toward them. He coldly instructed the priest, “Bring the three of us out.” Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

The believers saw that the priest was safe and could not help but exchange glances. It did not seem like a battle had occurred.

“You may all disperse. May the Lord bless you, amen,” the priest spoke again, as dignified and solemn as ever, radiating a divine light.

“Amen...” The believers also made the same gesture and then dispersed. To avoid any incidents, Andrius and the others took the priest to the entrance of the church before finally letting him go.

Then, they quickly left through the south gate and headed west toward Pineworth. As for the priest, he was no longer worth Andrius’ time.

An hour later, the three crossed valleys, walked through forests, and finally saw a large bonfire in the distance. Dozens of tents were scattered around, surrounding a large central tent.

Flags were planted around, fluttering in the night wind.

Chapter 1268

Chapter 1268 “It’s the flag of the Sauro Church!” The Arctic Fox exclaimed in joy, “We caught up with them.”

Andrius’ gaze swept through the tightly packed tents, noticing there was no buffer zone between them, indicating that it was the work of an amateur. It was clear that there was no experienced marching instructor among them.

Andrius immediately ordered, “Margerina and Katalina should be in the largest tent in the center. The three of us will attack from three directions. Kill as many as you can and leave no one alive!”

The Sauro Church had hundreds of millions of believers on the Obaro continent, and their influence was overwhelming. Andrius did not want to provoke them if he could avoid it.

“Got it!”

“Understood!”

The three immediately took action.

Inside the large central tent, Margerina and Katalina were tied to the bed with their hands bound.

A handsome young man with golden hair, emerald eyes, and an unusually pale face, was sitting casually on the bed, leering at Katalina. He was the Pontiff's son, Anton.

Handsome, charming, and suave, he was the perfect idol in the hearts of countless girls on the Obaro continent. He relied on his father's power and position to act willfully and arrogantly across the continent.

Anton had long heard of Margerina and Katalina's famed beauty.

Thus, when he heard that his father wanted someone to go to the capital of Flandom to capture them, he volunteered to lead the team.

His purpose was to enjoy the beauty of the two extraordinary sisters.

After all, Margerina was mature and stunning while Katalina was pure and chaste...

Which man would be able to resist them?

However, Margerina's face had been disfigured by Richard, leaving only Katalina intact. Thus, Anton shifted all his attention to her.

"Tsk, ts, tsk... What smooth skin!" Anton touched Katalina's crystal-clear arms with his hands, mocking upward and occasionally smacking his lips. "What a delicacy..."

"Y—you..." Katalina did not expect that the son of the Pontiff, the self-proclaimed representative of God, would be such a lecherous person. She struggled and cursed incessantly. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

“Anton, future Pontiff...” Margerina begged bitterly with a sorrowful face, “My sister is just a child. Please... Please spare her...”

When she saw that her pleas did not work, her eyes showed a hint of despair, and she said, “I can take her place and serve you well...”

Before she could finish, Anton sneered disdainfully. “Shut up! Margerina, I admit that you were once the queen of Flandom. You had power, status, beauty, and charm. It did stir some interest in me. Chapter 1269

Chapter 1269 Margerina’s face turned bitter at those words. Her younger sister was about to suffer at the hands of a villain, and the situation had reached its most dangerous point.

A resolute expression flashed on Margerina’s face, and she suddenly bit down on the blood vessel in Anton’s arm. Her teeth sank deep into the flesh, aiming to pierce his blood vessel and lose too much blood, perishing together with her. “Shit!” Anton howled in pain and was instantly furious. He slapped Margerina’s face without hesitation.

Margerina had a strong will and clamped her teeth around his arm, tearing open a bloody wound. However, for an expert like Anton, these injuries were nothing.

As for Margerina, her head buzzed after she was slapped, and she almost fainted on the spot. “Bitch! You stupid bitch! How dare you?!”

Anton looked at the wound on his arm, and his handsome face turned incredibly ferocious. His azure eyes gleamed with a ruthless light.

“Since you're so eager to die, I'll grant your wish!”

With that, Anton was about to step forward and end Margerina’s life, preventing her from getting in the way of his fun further.

Margerina and Katalina saw his murderous expression and felt a wave of despair. The two women instinctively closed their eyes.

They should not have come out to pray during the day. This so-called church was just a synonym for filth, impurity, and bloodshed...

Swoosh-

In an instant, a whistle sounded.

A cold glint appeared, dazzling and brilliant. It was a sharp knife.

The next second, the knife flew between Anton's legs. Anton only felt a cool sensation on his crotch, and then something fell to the ground.

When he looked closely...

It was none other than his little buddy who had been with him all his life and was never separated from him for a moment! "Abhhhh!"

Anton's desperate scream immediately echoed. It spread far and wide in the silent night.

He howled in pain while clutching his crotch.

However, the deed was already done. Blood flowed like a fountain, spilling through his fingers and staining his pants red.

"Guards! Where are the guards?!"

response, and no

However, no matter how loudly Anton shouted, there was no response, one entered.

This made Anton feel a strong sense of crisis.

Sure enough, the next second, three unfamiliar men walked in.

It was Andrius, Noir, and the Arctic Fox.

“They're all dead.”

Andrius glanced at Anton, who was curled up on the ground in a pool of his own blood, with no hint of mercy on his face. Noir looked around. When he noticed Katalina unharmed on the bed, he breathed a sigh of relief. “Are you okay?”

He went straight to Katalina and quickly untied the ropes around the two sisters.

“H...”

After Katalina was released, she immediately pounced into Noir’s arms and muttered to herself, “I’m okay. I’m okay...” Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel Noir’s face turned red instantly at the warm feeling. He did not know what to say and could only gently pat her back.

Chapter 1270

Anton scanned the three men in panic and said in a threatening tone, “Do you know who I am? I’m Anton, the son of the Pontiff of the Sauro Church!

“|-if you dare to harm me, my father...” Bam!

Before Anton could finish, a fist landed heavily on his face. It was none other than Noir, who had come in fury after comforting Katalina.

“The Pontiffs son?” Noir’s voice was furious. “So what if you're the Pontiff's son? Since you dared to lay a finger on Lina, I won't spare you even if you're God Himself!”

As he spoke, he rained down fists on Anton's face, chest, abdomen, arms, and legs, leaving no part untouched.

"How dare you... How dare you lay | on the queen? How dare you threaten me?" Noir continued to rebuke while relentlessly beating Anton.

After several rounds, Anton's face was unrecognizable, and his limbs were severely damaged. He was barely gasping for breath. "Enough," Andrius intervened. "Don't kill him, Noir. Leave him alive."

"Sure!"

Noir vented his anger and let go. However, he spat out a thick wad of saliva on Anton's face, and then finally released him. "Let's go."

The three of them left Pineworth County with the two women.

When they returned to the capital of Flandom, Andrius immediately examined Margerina's injuries. She was already injured before and disfigured by Richard. It was a miracle that she did not die on the spot when Anton slapped her in the head. Through acupuncture, Andrius managed to improve Margerina's complexion slightly. She managed to wake up, but her condition was still quite grave.

"Wolf King..." Seeing her sister in a weakened state and Andrius' grim expression, Katalina instantly had a bad feeling and choked up. "How is my sister?"

Noir also looked over anxiously. Anton sighed softly while putting away the needles. "Her Majesty took a blow from Anton while she was already physically frail. Her condition is critical, and her vitality is fading. No amount of medicine or treatment will be able to help.

"Although | can stimulate the energy in her body to prolong her life, it won't be for too long. At most... It'll be around a year."

Katalina's heart sank further with each word from Andrius. When he said 'a year', she felt like she was struck by lightning and almost fainted on the spot.

One year...
