Chapter 1341

Chapter 1341

It pierced her?

It really pierced her!

Andrius, who was dressed in a black robe and a mask, immediately panicked.

“Luna, a—are you okay?”

He took off his mask in a panic, and a tide of self-blame and shame surged up like a flood when he saw the wound on her fair arm.

“Hubby?” Luna’s eyes flashed with surprise. She patted her chest with lingering fear and asked, “You scared me. I thought that...”

She could have won an Emmy Award with those acting skills!

“I...” Andrius did not expect things to turn out like this and quickly apologized. “Luna, I’m sorry. I wanted to test your inner energy, so I attacked you.”

11

Andrius grabbed Luna’s slender arm and began to carefully bandage the wound for her.

Although Luna knew that he was lying, she still felt warm inside.

As for this little pain...

It was nothing at all.

“Hubby...” Luna was much more relieved after getting past the crisis, and she said, “I feel that I’ll be able to break through to the Martial Emperor realm soon.

“I’ll be able to help you once we cultivate the technique on the mural together.”

At those words, Andrius felt even more indescribable.

What a good girl!

Not only did she not blame him for neglecting her or hurting her, but she constantly thought about improving her own strength to be of help to him....

He should not have tested her just now. He deserved to die!

He finished bandaging her wound and could not help but pull her into his arms. “Luna, you’re so good to me...”

Luna felt the warmth of his body, and her eyes instantly melted.

The next second, she took the initiative to kiss his lips.

After not seeing each other for a long time, a battle erupted between the two. Not long after, the room echoed with undulating and melodious cries.

After an unknown amount of time, Andrius came to the balcony while dressed and lit a special military cigarette, looking into the distance.

The smoke wafted, curling thickly in the air. It seemed to possess a magical power that could dispel many troublesome thoughts.

Halfway through the cigarette, Luna came out from inside and hugged him from behind. "Hubby, what's on your mind? Is something bothering you?"

Andrius took a deep drag and extinguished the cigarette. Then, he spoke slowly, "I experienced a lot on this trip to Flandom."

He recounted everything, including Alexander's family, Margerina and Katalina, the Pontiff, and Insect Ruler who appeared at the end.

Then, he talked about the master of the Shrouded Gate.

"The master of the Shrouded Gate..." Andrius' eyes revealed a solemn and puzzled look. "She traveled thousands of kilometers to come to Fandom and intervened twice when I was in danger.

“She went through so much trouble, but she didn’t gain any substantial benefits. It’s really intriguing.”

Luna thought for a moment and said, “Hubby, the fact that the master of the Shrouded Gate helped you twice shows that she’s not your enemy. Why are you so worried?

“I think that you can use her to deal with tricky matters. It’s simple and crude, but effective. Isn’t that good?”

If it were before, Luna defending the Shrouded Gate like this would definitely have made Andrius suspicious of her.

However, now...

Andrius smiled wryly. “Things are never that simple.

The master of the Shrouded Gate’s power is so formidable that even my Master says he’s no match for her. Moreover, in the match on Praxis, she single-handedly suppressed the Insect Ruler and dragonslayer knight when they were working together.

“People like her are cunning like foxes. She appears to have helped me twice, but I can’t tell if she has a deeper agenda.

“If I make use of her strength, if she has any ill intentions or has been scheming all along, then I’d be walking into a trap.”

Hearing him complicate things, Luna instinctively wanted to defend herself, so she blurted, “That won’t happen, hubby. The master of the Shrouded Gate will never harm you.”
Never?

Andrius looked at Luna absentmindedly and asked in confusion, “Why are you so sure?”

Only then did Luna realize she had spoken too much.

Thus, she quickly explained, “Women’s intuition. If she wanted to harm you, she would’ve worked together with the Insect Ruler and the dragonslayer knight on Praxis. Not even your master would be able to stop them, right?”

“Don’t worry, hubby. My intuition has always been accurate. It won’t be wrong.”

Andrius was confused. He had a feeling that Luna’s words sounded as if she were the master of the Shrouded Gate.

“Okay, I won’t overthink it.”.

He smiled and did not continue the topic. However, even though he did not show it openly, he started to get suspicious in his heart again.

The atmosphere fell silent for a while.

Ring, ring-

Just then, Registus called.

“Andrius, come to Kiyoto. I have something very important to discuss with you.”

Andrius heard his serious tone and readily agreed, “Okay, I’ll come over right now.”

After hanging up the phone, he said to Luna apologetically, “Luna, the emperor needs me urgently. I have to go.”

Luna was j ust thinking of a way to dispel his suspicions. This was a good chance!

Thus, she said reluctantly, “Hubby, there’s nothing going on with New Moon Corporation, so I’ll accompany you.”

Andrius thought about it and agreed. “Sure. Get ready, and we’ll go together.”

Andrius and Luna rushed over to Kiyoto without making any stops.

In the Forbidden Palace, Registus and his guards had been waiting to welcome them for a long time. Registus looked at Luna and Andrius standing together and said with a smile, “Andrius, you and Ms. Crestfall are indeed a perfect couple. You’re a match made in heaven. It’s truly envious to have such a good wife.”

Luna immediately felt pleased.

The emperor was quite sincere!

Andrius laughed and said, “If you wanted, you could have your pick of any lady in Florence or even the world.”

Registus raised his brows at the joke and teased, “With your reputation as the Wolf King, you just need to give the word, and millions of young ladies will flock to you, flattening the mountains of Florence.”

“What are you talking about?” Andrius could not help but roll his eyes. Was he that kind of person?

Furthermore, Luna was still beside him.

Registus seemed to sense the chill from Luna and smiled brightly, then led the two to his study.

“What’s so serious, Registus?” Andrius asked seriously.

Registus said solemnly, “Since the forebearer of the Swallow family was killed by the master of the Shrouded Gate, the ancient martial world seems calm on the surface, but there are already storms brewing in the dark.

“All the ancient martial forces are restless. I suspect that they want to unite!”

Chapter 1343

Any force in the ancient marital world was already something ordinary people could not resist.

If they united...

Florence, which had just stabilized, would be thrown into chaos again.

That was Registus' concern.

Andrius was stunned upon hearing this. He frowned and said, “But I received information from the Medicine Sect that everything is normal in the ancient martial realm, and all the major forces are quiet...”

“That's just how it seems on the surface!” Registus said in a low voice, “A few days ago, when I instructed a newly appointed minister to integrate Florence's economy, he found some clues.

"The groups and enterprises affiliated with ancient martial organizations are converging into some new companies in a way that deviates from market rules.

"That's enough to indicate that the ancient martial organizations behind them are taking action."

Registus was not the emperor for show. From subtle aspects, he could discover actions that influence the overall situation.

At those words, Andrius' expression turned solemn. That was indeed a very bad sign.

Registus emphasized, "Andrius, I know that you're planning to take action against the Insect Ruler. In recent years, many forces in Florence have never stopped besieging the Insect Ruler.

"The experts and forces attacking the Insect Ruler come in waves, but he has always survived and become stronger and more troublesome each time. Thus, you must be careful and not give him any opportunity."

The statement sounded a warning bell for Andrius. That was true.

In the trip to Flandom, although Katalina had taken the throne, the Insect soldier also gained something significant—three Martial Saint insect soldiers. That was already an overwhelming force.

The only good news was that Old Hagstorm had been dealing with the Insect Ruler for years. and knew many of his plans and secrets, so there should not be much of a problem. Andrius thought about it and said, “Master is watching the Insect Ruler, and we have people keeping an eye on the ancient martial forces. There should be no problems. “On the contrary, it’s the mysterious and powerful Shrouded Gate’s Master who recently emerged that’s the biggest variable and deserves serious attention.”

Luna never expected her to be involved just by standing here without saying anything. She was speechless.

As the saying went, trouble came knocking at one’s door!

“Sir-“A guard rushed in hurriedly, reporting, “Your Majesty, Wolf King, we just received the latest news. The master of the Shrouded Gate has wiped out the Blood Shadow Sect!”

Registus and Andrius were shocked by those words. Something major happened just as they were talking about the Shrouded Gate.

The Blood Shadow Sect...

According to the information that Andrius knew, although they were just an inconspicuous ancient martial force. However, it had two late-stage Martial Kings and three mid-stage Martial Kings, so they were not considered weak. However, they were wiped out...

Andrius subconsciously glanced at Luna, and the last trace of doubt in his heart dissipated..

Luna was right beside him. However, the master of the Shrouded Gate appeared somewhere else.

Thus, it could not be her.

Luna secretly rejoiced. The news came at the right time.

After hearing the report, Registus snorted coldly and reminded, "Andrius, you must be careful of the Shrouded Gate.

"When you proposed to eliminate all the insect soldier experimental bases, the master of the Shrouded Gate killed all the ministers involved."

“When you went to Flandom, the master of the Shrouded Gate killed Duncan Swallow, who had a grudge against you.

“Now that you’re back, they’re targeting ancient martial forces... This creates an illusion that the Shrouded Gate is manipulated by behind the scenes.

“Although such framing is not fatal, it’ll make everyone suspect you and pin the blame on you. They’ll likely unite and challenge you together.”

Those words were like a sudden awakening, making Andrius vigilant.

Yes, if the Shrouded Gate had no ill intentions, Andrius would have the strength to fight against the collaboration of the ancient martial forces.

After all, there was the Medicine Sect, the Lycan Manor, and the Dragon Manor. Andrius’ own forces were powerful enough.

However, if this was part of the Shrouded Gate’s scheme, then that would be troublesome.

The seemingly advantageous events pushed him to the other side of everyone else, creating a chasm that could swallow everything!

“I understand. I’ll be careful,” Andrius responded seriously.

Luna was speechless. She finally dispelled the suspicion of her identity, but now, her motive was being suspected.

What kind of situation was this?

She began to wonder if she should tell her husband about this matter so he would not conjure up trouble and potential enemies from his imagination...

However, this matter could not be rushed, or it might backfire. She had to probe first and check his reaction.

After leaving the palace, Luna thought for a long time and came up with a starting point. Hubby, have you heard of the Lamiai Clan?”

“The Lamiai Clan?” Andrius looked at her and frowned. “It’s said to be an ancient race from a long time ago. They’re an extremely evil race despised by the world. Why are you suddenly asking about this?”

Luna's heart chilled at his words. She looked up, her beautiful eyes staring at him intently like a child who had done something wrong. She asked pitifully, "Why do you think that, Chapter 1344 hubby?"

Andrius found her reaction strange but explained patiently, "I heard that the Lamiai Clan is cunning and treacherous, committing all kinds of evil deeds. In history, there have been instances of lamias taking human forms and causing disasters.

"Moreover, lamias were attacking human villages, capturing livestock, and even villages, treating them as food. Their crimes are intolerable. Calling them evil is an understatement." At the end, Andrius pursed his lips and shook his head.

Luna could not refute his words.

However, her change of fate came from a lamia. She even took the lamia as her master, not to mention the subtle influence of the demon snake's power...

Thus, Luna said, "Hubby, there are good and bad people. Good people sacrifice themselves for others, uphold justice, and do good for the world. Bad people harm others for their own benefit, lose their conscience, and bring evil to the world.

“Similarly, there are also good and bad people in the Lamiai Clan. The lamias you mentioned are indeed heinous and deserve to be condemned, but it doesn’t mean that all lamias are bad.

“In fact, there may also be lamia who are peaceful and kind. Why do you need to generalize them?” Luna’s philosophical words made Andrius quite puzzled.

He asked in confusion, “Luna, you rarely mention such things before, let alone. argue about them. What’s up with you today?”

Chapter 1345

Luna saw him start to get suspicious again and could not help but panic.

Thus, she quickly explained, “I don’t mean anything by it, hubby. It’s just that I’ve been reading a lot at home recently, so I might have different thoughts about some things.”

Andrius nodded and did not dwell on it. He knew that since Luna was possessed by the demon snake's power and obtained the Sanguis Blade, her temperament had been constantly influenced. That was why Old Ophis taught her the mantra.

These thoughts were likely the result of cultivating the mantra and gaining insights from reading books. Now that she could see things from both sides, it indicated that the mantra was taking effect. It was a good thing.

At that thought, Andrius felt more relieved.

"Luna, I'm going to the Lycantroops encampment to make some arrangements. Can you go back to Sumeria first?" Andrius stopped and asked Luna at a crossroads.

He planned to inspect the situation with the Lycan Manor and have Noir, the Black Hawk, and the others investigate the Flame Emperor as well as his family.

Luna happened to have something to arrange as well and agreed with a smile, "Okay, hubby. You go ahead. I'll wait for you at Dream's Waterfront."

The two parted ways.

After Luna returned to Dream's Waterfront, she immediately summoned Marcellus and the others who had completed the mission.

“Master!” Marcellus saluted respectfully and reported, “A total of thirty–six martial realm experts from the Blood Shadow Sect, including the Martial King Sect Master and Grand Elder, have been eradicated!”

“Good. You’ve done well in this matter,” Luna praised with a nod.

After this incident, she had erased almost all the suspicion Andrius had about her.

“However...” Marcellus changed the topic and continued, “Although I can perform the techniques you taught me fluently, there’s still much room for improvement. My power is far inferior to yours.”

At those words, Luna snorted coldly and said, “You’re currently only a Martial Emperor.

Chapter 1345

Being able to perform even a fraction is already your limit. Don’t be greedy.”

At that point, Luna’s enchanting eyes flashed with a hint of coldness. “If you force the cultivation, there’s a risk of falling into deviation.

“Remember, what I want are absolutely obedient subordinates, not mindless killing machines in deviation. If that day really comes, I will personally kill you!”

Before she finished her words, a murderous intent surged and instantly overwhelmed Marcellus.

At that moment, Marcellus' soul trembled, and cold sweat poured down.

Thud...

He immediately knelt on the ground and swore, "Rest assured, Master. I know. I won't delve too deeply and will only be the most obedient subordinate to you."

Marcellus knew very well that the current Luna possessed strength that far surpassed even Old Hagstorm!

"Rise." Luna was just giving him a warning.

"Thank you, Master!"

Only then did Marcellus dare to stand up.

Then, Luna asked, "I heard from the emperor that there are signs of all the ancient martial forces in Florence joining forces. Do you know about this?"

Marcellus' expression became serious, and he said solemnly, "Yes, it's true! Before going to Flandom, I discovered clues that the money-making machines of these ancient martial forces seem to be merging together.

“At first, I didn’t think much of it. However, when I went to exterminate the Blood Shadow Sect this time, I found some clues from them. They seem to be conspiring something big. “However, they were very cryptic about the details, so I haven’t figured it out yet.”

Sure enough, something was going on! Luna’s beautiful eyes flashed with a sharp glint, and she snorted coldly. “Pass my order down. Keep a close eye on these martial forces. If they make any actions or plans, as long as they’re unfavorable... Kill them all and spare no one!”

Merciless killing!

That was Luna’s method.

Chapter 1345

Marcellus’ eyes could not help but widen, and he responded, “Yes!” Then, he left to carry out the order.
