Chapter 1372

The situation was urgent, so Andrius said bluntly, “When I fight the turtle later, use silver needles to pierce its acupuncture points all over its body. Make sure to hit it accurately!”

“Huh?” Kate was stunned and glanced at the turtle in the pool, asking, “But it’s different from us. How do I recognize its acupuncture points?”

“It’s simple!” Andrius did not have time to explain. He handed all the silver needles to Kate and moved forward again, saying,

“Just follow my instructions.”

“Got it,” Kate agreed and held the silver needles, ready to unleash them.

Boom!

Clang!

This time, Andrius once again raised the Argentum Qilin Spear without hesitation.

He attacked the turtle with full force and directed Kate based on the situation. “Kate, shoot the point three inches below its left front leg!

“Right leg, same position....

“The neck...”

As Andrius continued to attack, many acupuncture points on the turtle's body were exposed, and he immediately informed Kate who was constantly prepared.

As soon as Andrius gave the command, she would throw the silver needles without hesitation.

Prick, prick!

Prick!

With each muffled sound, threads of silver light pierced into the turtle's body.

Andrius could visibly see the beast's movements slowing down. He had to strike while the iron was hot!

'Now's my chance!' Andrius said to himself, gathered more inner energy, and pressed forward relentlessly.

The turtle had lived for many years and was filled with an unimaginable vitality. However, it became powerless after having its acupoints sealed.

Gradually, it could not withstand Andrius' attacks and began to retreat step by step.

"On top of its head, the Baihui acupoint!"

With Andrius' final instruction, a glimmer flashed and landed in the corresponding position.

Prick-

The turtle's enormous body became sluggish. Then, it unexpectedly spewed out a mouthful of blood. It was clear that the beast was no longer a match for Andrius after all its acupoints were sealed.

The radiance in Andrius' eyes grew brighter and brighter.

The next moment, he jumped off the ground with both legs, soaring into the air and heading straight for the turtle's long and vulnerable neck.

His hands constantly formed seals, and a scorching aura began to condense.⁴

It was the fiercest move of the Fire-breathing Palm-Prairie Inferno!

Before, the turtle was quite agile. Even if Andrius wanted to attack, it would be futile because he could not keep up with its dodging speed.

However, the tables had turned!

In Andrius' eyes, the turtle's speed now was as slow as a slow-motion scene in a movie.

Furthermore, the turtle was a typical water creature. If it were hit by Andrius' extreme heat Fire-breathing Palm, it would die on the spot or at least be close to death!

"Prairie Inferno!"

The next moment, Andrius arrived at the turtle's neck and was about to unleash the powerful palm strike.

At that moment...

Swoosh-

Swish-

A figure appeared out of nowhere, shifting positions in the blink of an eye, and appeared

Chapter 1377

near Andrius.

Such speed was terrifying and hard to imagine.

At that moment, Andrius did not dare to attack the turtle again. He could only dissipate the surging power on his palm and attract the Argentum Qjlin Spear back into his hand.

“Unrivaled Under the Heavens!”

In an instant, he unleashed a move that shook the heavens and earth.

Rumble-

The spear tip struck the opponent's body, but the feeling was completely different.

It was like hitting an extremely hard turtle shell. The Argentum Ojlin Spear was bent and then rebounded by the powerful force.

Andrius was also sent flying far away. After retreating more than ten steps on the ground, he slowly dissipated the rebounding force.

Shocked, he looked over.

The person who appeared was an old man with a turtle shell on his back.

Chapter 1373

There was no doubt about it.

He was the master of this place, the person that Andrius wanted to meet—the Turtle Sage!

By choosing to appear here and saving the spirit turtle, it naturally meant that Andrius passed this trial.

“You brat...” After blocking Andrius' attack, the Turtle Sage shook his head and walked toward the immobile spirit turtle, his eyes full of concern. “You were a bit ruthless.”

Then, he released a burst of inner energy onto the turtle. The turtle shook and sent all the silver needles flying.

Ruthless?

Andrius said calmly, “Since you made it the guardian of the second trial, I naturally gave my all in the fight. Are you saying that only the beast is allowed to harm me, but I'm not allowed to harm it?"

The Turtle Sage did not answer. He lightly touched the wounds on the spirit turtle, letting it recover its mobility and activity. Then, he signaled it to return to the cold pond.

After all that, he slowly turned around and assessed Andrius from top to bottom. "Not bad. You're already a Master Saint at such a young age. You're quite talented."

The Turtle Sage did not hold back his compliments. Andrius did not respond. He had just injured the Turtle Sage's pet, so there was no way the latter would praise him genuinely.

"However..." Sure enough, the Turtle Sage said the next moment,

Sage said the next moment, "The mechanical trial, beast trial, and human trial..."

"Each trial is harder than the last. So far, no one has truly passed the third trial!

"Young man, it's better for you to go back now. It'd be a shame if back now. It'd be a shame if you die young here."

Andrius laughed when he heard the advice. "If you tell me the answer, I'll turn back immediately without hesitation!"

Seeing his persistence, the Turtle Sage's expression grew cold. "Since you're so stubborn, then follow me. I'll let you experience the 'human trial' that shall be opened to a human for the first time!"

Chapter 1973

Then, the Turtle Sage turned and walked toward a deeper area.

Andrius and Kate immediately followed.

A moment later, several figures appeared silently. The person in the lead was wearing a familiar mask. It was none other than Luna, disguised as the master of the Shrouded Gate.

"Master!" Marcellus looked toward the deeper area and said, "The Turtle Sage has already gone far." Luna withdrew her gaze and scanned the numerous members of the Shrouded Gate, saying, Marcellus, you come with me and see what tricks the Turtle Sage is up to. The rest of you, stay here and wait for my signal!"

After a while, the Turtle Sage led Andrius through numerous dangerous terrains and arrived at an open space.

"Have you made up your mind?" With his turtle shell facing Andrius, the Turtle Sage asked indifferently, "This is your last chance to turn back before the final decision. Are you sure you want to challenge the final trial?"

Kate could not help but feel her heart tighten at those words.

Although the Turtle Sage's tone was extremely calm when he spoke, beneath the superficial calmness was an intense killing intent that had long been suppressed. A surge of it gushed out like a volcanic eruption.

"I'm sure," Andrius was indifferent to the killing intent and responded calmly and decisively.

With those words...

Swish-

The Argentum Qilin Spear in his hand created a beautiful arc, shimmering coldly as he pointed it directly at the Turtle Sage.

"It's said that the Turtle Sage is unpredictable. I shall be bold and ask for guidance!"

Although he said he was bold, his confidence was unprecedented.

This was his first battle after advancing to the early stage of the Martial Saint realm. It was bound to be an extremely intense one.

“What a shame. What a shame!”

The Turtle Sage did not immediately make a move but turned around instead. His clear eyes still accessed Andrius as he shook his head and sighed.

“Those whom the gods love die young. You’re only in your twenties and already reached the Martial Saint realm. Your future is limitless, and you might even surpass your predecessors.

“But now, you’re destined to die by my hands. What a shame. What a shame!”

The Turtle Sage’s words were filled with regret for Andrius, saying ‘what a shame’ four times.

After that...

Boom-

An aura as vast as the sky suddenly rose, stirring up fierce winds from the calm surroundings. The overwhelming and majestic force left Andrius speechless.

This was the aura of a late-stage Martial Saint.

No!

After Andrius assessed it carefully, he came to a jaw-dropping conclusion.

He had encountered a late-stage Martial Saint before—the Insect Ruler on Praxis Island was a late-stage Insect Ruler.

However...

The Insect Ruler's aura was incomparable to the Turtle Sage in front of him!

In fact, the gap was not ordinary!

If the Insect Ruler's late-stage Martial Saint aura was a mountain, at least, it would give people the urge to climb it.

However, the Turtle Sage was like a lightning rod on Mount Everest, unreachable and untouchable. In front of Andrius, he was as far as the ceiling itself.

It seemed to have surpassed the Martial Saint realm and reached a new realm.

At that moment, Andrius' heart surged. He was going to compete with this expert today!

Swoosh!

Chapter 1374

He gathered a vast amount of inner energy on the Argentum Qilin Spear without hesitation.

Fighting against a top expert like the Turtle Sage, Andrius had to focus 120% of his spirit and strength.

He immediately began with the ninth form of the Burden of Nine Skies.

“Journey of a Thousand Miles!”

The Argentum Qilin Spear surged like a dragon, filled with Andrius' inner energy.

However, to Andrius' surprise, the Turtle Sage stood in place with no intention of making a move.

"Hmph..." He snorted coldly, and the long spear in his hand became thrice as fast and thrice as ruthless.

Swoosh-

The next moment, just as the spearhead was about to touch the Turtle Sage's chest, he moved like a ghost and glided away several meters in the blink of an eye, effortlessly avoiding Andrius' powerful strike.

Swoosh!

Swish!

Whoosh!

Andrius continued to thrust his spear.

Each thrust created blooming frost like plum blossoms and unleashed a dragon soaring over the seas, unrestrained and vigorous.

However...

Regardless of Andrius' speed, incredible strength, or ingenious techniques...

The Turtle Sage managed to dodge them all. Not a single one touched the hem of his clothes. Andrius was very displeased and puzzled. He already made a preliminary assessment of the Turtle Sage's strength.

However, in the actual battle, the Turtle Sage's speed reached such a level that it was outrageous. It left Andrius dumbfounded.

He used all his strength but could not even touch the opponent. How was he supposed to fight?

After a series of attacks, Andrius consumed too much of his energy, and the rhythm of his assault slowed down.

Cheater 13.1

Seeing this, the Turtle Sage said indifferently, "Now, it's my turn."

Swoosh-

With a sweep of his right hand, a cane to the side was instantly drawn to his hand.

Whoosh!

Swoosh!

1731

The cane that was polished to a smooth and shiny surface was twirled, spinning faster and faster to the point where Andrius could only see some afterimages.

At the same time, he also sensed a formidable force gathering.

It was a power that truly surpassed the late stage of the Martial Saint realm. Andrius regarded it warily.

Just as Andrius was on high alert, the Turtle Sage suddenly uttered, "Freezing Breath!"

The next moment, a powerful coldness instantly erupted. It enveloped the entire wilderness in an intense ice storm in the blink of an eye.

The surrounding vegetation, grass, and trees were all covered with a layer of white frost, beautiful yet extremely dangerous.

The earth was affected too.

At that moment, everything in this small area of heaven and earth was covered in a silvery frost, extraordinarily cold.

Andrius also felt the bone-piercing cold. He felt like he was being cut by ice knives from head to toe. The inner energy flow in his body slowed down, almost solidifying and freezing.

Just that feeling frightened Andrius.

If his inner energy really froze, it would be like waiting for death!

Swoosh!

Whoosh!

Andrius immediately used the Flame Emperor's needle technique to treat himself. The extreme heat of his inner energy in his body circulated to resist the boundless coldness.

Chapter 1375

Between his surging palms, bursts of heat were generated and dispelled a considerable amount of the cold.

It was the Fire-breathing Palm.

Swoosh-

Boom-

Just as he struck with his palm, the Turtle Sage's cane which had turned into an ice pillar suddenly tapped Andrius' Fire-breathing Palm.

Whoosh...

Unexpectedly, the powerful Fire-breathing Palm was easily defeated, lasting for less than half a second before crumbling.

The cane, filled with freezing power, continued its rampage and eventually struck Andrius' chest.

Bam-

Andrius felt as if he had been hit by a giant hammer and skidded backward.

The Turtle Sage pressed his advantage with several flashes and arrived in front of Andrius. His speed was truly terrifying.

“Phweet...”

A strange noise came from Andrius’s lips.

Buzz...

Swoosh, swoosh...

In the blink of an eye, countless insects appeared between the Turtle Sage and Andrius, intending to block the Turtle Sage’s extraordinary strike.

“Insignificant tricks!” The Turtle Sage snorted coldly and suddenly reached out his hand, shouting, “Star Siphon!”

Swoosh-

The next moment, countless insects were forcibly attached to his palms, instantly freezing into ice crystals and turning into fine powder. Then, with a surge of inner energy, they were all absorbed into his body.

In an instant, all the insects summoned by Andrius were completely cleaned up. That ability was even more terrifying than the vampire clan on Praxis Island!

Chapter 1375

Swoosh!

After dealing with the troublesome insects, the Turtle Sage once again approached swiftly.

Andrius had already taken advantage of the time to create some distance.

Seeing the Turtle Sage approach, Andrius suddenly had an idea. He thought of a potentially effective method! It was his only chance to win.

Swoosh!

With that thought, countless insects appeared once again.

However, Andrius did not command the insects to attack this time. Instead, they hovered around him for another purpose. They were the key to victory.

Boom-

Neither did the Turtle Sage know what Andrius was planning nor did he care to know. His hands continued to spin, emitting waves of icy energy, launching a fierce attack on Andrius.
