

Chapter 1401

Andrius was the Wolf King!

Just that fact alone was enough to reassure the siblings.

However, Kate could not say those words.

Thud, thud...

Just then, footsteps came from outside.

"Is it Andrius?"

"Andrius, is that you?"

The siblings immediately went to the door when they heard the sound.

A figure walked over calmly. Who else could it be but Andrius?

They immediately relaxed.

"It's me." Andrius smiled and gestured to the heads in his hands. "Scott and Liliana, this is the second gift I have for you."

Only then did the two realize that Andrius was holding something.

Thus, they instinctively looked over. When they saw what it was, they shuddered and almost fell.

There were two heads—Justin and Jasper!

“Y-you...” Scott stammered, “Andrius, y-you killed Justin and Jasper? W-w-what should we do...”

“Louis Conway dotes on his sons the most. Andrius, you should hurry up and run. Leave Jurith. No, leave the Argos province...” Liliana was also frightened and suggested Andrius leave Argos.

“It’s fine.” Andrius was indifferent. “I can crush the Conways with a wave of my hand. You two don’t need to worry. Besides, I still have more gifts for you.”

At that point, he instructed Kate, “Kate, arrange for a new place for them to stay. This place is too shabby.”

Then, he walked out.

“Andrius, where are you going?”

Andrius paused slightly and turned around. “I’m going to pay a visit to the Conways who have been dominating Jurith and see what kind of characters they really are!”

Then, he strode away with his head high.

As the largest business family in Jurith, even a small meeting at Conway Corporation could cause a dramatic change in the whole city's business community!

Louis was holding such a meeting now.

Just then, the secretary came in from outside and whispered something to Louis, "Mr. Conway... The young masters used the trump card and went to the slums."

The trump card...

Naturally, it was used for killing.

Killing someone was not a trivial matter!

However, when Louis heard the words, he said indifferently, "If they want to kill someone, then the other party must deserve to die. Anyone who provokes the Conways deserves to be killed."

Seeing this, the secretary wisely walked out of the meeting room and closed the door.

"Alright, continue." Louis nodded to the executive who was giving a report.

The executive adjusted his notes and prepared to continue.

"Alright, continue." Louis nodded to the executive who was giving a report.

The executive adjusted his notes and prepared to continue.

Bam...

At that moment, the secretary who had just left hurriedly rushed back in, looking anxious. "Mr. Conway, bad news! All the security teams have been defeated!"

"Insolence!" Louis was furious and slammed the table, standing up. "In Jurith, it has always only been I who causes trouble for others. No one dares to cause trouble for me! Come, follow me. I want to see which fool has the guts to provoke the Conways!"

Then, he stormed out.

The guards behind him also followed, their momentum imposing.

Clang...

Thud...

Chapter 1401

As soon as he walked out, he saw an unfamiliar young man standing there.

Before he could identify the young man, the latter threw out two round things that rolled to his feet. Something splattered on his trousers.

Louis looked closely.

Those two things... were heads! They were the heads of his beloved sons, Jasper and Justin!

The liquid that splashed on his trousers was blood!

In an instant, Louis became furious.

SURPRISE GIFT: 100 BONUS FREE FOR YOU

GET IT

COMMENTS

SUPPORT